SERRELL NOW LEADS FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP

Won First Honors in Weekly Competition and Now Holds Green Committee Trophy.

AT THE PARK CLUB LINKS.

M. T. TOWNSEND DEFAULTED CHALLENGE TROPHY TO SERRELL.

Serrell Was Then Successful in Holding It Against W. A. Townsend, Winning 7 Up and 6 to Go—President's Cup Results.

Despite the fact that a rain storm seemed imminent there was a good turnout at the course of the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon. No rain came, however, and the day proved a good one for the sport after all. The honors of the day went to Edgar I. Serrell, who now leads for the president's cup, and is also the present holder of the green committee challenge trophy.

Last week there was a general shakeup for the challenge trophy, W. de la R. Anderson winning it from W. J. R. Thiers by default, and Morgan T. Townsend defeating Anderson. Townsend went south and so was not on hand to defend the trophy Saturday. It therefore passed to Serrell, who was next on the list of challengers, and he defeated Wm. A. Townsend, the next challenger. W. J. R. Thiers follows and will play Serrell next Saturday.

The match between Serrell and Townsend went easily to Serrell, who was playing in great form. At the end of 9 holes he had Townsend down and had made a 41. Serrell sliced his first drive in the second round and played into trouble most of the way. He therefore only made a 48, but defeated Townsend seven up and six to go. Serrell's score was:

Out	4	5	5	4	5	5	5	3	5—41
In	6	5	5	5	5	5	6	4	7—48—89

Serrell's low score was also enough to give him first honors in the weekly competition for the president's cup. The three points thus scored put him in the lead for that trophy with Morgan T. Townsend second and William R. Faber third. In the day's play Roger F. Murray took second honors and William A. Townsend third. There were nearly a score who registered, but not half that number of cards were turned in. The scores were:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Edgar I. Serrell	89	0	89
Roger F. Murray	102	10	92
William A. Townsend	103	8	95
Meredith Dryden	109	12	97
W. de la R. Anderson	103	4	99
William R. Faber	109	10	99

The standing for the cup is as follows:

Morgan T. Townsend	9½
Wm. R. Faber	8½
Allan B. Laing	7½
George T. Rogers	6
Meredith Dryden	6
S. St. J. McCutchen	5 5-12

Gustavus W. Faber	4½
W. de la R. Anderson	4

The standing for the green committee challenge trophy is as follows:

Morris County Miners Anxious.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Morristown, Spept. 29—The operation of iron ore, zinc and other mines in Morris and Sussex counties will have to cease if the troubles in the Pennsylvania coal regions are not settled soon. The supply of coal on hand at the various iron mines is limited, and will not last more than a month. If the iron ore mines are compelled to shut down, hundreds of men will be thrown out of work.

Special Contests Arranged for the Day, to be Followed by Social Pleasure.

On Independence Day the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club were the guests of the Park Golf Club. Next Saturday the Hillside Club will, in its turn, entertain its neighbors from the mountain side, and the day will be devoted to a series of golf contests and social pleasures. The programme of the happenings for the day has just been announced by the Hillside Club.

Beginning at 9 o'clock Saturday morning there will be a ladies' handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play. A cup, presented by E. T. Barrows, will go to the maker of the best net score. Another cup will be presented for the best gross score. At noon there will be a ladies' driving contest, for which two prizes will be offered.

In the afternoon there will be a men's handicap competition, eighteen holes, medal play, open to members of both clubs. A cup, given by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, will be awarded for the best net score, and another will go to the maker of the best gross score.

A mixed approaching and putting contest will start at 3:30 o'clock, with a prize for the team winning. A men's driving contest, with first and second prizes, is scheduled to start at 4:30 o'clock.

All entries for handicap events must reach Lewis E. Waring, chairman of the golf committee, 900 Park avenue, not later than Thursday night. Entries for the other events will be received up to the time of starting.

Arrangements have been made to have a stage meet all cars at the terminus of the Arlington avenue trolley line and will convey the guests to and from the clubhouse.

A tea will be held at the clubhouse during the afternoon and the house committee will be on hand to receive the guests. There will be a concert by an orchestra during the afternoon and evening, and dancing will be in order after dinner.

GRIST AT LEGAL MILL.

BIG BATCH OF OFFENDERS BEFORE JUDGE RUNYON THIS MORNING.

Trial of Rev. Mr. McLean and Several Others Laid Over for a Week.

The accommodations at the city jail were crowded this morning with the collection of offenders from Saturday and Sunday. Then there were others who were released yesterday to have their hearing today. City Judge Runyon has plenty to do in consequence.

John Clacy, Mrs. Mary Morris and Mrs. Kate Beerman were arrested early Sunday morning by Patrolman Myers for trouble at their joint place of abode on West Second street. The case was adjourned until next Monday morning.

In default of his fine of $5, Joseph Doyle will serve out thirty days in the county jail for being drunk on Park avenue Saturday night. Patrolman McCarthy arrested him.

John Dorgan was arrested yesterday by Roundsman Flynn and Patrolman McCarthy at the request of his wife. Dorgan was drunk and tried to clean house. He was sentenced to twenty days in jail.

Sentence was suspended on Frank Harrison, whom Patrolman McCarthy arrested Saturday afternoon for begging on North avenue.

Frank McCabe was looking for fight on Somerset street Saturday night. Frank Willett happened to come along. Patrolman Totten arrested them both. This morning McCabe was fined $5 and sentence was suspended on Willett.

The trial of Rev. Wm. H. McLean, the colored pastor of the Filmore Baptist church, on the charge of non-support, was adjourned until next Monday.

Will Probably be Settled.

There is a probability that the case of Rev. W. H. McLean against Randolph Dunham, in tort, will be settled before execution is issued. The amount claimed is $15 for two pairs of trousers which were owned by the plaintiff and which were sold by mistake to a party in Plainfield. The trousers were taken to Mr. Dunham's place to be cleaned.

CONSECRATION OF ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

Beautiful and Impressive Service at the Celebration of the Pontifice Mass.

NOTED CHURCHMEN THERE

AMONG THEM WAS ARCHBISHOP CORRIGAN AND MGR. MOONEY.

Large Number of Visiting Clergymen—Elaborate Musical Programme Rendered—Reception and Dinner for Visitors.

Impressive and magnificent, indeed, were the services at St. Mary's church yesterday on the occasion of the consecration of the edifice according to the faith and custom of the Catholic religion. The corner-stone for this beautiful edifice was laid twenty-five years ago, but it was only recently that the debt on the building was cleared away and it became possible to consecrate it to the use of the church forever.

The real ceremony of consecration began at 6 o'clock, but the solemn high or Pontifice mass did not take place until 10:30 o'clock. It lasted for two hours and was the most impressive service ever said in the church. Previous to the Pontifice mass there were low masses in the school hall at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock which were also largely attended. In all, there were about forty priests present from all parts of New Jersey who took part in the high mass. It was celebrated before Bishop Wigger with Rev. Father Stafford, of Seton Hall, as celebrant, Father Gillin, of Paterson, as deacon and Father Bogan, of Rahway, as sub-deacon.

The preacher of the occasion was Mgr. Mooney, vicar-general of the New York diocese. As a speaker Mgr. Mooney is unexcelled and his discourse was well delivered. He gave a deep and well-reasoned argument in favor of the necessity of adhearing to the revealed truths of religion and the danger to be availed in the too general scepticism of the present day. He alluded to the evidence of the strong faith of the congregation in building such a beautiful church and complimented them particularly in being able to celebrate its silver jubilee and on its being free from all debt. In conclusion he admonished them to be true to the saint whose name it bears and spoke of the necessity of a stronger faith in the teachings of Christ.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the visiting priests were invited to the convent opposite, where a sumptuous collation was served. The members of the choir and the ushers sat down to an excellent lunch.

In the evening solemn vespers were sung. Those who took part in them were Fathers Dunn, of Irvington; Maguire, of Paterson, and McGeary, of Plainfield. The sermon was given by Rev. Chas. J. Kelly, of Hoboken, a former resident of Plainfield, and member of the local parish. His subject was "The Care of the Church for the Training of the Child." He complimented the congregation and priest on the great improvement that had been made in the institution of the parish since his boyhood. He contrasted the state of things now with the very unpretending edifice in which he worshipped when a boy. Father Kelly's language was very clear and his manner of speaking very effective, keeping the attention of the congregation during the delivery of his discourse.

The music for the occasion at both morning and evening services was all that could be desired. The regular choir was strengthened by a quartette from St. Patrick's Cathedral, Newark, and a special orchestra under the direction of Joseph Sattel. Miss Smith, organist of the church, presided and it was due to her efforts that the musical part of the programme was such a success. Special mention should also be given to Mrs. Francis V. Brady, of Brooklyn. Her singing was excellent and a solo rendered in the evening was greatly enjoyed.

Among the most notable visitors present were Archbishop Corrigan and his secretary, Father Connolly, of New York; Bishop Wigger and secretary, Father Wallace, of Newark; Mgr. Seton, of Jersey City; Rev. Father J. J. O'Connor, Vicar General, of Newark; Rev. Father J. A. Stafford, of Seton Hall College; Dean Mulligan, of Camden; Rev. Fathers M. J. White, of Newark, W. Keogan, J. Galligan and G. Smith, of New York; E. Carroll, of Newark; G. Smith, of Belleville; F. O'Neill, of Elizabeth; W. H. Miller, of North Plainfield; J. H. Coghlan, of High Bridge; J. Smith, Elizabethport; J. Dunn, Irvington; P. Cody, Newark; C. P. Gillin, Paterson; J. Maguire, of Paterson; B. Bogan, of Rahway; I. Whelan, of Bayonne and J. Brady, of South Amboy.

HISTORY OF THE CHURCH.

The Present St. Mary's is the Growth of a Little Band of Catholics Who Lived Here 50 Years Ago.

In a lonely desolate spot of the valley back of the then small village of Plainfield, there stood fifty odd years ago at a place called Stony Hill a small unpretentious German Catholic chapel. In this little chapel there gathered every Sunday a number of faithful souls for divine worship. Among them was a pious little band from Plainfield who, undeterred by the heat in summer and the cold in winter, made the eight mile journey that they might offer to God their griefs and sorrows or thank him for their innocent joys. This was the only church of their faith nearer than Elizabeth or New Brunswick. The devoted little band grew in numbers until in 1851 the necessity of a church and pastor at Plainfield became apparent. They had outgrown the chapel at Stony Hill and it no longer sufficed for the faithful ones. Realizing this, one of the members went to New York and securing an audience with Archbishop Hughes at his residence on Mott street, begged him to send a priest to the little New Jersey village. At that time New Jersey had not been elected into an Episcopal see. This was not done until 1853. The request was complied with, however, and to the great delight of the worshipers Rev. James S. McDonough was sent as the first pastor of Plainfield. Services were held every second Sunday and some times week days at the residence of James Verdon on what is now called Somerset street. The house still stands, as does the barn also, to which place the little flock was compelled to move owing to the constantly increasing numbers. Once more they were compelled to move and this time a private school was rented. Following that a hall in the center of the village was secured.

By this time the membership had increased to about one hundred souls and the need of a substantial edifice of their own became apparent and steps were taken to raise money for the purpose. A sufficient amount was soon secured. The ground was purchased and in the early sixties the erection of the building now known as T. A. B. hall was commenced. Of course it was much smaller then, additions having been made to it from time to time. Up to 1868 mass was celebrated only every second Sunday as the parish extended from Raritan on one side to Westfield on the other.

In 1851 Rev. Father McDonough was removed and a much younger priest, Rev. Daniel J. Fisher, was appointed.

Father Fisher took up his residence in Plainfield, his predecessor having resided at Raritan. He remained but two years and then was appointed president of Seton Hall College then located at Madison. In 1856 Rev. Terence Kiernan, became the third pastor and remained until his sudden death in 1869, when Rev. John J. Connolly was appointed to succeed him. The latter's health was poor and Father J. P. Morris was sent to assist him. Father Connolly died in 1870 and his assistant succeeded him.

Father Morris proved a very zealous pastor and an earnest worker. He had been with the parishoners but a short time when he noted the rapidity with which they were increasing and realized that a more substantial church would soon be needed. He immediately began raising funds and in 1875 the corner stone of the present handsome edifice was laid.

Five years later, September 8, 1880 the new church was dedicated. Rev. John Vassalo, of Summit, acted as master-of-ceremonies, and Rt. Rev. M. A. Corrigan, D. D., performed the ceremony of dedication. Immediately after a solemn high mass was sung with Rev. William McNulty, of Paterson, as celebrant, Rev. P. Hennessey, of Jersey City, as deacon, and Rev. Pierce McCarthy, of East Newark, as sub-deacon. Music for the occasion was furnished by a choir from St. Anne's church, New York, under the direction of Prof. E. G. Lansing.

Father Morris remained in Plainfield until 1882, when he was transferred to Avondale. He was succeeded by Father DeBurgh, who was appointed in May and remained until November. Father Callahan finished the year, and in January, 1883, the present incumbent, Rev. Father P. E. Smyth, came here from Jersey City. Owing to ill health he was unable to attend to his duties for the first three months and Father C. P. Gillim acted during that time.

G. O. P. CONVENTION IN SOMERSET COUNTY

The Delegates Recognize That Senator Reed is Now the Real Republican Leader.

SOMERS FOR COUNTY CLERK

THREE CANDIDATES FOR THE ASSEMBLY NOMINATION.

J. S. Frelinghuysen Named as Temporary Chairman—He Predicts Republican Success—Committee Appointments.
(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Somerville, October 1.—The Republican county conventions that have been held in Somerset county during the past two or three years have not been noted for the harmony that prevailed in them, but the one that is in session here today is running smooth and even in the recognition that Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield, is the real leader of the bailiwick. Chancery Clery Thompson and his cohorts realize that they have been beaten by the "Tall Sycamore," of North Plainfield, and they are now bowing as gracefully to his political will as it is possible to do under the circumstances.

In the preliminary organization of the convention today there was not the slightest contest. As for the nominations the County Clerkship was recognized as being a cinch for the present incumbent, Frank Somers, before the convention met. This fact was assured when former Sheriff W. H. H. Wyckoff, of Raritan, announced last week that he had decided to withdraw from the contest.

Before the convention, and even up to the time of the recess being taken after the temporary organization was formed, no one seemed to know who would capture the nomination for member of Assembly to succeed E. E. Cooper, who has had his two terms and must now give way according to custom and precedent. Three names were mentioned as possible candidates for the nomination. They were Frederick Pope, of Somerville, who has been active in the Thompson wing of the party; James Wood, of Bedminister, and Joseph Fitzpa, of Finderne.

The convention was called to order in the court house at 11 o'clock by Senator Reed, as chairman of the county executive committee. After the call had been read, J. S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerville, was chosen temporary chairman. In accepting the place Mr. Frelinghuysen made quite a speech lauding Republican principles and platforms and predicting success for the ticket to be nominated there, as well as the National ticket.

H. B. VanNess, of Branchburg, was chosen secretary.

The committee appointments were then taken up and made. North Plainfield is represented as follows: Permanent organization, Mayor N. B. Smalley; rules, Senator Charles A. Reed; credentials, P. A. Emmons; resolutions, George Smith.

After this the convention adjourned till 1:30 in order to permit the committees to perform their duties.

The convention reconvened at 1:30 o'clock. The most important committee report was that on the platform. The platform praised the Republican administration in the usual manner.

Frank Somers was renominated for County Clerk by acclamation.

The nomination of an Assemblyman was then taken up, and the following names offered: Frederick A. Pope, of Somerville; W. H. Whiting, of Bound Brook; H. W. Hoagland, of Montgomery; E. C. Field, Bedminister. Hoagland was nominated on the first ballot, the vote being as follows: Hoagland, 29; Field, 11; Pope, 3; Whiting, 2. Hoagland was declared the nominee.

Drs. F. L. Field, of Millstone, and M. T. Smalley, of Bedminster, were named, the latter being nominated by a vote of 40 to 5.

Fifteen Cars Loaded With Machinery.

Fifteen carloads of machinery were shipped from the Pond Tool Works Saturday consigned to Sheffield, England; Torraine, Ohio; Brookland and Lockford, Kansas. That shipped to Torraine is for a new machine shop which the local shop is fitting throughout with new machinery.

BRYAN'S TOUR IN JERSEY

STATE COMMITTEE FIXES HIS ITINERARY FOR TWO DAYS.

Will Make a Dozen Speeches—Democratic County Leaders Report Their Lines in Good Shape.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Oct. 1.—An important meeting of the New Jersey State Democratic Committee was held at its headquarters in the Hotel Washington Saturday. Senator Johnson Cornish's sub-committee, which has charge of William J. Bryan's visit to the State, reported that Mr. Bryan will arrive at Camden on Thursday, October 25th. He will address a meeting at noon in Washington Park and will leave for Trenton at 1:15 p. m., making addresses en route from the car platform at Riverside, Burlington and Bordentown. At Trenton he will address the convention of Democratic clubs, which will be in session there, and at 5 o'clock he will leave Trenton for Jersey City, and will speak from the car platform at New Brunswick at 6:15 p. m.

At Jersey City he will address a mass-meeting in the evening, which will be under the management of "Bob" Davis and the Hudson County Committee. On Friday morning Mr. Bryan will go into the Fourth Congressional District and will make a speech from the car platform at Morristown and address a meeting at Dover at 12 30 P. M. From Dover he will come back to Paterson, speaking from the car platform at Boonton, and addressing a meeting at Paterson at 4 P. M. From Paterson he will go to Newark, where he will wind up his New Jersey visit by addressing a mass-meeting.

The committee also announced that Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for Vice President, would speak in Camden on Monday, October 15.

Each member present was called upon to give the rock-bottom facts as to the situation in his county and all declared the outlook for Bryan to be most encouraging. It was unanimously agreed that the Democratic national ticket would carry New Jersey.

THE DEMOCRATS TONIGHT

JAMES E. MARTINE AND ALLEN BENNY TO BE HEARD.

At the Meeting of the Jeffersonian Democratic Association—Enthusiasm at Somerville.

The first meeting of the Democratic Jeffersonian Club since its organization ten days ago will be held this evening in Washington Hall. President O'Keefe will announce the members of the committees necessary to active campaign work, and then after the other business is transacted, which will not take long, there will be speeches on the issues of the campaign to be delivered by Assemblyman Allan Benny, of Bayonne, and James E. Martine, of this city. It is possible that Col. E. A. S. Man, the Democratic Congressional nominee, will be present to meet the Democrats and have a few words to say.

The Democrats of Somerville had a rousing meeting Saturday afternoon in the Court House yard, and the followers of Bryan and Stevenson were worked up to a high pitch of enthusiasm. A handsome Bryan and Stevenson banner was flung to the breeze across Main street, in front of the Court House, after which Democratic eloquence flowed uninterruptedly from 3 until after 6 o'clock. M. W. Scully, chairman of the meeting, introduced Hon. James J. Bergen, candidate for Congress, who talked to the point for about ten minutes. Mr. Scully then introduced the Hon. William J. Sulzer, of New York. Mr. Sulzer talked for over two hours, and held his audience of two thousand people spellbound. His arraignment of the Republican party was most scathing, his presentation of the Democratic platform was very able, and his tribute to William Jennings Bryan most glowing. James E. Martine was the last speaker, but owing to the lateness of the hour he was obliged to cut his remarks short and only talked about half an hour. It was dark when the meeting broke up with three hearty cheers for the Democratic candidates.

Samuel J. Randall, of Philadelphia, a son of the late Congressman Samuel J. Randall, has offered his services to the New Jersey Democratic committee. He will speak in several cities and towns.

Neuman Bros. will supply you with peaches a little longer.

Miss Gregg, of New Brunswick, has been spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Josiah Brown, of Watchung avenue.

GREAT TEAM WORK WON FOR ALIS A. A

Defeated Crack Eleven of Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. on Martine Common Saturday.

SCORE WAS 17 TO 9.

ALIS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE FROM BEING SCORED AGAINST.

Game Was Hard Fought—Visitors Slightly Outweighed Plainfield Boys But Good Team Play and Interference Saved the Day for Alis.

From the point of view of the spectator at least, the game of football played on Martine Common Saturday afternoon was one of the prettiest witnessed on a local gridiron for many a year. The Alis A. A., of this city, lined up against the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. eleven and, after a hard fought game, defeated them by a score of 17 to 9. The visitors slightly outweighed the local team but the Alis boys played together in great shape and developed interference that was worthy of the name.

At the opening play, Pike fumbled Elizabeth's kickoff and the ball went to the visitors in Alis territory. For a few minutes the Alis boys lost heart but they braced effectively and carried the ball down the field, chiefly on end plays, to within three yards of Elizabeth's goal and then Cuming circled right end for a touchdown. Phillips kicked the goal.

Phillips caught Elizabeth's kick-off and ran fifty yards before he was downed. Then Elizabeth took a brace and, aided by thrice ten yards for off-side play, carried the ball to Alis' four-yard line. Then the home team stood firm and held them until time was called.

The second half showed the local team determined to score. The ball went down the field without delay and Homer Smith scored a touchdown on a twenty-five-yard run around right end. The interference was perfect. Phillips kicked the goal. Again Alis swept down the field despite Elizabeth's fierce defence and Phillips plunged through centre for twelve yards and the third touchdown. He failed goal.

Alis lost no time in running the ball down the field. With half a minute to play, Phillips tried for a goal from the field on Elizabeth's twenty-five-yard line, but the kick was blocked. Time was called.

The lineup:

ALIS A. A.		ELIZABETH Y. M. C. A.
T. Smith	right end	Hoffman
Badford-Beard	right tackle	Meloth
Pike	right guard	Hanley
G. Smith	centre	Patterson

H. Smith-Wittke	left end	Tinsley
Houson	quarter back	Harrison

Score—Alis A. A., 17; Elizabeth Y. M. C. A., 0. Touchdowns—Cuming, H. Smith, Phillips. Goals from touchdowns—Phillips (2.) Referee—Roger Erickson. Umpire—Harry Lovell. Timekeeper—M. Slater. Time—Fifteen minute halves.

WANTS TO FIND DAUGHTER.

Virginia Woman Says She Has Been Missing Two Years.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, September 29.—Mrs. M. J. Satterwaite, of Richmond, Va., has written to the Chief of Police of this place for information of her daughter Emily, who she describes as a handsome mulatto with an abundance of straight black hair. Mrs. Satterwaite states that her daughter came here about five years ago, and worked as a domestic, but she has failed to get any trace of her for the past two years.

Policeman Koch, who has the matter in charge, believes that the woman's daughter is a handsome young mulatto girl who was well-known here by another name than Satterwaite some time ago.

The girl was arrested for breaking into a residence on Doughty avenue, where she had been formerly employed. The charge against her was not pressed. After she was released she disappeared, but she was afterward heard from at Phillipsburg and Bound Brook.

There is a report that she fell ill at South Bound Brook and was sent to a poorhouse, where she died, which Policeman Koch is now investigating.

Increase in Output.

The increase in the output of the Fandango Mills at Millburn from four to five tons daily in the manufacture of binders' board began yesterday. The new 150-horse power boiler was started, and the work on the new addition to accommodate a new steam dryer is being hurried rapidly to completion. With this extra work the wages of the men were increased twenty-five per cent.

Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. L. W. Randolph.

MT. HOLLY FAIR.

October 3, 4, and 5, 1900.

After a lapse of some years, the Mt. Holly Fair is to be held on these dates with superior attractions to those of former years. To meet the demands of those desiring to visit the fair, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from all stations of the united railroads of New Jersey division, in New Jersey, and from Atlantic City, Millville, Bridgeton, Salem, Pennsgrove and intermediate stations on the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad, at reduced rates, including admission to the fair grounds.

Special trains will be run from Philadelphia (Market Street Wharf) Wednesday and Thursday, October 3d and 4th, at 9 a. m. and 12:20 a. m., stopping at all principal stations between Camden and Burlington, and October 3d, 4th and 5th, on the Medford Branch, connecting with train leaving Haddonfield at 7:35 a. m.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Nickerson have taken up their residence at 435 Carlton avenue.

Unless there is some unforeseen trouble, Martin Malsh, the injured trolley motorman, who is at the hospital under treatment, will soon be able to leave that institution. His improvement is very satisfactory.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Operators Offer an Advance of Ten Per Cent.

MINERS WARNED NOT TO ACCEPT.

Mine Workers' Union Not Recognized, and the Fight Now Takes a New Turn—Mass Meetings Held in the Lehigh Valley.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 1.—The posting by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company of a notice granting an increase of 10 per cent to all employees of its 39 collieries in the Schuylkill valley did not cause any apparent commotion at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers here. President Mitchell did not know of the action of the Reading company until informed of it by a reporter. He did not express the least surprise. He refused to discuss the advance, but it is understood that he knew the 10 per cent advance would be made and was anxious to see in what manner the information would be conveyed to the men.

The action of the Reading company in directly notifying its men through posters indicates that the operators will not recede from their position of refusal to recognize the union.

What President Mitchell's first move will be in view of this new phase of the situation is not known. "The operators are evidently not taking me into consideration," he said, "but they will wish they had." Discussing the question of a compromise, the national president said it would depend upon circumstances whether a compromise would be considered. When asked if the amount of the increase would be one of the circumstances, he said it would be a consideration.

There is considerable talk that the posting of the notices will cause a break in the strikers' ranks. It is predicted that if this does happen it will mean the end of the strike in a very short time. The labor leaders again reiterated that there will be no break and that the strikers are under perfect control. President Mitchell said he did not order the Mine Workers' notice to be placed along with that of the Reading company, but he thought it was done as a result of his warning to the strikers last week to the effect that they should not go back to work until ordered to do so by the union officials. The strikers, he said, probably chose the poster scheme as one of the methods of keeping the men in line.

The usual Sabbath quiet prevailed throughout the Lehigh valley yesterday. A big mass meeting was held at Freeland, which was addressed by President Mitchell and National Committeeman Dilcher. At Lansford, in the Panther Creek valley, a mass meeting was held which was addressed by National Committeeman Benjamin James. The strikers are making a strong effort to get all the men, about 2,000, now working in the Panther Creek valley to quit. Last night six omnibus loads of McAdoo strikers went to that valley and attended the meeting. It is reported that a number of men will go to that locality today for the purpose of inducing the nonstrikers to leave the mines. General Gobin and Sheriff Toole have been asked for protection by the companies operating the mines.

G. B. Markle & Co. have posted a notice at all of the firm's collieries to the effect that in accordance with the report of the committee of employees that the arbitration agreement between the firm and the men has been broken the contract is ended. The firm also announces that it will start up all its collieries and afford any of its employees an opportunity to work so long as the collieries are sufficiently manned to operate them to the firm's satisfaction. The notice also says the present rate of wages will continue until further notice.

THE NOTICE OF AN ADVANCE.

New Rates Spurned by United Mine Workers' Officials.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—The following notice, bearing date of Oct. 1, has been posted in the vicinity of all the collieries of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company in the anthracite region:

"This company will pay an advance of 10 per cent on the wages of all men and boys employed at its collieries. This advance takes effect today."

Beneath this notice another was posted, which read as follows:

"Do not pay any attention to this notice posted by Mr. Luther of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, but wait until you hear from President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America or until you have decided by your own locals what is right for you to do."

The regular Reading company advance for the last half of September and the first half of October had previously been fixed at 6 per cent above the $2.50 basis. The scale for the preceding 30 days was at the $2.50 basis. The advance of 10 per cent offered in the posted notice by the Reading company is separate and distinct from the natural scale increase, and hence the total increase to the miners would be 16 per cent.

MINERS STAND FIRM.

Will Not Resume Work Under the Ten Per Cent Offer.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Oct. 1.—The notices of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company offering miners an increase of 10 per cent in wages were yesterday posted in this town, at Mahanoy City and other places. Upon reading the notice Organizer George Harris, whose headquarters are at Mahanoy City, issued instructions to the presidents of local branches of the United Mine Workers to warn the strikers against returning to work until so ordered by the officials of the union. Placards were accordingly tacked up throughout the district notifying the mine workers to remain away from the collieries until President Mitchell should order them to work or until the local branches of the union should take concerted action.

Mr. Harris said the Reading company's proposition was not acceptable because the men insist on the abolition of the "sliding scale"—i. e., the $2.50 basis. They also demand a guarantee that the increase in wages shall be permanent.

General Gobin has ordered the Twelfth regiment home, and the soldiers left here on a special train over the Philadelphia and Reading railway at 8 o'clock this morning. There was a parade of all the troops here yesterday, reviewed by General Gobin. The town was full of visitors.

Meetings of mine workers were held in various sections of this district last night, and the Reading company's notice was discussed. The meeting of the foreign employees in this town was addressed by C. S. Pottier, president of the Polish branch of the United Mine Workers here and a national organizer. After the meeting Mr. Pottier said the strikers in this vicinity were unanimous in their intention to abide by the instructions of the national board of the United Mine Workers.

Reports from Mahanoy City and other points in the Schuylkill region indicate that the same sentiment exists throughout the region.

An Advance In Every Colliery.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 1.—At every colliery in the anthracite region a notice will be posted tomorrow morning announcing a 10 per cent increase in wages based on the present scale, effective Oct. 1, and that the operators will arbitrate any grievances their employees may present. There is no condition to be attached as to the men returning to work before the arbitration shall begin, so it is to be inferred that the men are privileged to meet in convention and adopt any plan of action they may deem advisable before entering upon arbitration.

Coal Supply Exhausted.

READING, Pa., Oct. 1.—For the first time in years practically no coal will come over the Reading railway today for tidewater. Everything at the mines is cleaned up, and today's product will not be sent out until early tomorrow morning. The company is preparing for extraordinarily heavy shipments of bituminous coal from West Virginia this way.

LORD ROBERTS PROMOTED.

Appointed Commander In Chief of the British Army.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—It is officially announced that Lord Roberts has been appointed commander in chief of the British army. Yesterday was the general's birthday.

Although the fact that the appointment had been made was already known, the formal announcement is hailed by the Unionist party as a welcome pledge that army reorganization will be carried out in the most effective manner.

It was beginning to be recognized that something was needed to give strength to the Unionist campaign. Accordingly semiofficial announcements are out that Mr. George Wyndham, parliamentary undersecretary of state for war, in his speech at Derby this evening will outline the government's scheme of army reforms and that the war office is arranging with Lord Roberts for the return of a large portion of the army in South Africa.

An interesting report comes from Komatipoort to the effect that Mr. Kruger in a letter to his wife announcing that he is going on a six months' holiday said in substance that after the capture of Machadodorp he knew the struggle was hopeless and counseled moderation, but that Mr. Steyn's "arbitrary behavior" overruled his counsels.

Canadians Sail For Home.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 1.—The Canadian contingent, under Colonel Pelletier, sailed yesterday on board the transport Idaho. The people of Cape Town accorded them a splendid impromptu reception, the mayor voicing the thanks of the city for their brilliant services in the field.

Roosevelt In Nebraska.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 1.—A quiet Sunday was passed by the Roosevelt party at the Midland hotel. Governor Roosevelt accepted an invitation to attend services at Westminster Presbyterian church, Rev. W. P. George, pastor. During the afternoon he was driven to the Country club, where he mounted a horse and took a gallop alone through the country woods. At 1 o'clock he met the newspaper men of his party at the hotel and immediately went to dinner with United States Senator Beveridge of Indiana. In the afternoon he was entertained at the home of W. R. Nelson, editor of The Star. In the evening he entered his private car Minnesota much refreshed by the day's rest. The special train is scheduled to arrive at Falls City, Neb., this morning, where a meeting will be held. Oct. 1, 2, 3 and 4 will be spent in Iowa. The 5th will be spent in Nebraska. He is due in Chicago Oct. 6.

Ready to Try Youtsey.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 1.—The prosecution will announce themselves ready for trial in the case of Henry Youtsey, which will be called at Georgetown today, and it is believed the defense also will be ready. The attorneys for defense have sent interrogatories to Indianapolis to be answered by ex-Governor W. S. Taylor and ex-Secretary of State Charles Finley to be used as evidence for Youtsey. Youtsey will be represented by T. J. Crawford and R. W. Nelson of Newport and James F. Askew and John M. Stevenson of Georgetown. The prosecution will be represented by Commonwealth Attorney Franklin, T. C. Campbell of Cincinnati and Victor F. Bradley of Georgetown.

Dady's Offer to Havana.

HAVANA, Oct. 1.—Mr. Michael J. Dady, the Brooklyn contractor, has offered to the municipality of Havana a complete sewerage and paving system for the city in accordance with plans officially approved for the sum of $10,000,000. The municipality has the offer under consideration. Yesterday a demonstration organized by the Nationalists visited the palace and afterward the residence of Senor Miguel Gener, secretary of justice, to express satisfaction with the recent law reforms. Hereafter judges of the court of first instance will not be nominated, but will be chosen by examination.

Dowie Elders Not Wanted.

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 1.—W. E. Moody and Mark Lobaw, Dowie elders of Chicago, arrived here yesterday, but were promptly deported by the city officials. Moody was sent away early in the morning and came back with Lobaw. Two more elders who arrived were not permitted to alight from the train. Special precautions were taken by the police to prevent violence.

Marquis Ito Japan's Premier.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 1.—The mikado has summoned Marquis Ito to form a cabinet on the resignation of the Yamagata ministry. When intrusting the task to the new premier, his majesty said that, as affairs in China were entering upon the diplomatic stage, the presence of Marquis Ito at the head of the government was necessary.

CHAFFEE GETS ORDER

Withdrawal From Peking to Begin at Once.

MOVEMENT BY ALLIES PLANNED.

A Combined Land and Naval Expedition to Shan-hai-kwan—News of American Evacuation Causes Surprise at Tien-tsin.

TIEN-TSIN, Sept. 28, via Shanghai, Oct. 1.—Orders from Washington directing the withdrawal of the bulk of the American troops were received this afternoon, and preparations to comply were begun immediately. General Chaffee is here directing the movement, which will commence at the earliest possible moment.

It is understood that the plan contemplates leaving a regiment of infantry, a squadron of cavalry and a battery of artillery in Peking to protect American interests and that the remainder of the troops will proceed to Manila.

The allied commanders had decided to dispatch a combined land and naval expedition to Shan-hai-kwan, on the gulf of Liao-tung, leaving Taku Oct. 1, the total land force being 4,200. The American detail had not yet been made nor had a decision been reached as to the naval force. Now that the order to withdraw has been received from Washington it is possible that the plans for the expedition will have to be modified, so far as American participation is concerned. General Chaffee, however, is proceeding on the opposite assumption and has ordered the Fifth marine battalion to prepare to go.

The United States armored cruiser Brooklyn will probably be the only American warship in the expedition. The troops will go by water and be landed south of Shan-hai-kwan. They will cooperate with a large Russian contingent already on the way.

The news of the American withdrawal created a sensation among the representatives of the other powers here.

Mr. Rockhill before leaving Peking said he expected to return there soon.

Each of the powers was represented by 100 troops in the guard of honor that received Count von Waldersee, and all the commanders called upon him.

The Chinese abandoned and looted Tong-schan ostensibly because their wages were in arrears and they feared a Russian attack.

General Sir Alfred Gaselee is going to Wei-hai-wei.

RUSSIANS TO LEAVE PEKING.

Other Troops Have Received No Orders—Rockhill Leaves the City.

PEKING, Sept. 25, via Shanghai, Sept. 30.—At the conference of generals today the Russian commander, General Linevitch, announced the immediate withdrawal from Peking of the bulk of the Russian troops and the legation. He will leave on Thursday, Sept. 27, and the legation will follow on Saturday. There will remain a mixed force of about 2,000 to represent Russia.

General Linevitch asserted that the dispatch from St. Petersburg transmitting the order to withdraw contained a statement that all the powers were adopting the same policy. The other generals replied that they had received no orders of that nature.

German and Japanese columns are operating to the southward near the imperial deer park.

Sir Alfred Gaselee, the British commander, has gone to Tien-tsin to inspect the British troops there.

Friction between the British and Russians over the railway continues, each party seizing and guarding small sections. The repairing is unsystematic and the completion of the work very indefinite.

Mr. William Woodville Rockhill, special commissioner of the United States, has left Peking with a cavalry escort for Tien-tsin. He will visit Nankin and the Yang-tse valley, examine affairs there and advise the viceroys to memorialize the throne urging the return of the court to Peking.

SECRETARY HAY RETURNS.

In Full Accord With Administration on Chinese Question.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Secretary of State Hay returned yesterday from his summer vacation in New Hampshire and today will occupy his desk at the state department. Dr. Hill, who has been acting secretary the latter part of the summer, called early in the evening and spent several hours with the secretary. To all other callers Secretary Hay excused himself. There were no new advices awaiting him. He expressed his satisfaction with the steps taken by this government and gave a final and emphatic denial to the allegations recently set afloat that there were differences of opinion between himself and others of the administration on our policy toward China.

No further light has been thrown on the course to be pursued by the Chinese government toward the ringleaders of the trouble.

Princes Chwang and Yih, who are reported to have been dismissed from hereditary rank and all offices, are prominent advisers of the throne who, it is assumed, have given antiforeign advice. Secondary Prince Tsai Ying, also said to have been similarly degraded, and Duke Tsai Lan, the fixing of whose penalty for antiforeign action is now pending before the board of war, are Tartar generals in command of Mantchoo battalions.

Grand Secretary Kang Yi, said to have been likewise handed over to a board of war for the fixing of penalty, is a member of the privy council and notoriously a virulent antiforeigner. Chao Chui Chan and Secondary Prince Tsai Lien also are regarded as conspicuous antiforeign leaders.

Rumors From Shanghai.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Beyond a sheaf of imperial edicts which throw into still worse confusion the complicated Chinese situation there is little in today's news to arrest attention. From Shanghai comes an unconfirmed report that the allies have seized Shan-hai-kwan. All the news with regard to the edicts emanate from Shanghai. According to these advices, in addition to the edict ordering Grand Councilor Kun Kang to offer oblations before the coffin of Baron von Ketteler and the edict directing that Li Hung Chang's entire plan be followed in regard to the punishment of the princes and high ministers of state responsible for the antiforeign outrages and the decree ordering that funeral honors be paid in Peking and Tokyo to the remains of Sugiyama Akira, the murdered chancellor of the Japanese legation, Emperor Kwang Su has addressed further letters to the czar and the mikado renewing his request for their aid in the peace negotiations.

Russians Invest Mukden.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—The Russians have invested Mukden, capital of the province of Liao-tung. Sir Ernest Mason Satow, recently appointed British minister to China in succession to Sir Claude M. MacDonald, has arrived here on his way to Peking. Wang Wen Shao, president of the board of revenue, who accompanied the emperor and empress regent in their flight from Peking, says in a letter received here that their majesties suffered great hardships, having scarcely any food for three days. They had to ride on camels and were almost deserted by their followers. As the country through which they traveled was being devastated by Tung Fu Hsiang's troops, they were unable to obtain even necessaries, and they saved no valuables.

Russian Legation Leaves Peking.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 1.—The following dispatch, dated Peking, Sept. 27, has been received from M. de Giers, Russian minister to China: "In accordance with orders from the highest quarters, I am leaving for Tien-tsin with the whole legation."

Fatal Stroke on a Train.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—W. W. Wolcott of Boston died at St. Vincent's hospital from a stroke of apoplexy sustained on a Big Four train Saturday. Mrs. Wolcott arrived last night from Boston, and Miss Camilla S. Wolcott, his daughter, came in this morning from St. Louis. Mr. Wolcott was a native of Onondaga, N. Y., and located in St. Louis about 30 years ago. He became a member of the firm of Wolcott & Hume, publishers of The Journal and Times of St. Louis, and was later president of the St. Louis Car Coupler company. He owned large interests in Missouri zinc mines and at the time of his death was senior partner in the banking firm of Wolcott & Co., with offices at 27 State street, Boston, and 7 Wall street, New York. A search of his effects brought to light the fact that he carried with him a large fortune. He had in his valise $500,000 in government bonds and about $2,000 in cash on his person.

Rector Dies in the Pulpit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Rev. Dr. Gilbert H. Gregory passed away yesterday in the presence of his congregation at the morning service in St. Stephen's Methodist Episcopal church, Marble Hill, at the upper end of Manhattan Island. Physicians had urged Dr. Gregory to retire from active church work, as he had long been a sufferer from heart trouble. They told him that he might live for years if he would cease labor, but that if he continued to work he was liable to be stricken any moment. Dr. Gregory was 63 years old. He was a man of great energy, a forceful speaker and possessed an attractive personality. He had been a Methodist minister for 37 years and had a host of friends in this city and in Hudson river towns where he had charge.

Son of Pastor Drowned.

HOBART, N. Y., Oct. 1.—William Oliver, son of the Rev. W. C. Oliver, a prominent Methodist clergyman of the New York conference, was drowned in the Red Kill creek near Prattsville, Greene county. Young Oliver was employed as a canvasser for the Home Instruction school of Springfield, Mass. He left Prattsville about 8 o'clock at night to drive to Hunter, a distance of 16 miles. He was alone, and it is supposed that he got off the road and in order to reach the highway again attempted to ford the Red Kill, a rapid and turbulent mountain stream. The horse and wagon were found in a field about two miles from Prattsville the following morning. The animal was uninjured. Oliver's body was recovered.

Strange Case of Blood Poisoning.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Elizabeth Johnston, aged 16 years, a daughter of Brooks Johnston of St. Louis, is dead of blood poisoning at Lyndon Hall school in this city, where she was preparing for Vassar college. The disease first manifested itself in the form of a swelling on her lip, which she tried to treat herself for a week before sending for a physician. The best doctors in town besides Dr. George E. Brewer of Roosevelt hospital, New York, attended her. They are unable to explain the cause of the strange disease, but they think that the girl must have been inoculated with the septic poison before she arrived here a fortnight ago.

A Probable Murder.

AKRON, O., Oct. 1.—The mangled body of Patrick Mullen was found on the track of the electric railroad at Cuyahoga Falls. At first it was thought he had been killed by a car. Later discoveries were made which indicate that Mullen was murdered back of a blacksmith shop about a quarter of a mile away, where Mullen's hat was found by the side of a pool of blood. It is now believed the body was placed on the track by his murderers. He had considerable money when last seen alive.

Murder and Attempted Suicide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Otto Wolff, a waiter, last night went to the residence of Milton Knapp, a member of the New York Produce Exchange, who resides in South Brooklyn, and called on Mrs. Rosina Wolff, his wife, who was in Mr. Knapp's employ as a servant. He charged her with having been unfaithful and after knocking her down cut her throat with a razor. He then slashed his own throat. The wife died in a few minutes, and Wolff is mortally wounded, the physicians say.

Ship Foundered at Sea.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The British tramp steamer Glengoil, which arrived from Alexandria, Egypt, and other ports in the Mediterranean, brought into port 29 shipwrecked seamen taken from the British ship Nonpareil on Sept. 22. Their vessel foundered shortly after they abandoned her. Captain Hatfield on his arrival at quarantine reported that his ship, the Nonpareil, sailed from New York on Sept. 10, bound for Sourabaya, Java, with a full cargo of case oil.

UNFAITHFUL AMIGOS.

Alleged Friendly Filipinos Join In Attacking Americans.

SKIRMISHES IN SEVERAL PROVINCES

Insurgent Loss Estimated at Ninety Men During Past Week's Fighting—Two San Francisco Business Men Missing.

MANILA, Oct. 1.—The Filipinos in the vicinity of Manila have been more quiet of late, although last Wednesday night there were brisk attacks at Las Pinas and Paranaque, south of Manila, as well as outpost firing at Imus, Bacoor and Munting Lupa. The American officers are satisfied that the alleged amigos living in and around the towns in question participated in these attacks.

Official reports have been received of insurgent activity in Zambales province and in Batangas province. Two skirmishes occurred during the week on the Bicol river, in the province of South Camarines. It is estimated that the insurgents lost 90 killed in the various districts.

Two civilians, Messrs. John McMahon and Ralph McCord of San Francisco, who started on a business trip for Vigan and Bangued, in northern Luzon, have not been heard from for three weeks. It is feared that they have been killed or captured by the insurgents.

Captain Samuel E. Smiley of the Fifteenth United States infantry, formerly attached to the staff of General Bates in the Philippines, who proceeded to China to join his regiment, but broke down there owing to the climate and hard work, is returning to the United States on the supply ship Celtic.

LOPEZ BACK HERE.

Aguinaldo's Former Secretary Comes to Appeal For His People.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Sixto Lopez, formerly private secretary to Aguinaldo and now a well known defender of the cause of the Filipinos, landed yesterday from the Cunard line steamship Campania and was greeted by Fiske Warren, an anti-imperialist of Boston. With Mr. Warren was a Mr. George, who declined to throw light on his own identity.

Before leaving for Boston Mr. Lopez gave out the following statement:

"My object in coming to America is not to interfere in American politics, but solely to tell the American people what the Filipinos desire in reference to the future government of our country.

"It has been said that my coming to America is in the interest of certain persons and politics. We, as Filipinos, know no party in the United States. We have only one desire—namely, to secure justice for our country.

"Those who desire to give us justice will no doubt be glad to know the wants and conditions of the Filipinos. All that we want is peace with independence and with honor to both parties, and we hope to be able to show that the conditions in our country are such as to fit us for the maintenance of that independence."

Peruvian Minister In Trouble.

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 1.—The chamber of deputies Saturday held a secret session, at which all the members of the cabinet who had not tendered their resignations were present. It was unanimously resolved to deprive former Minister of Finance Velaunde of his privileges as a deputy, to instruct the minister of justice to place an embargo upon his property in a suit for fraud and to authorize the executive to arrest the culprit if necessary. The chamber also appointed a committee to conduct the proceedings against the former minister. These steps were taken in consequence of complications regarding the payment for arms purchased in Belgium.

United States Shipbuilding.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The quarterly statement of the commissioner of navigation shows that 308 vessels of 88,790 gross tons were built in the United States and officially numbered during the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1900. Of the vessels constructed of wood 160 were sail and 127 steam. Of the steel vessels 4 were sail and 17 steam. Of the whole number 190 were built on the Atlantic and gulf coasts, 28 on the Pacific, 32 on the great lakes and 58 on the western rivers. The largest tonnage, 37,057, was on the great lakes, and the next largest was on the Atlantic and gulf coasts.

New York State Taxes.

ALBANY, Oct. 1.—State Comptroller Gilman has prepared the usual schedule showing the amount of tax to be collected from each county during the fiscal year for state expenses. The total amount is $10,704,153, as compared with $12,640,228 last year, a reduction of nearly $2,000,000. New York county, which usually, with its large property increase, finds its tax increased by over $1,500,000, has a decrease this year of over $750,000, having paid $6,116,055 last year, while this year only called upon to pay $5,315,175. Kings county gets a reduction of $180,000.

Parent Premier of Quebec.

QUEBEC, Oct. 1.—Hon. S. N. Parent has accepted the premiership of this province to succeed the late premier, Marchand. The composition of the cabinet will be somewhat the same as formerly, the only changes being that Hon. Thomas Duffy will be the provincial treasurer and L. Gouin, M. P., of Montreal will succeed Mr. Duffy as the commissioner of public works.

Conductor Shot on His Train.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—Julius Washington of New York, a colored porter on the Florida express on the Pennsylvania railroad, shot and seriously wounded A. E. Hindle, the Pullman conductor of the train, whose home is in this city. The shooting occurred just after the train had left Chester, Pa., for this city and was the result of a quarrel.

Killed by Striking a Match.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 1.—Striking a match to light a cigarette caused Louis Kresge's death. The fire alarm wires had, through accident, become crossed with heavily charged electric light wires, and Kresge, on striking a match on the metal alarm box, received a shock which killed him instantly. He was 21 and unmarried.

Fatal Wreck on Santa Fe Road.

OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T., Oct. 1.—A Santa Fe passenger train was wrecked at Waterloo, 18 miles north of here. Two persons were killed outright, and three others were fatally wounded.

BIG RAILWAY VENTURE.

Senator Clark and Others to Build a Rival to the Southern Pacific.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Senator W. A. Clark of Montana has consummated plans for the building of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake City railroad after consultation with Salt Lake City and Los Angeles capitalists who are in Chicago.

Another chief promoter is R. C. Kerens of St. Louis, Republican national committeeman from Missouri, who is also here. Mr. Kerens stated that the new railroad absorbs the franchise and property of the Los Angeles Terminal company, thus providing for its entrance into the southern California metropolis. The Mormon church has practically promised a terminal site in the Utah capital, and a tract of ten acres will be turned over to the railway for its stations and freight departments.

Between the termini the whole unopened southwest will be spanned. The Sierra Nevada will be pierced through one of its southern passes, and the supremacy of the Southern Pacific railway, hitherto unchallenged on the Pacific coast, will be effectually broken, at least in southern California. The death of Collis P. Huntington removed the last obstacle to the success of the Clark-Kerens syndicate. The construction will require $25,000,000 in expenditures.

AID FOR TEXAS SUFFERERS.

Governor Sayers Has Received More Than $500,000.

AUSTIN, Oct. 1.—Regarding the contributions for the Galveston flood sufferers Governor Sayers makes the following statement:

"The amount of money received by me up to 12 o'clock noon of Sept. 30 for the benefit of the storm sufferers of Texas coast is $672,476.29. This sum includes $3,892.59 that remained in my hands of the fund contributed for the relief of the Brazos river valley sufferers last year. It also includes all drafts and authorizations to draw and which are in transit and are yet uncollected.

"This statement, it must be borne in mind, only embraces moneys and remittances that have been made to me directly and also amounts for which I have been authorized to draw.

"During the present week I will submit to the people of the United States a full, complete, itemized statement of the entire fund that has come into my hands, giving the amount and source of each contribution and also the manner in which the sum total received by me has been expended and distributed.

"Every portion of the storm stricken district is being provided for."

Colonel Bryan In Duluth.

DULUTH, Oct. 1.—Colonel Bryan arrived here early Sunday morning and spent the day as a guest of State Senator Baldwin, an old classmate at college. He attended service at the Pilgrims' Congregational church. He spent the night at West Superior, across the St. Louis river, in Wisconsin, and made the first speech of the day in that city this morning. The son fired several shots at the old gentleman, and the latter retaliated with a kettle of boiling water and a lighted lamp. The appearance of the mother and wife put an end to the hostilities. The elder Mr. Smith then came to the conclusion that his son was trying to kill him and had him arrested. Afterward a reconciliation was effected.

The New York Herald says that whatever New Yorkers may think of New Jersey in general, they must admit that in one respect that State has set a most excellent example for all the States, and for New York in particular. New Jersey, by State and county co-operation, has built a thousand miles of good roads within the last eight years, and now stands at the head of the list in this respect. New York ought not to rest content behind New Jersey or any other State in such an important matter as good roads.

The two-minute trotting horse is almost attained. In 1806 Yankee made the then wonderful record of 2:59. The other day The Abbot made the mile in 2:03¼.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

One of the most exciting and at the same time interesting and instructive melodramas ever produced will be "Uncle Sam in China," the play at Music Hall tomorrow night. It is presented by Aiden Benedict and has already made a great hit in New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia. The scene is laid in China and the plot portrays the events of the war in the East. It is produced with a regard for detail seldom seen in these productions, the costumes, scenery and even the properties used being identical with the originals. Mr. Benedict has evidently been at great expense and trouble to produce a play in which his patrons can, while being amused and entertained, at the same time leave the theatre knowing more of the customs and manners of the flowery land than could be obtained from most libraries. The final scenes of the play giving the storming of the gates of Pekin are full of excitement, and the triumphal entry of the allies brings to a close a piece in which, to say the least, there is not a dull moment.

ellen were cut off by the formation of a new diocese at Trenton. The growth of the church under Father Smyth's leadership rapidly advanced until the membership reached great proportions. It is mainly due to his untiring efforts that the debt has been wiped out. To him also credit is due for St. Mary's Parochial school which was erected in 1888. Beside this there is also a convent for the sisters of charity and plans are under way for the building of a mission at Netherwood.

Father Smyth's duties became so ardious that in 1889 Father Flood was appointed to assist him. Since then his assistants have been Fathers Stafford, McCormick, Westman, Murphy and McGeary, the latter being with him at the present time.

Peter Flynn, a resident of West Third street, has been a trustee since the formation of the church. The other one now serving is Dr. W. C. Boone.

O. B. Joyful Club.

The O. B. Joyful Club, which has been disbanded for the summer months, has again sprang into activity and reorganized for the winter. William Kennett has been elected president, James Pope, vice-president; Willard Martin, secretary, and William Pope, treasurer and manager. The club now has a membership of twenty and has engaged rooms in Woolston and Bucklie building on North avenue. The officers are desirous of securing a few new members. Those wishing to join are requested to address the secretary, 143 North avenue.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the docter said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

Our store grows in importance daily. It is rapidly filling a long felt want. It is saving the good people of this and neighboring communities much time, thought and money. Visit us as often as you may, a warm welcome awaits you.

LAMPS
A BROAD AN INTERESTING DISPLAY.

The final touch of beauty to the hall or parlor, as the rose or carnation to the costume, is the lamp. The picturesque effect of its form and decoration gives a finish to the entire furnishing, and the soft, rich glow of the blended light gives a mellow refinement that brings the entire room into eye-pleasing harmony. The place of the lamp in the furnishing scheme is most important. Like the rose on the bodice, the eye catches it first, its tone measures the effect of the entire room. Our constant effort is to gather here a broad variety of lamps, the new colorings are a feature of the lamps this season. Some are richly painted on warm colored backgrounds, but the variety is too great to describe in detail, so come and judge for yourself. Suggestion of price ranges 75c up to 10.00.

JARDINIERS.

A most comprehensive exhibit. Everything bright and new. The colorings are very rich, mahogany, apple green, oxblood, others beautifully tinted and others very prettily blended. Enough colors and shapes to suit anyone's taste. Sizes run from 5½ inches up to 12 inches. Prices from 18c up to 2.98. Some very pretty styles with pedestals, entirely new shapes, at 69c, 98c, 1.25.

Tabourettes After you have selected a jardinier you'll need a stand for it. Well here's a lot specially priced for this week, 49c, the tops are 14x14 inches, some are round and others octagon shape, in solid oak, golden finish and mahogany. Other stands at 79c, 98c and up to 2.98.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, October 1.—The football season was formally opened in Dunellen Saturday when Ruliff Fisher's team and one captained by Charlee Lake played an exciting and interesting game on the Lincoln avenue ground. The game was marked throughout by brilliant playing and ended with a score of 16 to 0 in favor of Lake's team. The losers claim that their opponents were much heavier than they were, which explains the cause of their defeat.

Saturday was ladies' day at Schepflin's bowling greens, and a large number of the fair sex was present from surrounding places. A special trolley car brought quite a number from New Brunswick. The threatening weather was the means of keeping quite a few away.

The sermons of Rev. Mr. Martin, of Orangeville, Pa., who occupied the Presbyterian pulpit yesterday, were greatly enjoyed by his hearers. It is expected that Rev. C. E. Ketcham, of Westfield, the last of the five candidates to be heard, will speak next Sunday.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, Oct. 1.—A writ of execution was issued by Justice Storms Saturday against George Weber who lives near Avon Park, on complaint of William Pangborn, of Plainfield, agent for the S. P. C. A. About a year ago Weber was arrested for ill treating a horse and fined $50. A misunderstanding followed between his counsel, W. S. Angleman and the plaintiff's lawyer, W. K. McClure, and the fine was never paid. Agent Pangborn resolved that he should not go unpunished and accordingly had the execution issued. Unless the fine is forthcoming his goods will be sold.

A New York business man of sedentary habits who has for years occasionally used a Ripans Tabule to aid digestion, relates that he awoke one morning recently with a violent headache of a pronounced type. It was so severe that he considered a dose of calomel and a day in bed, but as the latter was impossible, owing to the business requirements of that particular day, he started from home at the usual hour and in an unusual state of depression and temper. Arriving at his office, his eyes happened to rest upon the packet of Ripans Tabules that he kept in his desk, and in a somewhat desperate state he took three of the Tabules at one swallow and sat down to attend to the work of the day. A half hour later he realized to his surprise that the headache had left him and that he was in his usual good health. Moreover the headache did not return. He went immediately to the office of the company and narrated his experience, with a suggestion that the story be told for the benefit of others. That day's time was saved to him and it was worth more than ten dollars in cash, to say nothing of the discomfort he escaped.

COSTUMES.

Attractive Ideas For the Late Fall and Winter.

Complete costumes, including a wrap or jacket, all of one color, are again to be worn and are always of a refined and elegant aspect.

Long coats of cloth, very elaborately trimmed with applications, guipure or tiny ruches of mousseline de soie, will be a feature of the late fall and winter seasons. Wraps of a simpler type are decorated with stitching, galloon, passementerie and especially bias bands of stitched cloth or silk, after the manner of tailor made gowns.

CRAPE GOWN.

Red jackets are worn, even by women who do not play golf. Jackets of deep blue, beige or dark gray are generally preferred, however, and are usually more becoming as well as more serviceable. Red is always pretty for children nevertheless.

The cut shows an empire gown of black crepe de chine. Around the foot is a circular flounce headed by a band of gold embroidery, and bands of embroidery also pass up the fastening at the left side. The full guimpe and the tight sleeves are of black embroidered net, and there is a sort of corselet of gold embroidery with tabs passing up to the shoulders, where they are secured by ornamental buttons. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Prevailing Forms For the Approaching Winter.

The newest models of mantles, just prepared, consist of a bolero below which falls a straight sack nearly always laid in plaits. Occasionally these plaits are stitched down to the very foot of the garment, but as a rule they are left free for some distance above that point. The bolero is sometimes not a separate piece, but is merely indicated by the decoration, whatever it may be.

The bolero is far from diminishing in favor. On the contrary, it is as ubiquitous and as well worn as ever and takes every variety of form.

LONG WRAP.

It is especially in the variety and ornamentation of sleeves that fashion now exerts itself. The other parts of the wardrobe retain such general lines as they have hitherto followed. It is safe to say that the entirely tight and plain sleeve, of the same color as the bodice, will not long hold a place in the first rank, as it is so unbecoming to the majority of figures.

The long wrap illustrated is of mastic cloth. It is mounted in plaits on a yoke which continues down the front to the foot, with a stole effect. This yoke and the foot of the wrap are bordered with lines of stitching. The small double pelerine is scalloped and stitched, and so are the high, flaring collar and the wrists of the plain sleeves. The wrap is lined with silk throughout. The sailor hat is trimmed with a band of black velvet and a twist and chow of tulle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Sure Cure.

"Why don't you induce your friend Nurox to consult Dr. Socum?"

"Oh, he isn't actually sick. The only thing the matter with him is that he has so much money he doesn't have to work, and it's made him sluggish."

"Well, Dr. Socum will remove the root of the evil in a pretty short time."—Philadelphia Press.

Thick Blood.

Thick blood causes colds and countless other diseases. Keep the lungs active by deep breathing, the skin by baths and friction, the kidneys by free drafts of warm water, the bowels by correct eating, and the blood will be pure.

FASHION NOTES.

Items on Dress That Will Interest Members of the Feminine Sex.

The short or rainy-day skirt is becoming very popular, not only for stormy days, but for sunshiny days as well, says Ladies' World.

Women are getting to be very sensible about wearing these short skirts, and it is surprising how many one sees of them now in the shopping district. At one time they were only worn for wheeling, golf and stormy days; but now one sees them at all times, and there is no skirt more comfortable than this. But if they are worn one must also wear nice shoes with them, otherwise they do not look well.

Tubular braid makes a pretty trimming for gowns of wool or cloth, and if laid over a color—for instance, red or white—it is very stylish. The waist of a gray and black gown was made with bolero fronts and the vest was strapped with bands of red cloth with black tubular braid over, and this same trimming went around the edges of the jacket, collar and cuffs.

Red hats will be much worn for early fall, either all red or black trimmed with red. It is at this season that the red hats look pretty when worn with black or dark blue suits. A pretty hat was of red straw with a trimming around the crown of red chiffon, and a little to the left was an immense rosette of the same material.

A short-back sailor in an ecru straw was trimmed with wide black velvet ribbon bows in front, and at the back under the rim was a bunch of deep red roses and black velvet bow.

Another red hat, which was very stunning, had bias bands of red velvet around the crown and on the under side of the brim, and in front was a large bow of grenadine silk-striped red ribbon, with a bunch of light red and dark red roses.

Very stylish and pretty was a large white hat trimmed with white tulle and delicately veiled with black, and on either side of the crown was a long black ostrich plume, and under the rim at the left side were two large black silk flowers with yellow centers. A Tuscan straw faced with white chiffon had bands of black velvet around the crown, with large black velvet bow in front and pink roses at the back, and another was a rice straw trimmed with white silk, and just a little to the left was an immense bunch of "Jack" roses.

Collars made of crinoline, to be worn under ribbon stocks, etc., instead of a linen collar, can be bought for 10 or 15 cents. These collars come in all sizes, and are wired top and bottom, with feather-bone through the middle; they are said to be very nice.

The white and black chiffon boas are pretty worn with light or thin gowns, and they still have many admirers. Some of the all-white ones are trimmed with a narrow ruching edged with black and long accordion plaited ends.

A dainty and simple gown for an informal evening affair is a pale yellow organdie spotted with black. Around the foot of the skirt are three narrow ruffles of plain yellow, trimmed on the edges with narrow black lace. The lower part of the waist is of the dotted organdie with a tucked yoke of the plain yellow and black lace insertion, and a bertha of the yellow trimmed with lace.

The Kimona dressing jacket is a most convenient and comfortable article to have in one's wardrobe, and is made of lawn, challi and flannel and cashmere. Other dressing jackets are made with tucks, yokes and bolero fronts and trimmed with lace and embroidery, and with full or three-quarter length sleeves.

Shirt waists and corset covers are cut off in front at the waist line, so as to have as little fullness over the stomach as possible, for skirts now must set perfectly smooth and plain over the hips and stomach. The seamless corset cover reaches to the waist line only and is finished with belt or drawing string.

The blazer is a stylish little coat for wheeling; it is open in front with small revers and extends a few inches below the waist.

A very handsome street gown of fawn colored cloth polka dotted with white was trimmed with bands of plain cloth of the same color. The back of this skirt was box plaited and on the front and sides were perpendicular bands of the plain cloth of different lengths, some reaching half way and others not quite so far. The Eton was of the polka dotted cloth, while the sleeves and collar were of the plain.

Both the turn down and standing linen collar are worn with shirt waists, and there are all kinds and styles of pretty bows, stocks and ties of ribbon, silk, pique and lace for the neck.

Tomatoes in White Sauce.

Wipe and peel three tomatoes, and slice crosswise. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, roll in flour, and heat in the blazer, using enough butter to prevent burning. The tomatoes should be watched carefully and turned during heating. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, and pour on gradually one and one-third cupfuls of milk. Stir constantly until the sauce thickens, then pour it over the tomatoes.—Good Housekeeping.

After the Circus.

After you return from a circus, it is amusing to read the circus bills.—Atchison Globe.

FAITHFUL TO THE END.

Dog Died of a Broken Heart on the Grave of His Master Whom He Had Loved Well and Long.

Joseph E. Badger's dog is dead, and there is every indication that the animal died of a broken heart. It did not live long after the death of its master, and was found dead in the cemetery where he is buried.

Badger was a traveling man, working mainly in Kansas and Nebraska, and the dog was with him always. He had taught the animal so much that it appeared to understand all he said to it. The dog would carry his small valise and could be sent on errands.

Badger became ill and went to Colorado, where he died a short time ago. His remains were brought back and buried here. The dog lay all one night by the side of the coffin and whined piteously. When the casket was placed in the baggage car to be transferred to the place of burial the dog went with it.

The faithful animal went to the cemetery and seemed deeply stricken when the casket had been lowered into the grave. A brother of Badger took the dog home, but it refused to eat. In less than an hour it was back in the cemetery. Food was carried there, but it would not eat.

In less than a week after the death of its master the dog was found dead in a clump of grass close to Badger's grave.—St. Joseph (Mo.) Letter in N. Y. World.

WHAT FLOSSIE KNEW.

Big St. Bernard Watered the Horses, Did All Sorts of Funny Things and Caught Thieves.

Flossie was a big, good-natured, smooth-haired St. Bernard—not a registered animal, nor known to fame, but of pretty nearly pure breed, and worth her weight in gold, if you could take her owner's word for it.

He would fill a big bucket of water at the pump and say to her: "Take this to Ned," "Take this to Tom," naming one of the two horses in the stable, a hundred feet away. She would grab the handle between her teeth and trot away. Flossie watered the horses regularly, and never made the mistake of giving to one what had been confided to her for the other. She was greatly excited one day at seeing Tom, in a frisky mood, roll over on the lawn. She imitated the trick at once, and always after that when her owner would say: "Now, Flossie, do as Tom does," she would roll over without the slightest hesitation.

One night Flossie was left with a friend in the village, and was locked in a stable which had one good-sized window overlooking a chicken yard, owned by a widow who lived next door. A little after midnight, a couple of colored men took a notion to rob this chicken yard. They had got down to work when all of a sudden there was a terrific crash and a big body lighted squarely on the back of one of the thieves. Flossie had jumped through the window, carrying with her both the glass and the sash. How badly the thieves were hurt was never learned, for they got away, but there were marks of blood on the torn coat that one of them left behind. They got no chickens that night. The dog's master was so tickled that he paid the bill for replacing the window without saying a word.

Flossie was killed by a railroad train. The memory of her will live till the family that loved her is entirely broken up.—St. Louis Republic.

Pig Dines on a Python.

The strongest case of the biter being bit occurred on the steamer St. Regulus, which recently arrived in this country from East Indian ports. Among other freight the vessel brought three snakes of the python family. When embarking the captain was told that they would not require much food during the voyage, but was advised to put a small pig in the cage with the largest serpent. The snake, however, remained in a stupor so long that the pig, which had grown somewhat hungry itself, made a meal on the python by eating a large hole in its side, and the dead reptile had to be thrown overboard.

An Impressive Sermon.

At Aix-la-Chapelle is the tomb of the great Emperor Charlemagne. He was buried in the central space beneath the dome; but the manner of his burial is one of the most impressive sermons ever preached. In the death chamber beneath the floor he sat on a marble chair—the chair on which kings had been crowned—and, wrapped in his imperial robes, a book of the Gospel lay open in his lap; and as he sat there, silent, cold, motionless, the finger of the dead man's hand pointed to the words of Jesus: "What shall it profit a man if he gain the world and lose his own soul."

FACTS ABOUT GUAM.

A Pacific Ocean Possession That Is Worth Cultivating.

Rich Island Which, According to Gen Joseph Wheeler, Offers Many Advantages to Traders from the States.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THAT island of Guam in the Pacific ocean is worth having. It is one of the possessions earned for this republic midst shot and shell and flame and smoke, and shout and groan and sabre stroke, by Dewey and Schley and their "men behind the guns."

The war department has just authorized the publication of the report of Gen. "Joe" Wheeler, the hero of three wars, the Mexican, the civil and the Spanish-American; and this report contains statements concerning the island of Guam which are based upon the personal knowledge of Gen. Wheeler, after he had made an official tour of inspection of the island, under orders issued by President McKinley from the white house.

Gen. Wheeler is a wonderful man and he is a lovely character. With soldierly instinct he reports that he arrived at Guam at noon, and "at 3:30 p. m., having been furnished with horses, I rode across the island, a distance of seven miles, to the hamlet of Pago, which is situated on a small shallow harbor on the east side of the island."

Just think of that! Gen. Wheeler is in his sixty-third year. He never weighed more than 100 pounds in his life, and is the smallest man, physically, that was ever received by the West Point military academy. And yet, after serving in three wars, and at an age when most men seek ease and comfort, or even luxury, he fought at Santiago, went cheerfully to the Philippines and fought there, and then made an official tour of this new island possession, and rode horseback seven miles on the very day of his arrival at Guam, after an ocean trip of two weeks.

"Fighting Joe Wheeler" was in the confederate army, and he made the Yankees hump themselves many a time during that awful internecine struggle. But when the reunited nation was confronted with another war he was among the very first to tender his services. In congress President McKinley became well acquainted with Gen. Wheeler, and, like everybody who has known him, love him; and he gladly accepted his services, gave him a commission, and sent him forth where he wanted to be, on the firing line. The career of this magnificent soldier should be an inspiration to every patriotic young man in this republic.

He says: "The next morning I started out again at daylight, taking a road which leads to the northern end of the island." This simple sentence shows the energy and determination of character of the born soldier. "We ascended Santa Rosa peak, from the tops of which I had a view of probably one-third of the island. That night I returned to Agana, reaching that place between eight and nine o'clock at night."

When we study history, ancient, modern or concurrent, it is well for us to know the author of the history, in order that we may have proper appreciation of his credibility. Therefore these quotations are made to show that this soldier was in the saddle from daylight (about four a. m.) until after eight o'clock at night, in all about 16 hours. And the man was then in his sixty-third year. We can trust to the reliability of the report and conclusions of such a man.

Guam has never been surveyed, but is estimated to contain about 150 square miles. One-half of this is susceptible of cultivation. Although all of the land is yet virgin soil only about one per cent. of it is under cultivation. It has a population of about 9,000, and nearly all of the people reside in small towns. Agana, the principal town, has upwards of 6,000 inhabitants. The other towns are Pago, Asam, Agat, Umata, Merizo and Ynarajan; and there is also a good-sized hamlet at the harbor of San Luis D'Apra, while far inland is a town called Sumai.

The island needs development, and it is open to immigration from this country. The land is arable and very fertile, producing luxuriant crops of cocoanuts, oranges, lemons, cacao, rice, corn, tobacco, sugar cane, beans, tomatoes; the cocoanut trees being superior to those in any other islands of the tropics. Nearly all of these products are prodigious, very few of them being cultivated carefully by the natives.

As stated above, nearly all of the people live in the towns. Those who have ranches build rude houses upon them where they reside with their families a portion of the time; but this is merely camping out, or picnicing, instead of really permanent living. The best ranches are on a table land, which is along the northern part of the island; and this table land is an especially fertile tract. It is traversed by a good road from Agana, clearings have been made along the road, and the state of cultivation is the best of all on the island. Outside of these clearings for ranches, the table land is one almost impenetrable jungle.

The natives seem to have little ambition, because living is easy. They toil not, neither do they spin. Nature furnishes everything that they require or need. The only industry of any note is the production and exportation of dried cocoanut, called copra. This they sell at from three to four dollars (Mexican) per hundred weight. The purchasers receive double this amount when they deliver the copra in Japan, where it is in demand. The natives never think of dealing directly with the Japs. Here alone is a chance for some energetic Yankee business man to double his money annually, whatever may be the size of his investment. In Great Britain the copra sells for $75 per ton, in gold.

Guam is the most southerly of the Mariana islands. They are between the thirteenth and twentieth degrees of north latitude, and were first discovered by Magellan, March 6, 1521. All of them are volcanic at times, and are supposed to be of volcanic origin. At Umata there is an excellent harbor, and there the Spanish governor of the island for many years dwelt in a palace. This palace and a church were destroyed by an earthquake. The palace was never rebuilt, but there is a beautiful new church with a stone slab bearing the inscription (in Spanish): "This church was destroyed January 23, 1849, by a great earthquake, and was rebuilt the same year, Don Pablo Perez being governor at the time."

In 1668, almost 250 years ago, Spain devastated this beautiful island, just as, in 1897-98, she was devastating Cuba. Fire and sword and starvation and torture did their deadly work. The nations of the world knew not what was going on, or else were indifferent. But, just as Weyler was brutally and ruthlessly destroying the population of Cuba a few years ago, Spanish soldiers completely wiped out the population of Guam. There was a "Christian mission" established, and the natives were burdened and outraged until they arose in rebellion. That was in 1668. When Dampier came there 20 years later he found very few inhabitants. "The whole island was in the possession of wild hogs and cattle, and a few nude human beings."

This one incident shows that Spanish policy in Cuba in the nineteenth century was precisely the same as it had been in the remote centuries. It is said by some Spanish writers that Guam had upwards of 30,000 inhabitants when the work of devastation began. Before killing these natives the "Christian mission" officially reported that 13,000 of them had been baptized and 20,000 converted. Glorious work for Spain, wasn't it?

Excepting the months of August and September, the climate of Guam and the other Mariana islands is agreeable. For two months the heat is intense, because the trade winds are interrupted. For the remainder of the year it rains, more or less, every day. This is because the enormous evaporation of the Pacific ocean is condensed in passing over the archipelago. But the general temperature is mild and much cooler than that of the Philippines.

This government has decided to establish a naval base at Guam, and the navy department is already making preliminary preparations to that end. Guam is a natural stopping place for our war and merchant ships for water, fresh provisions and coal. For that purpose Spain utilized the island for centuries.

This is, in brief, the history and present condition of the island of Guam, a tropical possession of this republic, which for centuries was under Spanish dominion, and, hence, under Spanish misrule. Gen. Wheeler says that the natives received him very cordially. "They had large United States flags, fired guns and rang bells of welcome, and entertained us with a very good dinner in their best public houses."

They are glad to be rid of Spanish domination. What shall we do with them? What shall we do for them?

That is what all of our people are asking. That we shall perform our duty in the rays of Christian enlightenment nobody can doubt. How that duty shall be performed will be determined by our great people, through their chosen national representatives, under the guidance of Omnipotence, omniscience and that indescribable love which marks the sparrow's fall.

STATUE TO FOSTER.

Famous Song Writer Honored by the People of Pittsburgh.

His Compositions Are Sung and Admired in All Parts of the World —Description of the Really Artistic Monument.

Stephen Collins Foster finally has a monument in Pittsburgh, where he was born and where he spent many years of his life. Lawrenceville, Pa., the actual place of his birth, is now part of Pittsburgh, and when attention was called to that fact several years ago it was determined to see what could be done toward raising a monument to the memory of the man who wrote "Way Down on the Suwanee River," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," "Old Black Joe," and many other songs. The contributions for the monument came from many sources, although most of them naturally were given by citizens of Pittsburgh. The statue was unveiled on September 19 in Highland park under very interesting circumstances. A chorus of children's voices to the number of 3,000 was made up in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport, the three towns of the county, and was devoted almost exclusively to the singing of Foster's music. A collection of bands from other cities supplied the orchestral music, that was made up entirely of Foster's songs.

The monument is the work of Giuseppe Marchetti, of New York, and the large number of competitors included sculptors from all parts of the country. The design of the monument was suggested by T. J. Keenan, Jr., of Pittsburgh, and the committee which accepted Sig. Marchetti's work consisted of A. W. Mellon, Robert Pitcairn, E. M. Bigelow, W. N. Frew, J. W. Beatty and Senator C. L. Magee.

The statue is the first one set up in Highland park, and the committee has exercised care to protect itself against unsatisfactory work. The base of the memorial is of granite and is 14 feet high. The figures are in bronze. The poet is seated and holds in his hand a book and pencil. Seated at his feet is an old negro, who is playing a banjo. The song composer is evidently seeking inspiration from the negro's music. The statue is placed at the left of the main entrance of the park. The exercises at the unveiling were almost wholly musical, and only one address was delivered. One hundred thousand persons were present at the ceremonies, and as Foster's music is probably better known to the people of this country than any other composer's, many joined in the choruses. "America" was the only song on the programme that was not the work of Foster.

The composer was born on July 4, 1826, and died in New York 38 years later. He taught himself music and studied with great assiduity. His compositions include 160 songs, of which the first written was "Open Thy Lattice, Love," published in 1842, and the last was "Beautiful Dreamer," composed in 1864, the last year of his life. "Gentle Annie," "Willie, We Have Missed You," "Old Dog, Tray," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Nellie Was a Lady," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Maggie by My Side," and "Ellen Bayne," the music of which is now used for "John Brown's Body Lies a-Mouldering in the Grave," were some of the best known among his compositions. As a rule he wrote both the words and music of his songs.

In the Twentieth Century.

The twentieth century will have 24 leap years, the greatest possible number. February will have five Sundays three times—1920, 1948 and 1976. The earliest possible date upon which Easter can occur is March 12. The last time it occurred on that date was 1818. The latest date that Easter can occur is April 25. It will occur but one time in the coming century on that date—1943. The middle day of the century will be January 1, 1951. There will be 380 eclipses during the coming century.

Floating Apiaries in Egypt.

Apiaries are always established with a regard for the convenience of the bees to rich fields of blossoms. Many interesting accounts are given of traveling colonies of bees. Gypsies wander with hives on carts. Edinburgh beekeepers journey with their hives to the moors where heather is in bloom. In Egypt boatmen have apiaries and sail up or down the Nile, wherever the flowering fields are likely to afford harvest for the bees.

WANT CITY TO BUY IF SCHEME WORKS.

Leonard Spangenberg Makes Another Proposition Regarding Sewage Disposal.

PROPOSED COST IS $15,000

NO ACTION TAKEN ON IT BY THE COMMON COUNCIL

Protest Against the Present Location of the Public Fountain on North Avenue—No Money for Disposal of Dead Leaves.

It was expected that some definite action would be taken by the Common Council at the regular meeting last evening to remedy the present situation at the sewage disposal beds of the city. The committee on streets and sewers had several plans under consideration, but the members were unable to reach a decision at a meeting of the committee Saturday evening, so no report was made to the Council at last night's meeting and a week's adjournment was asked for. Another offer was made to Council, however, by Leonard Spangenberg to dispose of the city's sewage, and his proposition was turned over to the consideration of the committee.

All the Councilmen except Mr. Corlell were on hand when the Council settled down to business. There was the usual bunch of petitions to begin with. Residents on East Front street wanted two lights on that thoroughfare between Farragut and Johnston avenues and another on Johnston avenue between Front and Second streets. That went to the committee on lights. J. A. Blatz petitioned for a change of assessment on some La Grande avenue property and the finance committee was asked to look into his case. There was also a petition for the extension of the water main out South Second street to Rock avenue so that the factories in that vicinity might have the benefit of city water. More lights were asked for on East Second street, near Washington street.

Business men on North avenue, headed by J. T. Vail, protested against the present location of the public fountain, presented to the city by the Loyal Temperance Legion, and asked the Council to remove it somewhere else. It was very objectionable, they claimed. Mr. Buckle remarked that the Council had had nothing to do with fixing the location. The petition was referred to the fire committee.

Richard E. Randolph wanted a license as a cartman and the license was subsequently granted. The Council was notified that electric lights had been placed on Park lane and Park terrace.

A communication was received from L. Spangenberg asking permission to withdraw the proposition which he had submitted to the Council a month ago and offer a new one in its place. The Council granted his request. In the first offer made to the city Mr. Spangenberg wished to build a plant for sewage disposal by the Doughty Precipitating and Filtering Tank Process, patented, and if it proved satisfactory after thirty days trial, the city was to buy the plant for $25,000.

The new proposition was that he should build the plant without cost to the city, and, after six month's trial, if the process proved satisfactory, the city was to purchase the plant for $15,000. There was no discussion, but President Dumont turned the proposition over to the committee on streets and sewers.

The report of City Judge Runyon for the last three months showed that 136 cases had been disposed of. Of that number, sentence had been suspended in 82 cases; fines were imposed in 26; 12 cases had been dismissed, and 16 offenders sent to the county jail. The fines collected amounted to $111.50.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane's report showed that fifteen permits had been granted during the past month.

City Treasurer W. F. Arnold's report showed a balance on hand in the fund amounting to $3,915 76; the Martin Act fund amounted to $3,747.50; the trust fund, $1,100.53; the street improvement fund, $2,861.19, making a total balance on hand of $21,202.46.

Taxes to the amount of $538.30 were collected during September, according to the report of City Collector Frank H. Smith. There was also collected $1,404 66 of Martin Act taxes, $164 69 of the macadamizing account and $87.79 of the sewer account.

A resolution, offered by Mr. Van Herwerden, providing for the borrowing of $5,000 for the general fund and $2,000 for the fire department in anticipation of the collection of taxes. The

READY FOR ACTIVE WORK

CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN IN BOROUGH TOMORROW NIGHT.

Hon. D. J. Foster, of Vermont, and Senator Pitney Will be the Principal Speakers.

Now that the candidates on the county ticket are nominated, the Republicans of Somerset county are ready to begin active operations. To the U. S. Grant Club, of North Plainfield, will fall the honor of opening the active campaign in that county. A meeting is to be held in Saengerbund Hall, Somerset street, tomorrow evening, under the auspices of that club at which a number of prominent speakers are to be present.

Hon. D. J. Foster, of Vermont, has been assigned to the meeting by the State committee. State Senator Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown, is also to be present and will address the meeting. Congressman B. F. Howell, of the Third District, and the candidates nominated at the Republican county convention at Somerville yesterday are also to be on hand for the meeting.

Of course, Senator Charles A. Reed will be on hand and many of the prominent Republican leaders from all over the county are expected to attend. The meeting will be open to voters from both city and borough and the hall will undoubtedly be filled to its utmost capacity. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED.

Dr. James Rosedale Said to be a Very Interesting Speaker.

Dr. James Rosedale, a native of Mt. Zion, Jerusalem, who has been secured by the Missionary Department of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union to lecture in Trinity Reformed church Thursday evening, is highly recommended by many pastors in whose church he has preached and lectured. F. W. Meyers, of Westminster church, London, says of Dr. Rosedale: "I think all ministers who bring him before their people will find that they have acted wisely."

Mrs. Rosedale and three daughters, who will accompany the lecturer to Plainfield, will sing in Hebrew and Greek; and all will dress in the Palestine costume.

There promises to be a large and enthusiastic audience. Admission free. A collection will be taken to defray the expenses of the evening.

Corn Supper.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church are planning to give a novel supper on the evenings of Thursday and Friday, October 18th and 19th, in the lecture room of the church. A substantial supper will be served, and everything that can be made of corn will be cooked and served by the young women in an appetizing way, and the room will be trimmed and decorated in a becoming style.

Struck on the Head.

Fred Gray, a young lad living on West Front street, was accidentally struck on the head yesterday afternoon with a club having a heavy piece of iron on the end. In company with some other boys, he was clubbing a chestnut tree when he stood in the way of a companion about to throw. The blow dazed him and inflicted a slight scalp wound. He was assisted to the hospital where the injury was dressed.

Cars in the West End

Residents living in the vicinity of Grant avenue and Fourth street have been complaining lately of the large number of worthless cars which infest that neighborhood at all hours of the night. Sleep has been out of the question for some time past and several of them declare that if nothing is done by the police they will take the matter in hand themselves.

Grant Club Meets Tonight.

The regular meeting of the U. S. Grant Republican Club will be held at the club rooms on Somerset street this evening. All members and the public generally are cordially invited to be present.

Hospital is Full.

There are now twenty-four patients at Muhlenberg Hospital, which is about the limit. It will be impossible to receive other patients unless it is a case of absolute necessity.

To Appoint a Captain.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association will be held some day this week to appoint a captain of the High School golf team.

Closed on Wednesday.

S. Scheuer & Company will close their store all day Wednesday, October 3d, on account of a holiday. 10 1 2

PRIMARY TEACHERS.

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon and Miss Nettie J. Beeching Elected President.

The annual meeting of the Primary Teachers' Union was held in the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Miss Nettie J. Beeching; first vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Powlison; second vice-president, Mrs. F. R. Baker, of Westfield; third vice-president, Mrs. John P. Mosher; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Robert Barnes; librarian, Mrs. W. H. Morse, of Westfield.

It was decided to hold the annual institute of the union in the First Baptist church, this city, the afternoon and evening of October 29th. Mrs. Kennedy, of Philadelphia, and others prominent in the work will speak. The Primary Teachers' Union holds its meetings every Monday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock in the small hall at the Y. M. C. A. building.

AN UNHAPPY CALL.

Two Men Visit Chief Kiely and One of Them Spends the Night in a Cell.

A stranger, somewhat drunk, was refused a drink in a local saloon last evening. He didn't think it was right. Lawrence Wallace, better known as "Larry," piloted him to police headquarters to inquire about the rights of the case. The Chief's opinion in the matter didn't suit Larry or the stranger. They became abusive, Chief Kiely says. The chief ordered them out of the building but Wallace refused to go. So he stayed but inside a cell. Chief Kiely and Sergeant Frederickson had some excitement, however, in putting him into the cell.

This morning the case came up before City Judge Runyon. Wallace was fined $2.

SOLD HARD CIDER.

Italian Merchant in the Borough Fined $10 for the Offence.

Selling hard cider on Sunday, which is strictly against the borough ordinance, proved rather expensive for Michael Piumettia, of Somerset street. He was arrested by Marshall Campbell for that offense last evening and arraigned before Mayor Smalley. The evidence was strong against him and he was fined $10.

Peter Dooley and Martin Conley, of the borough, were purchasers and the effects of the liquid led them into the hands of the police. They were fined $3 each.

Peter Lane, of Somerville, who was arrested on Somerset street Saturday evening, also received a $3 fine.

Some Fine Displays.

The display at Bonn's millinery opening this morning, while not larger, perhaps, than his past efforts, contains a finer line than has heretofore been shown to his patrons. Mr. Bonn wants the best trade of Plainfield and is prepared to cater for it. Miss Fouble, who designed many of the hats and bonnets now displayed, is a very competent young woman who has had the best of experience in New York. Some of her creations were very elaborate and not to be excelled in beauty and tastefulness by any. The opening began this morning and there were many interested visitors during the morning. The opening will continue tomorrow and Thursday.

Said They Were in Hard Luck.

James R. Brown, Timothy McCarty and William Higgins, all former denizens of Elizabethport, were stopped last evening while tramping down the railroad. Patrolman McCarthy was quite certain that they were the same men who had been making trouble in Dunellen although there was no evidence to that effect. The men claimed to be law abiding citizens in hard luck. They were arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning and, for lack of $5 to pay their fine, went to the county jail for twenty days each.

Relaying East-bound Tracks.

The work of relaying the east-bound trolley tracks on Front street in the center of the city, was commenced this morning. It is being pushed as rapidly as possible and as soon as completed the street will be put in first class shape. At present, however, it is very unpleasant to teamsters and bicyclists on account of the protruding rails.

Dance to Raise Money.

The committee from Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, which has charge of the entertainment of the Great Council of that order in this city October 23d and 24th, will give a dance in Red Men's Hall tomorrow evening. The object of the dance will be to raise funds to defray the expenses of entertaining the Great Council.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE OVERCROWDED.

Supt. Maxson Reports That the Total Enrollment in the City Numbers 2,291.

TROUBLE TO CARE FOR ALL.

TOTAL ATTENDANCE IN THE HIGH SCHOOL IS 227.

It Has Been Found Necessary in Some Instances to Form Half-day Classes—Urgent Need for More Room.

With the exception of Mr. Abbott, all the members of the Board of Education were present at the regular monthly meeting held last evening. After the usual number of bills had been ordered paid, the report of the tax collector was read which showed $134.74 had been collected and deposited to the credit of the Board. Another report from the custodian of taxes showed that $21,330.31 had been disbursed, which included the payment of money borrowed, and that there was a remainder of but $259.90. A report from Supt. Maxson showed $32.96 collected for fines and tuition fees. Contrary to expectation the subject of the new high school building was not discussed, having been brought up at a previous meeting held September 25th. At that time, however, nothing of importance was mentioned. A communication from Supt. Maxson read last evening showed the need of the new school more strongly than ever. The report was as follows:

To the Hon. Board of Education:

Gentlemen—Thinking that the record of attendance would be of special interest to you at this time of year, I submit the following report:

The enrollment has been unusually satisfactory in its promptness. I have never known a year when the pupils were so generally in their places the first week in school. Especially was this true of the High School. That school now numbers 58 more than it did last year at this time, yet all but 7 of its large enrollment were present the second day of school.

The total enrollment of the city schools last week was 2,291, distributed as follows: High School, 227; grammar schools, 441; primary and kindertens, 1,623. This is an increase of 110 over the enrollment of a year ago.

The increase has been readily provided for in most cases, but in the Irving School the lowest primary class is full to overflowing, numbering over 70, and I have not yet been able to devise any readjustment that will relieve the overcrowding without greatly lowering the efficiency of other grades. I have therefore arranged for the present to have part of the children attend in the morning and the rest in the afternoon.

Similar conditions exist in the Washington School and have been met temporarily by half-day classes.

In the High School the total attendance is 227, which is 12 more than the number given in my estimate last May. The extra classes will be provided for by recitations in cloak rooms, principal's office or hallway in the case of small divisions. The relief which the new High School will bring another year will not come any too soon, not only for the High School but for the other schools also that are becoming crowded.

Respectfully submitted,
Henry M. Maxson,
Supt. of Schools.

It was decided that three children beside two others to whom permission had already been granted, should be allowed to attend the Dunellen schools and that the tuition fees should be paid by the board. These children are members of families living in the extreme western part of the city on the Dunellen line. Being nearly two miles from any Plainfield school it was thought best to attend the Dunellen schools which are much nearer.

Mr. Lovell introduced a resolution for the borrowing of an amount sufficient to pay all bills for October. The motion was carried. Supt. Maxson was authorized to engage a hall for the drilling of the cadet corps in bad weather at the same rate expended for that purpose last year. The contract for removing ashes from the schools was awarded to Fernando Brown for $120. Having no other business of importance to be transacted the board then went into executive session.

To Leave Plainfield.

Louis Mohring, for fifteen years in the employ of Asa Collier, the Park avenue jeweler, has resigned his position to accept a more lucrative one, and about October 15th will sever his connection with Mr. Collier, much to the regret of many friends he has made while in his present position.

NO WARD CLUB.

Fourth Ward Republicans Decide Not to Organize a Regular Campaign Club.

The Fourth ward Republican leaders have followed the example of the First warders and will organize no campaign club, but simply put the campaign committee on an effective working basis. Last evening the members of the Republican campaign committee from the Fourth ward held a meeting and formed their ward organization. It was decided to invite twenty-five prominent Republican workers of the ward to unite with them to form a working organization with the same objects as the ward associations of the Second and Third wards.

The following officers were elected: Chairman, William Newcorn; vice-chairman, James Stewart; secretary and treasurer, W. A. Westphal. There was a discussion of the question of funds, the canvass and other campaign work.

ENDEAVORERS ELECT.

Trinity Church Society Chose Officers Last Evening.

At the annual election of officers for the Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church last evening the nominating committee, composed of Messrs. F. E. Smith, H. F. Crawford, H. E. Gayle, Henry Seader and Miss Sadie Searing, presented a list of names for the various offices, and so thoroughly satisfactory were the nominations of the committee that they were unanimously elected, as follows:

President, Edgar F. Sheppard; first vice-president, H. F. Crawford; second vice-president, Miss Ella R. Fenner; corresponding secretary, Miss Mary Pugh; treasurer, Miss Minnie Wyman.

Fall Millinery Opening.

The fall opening of the millinery department of Crosby & Hill's big store began this morning and will continue tomorrow and Thursday. There were many who visited the department today and they found it complete and up-to-date in every way. Miss Catherine Daly and her competent assistants have a beautiful array of hats and bonnets of the latest fashion which they have displayed effectively. Picture hats and turbans prevailed with browns, greys and reds as the principal colors. The beauty of the design was supplemented by the fact that the prices were decidedly moderate. The wise Plainfield woman will visit Miss Daly and her department before selecting her fall hat.

Beautiful Millinery Creations.

The fall millinery season was opened at Woodhull & Martin's this morning and is in charge of Miss Gassner and her assistants. It will last until Thursday and is already being well attended. The display this year is better than ever and the visitors saw many new novelties and handsome designs. Chief among the former are the new liberty satin ribbons, which are becoming quite popular. Quantities of gilt braid are being used with handsome breast effects, while the colorings of pan velvets and bow crushed hats are quite common now.

Firemen Off For a Good Time.

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock this morning two special cars from the Union and Middlesex Traction Company departed from the borough with the members of Warren Engine Company and their friends, bound for the firemen's parade at New Brunswick. One of the cars had been reserved for the ladies and was comfortably filled as was the other also. The firemen carried with them a handsome silk banner, a gift from Chief Debele last Saturday.

Held to Keep the Peace.

Justice Mosher this morning gave his decision in the case of Mary Durazzo, who is accused by her daughter of assaulting and threatening to kill her. She was held in $100 to keep the peace. Michael Popolli, who also threatened to kill the girl and resisted arrest, was held in $200 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

An Error.

Through an error The Daily Press stated yesterday that a little son had arrived to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam C. Blair, of East Fifth street. The Blair home which is now possessed of an heir is that of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew D. Blair, of the borough. Andrew D. Blair is the golf expert of the Park Golf Club.

Met to Elect Directors.

The Sabbath Evangelizing and Industrial Association, whose headquarters are in this city, and which is operating an industrial mission station at Cholo, British Central Africa, met last night in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church to elect ten new directors in the place of ten whose office expire.

SOMERSET REPUBLICANS

CONVENTION BUSINESS TRANSACTED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

County Executive Committee Formed After Nominations Were Made—Speeches Heard.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 2—The Republican county convention held yesterday at Somerset Hall was very harmonious, and everything passed off smoothly.

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen was made permanent chairman, and Edmund Garretson, of Franklin, secretary.

The resolutions reaffirm the National platform, pledge allegiance to McKinley and Roosevelt, Congressman Howell and the county candidates, and predict their triumphant election.

After the nominations had been made, vacancies in the county committee were filled.

A resolution allowing Bound Brook a delegate in all future conventions was introduced by Senator Reed and adopted. This will give Bridgewater township six delegates.

Messrs. John Schomp, W. H. H. Wyckoff and C. J. Gummersbach were appointed a committee to escort the nominee for County Clerk to the platform.

Senator Reed and Assemblyman Cooper were appointed to escort the Assembly nominee.

Messrs. Edwin Garretson, James L. Griggs and P. A. Emmons were assigned to escort Congressman Howell.

County Clerk Somers said that he could not make a speech, as he was so overcome by the feeling of unanimity manifested over his nomination. He pledged himself to do his utmost for the whole ticket, and thanked the delegates from the bottom of his heart.

Mr. Hoagland, the nominee for Assembly, was next introduced, and he briefly thanked the convention. Mr. Hoagland is a popular farmer from Montgomery township and well-known throughout the county.

Congressman Howell was then introduced, and said he had not been invited to come and make a speech, but it afforded him great pleasure to address the farmer Republican county of the Third district, and he was glad to be present and greet the county candidates.

All the candidates were received with hearty applause.

Hon. Lee Fairchild, of California, then talked for about forty-five minutes. He is an entertaining speaker and told many funny anecdotes to illustrate his remarks, keeping the audience in a roar of laughter.

THOMAS CLARK'S FUNERAL.

Services Attended by a Large Number of Old Friends.

A large number of friends and relatives, among whom were a number of the deceased's old associates, gathered at the home of Mrs. Mary R. Fisher, of East Second street, yesterday afternoon to attend the funeral services of her father, Thomas Clark. Rev. Dr. Richards conducted the ceremony. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. Rodman. A solo, "Abide With Me," was sung in a very touching manner by Elmer E. Runyon. The pall bearers were J. C. Flannery, Albert Raymond, W. H. Brokaw and Edward Vermeule. The floral tributes were both numerous and pretty, one in particular being a handsome pillow from the family. Interment was made in the family plot in the Methodist cemetery.

Thrown off Trolley Car.

Thomas Lyons was helplessly drunk yesterday afternoon. It is said that he was thrown off a trolley car at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Fourth street. Lyons has no recollection of what happened. Roundsman Flynn found him lying in the roadway with a gash on his head bleeding freely. He was taken to the city jail to sober up. This morning City Judge Runyon suspended sentence on him.

Complainant Didn't Appear.

Carrie Ritter and Mabel Wilson were arrested last evening on complaint of Edward E. Reeves, a collector for a Newark installment furniture house. Reeves said that they cursed and swore at him when he went to collect the payment due. They were arraigned in court this morning, but Reeves failed to appear and Judge Runyon dismissed the case.

Street in Bad Shape.

Persons who are so unfortunate as to drive over West Seventh street, between Monroe avenue and the Middlesex county line, complain of the wretched condition of the street, and the street committee of the Council will be asked to macadamize it.

MARTINE AND BENNY STIR UP DEMOCRATS.

First of the Meetings to be Held by the Democratic Jeffersonian Club.

GOOD AUDIENCE PRESENT.

IMPERIALISM PUT FORWARD AS THE PRINLIPAL ISSUE.

Assemblyman Benny Said That Free Silver is Not a Live Issue This Year—"Farmer Orator" Denounced Republican Policies.

The first of a series of meetings to be held in Washington Hall once a week from now until election day, at which speeches in advocacy of Democratic principles and candidates will be heard, was held last evening. The meeting was held under the auspices of the recently-organized Democratic Jeffersonian Club. None of the usual methods had been brought into play to attract attention to the meeting, the announcement that it was to be held having simply been made in the newspapers, but notwithstanding there were over 400 present. There were some Republicans present, but the audience was composed mainly of Democratic voters.

The meeting was called to order by John O'Keefe, president of the association, who stated that the regular order of the business of the club would be dispersed with for the evening so that the audience might hear the speakers who were present—Assemblyman Allan Benny, of Bayonne, and James E. Martine, of this city.

In a few words President O'Keefe introduced Assemblyman Benny. In opening Mr. Benny explained the issues of both parties as he understood them, and then started in to argue out the Democratic side of the questions. He said that the Republicans are striving to put the issue of free silver to the front as the principal question to be decided, crying out in that direction in the same manner as they did four years ago. Mr. Benny said that free silver was the least important of the issues this year, since Republican legislation during the present administration had put it out of the realm of subjects which could be legislated on with success by the Democrats within the next few years even if they were victorious at the polls at the coming election.

The one question which Mr. Benny laid stress on, and which he regarded as paramount for the voters to determine by their votes, was that of imperialism. He sketched the events that led up to the declaration of war against Spain, and vigorously denied that the Republicans were entitled to the glory for waging a successful war for the freedom of Cuba. He said that the war was precipitated not through Republican action, but by a stern sense of duty which the American people possessed, and that the credit of the achievements of the army and navy was as much due to Democrats as Republicans.

Besides talking to people about free silver, there was one other question, Mr. Benny said, that the Republicans were shouting about. That was the full dinner pail. He said that the Republicans are saying to the people that the only way in which they may have a full dinner pail is to vote for McKinley—an argument, he said, that was an insult to every citizen of the land. That was the plea, he said, that the slave owner used to stifle the desire of the colored man for his freedom, and the Republican slogan of a full dinner pail was on a par with that of the slave owners. He declared that the full dinner pail talk of the Republicans was unmanly, unfair and unAmerican, as it possessed nothing but that which appealed to the most sordid instincts of man.

Mr. Benny said that he desired to cut his speech short in order that the audience might hear the man whom he knew they all wanted to hear, James E. Martine. Mr. O'Keefe then presented Mr. Martine as one whom it was not necessary to introduce to such a audience. When the "Farmer Orator" stepped forward he was greeted with enthusiastic applause.

Mr. Martine started in to talk in his usual vigorous, enthusiastic manner. He said that the Democrats were advocating a cause this year which appealed to all honest men, and he believed that never before in the history of the country had a set of candidates been offered for the suffrage of the American people that were more typically American than those nominated at Kansas City.

He devoted his remarks to a consideration of several planks of the platform—imperialism, trusts, tariff

MONTANA DEMOCRATS SPLIT.

Independent Faction Will Run a State Ticket Opposed to Clark.

HELENA, Mon., Oct. 2.—The Independent Democratic party, the element of Montana Democracy which bolted from the recent state convention in opposition to W. A. Clark, will hold a state convention in Butte today. Nearly every county in the state will send delegates. The convention will probably indorse the Bryan and Stevenson electors recently nominated in Helena by the Democratic-Populist Labor party fusion ticket. An otherwise independent ticket will be placed in the field. T. S. Hogan, who was defeated for nomination for governor by the Populist and Democratic convention, is quite likely to receive the nomination of the Independent Democrats for governor. His nomination would make the race interesting against the Democratic-Populist-Labor fusion ticket, as he is strong with a large element of the Populist party and with the entire Labor party.

Four years ago Hogan was an unknown, working in the Anaconda smelter, when he was nominated and elected secretary of state. Today he is the most talked of man in Montana and the most feared by Clark Democracy. He ran for congress two years ago on a Silver Republican-Populist ticket and polled more votes than the Republican nominee. This year the Clark Democrats offered him the nomination for state treasurer if he would give up gubernatorial aspirations. This he declined to do in a scathing speech at the Populist convention. He made the charge that efforts had been made to bribe him. The creation of this new party splits the Democratic organization wide open, practically insures the election of the entire Republican state ticket and may result in McKinley carrying the state.

"David Harum" Makes His Bow.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—"David Harum," banker and horse trader of Homeville, N. Y., made his bow to a New York audience at the Garrick last night. The dramatization of Edward Noyes Westcott's book introduces nearly all the personages who appear in the novel and in the opinion of the audience and critics reflected its most attractive essentials—in other words, retained that subtle thing called "atmosphere," something which is often lost in the process of transferring a book to the stage. Three acts told the story, in which Mr. William H. Crane figured as the country financier and lover of the trotting horse, and the character lost none of its shrewdness and quaintness in his hands.

Mr. Bryan In Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 2.—Mr. Bryan yesterday traversed what are known as the Pine Barrens and the Scrub Oak portion of Minnesota, reaching the agricultural part of the state, north of this city, during the afternoon. He made the first speech of the day at West Superior, Wis., beginning before 8 o'clock in the morning. He immediately crossed the St. Louis river to Duluth, and starting with an hour speech there he made speeches at eight other places on the way, which, together with the speeches at Duluth and West Superior and those made last night in this city, made an even dozen speeches for the day.

French Market For Our Coal.

MASSILLON, O., Oct. 2.—Robert P. Skinner, United States consul at Marseilles, who was largely instrumental in the introduction of American coal into Europe, is now spending his vacation here at his former home. Mr. Skinner is enthusiastic in regard to the prospects of American coal products in the European markets. "In Marseilles alone," he said, "during the first six months of this year 8,000 tons of American coal were sold, and by January I expect the importations to reach 100,000 tons. In the early part of August, when I left Marseilles, American coal was selling at $6.75 a ton, or $1 lower than Cardiff coal."

No Armor Plate Bids.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—No bids will be submitted by the armor making companies under the readvertisement of the navy department for about 36,000 tons of armor for warships under construction or authorized. The advertisement called for bids to be opened at the department at noon today, but the three armor companies which participated in the last competition have informed Secretary Long that they will not submit any new proposals. An effort will be made to effect a compromise by which all three concerns will undertake contracts for furnishing armor plate at terms satisfactory to the government.

No Rioting In Peru.

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 2.—There has been no rioting in Lima as the result of the scandal regarding the purchase of arms in Belgium and the alleged use by former Minister of Finance Belaunde of government money for his private transactions, but in all the principal thoroughfares excited groups have discussed the situation. President Romana has appointed Senhor Anidal Villegas minister of finance and Colonel Portillo minister of war. During the absence of Colonel Portillo Senhor Jose R. Lapuente will discharge the duties of the office.

Exhibition Car Burned.

KINGSTON, O., Oct. 2.—The private car of the North Carolina Exposition company, belonging to that state, burned to the ground here. William Bason, the manager, and an assistant were awakened by a dog and barely escaped with their lives. The car contained exhibits of the mineral and agricultural resources of North Carolina. Loss, $18,000.

GALVESTON'S NEEDS.

Much Money Still Necessary For Relief Work.

MANY HOMELESS TO PROVIDE FOR.

The $881,043 Received Thus Far Has Only Served to Bury the Dead, Clear Away the Debris and Provide Food.

GALVESTON, Oct. 2.—John Seeley, chairman of the finance committee, a subcommittee of the Galveston central relief committee and custodian of the Galveston relief fund, has given out the following:

"All subscriptions that have been turned over to me up to and including Oct. 1 from all sources amount to $781,043. This amount includes all money received by me direct, all received by Mayor W. C. Jones and also $309,500 remitted to me by Governor Sayers out of subscriptions made to him. The governor has also ordered a further remittance to me of $100,000, which should reach me in the next few days, and he will send me from time to time such additional funds as he may receive. We are now arranging in proper shape a full itemized statement of all receipts and amounts expended, which will be duly published."

Apropos of Mr. Seeley's report The News today says editorially:

"The pressing need of Galveston is money with which to shelter more than 8,000 persons now homeless and to make habitable the homes of many others. Some correspondents have sent out statements to the effect that millions of dollars have been contributed for the relief of Galveston. One published statement fixed the amount at $15,000,000. These statements have led the public—the generous, liberal public—astray and have had a tendency to check the impulse to give because it seemed that the requirements had been met.

"But the real truth is that Galveston up to date received only $881,043, a sum but little more than sufficient to bury the dead, remove the debris, accomplish the work of sanitation and to pay the expenses for food and clothing which the relief committee supplied before food and clothing began to arrive from the outside world. And in this connection, with a property loss of $20,000,000, Galveston is called upon to face a problem of rehabilitation and to provide for the housing of more than 8,000 homeless people.

"Nature has been kind since the storm. There has been no rainfall of consequence. The weather has been pleasant, and the winds have tempered. But conditions cannot last, and much greater suffering than has been endured up to this time must inevitably ensue if provisions are not made and made quickly to house these victims of the storm.

"The relief fund is being drawn on heavily to pay men for removing the debris, thus enabling them to help themselves and at the same time preventing a demoralizing condition which would result if ablebodied men were permitted to draw supplies without rendering an equivalent. But this merely enables them to provide the necessaries of life and is not creating roofs over the heads of their families nor over women and children who have no one left to work for them.

"Miss Clara Barton has told the world of the condition existing in Galveston and has estimated that at least $5,000,000 would be required to meet the urgent necessities. The News supplements her appeal with the statement that the contributions up to date aggregate $881,043 and has asked the press to spread this statement to the world in order that the false impressions made by unauthorized persons may be counteracted as far as it is possible."

Stovemakers to Meet.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 2.—Representatives of some 400 stovemaking concerns scattered throughout the country are to meet at the Auditorium, Chicago, on Oct. 16 to take definite action on the formation of the National Stove Manufacturing company, which will be capitalized at about $60,000,000, aside from a possible large issue of bonds. The promoters of the vast enterprise have already taken out a charter under the laws of the state of Delaware, and something like 200 of the stove manufacturing companies have optioned their properties and business.

Much Gold From the North.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 2.—The steamship City of Topeka has arrived from Linn canal points. She brought about 150 passengers and $200,000 in gold, mostly in small amounts in the hands of passengers. The Topeka's officers report that the steamer Cutch, which is on the rocks this side of Skaguay, appears to be but slightly damaged. A wrecking company is endeavoring to float her. The steamship Senator arrived from Cape Nome and St. Michael's bringing about 100 passengers and $133,000 in treasure. She left Nome Sept. 21.

Haiti Must Settle.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Ex-Secretary of State William R. Day, arbitrator in the claim of John D. Metzger & Co., American citizens, against the government of Haiti, has rendered an award in favor of Metzger for $23,000. The claim grew out of the seizure and sale of the Metzger company's goods at Port au Prince for nonpayment of license taxes, failure to furnish the company an adequate supply of water to operate its mill at Port au Prince and the sale of a quantity of the company's lumber at Jacinalo.

Iron Workers Accept Reduction.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Oct. 2.—The 700 employees of the Reading Iron company of Danville have decided to accept the 25 per cent reduction in their wages, which went into effect on Sept. 16 and against which they struck. The men met yesterday and after hearing the report of a committee, which stated that other iron industries had made a similar cut, agreed to resume work as soon as the plant can be placed in operation.

Transvaal Refugees.

LOURENCO MARQUES, Oct. 2.—The Austrian steamer Styria Lloyd has sailed from here, having on board 400 Transvaal refugees, part of them being Irish-Americans. All their expenses have been paid by the Transvaal government. Each man received $7.50 and will be paid $42.50 on landing at any point which may be elected by them.

OPERATORS CONFER.

An Important Meeting at Wilkesbarre.

SITUATION THOROUGHLY DISCUSSED.

Decision Reached to Offer a 10 Per Cent Advance and Reduction In Price of Powder—Union Ignored. What Mine Workers Want.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 2.—The coal operators of the Wyoming, Lackawanna and Lehigh valley regions held an important meeting in this city yesterday afternoon and decided to offer the miners an increase of 10 per cent in wages and also to reduce the cost of powder to the miners from $2.75 to $1.50 per keg. W. A. Lathrop, general superintendent of the Lehigh Valley company, presided.

The whole situation was thoroughly discussed, nearly all those present taking part. The powder question was the chief subject of debate, and next came the recognition of the union. So far as can be learned none of the operators was in favor of recognising the union in any way.

The meeting lasted from 2 until 6 p. m. Last evening W. A. Lathrop, the chairman of the meeting, gave out the following for the Lehigh Valley Coal company:

"This company makes the following announcement to its mine employees: It will adjust its rates of wages so as to pay to its mine employees on and after Oct. 1 a net increase of 10 per cent on the wages heretofore received and will take up with its mine employees any grievances which they may have."

It is understood in the foregoing that powder will be sold to miners for $1.50 per keg and that the difference between this rate and the old rate of $2.75 shall be taken into account in figuring the net advance of 10 per cent noted above for this class of labor.

Similar notices to the above will be posted by all the other companies represented at the meeting. The strikers say that under no circumstances will they accept the offer. They claim it is not as good an offer as the Reading company made to its men.

The union is ignored and the net increase must come out of the price of powder.

E. M. Palmer, chairman of the press committee at United Mine Workers' headquarters, said: "The men will not return to work under such conditions. It is not a fair offer."

The operators will make no further move until they hear from the men.

At the United Mine Workers' headquarters this statement was given out:

"What we want is:

"First.—A better enforcement of existing mine laws.

"Second.—To obtain that which is fully our own—i. e., the value of labor actually performed and hitherto taken from us.

"Third.—To obtain the right to purchase our implements of labor at a fair market value and escape from the compulsory rule which forces us to pay the operators more than twice what the same materials can be purchased for at retail in the open market.

"Fourth.—To allow a readjustment of the wage scale that will nearly conform to the normal conditions of the anthracite trade and establish as nearly as practicable a uniform price for each class of work in and around the mines."

The strikers say until these concessions are granted and the union recognized they will not return to work.

MINERS IGNORE OFFERS.

Operators Surprised at the Firm Stand of the Workmen.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 2.—Notices of the increase in wages and the reduction in the price of powder decided upon by the operators at Wilkesbarre were posted last night at all of the collieries in the Lehigh region.

President Mitchell, when shown a copy of the notice, declined to say anything at this time, but intimated that he might outline his position at the Wilkesbarre mass meeting today. He added, however, that there would be no resumption of work until a convention of the anthracite miners had been called and the proposition considered.

Although the labor leaders positively said they did not fear a break in the ranks of the anthracite coal strikers, they were nevertheless pleased to learn that the 10 per cent advance granted by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company in the Schuylkill valley was totally ignored by the striking mine workers. It was predicted that many of the strikers would return to work under the belief that the 10 per cent would be the limit of the operators' concession, but the unanimity of the men in deciding to stand out for a further advance caused many remarks of surprise.

It was expected in some quarters that yesterday would bring a turning point in the strike, but nothing came to the surface that would lead to any indication of the strike nearing an end. Since the operators began to hold conferences President Mitchell is receiving more information than formerly and giving out less. That he knows more about the situation than he cares to tell is hardly doubted by any one. He has practically admitted that he received advices from New York as to the doings of the operators. There is still a lack of anything tangible on which to base the report of an immediate settlement. President Mitchell continues to deny that he knows anything about it.

The strike situation in the Lehigh valley showed a change in favor of the men. Several hundred men quit work at the Calvin Pardoe mines at Lattimer as the result of persuasion on the part of 400 marching strikers, and at Oneida and Cranberry the coal companies lost additional men.

WILL NOT JOIN.

Independent Operators Refuse to Advance Wages.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 2.—Scranton's independent operators came back from the Wilkesbarre conference with blood in their eyes. They declare they will not join in the proffer of a 10 per cent increase unless the coal carrying companies agree to reduce their tolls or, to be exact, allow them 65 per cent instead of 60 per cent of the tidewater selling prices for their product. They are not making 10 per cent on their investments, they declare, and if they have to increase wages 10 per cent it will practically wipe out their margin of profit, and they might as well close up their mines.

One prominent operator said that he hoped the miners would not accept the offer. "If they do accept it," he continued, "it means that we small operators will have to grant the same concession to our employees, and that we cannot do unless the coal carrying companies allow us better rates."

His wish will be gratified if the sentiment of the miners here is a criterion. They are in such high feather over their victory that they are now insisting on general arbitration in addition to a 10 per cent increase, and as the operators' offer does not contemplate a general arbitration the chances are that it will have to be revised if it is accepted. A committee of local independent operators left for New York to protest against being forced by the coal carriers into an agreement which means their undoing unless the carriers give them better rates.

TO CURB MR. REID.

Newfoundland Premier Issues a Strong Manifesto.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 2.—The manifesto which Mr. Bond, the Newfoundland premier, has just issued in anticipation of the general election, fixed for Nov. 8, advocates the ratification of the Bond-Blaine reciprocity treaty with the United States. It makes the Reid railway contract the main issue of the campaign, calling for substantial modifications in its provisions and especially for the re-establishment of public ownership in the telegraph lines ceded to Mr. Reid and a revision of the latter's land grant with a view of protecting hundreds of squatters whose property was confiscated by the grants issued to Mr. Reid by the cabinet of Sir James Winter.

Beyond this the manifesto declares its author's intention to compel Mr. Reid to carry out his contract obligations and to furnish satisfactory guarantees that a proper proportion of the money raised by mortgage shall be expended in the development of the properties Mr. Reid has obtained from the colony.

In conclusion the manifesto denounces Mr. Morine, leader of the Tory section of the opposition, for acting as legal adviser of Mr. Reid, pointing out that Mr Morine's success at the polls would give Mr. Reid absolute control of the Newfoundland legislature.

Big Freight Block.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Oct. 2.—A freight block such as has never been known before is in progress on the Chicago and Alton railroad, the nucleus being in the yards of that company in Bloomington. The block began to develop toward the end of last week and reached its highest point Sunday night. Despite all efforts and the use of every locomotive available and all the men that could be mustered the tracks in and about this city continued to fill faster than they could be cleared, and they were filled from the south limits to the north end between Towanda and Bloomington. Finally regular traffic was suspended, the lines being filled with freight cars that could not be accommodated on the side tracks. Five full freight trains lay on this section all night, being unable to get into the city. There is an unprecedented run of stock and a run of coal equally phenomenal.

Politics In Porto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 2.—The Federal party at its convention at Caguas passed resolutions affiliating itself with the Democratic party in the United States. A cablegram from William J. Bryan and James K. Jones, chairman of the national Democratic committee, urging harmony, was read. Munoz Rivera made a speech, in which he opposed the administration on the ground that the Foraker bill is unsatisfactory and that the Porto Ricans desire a more independent form of government. The session will last several days, and the delegates will nominate a commissioner for congress. Ex-Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania has returned from a tour of the island and has sailed for home. A Republican mass meeting at San Juan has indorsed the administration and nominated candidates for the house of delegates.

Cubans Thank Governor Wood.

HAVANA, Oct. 2.—Governor General Wood started today for Sancti Spiritus. He expects to be absent from Havana for several days. Four hundred Matanzas property owners have sent a memorial to the governor general thanking him for the recent decree which protects owners of property from certain fraudulent practices to which dishonest lawyers were wont to resort under the old order of things, and on his return General Wood will receive from leading Havana merchants a similar memorial of thanks for the decree recently issued which prevents the fraud and extortion to which they were formerly subjected.

Kentucky's New Election Bill.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 2.—After six weeks in extraordinary session the lower branch of the Kentucky general assembly has by a vote of 58 to 39—every Democrat voting in the affirmative and every Republican in the negative—passed a new election bill. The bill will reach the senate Monday or Tuesday, and here its opponents hope that it may be amended or changed so as to make it less partisan. The senate has a majority of ten Democrats, but it is believed at least six of these will oppose the bill as it now stands.

Convicted Miners to Go Free.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Through a decision just rendered by the United States circuit court of appeals the ten Idaho strikers who were convicted of a conspiracy to obstruct a train carrying the mails will secure their release from San Quentin. The case is one growing out of the big strike in Idaho in 1899 and the destruction of the mill of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining company.

Ex-Speaker Reed's Future Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Thomas Brackett Reed's agent visited Oyster Bay yesterday and secured an option on a piece of property adjoining the country home of Governor Roosevelt on Sagamore hill. It is Mr. Reed's intention to erect a new summer residence on the property, tearing down the present structure and beautifying the grounds with added shrubbery and gardening.

The Public Debt.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Sept. 29 the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,106,156,671, which is a decrease for the month of $6,122,435. This decrease is accounted for by the increase in the cash on hand and the redemption of 2 per cent bonds.

THE ARMY CANTEEN.

Statement In Regard Thereto by the Surgeon General.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The following statement by Surgeon General Sternberg was made public at the war department:

"My attention has been called to a published statement, attributed to me, opposing the army canteen. I presume this statement as published is practically what I said some years since when interviewed upon the subject, although I do not at present remember to whom it was given. I did not at first look with favor upon the proposition to sell beer to soldiers at army canteens. That opinion was not based upon personal observation, as I had not been stationed at a military post since the canteen was established. Owing to the general consensus of opinion among line officers and medical officers of the army who have had ample opportunity to observe the effect of the army canteen upon the habits of our soldiers I am obliged to admit that from a practical point of view it seems to have accomplished very desirable results in reducing the amount of drunkenness in the army and the disposition on the part of soldiers to leave their stations for the purpose of obtaining spirituous liquors."

Roosevelt Campaigning In Nebraska

M'COOK, Neb., Oct. 2.—Governor Roosevelt's first day in Nebraska may be regarded as successful, though the morning started out wet and chilly and the audiences as a necessity were small. Thirteen speeches were made during the journey yesterday and last night. Probably 30,000 or 40,000 people were addressed during the day. Governor Roosevelt's special train remained at McCook until late in the night, when it pulled out for North Platte. Today's journey will cover a distance of 600 miles and will include within that distance 11 speeches. Tonight a journey will be made to Broken Bow, at which point the train will arrive at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Praise For Yerkes.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The Daily News prints this morning an exhaustive article dealing with the personality and career of Mr. Charles T. Yerkes, who has just purchased the Charing Cross, Euston and Hampstead underground railroad charter. Explosion of Fireworks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Five persons were hurt in an explosion of firecrackers in South Brooklyn. One person was so seriously injured that he was taken to the hospital. The explosion occurred in the store of the Brooklyn Notion company, 298 Court street. Following the report was a noise of crashing glass, when the big plate front of the shop was blown into the street. A giant torpedo had exploded in the place, and this set off two cases of fireworks that were being packed.

TUAN'S FALL CERTAIN

Reported Degradation of the Boxer Leader Confirmed.

CHINA'S PEACE COMMISSION NAMED.

General Jung Lu, Who Led Attacks on Foreigners In Peking, One of the Number Whom United States Will Not Accept.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Mr. Wu, the Chinese minister, has received official confirmation of the issuance of an imperial decree degrading Prince Tuan, Kangi and other officials for their actions in regard to the recent troubles in China. This information agrees with that contained in a dispatch received by the state department yesterday from Consul McWade at Canton.

The minister has heard nothing of the designation of officials reported by Minister Conger to act in concert in peace negotiations, but he has no doubt it is correct.

On reaching the department yesterday Secretary Hay had the satisfaction of finding on his desk a telegram from Robert McWade, the United States consul at Canton, confirming the issue by Emperor Kwang Su of an edict providing for the degradation and trial of Prince Tuan and other antiforeign leaders for causing the trouble in which China has become involved. He received also a telegram from Mr. Conger at Peking which contained information that may call for important action by this government.

Mr. Conger's dispatch tells of the appointment of the Chinese peace commission, and among the commissioners named is General Jung Lu, who commanded the imperial troops in Peking during the attacks on the foreign legations and stands accused by Minister Conger and others of being a participant in the attacks.

Unless that accusation is disproved and Jung Lu is shown to have been, as he asserts and the Chinese government professes, a consistent friend of the legationers during the period of their ordeal of shot and shell the United States will hardly consent to accept him as a plenipotentiary to negotiate a peace arrangement. This government has declared that it will have no dealings with any Chinese concerned in the antiforeign outrages, and Jung Lu stands accused of being in that category.

Jung Lu's absence in the interior is evidently a measure of safety on his part. He probably does not dare show himself in Peking until the powers have declared that he is acceptable. Tin Kun Yi and Chang Chih Tung, named with Ching, Li and Jung Lu as peace commissioners, are the viceroys of Nanking and Wuchang. They are acceptable to the United States and, it is believed, to all the other powers. During the period of the antiforeign excitement in China they co-operated with the foreign consuls of the southern Chinese ports in maintaining order in their provinces and showed pronounced proforeign tendencies. Prince Ching and Earl Li are acceptable also, so that General Jung Lu is the only Chinese plenipotentiary to whose appointment there is likely to be any objection.

The press dispatch from Tien-tsin saying that a joint expedition of the foreign forces in which the United States cruiser Brooklyn would participate would proceed from Taku to Shanhaikwan is not confirmed by the navy department. The department doubts that Admiral Remey would join in such a movement without seeking the advice of the government, and he has not done so. If the expedition has a hostile intention, it is not possible, officers say, that Remey would send an American ship, as such action would be contrary to the spirit of the present attitude of the United States.

It is regarded as reasonable, however, that the expedition has for its object merely the control of Shanhaikwan because that place is the water terminus of an unfortified overland route to Peking which would be more available if a winter campaign becomes necessary than the route from Taku. The Pei-Ho, which runs from Taku to Peking, becomes frozen over about Nov. 1 and makes river traffic between the Chinese capital and Taku impossible.

What France Proposes.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—"The Austro-Hungarian foreign office," says the Vienna correspondent of The Morning Post, "has received a circular note which France has addressed to the powers, in which she agrees as to the necessity of obtaining satisfaction for the antiforeign attack, but suggests that the ministers in Peking should immediately begin negotiations on the other questions at issue. The note also proposes the permanent prohibition of the import of arms and ammunition into China, the razing of the fortifications between Peking and the sea and the maintenance of legation guards."

Russians Win Two Fights.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 2.—The war office announces that dispatches from Khabarovsk and Kharbin say General Tschitschagoff sent Colonel Kopeiken with a detachment of Cossacks, railroad troops and volunteers to engage a force of Chinese who had occupied the railroad at Sanchakan. The Russians won two obstinate fights. Forty-three dead Chinese were left in the trenches after the second engagement.

October 8—Opening meeting of the Literary Society of the Y. M. C. A. at 8 p. m.

Sometime ago we published a list of Assemblymen who have served two terms and will now be retired in accordance with the unwritten political law that there should be "rotation in office." There were many in the last Assembly, however, who were serving their first term and will be returned for another year. Some of them are as follows: Atlantic, Charles T. Adams; Camden, F. F. Patterson, Jr., and E. T. Gill; Cumberland, William J. Moore; Essex, George S. Campbell and J. Henry Bachellor; Gloucester, William P. Buck; Hudson, P. S. Brock, George G. Tennant, J. J. Fallon and E. J. Rice; Hunterdon, W. A. Landenberger; Mercer, J. Warren Fleming and F. P. Rees; Middlesex, Adrian Lyon, H. R. Groves, J. W. Montgomery; Monmouth, Charles R. Snyder, S. W. Kirkbride and William Hyres; Morris, Samuel L. Garrison; Passaic, E. G. Stalter and Richard Berry; Salem, Henry J. Blohm; Union, Ellis R. Meeker, Chester M. Smith and Charles S. Foote—a total of twenty-seven holdovers out of the sixty members of the House.

The rules which the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company, together with the Plainfield Street Railway Company—both coming under the same corporate head—have been making in regard to transfer privileges, are liable to get the company into serious trouble. The fact that the company has abrogated the privilege of transfers to through passengers for use on connecting lines in Elizabeth, while it extends the favor to passengers getting on at Roselle, has aroused the Elizabeth merchants. They realize that it is detrimental to their interests, and at the meeting of the Elizabeth City Council last night a complaint against the company was filed. The present transfer rules are declared to be in violation of the franchise arrangements, and as the ordinance under which the company operates expressly stipulates that should any clause be violated the franchise can be revoked and the property condemned and sold, the idea is suggested to the Council that it is within its power to force the company to deal fairly with the public.

The Newark News notes that the Baltimore Republicans introduced an innovation in political methods at the primary election this month by a free use of the kodak. Whenever a suspicious looking character approached the polls there was a little "click," and presto, the man was photographed. At the same time his name and any distinguishing peculiarity which he may have possessed were recorded. All this is now filed carefully away to be produced upon November 6th, and woe betide the man whose name and countenance do not square with the record if he attempts to vote. It is a tedious method of guarding against election frauds, but so far as it goes, possesses an effectiveness that makes it worth the while, especially when such important issues as those of the present campaign are to be decided.

Five weeks from today is election day, and five weeks from tomorrow morning, unless the result should be very close and a dispute should follow, we will know for a surety who is to be the next President of the United States.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Miss Acly, a member of the family of Col. Mason W. Tyler a number of years ago, is much talked of as the head of the American Girls' Club in Paris. The Woman's Home Companion for September, published in Springfield, Ohio, has an article on "The American Girl Artists in Paris," by Maude Andrews, with illustrations of various rooms in the Club House, in one of which Miss Acly is seated. The article says of her: "Miss Acly, a thorough-going American and a cultured lady by birth and education, has done everything that any one could possibly do to make the institution what Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, its first patron and its present main supporter, intended it should be."

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

One of the first new plays of the season will be presented at Music Hall tonight and is nothing if not up-to-date. It is entitled "Uncle Sam in China." It is a melo-drama in four acts written by Charles W. Chase, relating circumstances and incidents of the recent troubles in China between the Allied Powers and the Boxers, but concerns chiefly the Americans and their connection with events that lead up to the capture of Peking. The play opens in Canton, where Christianized slaves are forced into the service of the Boxers. "Jack Harkins," an American sailor, defies Prince Tuan and his horde with the usual boasts about the honor and power of the American flag. The second act takes place in the interior, and deals with the attempt to blow up the relief train. The third act is the bombardment and capture of Tientsin, which shows the Boxers repulsing the German, French, Russian and English forces, when the fight is finally won by the Americans under Colonel Liscum, who is shot and dies giving the now famous command, "Don't retreat, boys; keep on fighting!" The last act is the storming of the gates of Peking and the triumphal entry into the city, with the American flag at the head of the column. The stag settings of the four acts are striking. Laurens Haskell will act as the dashing American sailor, "Jack Harkins." Much comedy will be brought out by J. F. Clark and Miss Minnie Church in the character of a Bowery girl and boy who were having many exciting experiences in the Orient.

Barney Gilmore will present at Music Hall on Tuesday of next week his new production "Kidnapped in New York." The play has been written around the kidnapping of baby Marion Clark. Mr. Howard Hall followed the story from the beginning to the final capture of her abductors. Mr. Gilmore is one of the funniest Irish comedians on the American stage, and can convulse his audience by his genuine artistic merits, which he possesses in an eminent degree. He is what is termed an "Irish eccentric," but of the new school of which he is a worthy exponent.

What Is It?

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—There is something that runs through Arlington avenue with a very disagreeable rattle. It sounds as though all its joints were loose, and when it comes near Ninth street it squeaks like an old pump. It sets one's teeth on edge. What is it? Surely not a trolley car, because I have been told the franchise says they must not run more than fifteen minutes apart. Whatever this squeaky thing is, my experience is that if I have just missed it I must wait half an hour for the next trip. I do not think that is convenient, do you? Under these circumstances walking is preferable. When I returned after my summer vacation I wondered what had become of the trolley. I was afraid that it was lost, but I have since discovered it is half asleep and has spells of nightmare at regular intervals. When will it wake up and become a real live and respectable road again?

There is another queer thing, Mr. Editor. What is the meaning of the sign at Watchung and North avenues? I cannot understand it. It says, cars leave every twelve minutes. They are the longest twelve minutes I ever heard of. By my watch it is fifteen minutes. What is the matter? Has the trolley some secret by which it can make fifteen minutes count only as twelve minutes? People who do not want to grow old would like to know how to hold time back. Can you explain these things, Mr. Editor? If so, you will very much oblige a Trolley Patron.

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

Our store grows in importance daily. It is rapidly filling a long felt want. It is saving the good people of this and neighboring communities much time, thought and money. Visit us as often as you may, a warm welcome awaits you.

LAMPS
A BROAD AND INTERESTING DISPLAY.

The final touch of beauty to the hall or parlor, as the rose or carnation to the costume, is the lamp. The picturesque effect of its form and decoration gives a finish to the entire furnishing, and the soft, rich glow of the blended light gives a mellow refinement that brings the entire room into eye-pleasing harmony. The place of the lamp in the furnishing scheme is most important. Like the rose on the bodice, the eye catches it first, its tone measures the effect of the entire room. Our constant effort is to gather here a broad variety of lamps, the new colorings are a feature of the lamps this season. Some are richly painted on warm colored backgrounds, but the variety is too great to describe in detail, so come and judge for yourself. Suggestion of price ranges 75c up to 10.00.

JARDINIERS.

A most comprehensive exhibit. Everything bright and new. The colorings are very rich, mahogany, apple green, oxblood, others beautifully tinted and others very prettily blended. Enough colors and shapes to suit anyone's taste. Sizes run from 5½ inches up to 12 inches. Prices from 18c up to 2.98. Some very pretty styles with pedestals, entirely new shapes, at 69c, 98c, 1.25.

Tabourettes After you have selected a jardinier you'll need a stand for it. Well here's a lot specially priced for this week, 49c, the tops are 14x14 inches, some are round and others octagon shape, in solid oak, golden finish and mahogany. Other stands at 79c, 98c and up to 2.98.

Dunellen, October 2.—A pecular and painful accident befell Mrs. Smith Laine as she was ascending the porch at her home Sunday evening. Owing to the rain the steps were quite slippery, and when near the top her feet slid from under her and she fell to the ground, a considerable distance. She landed on her right side, bruising herself and dislocating her shoulder. She was assisted to the house and Dr. Brakeley was called. The injured member was soon replaced and the patient made comfortable. A thorough examination failed to reveal any other injuries, but the shoulder and bruises are still quite painful.

SKIRTS.

They Are Still Clinging and Rest Upon the Ground.

More skirts are made with a separate lining skirt than with the lining attached to the outside. Nevertheless the latter arrangement is still adhered to for walking skirts and gowns for general hard service, as a gown thus made is more substantial and wears better. For rainy day skirts, long or short, very heavy cloth is often used with no lining at all. The edge is deeply faced inside with the same goods and stitched in two or several rows. A light weight golf cloth with a striped or plaid back is now made which answers well for skirts of this description.

All skirts continue to closely mold the form around the top, but are fuller immediately at the back than they were last year and are still flaring at the foot and very long, concealing the feet entirely and dragging more or less behind.

Today's sketch illustrates a new model of a sack. It is of black silk and is loose, being slightly hollowed at the back. The fronts are much cut away, and the entire garment is covered with flat bands of satin ribbon, following the outline. Around the edge is a deep silk embroidery and a plaited frill of black mousseline de soie. The revers of guipure fall in coquilles, and there is a large cravat of embroidered mousseline de soie. The collar is lined with mousseline de soie, and lace frills finish the tight sleeves.

THE MODE.

Cloth Still In Vogue—Newest Fashionable Colors.

Cloth is still the fashionable material, fine, soft, thin and well adapted to all the fashionable forms of dress. A new variety is called panne cloth and partakes of the silky nature of panne, while it contains no silk in reality.

Brown in all shades is worn, especially such browns as recall the color of mink, sable and beaver. Then there are royal blue, military blue, lavender, grays of all tones, old rose, deep plum and dull red. In evening shades rose pink, lemon yellow, saffron yellow and dove color are shown.

For the street bodices remain tight and plain. Sometimes they are round, with a belt, and in that case the belt is of the same material as the gown, about two fingers wide and entirely stitched. Bodices with a short basque cut in various ways are usual, and the corsage with a small point back and front is also seen. This, however, is only suitable for a woman with a good figure, not too angular, and is to be avoided by very slender persons who are not rounded.

The picture shown in today's issue illustrates a jacket of mastic cloth. It fits closely at the back and is straight in front, fastening at the left side by three pearl buttons, with loops. The short basque and the wrists of the sleeves are cut in large scallops, and the entire jacket is covered with lines of stitching forming arabesques. The collar is faced with chestnut brown velvet and is bordered with ornamental lines of stitching.

It is hard to say new things about Doan's Kidney Pills. They cure the lame and aching back, the sufferer from kidney disorders. That they do this is so easy to prove that not a vestige of doubt remains. Public endorsement of local citizens is easily proven. Read this case:

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 728 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of grinding pain across my back, at times extending up to my shoulders, and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

TRIP TO CHINATOWN.

An Oriental City in the Heart of Down-Town New York.

After Ten at Night Opium Fiends and Gamblers Own the Pell and Mott Street District and Adjoining Lanes.

[Special New York Letter.]

SAM MOY stuck the ends of a dozen joss sticks in the jars at each side of the ugly-looking god which squatted on the handsomely-carved table. He applied a match and the sweet-scented smoke curled in thin grayish wreaths toward the ceiling of the joss house. Then he seated himself and muttered in a guttural tone a monotonous sing-song chant. The high priest struck a brass gong which emitted a deep sonorous clang. More joss sticks were lighted and the temple became odorous with the insinuating incense. The lights in the little square metallic lamps suspended from the ceiling burned low in green and red and yellow and from the dim flames was reflected a mellow glow from the big gold bas relief representing the glory of the ancestors for a hundred years. There was something of the spellbinder in this incantation-mumbling priest of Buddha, and as I entered this idol-bedecked temple of the pagans in Chinatown that night a vision of the magic east arose before me. I smelled the aromatic spices of the orient. I heard the rustle of the silken robes of the watchers in the inner circle. The lights of Peking seemed dancing before me, and just beyond were the wonders of the Purple city.

The crown-shaven priest bowed low. "You buy joss stick?" said he.

And this was the burden of the cry from the time I entered at Pell street New York's colony of Chinamen till I left it some hours later. The Chinamen who come to America may be heathen. It may be that they are slow to adopt the customs of a civilized country and that their hatred of the "foreign devils" is never overcome, but this is certain: They are quick in turning a situation to their own account, eager as salesmen and shifty in the wondrous art of chasing the nimble nickel.

You may leave the Bowery with its types of the Yiddish merchant and numerous samples of its genus tough, and in a twinkling—like the transformation scene of a Christmas extravaganza—find yourself in a veritable city of slant-eyed, pig-tailed Celestials. There are the odd, box-like lamps spluttering and blinking, swung on strings across the narrow streets. There are the long, perpendicular signs covered with hieroglyphic characters reading from the top down, in front of the miniature shops so low as to ceilings that a tall man must need stoop to enter. And within you may see the arrangement of tiny cups in saucers in daintiest of China and red-cheeked dolls with heads as bald as the heads of the grinning Mongolians who are trying to sell them. There are little paper bags filled with rice and Lychee nuts and queer-looking packages filled with things good to eat from a Chinaman's standpoint. There are stools of ebony inlaid with silver, and, stowed away on shelves, are rare silks fashioned into shawls, and gaudy feathers fashioned into fans. Then there are quaintly carved ivory idols of Fo, and ingenious puzzles and toys, and teas, and spices, and joss sticks, too—much cheaper than the joss sticks my friend Sam Moy will offer to sell to you in the temple.

If you are not careful as to your bearings you will soon become turned around, for the streets are crooked and the way is narrow. Doyers street bends like a horse shoe, and Mott and Pell streets run in an intricate manner. Now, don't go into Chinatown before ten o'clock at night. If you do you will find Chinatown asleep. First of all, you must know that the residents of this little city within the greater city represent the sporting Chinamen of New York. They are the merchants, many of whom, although living in dirty basements, are the great importers of opium and silks, and are wealthy enough to occupy mansions on Fifth avenue; the gamblers who win and lose fortunes with a nonchalance that excites the envy of their white brother gamesters further uptown; the bunco men and the members of the murderous secret societies.

These are the people who will brush against you as you wend your way through the alley-like thoroughfares. You will find them crowding in groups of four or five in the middle of the roadway—few use the stone sidewalks, which are only three feet wide, and are reserved as passageways to the shops. You will hear them talking in a jargon that grates upon the ears for the reason of its unharmonious discords of gutteral sounds. Uncommunicative as they are to the foreigners, among themselves they are a babbling flock of magpies. Ten o'clock at night is the hour when most of them arise. Midnight is their time of greatest activity. It was just 12 o'clock when the Chinese theater closed, and, as I passed the doors, I was surrounded by a crowd of Chinamen, who had been witnessing a performance which had doubtless been the continuance of a play requiring several weeks to complete.

From that time on Chinatown was as full of life as a wasp nest. The two and three-story houses, constructed mostly of dull red brick, were filled with Celestials from basement to attic. In the upper rooms are located the gambling dens. The Chinamen will play anything that offers an element of chance. Fan-fan and bungloo are their favorite native games, but poker and other games with American cards are entered into with equal felicity. Other methods being absent, a sporting Chinaman will wager his month's income on the possible direction to be taken by a perambulating straddle bug. The first floors are occupied by the shop keepers, and the basements are utilized for the opium hells, although some of these places are conducted with little attempt at concealment in the rear of the stores—only a scant curtain hiding the smokers from full view of the pedestrians in the street. In one of the little shops I entered—the merchant was a wholesale dealer and an importer of opium—I saw, just back of the narrow counter, a Chinaman in a skull cap and loose jacket reclining on a couch industriously "hitting" an opium pipe. His eyes were fixed and glassy, and from the imbecilic expression on his face I judged that he was about entering that state of estatical bliss which the victims of the habit say resembles a ramble in the fields of Elysium. This smoker could be seen plainly from the open door. The dealer paid no attention to him, and in reply to a question as to whether he had any opium on hand exhibited without hesitancy a box of the drug, and set a price upon it.

CROWD OF CHINAMEN LEAVING ONE OF THEIR THEATERS.

HITTING THE PIPE.

The police pay no attention to this violation of the law. And yet within these reeking hells white women and white men, farther down in the scale of degradation than even the Chinamen, congregate nightly and enter into this most loathsome species of debauchery—so low and so vile that even the filthiest of beasts could not be induced to enter into it. In the basements row after row of bunks are filled with men and women of all ages, of all nationalities. Gentile, Jew, Turk, negro, Chinamen are cheek by jowl. The people of all nations lie peacefully side by side. Their manhood, their womanhood has gone forever. Through the stifling atmosphere of smoke and noisome odors may be seen the attendants—yellow-skinned fiends—twirling the gummy drug with their long-nailed fingers into little balls which they cook in the flames of alcohol lamps and drop dexterously into the bowls of the flute-shaped pipes constantly being thrust out to them by the skeleton hands of the victims. One by one the dwellers in the bunks drop listlessly back upon the hard mattresses. Their eyes are sunken in their heads. Their brains are clotted with the fumes of the death-dealing drug.

There are 30,000 Chinamen in New York city. Of this number 3,000 live in Chinatown and the others go there for amusement. It is estimated that seven out of ten Mongolians are addicted to the use of opium, and that 50,000 whites in this city are "dope fiends." All the opium "joints" are not confined to the Chinese quarter but the majority are located there.

FREDERICK BOYD STEVENSON.

PUT $5 IN CONTRIBUTION BOX.

Young Man Who Got Hold of the Wrong Piece of Money in Church.

Just before the contribution box was passed around in a fashionable South side church the attention of a member of the congregation was attracted by a whispered conversation between two young men who occupied the seat in front of him. He listened and this was what he heard them say, says the Chicago Chronicle:

"Clarence, let me have a dime or a quarter. I have only got a penny and a five-dollar gold piece. I don't want to put the penny in the box and I can't afford to put the gold piece in. Lend me a quarter, and I will give it back as soon as I can get this changed when we get out."

"I can't do it," said the companion of the first speaker. "All I have is a quarter and a ten-dollar bill. If I lend you the quarter I will either have to give the ten dollars or nothing. Put the penny in and make up next Sunday by giving a little more."

"All right," said his friend, and just at that time the usher extended the box in front of him. He dropped in a coin and his companion did likewise, and nothing more was said of the matter.

After the services were over the man who had overheard this conversation boarded a Cottage Grove avenue car to come up into the city. After the car had started he noticed that the two young men who had sat in front of him in church again occupied the seat in front of him in the car. The conductor was coming toward them and they both put their hand in their pocket to get car fare, but the one who had the gold piece in church said:

"Never mind, Clarence, I have that gold piece, and I want to get it changed. I will pay both fares and you will not have to break that ten-dollar bill."

This said he drew his hand from his pocket and extended the coin to the conductor, who took it and then handed it back, saying:

"That's not enough."

It was the penny that the young man had thought he had given to the church, when in reality he had donated the five-dollar gold piece. The other man paid the car fare and the one with the penny said:

"Isn't that tough? You know that I can't afford to give five dollars to the church. I would if I could."

"It is pretty bad," said his friend. "If I were you I would go and tell Dr. —— the circumstances and I am sure he would give it back to you."

"No," said the unfortunate. "I couldn't do that. I would rather stand my landlady off for two weeks than think of doing that. No, I gave the money to the church; let it go to ——."

A number of passengers heard this remark, which was made in a rather loud tone of voice, and they all glanced in a reprimanding way at the speaker, who, realizing what he had said, blushed under their gaze and nudged his friend to get off at the next stop.

FOREIGN SUBSTANCES.

How They May Be Removed from the Eye—Never Rub Affected Organ.

A natural instinct impels a person who feels pain or irritation to rub the affected spot. When some trifling object gets under the eyelid, one is tempted to rub the exterior of the lid, and thus unconsciously imbed the object in the inner surface, thus rendering its ultimate removal more difficult. Another almost irresistible impulse prompts one to wink. This operation is apt to have the same effect. If the lid be promptly turned inside out, though, danger from both of these causes will be avoided and the discovery of the mischief-making particle may be promoted. It is better to have some one else do the hunting, but if a looking glass is at hand, perhaps the victim can see well enough with the other eye to find the object in question. A correspondent of the Scientific American makes these suggestions:

Gently hold the eye open with the fingers and thumb of one hand, while with the other hand dash light handfuls of water in and across it, so as to produce a current of water flowing over all the surface of the eye, and the under side of the lids. The effect of this almost invariably is to push the intruding object from the eye.

The eye should not be rubbed or one lid drawn over the other, or a silk handkerchief drawn across the affected part, but the eye should be kept from winking as much as possible, while prompt action is being taken to cause a current of water to pass over the surface of the ball.

This method is a copy from nature, for when very fine dust enters the eye nature seeks to relieve it by means of the fluids which moisten and lubricate the eye, and when larger objects enter, and cling more tenaciously, the irritation causes a copious discharge of tears, so that the eye overflows, as nature tries by flushing it to propel along and float away with the current the cause of the irritation.

Pancakes.

Housewives, if your bread sponge happens to sour, do not throw it away. Simply add water to thin it, if too thick, allowing one-half teaspoonful of soda to every quart of sponge, and fry like any pancake. They have a delicious flavor, resembling that of the best buckwheat cakes, for which they are sometimes mistaken.—Ladies' World.

The Future of YACHTING on the Fresh Water Lakes

YACHTING on the fresh waters this season has not attracted the attention of the general public so much this year as it was expected that it would, but the many hundreds of owners and skippers of yachts have derived an immense amount of enjoyment from the season's sport. There will be no abridgement in the ordering of 20-footers for next year. That old feeling of joy that comes over the small boy when he puts into the water his first "really ship-rigged" toy boat is intensified among the amateur skippers who delight in keeping their rails awash on the choppy little lakes, and who go out attired in bathing suits, fully prepared for any adventure in the line of a ducking.

But it cannot be denied that the center of all yachting interest is in the east, where the salt water attracts the sailor and the spectator. On the great lakes this year there have been cruises and races, but for some reason not apparent there has been no great amount of enthusiasm over the events.

Some critics who watch matters have told me that the cause of the apathy on the fresh water seas was, first, the uncertainty of the weather; Lake Michigan, for instance, kicking up all sorts of disagreeable storms in a few minutes; and, second, the existence of too many of the old-style boats. With the exception of the Genesee, Prairie, Siren, Vanenna, and boats of this class, there are not many new yachts for the class A events of the yacht clubs. Handicaps have to be generously distributed whenever club cruise races are planned, and even then the skippers do not seem to be too desirous of taking many chances.

It was left to the Inland Lake Yachting association to show the yachting world what a successful regatta could be held on Lake Geneva. Twenty yacht clubs are affiliated in this association, and it is safe to say that the regatta events held in August at Lake Geneva were topics of daily conversation with several thousand yachtsmen. J. W. Taylor, of the White Bear Y. C., is the executive head of the association that made the regatta such a social and sportsmanlike success. Perhaps to him complaints were made that the Lake Geneva course was not large enough for such a representative regatta, and it may also be true that many of the sailors desire a lake as large as Winnebago for their fourth annual regatta, but nothing can alter the fact that to-day the I. L. Y. A. is the representative regatta organization of the west. Should this association become remiss in its plants for the fall sports, yachting on fresh water would indeed suffer a blow.

There may not be as many wealthy patrons of yachting in the clubs of the I. L. Y. A. as there are in some of the yacht associations near Long Island sound, the greatest yachting resort in North American waters, but there is no mistaking their enthusiasm. Beside the White Bear Lake club there are the following yacht clubs in the association: Green Lake, Delavan, Pine Lake, Lake Beulah, Fox Lake, Milwaukee, Chicago, Lakeside, Saddle and Cycle, Neenah, Nodaway, Oconomowoc, West End, Lake Geneva, Minnetonka, Oconomowoc Lake, Pistakee, Pewaukee and Oshkosh. That regatta demonstrated the interest in the 20-footers, and when Aderyn won the championship of her class there was much rejoicing among the lovers of a fleet yacht. Attila, of White Bear lake, took honors in the 17-foot class, and was hailed as a "comer" for next season. It will be recalled by followers of yachting that at the 1898 regatta at White Bear lake, the first and second class prizes were won by local yachts.

Capt. Ordway sailed the Mahto, that won in the first class, and Capt. Drake won with Xenia, in the next class. Argo and Nightingale were the winners in their respective classes in 1899.

When it became apparent that there would be no international contest for the America's cup this season, that well-known critic on yachting predicted that there would be unusual interest in the smaller racing features. Small yachts, particularly knockabouts, he said, would be more in demand, even by rich owners, than the big boats. The reason is palpable—there is more real fun to be derived from the small yachts.

Mr. Jones says that the adoption of uniform rules for the clubs in the yacht racing association has increased interest in yachting until the sound has the reputation of being the best racing course in the country.

"The evolution of the knockabout from the sandbagger," continues Mr. Jones, "has been gradual, but sure. The small yacht has been constantly improved upon until America has as fine a fleet of boats as one could wish to see. Even Danraven, that high chief of yachting, has admitted this. The flimsy racing machine has come into general disfavor, and all yachtsmen agree that it should be a thing of the past. The wealthy patrons of yachting are beginning to see the advantages of the seaworthy, small and compact boat for racing, and they relegate the larger yachts to cruises and extraordinary races, as it were.

"The Newport one-design class has been well supported by buyers of yachts. This class is commonly called 30-footers, and if its popularity is great on the sound it is not at all strange that the inland lake yachtsmen prefer the 20-footers as their favorite boats. Men who are able to own great big yachts have been content with the 30-footers for several seasons. By popularizing amateur handling of yachts several years back, the Seawanhaka-Corinthinan Y. C. left its imprint on the sport. The rules require corinthian helmsmen and corinthian crews on yachts in all the small classes, and as a result there are few professionals who excel the amatur helmsmen. The Boston Knockabout association instituted rules for the 21-foot class. The Indian Harbor Y. C. introduced the restricted boats to the sound, and now the style is the best racing class. All of the same type, these boats make competition remarkably close. After all that is said, the closeness of the competitions is what makes the real fun in yachting."

"ADERYN."

FRANK BROWNE JONES.

This desire to have the racing machines closely identified in lines and make—to have them so identical that there is little to choose between them, is instanced in the work of Mr. Herreshoff in putting out the Yankee, Mineola, Rainbow and Virginia. Critics unite in praising the creditable handling of the Yankee by H. B. Duryea, and of the Virginia by W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr. The latter had as a tutor one of the shrewdest of amateur sailors, but the pupil showed such an aptitude for learning that he has made great strides. One man says that the British skippers aboard the rival craft had to keep their eyes skinned all the time. The designer of these four boats has been conscientious in dealing with his clients, and there is said to be little to choose among the boats. The 70-footer is a purely scientific racing machine, in the making of which just as much nicety of computation is necessary as in the months of preparation for the work on the ways for an ocean monster like the speedy Deutschland.

A. J. Kenealy thinks that when the 70-footers attain their true form they will be as closely matched as are the 30-foot class, one of which, Vaquero, beat another called Hera by but one second in a recent race. On another occasion Wawa won by eight seconds, and four boats in that race crossed the finish line inside of 32 seconds.

Yachtsmen who will not believe that a one-design class can furnish true sport will find much food for reflection in incidents like those just mentioned. They are common, as one may see by referring to the reports of yacht events in the daily papers. The one-design classes have been as beneficial to sport as the one gun start, but timers are slow to see and [illegible]

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Oct. 2.—Dr. Sigmund D. Bundy, who has been in the Hudson County Jail for six months, has been released, the charge for which he was held having been proved false. Dr. Bundy had sold some property on which there was a mortgage, but it was shown that he had given his lawyer the money to liquidate the mortgage. resolution was passed. The tax books were then ordered returned to the Collector.

Mr. Tolles called up the ordinance, providing for the closing of Church street, between Third and Fourth streets, for final reading. It was then passed without opposition. Mr. Tolles said that the street committee had considered the question of the burning of the dead leaves by the city and decided that nothing could be done this year as no appropriation had been made and that it would prove too expensive an undertaking for the city.

After a recess in which the auditing committee audited the bills, the report of that committee was accepted and the Council adjourned for a week when the committee on streets and sewers expects to make its report on the sewage disposal question and recommend some course of action for the Council to pursue.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

Charles Nelson Codding, chairman of the Republican county committee, was in Elizabeth yesterday morning and informed a reporter that a great amount of work was being done throughout the county and that the Republicans in all sections of it were united, enthusiastic and hustling. Chairman Codding said that nearly all the Gold Democrats, who in 1896 voted for Palmer and Buckner, were going to cast their votes this time for McKinley and Roosevelt. The Republican outlook in Union county is fully as good, Mr. Codding thinks, from his personal observations and the reports he receives daily, as it was four years ago, but there would be no relaxation in the work and no over-confidence would be indulged in because of the bright prospects.

The John Kean Republican Association, of Union township, will hold a double banner raising next week, in which the Republican clubs of Elizabeth and Rahway will take part. One of the banners will be raised at Lyons Farms and the other in the village of Union.

To Dance During the Winter.

The Tuesday Evening Dancing Club will hold its second meeting in the hall of the Plainfield Camera Club this evening. The club met in the Camera Club rooms last season and proved a very popular organization. A meeting was held last week, when the club was reorganized for this season. Harry H. Coward was elected secretary and treasurer. A reception committee, composed of Frank H. Smith, Nathan R. Titaworth, Frank Randolph, Miss Mary Griswold and Miss Louise Holmes, was appointed. The club will meet every Tuesday evening during the fall and winter for informal dancing.

Bicycle was Gone.

Mrs. Clare, of Willow avenue, left her wheel in front of Woodhull & Martin's this morning while she went inside to do some shopping. When she returned a half-hour later the wheel had disappeared. Whether it was stolen or taken by mistake is not known. It was a Crescent wheel with maroon frame.

OCTOBER TERM OF COURT

MANY IMPORTANT CASES IN WHICH PLAINFIELDERS ARE CONCERNED.

Twenty Thousand Dollar Suit—Tobin McVey Case Left to Referee—Mr. Milliken's Case.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 2.—The October term of court opened this morning with a large list of causes on the calendar. Nearly all of the prominent lawyers from Plainfield and other parts of Union county were present. Judge VanSickel presided with Judge Vail as his associate in the circuit court cases.

On the Supreme Court calendar there were several cases in which Plainfielders are interested. The contract case of B. W. Jones against Charles Chapot was place at the bottom of the list. Corbin & Corbin represent the plaintiff and Codington & Swackhamer the defendant.

The suit brought by Joseph D. Spicer against Richael R. Boice and others for $20,000 damages for the injuries he received by a fall in Boice, Runyon & Company's lumber shed was set down for this term. Spicer is represented by Craig A. Marsh. The lawyer for the other side is George Holmes.

The case of the First National Bank against L. A. Hummer, on contract, will also come up. W. M. Stillman is the attorney for the bank.

In the case of George J. Tobin against J. H. McVey, the matter was referred to the referee, John H. VanWinkle, to take testimony as to account. Reed & Codington are the attorneys for Tobin and W. K. McClure for McVey.

The damage suits brought by Roy T. Phillips against Maze Edwards and Frank Hand, which arose over the ejection of Phillips from Music Hall, were laid over to the next term. Murphy & Blatz represented Phillips in both. W. S. Angleman was Edwards' lawyer and William N. Runyon appeared for Frank Hand.

In the Circuit Court suit brought by Mrs. Sarah A. Milliken against the city of Plainfield, judgment was entered on the demurer and the plaintiff was given leave to file a new reply to the plea.

FOR ILLEGAL SALE OF LIQUOR.

Basking Ridge Man Arrested and Taken to Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Basking Ridge, Oct. 2 — Martin Krebs, who has been indicted by the Grand Jury was arrested here yesterday morning and taken to Somerville in charge of a constable. He is accused of selling liquor without a license.

Saturday morning Krebs heard that he had been indicted and at once made arrangements to leave town. He had all his goods packed, but when he went to have them removed a constable, who was on guard, interfered and detained Krebs until the warrant for his arrest reached town yesterday morning.

Krebs was fined heavily a year ago for selling liquor without a license. Recently his neighbors secured evidence against him again and presented it to the Grand Jury, resulting in the indictment.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

Not Enough New Rails.

William Hand & Son completed their contract yesterday of hauling the heavy girder rails from Westfield to this city to be used in relaying the tracks of the Plainfield Street Railway Company on West Front street. The west bound track has been entirely relaid from Park avenue to Grant avenue. It has been discovered, however, that there are not enough of the new heavy nine inch girder rails to complete the east bound track. The heavy rails will be used for half the distance and then the old five inch girder rails will be placed back again on new ties for the rest of the distance.

Reminiscences to be Given.

A meeting of the Friends' Association will be held at their rooms on Watchung avenue Fourthday evening of this week at 8 o'clock. Beside the appointment of officers for the year, there will be given reminiscences of the Friends' conference recently held at Chautauqua by the Plainfield delegates and others who attended.

Henry C. Drake and A. B. King left this morning for Washington, where they will attend the annual convention of the Union Veterans' Union, which will be in session till Friday.

MARTINE AND BENNY STIR UP DEMOCRATS.

reform and the money question.

Speaking of imperialism, he denounced a policy that had acquired the islands of Porto Rico and the Phillipines and had then refused to extend the privileges and benefits that had always been accorded to people living under the American flag and constitution. He said he believed that President McKinley was an honest man at heart, but that he had allowed himself to be influenced by a gang of men whose lust and greed were inimical to the interest of common people, and that being a man of such weak purposes he was not a fit person to fill the highest office in the gift of the American people. He scored Mark Hanna in scathing words and the audience yelled in delight.

Mark Hanna, he said, has stated that there were no trusts. Mr. Martine said that it only required a comparison of the prices of all the necessities of life of a few years ago with those of the present time to realize that there were trusts, and especially since it was observed that the increased prices for commodities had not resulted in higher wages to the workers of the country or more profits to the retailer. The trusts, he said, had been taxing the American people to the full limit and the profits had gone into the pockets of the privileged few, all of whom, he declared, were now ranged up in support of McKinley.

"If a poor working man wants to find out which is the best side for him," said Mr. Martine, "he wants to find out where the millionares stand and then get on the other side."

Tariff reform, Mr. Martine said, was an essential of the Democratic platform, and with a fairer and more liberal policy in reference to the tariff duties of the country he said that much of the power of the trusts will be destroyed and a prosperity brought about that will be shared by the common people of the country.

He declared that gold monometallism, such as was now advocated by the Republican party, was a hateful, pernicious policy and meant eventual ruin to the financial system of the country. He said that the Democratic party stood for the use of both gold and silver, and that there was nothing in their financial plank that Democrats need be ashamed of or apologize for.

In closing he made an appeal for all voters to withstand the influence of corruption which he knew the Republicans would rely upon to carry the country for their candidates.

BRIDGET A DISTURBER.

She Didn't Like Life at the Industrial Home, so She Was Sent to Jail for Thirty Days.

Old Mrs. Bridget Cunningham has been a disturbing element at the Industrial Home. She has sown seeds of discord among the inmates and spread naughty stories concerning ill-treatment broadcast among the neighbors. According to the statement of Superintendent TenEyck, she has refused to obey his orders and has been a source of great trouble to him and his wife. So Bridget was brought down before City Judge Runyon this morning.

The majesty of the law didn't seem to effect her in the slightest and she poured fourth a steady stream of complaints despite the efforts of the Judge and Chief Kiely to check her.

Superintendent TenEyck told his story which Bridget denied in a rambling way. She wasn't satisfied with life at the home she said. Then the Judge made it thirty days in the county jail and Bridget departed to her cell mourning.

No Cause for Action.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, October 2.—The suit of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company against County Attorney Coddington and Lawyer Swackhammer, of Plainfield, for issuing an execution, as the plaintiffs claim, without authority, came up in the Elizabeth Circuit Court yesterday. The defendants obtained a judgment against Fred Hand, of Plainfield, and issued an execution to recover their costs. The execution was issued before the order was recorded. Bruce & Runyon, of Plainfield, conducted the case for the plaintiffs and Frank Bergen defended Coddington & Swackhammer. A verdict of no cause for action was rendered.

President Tucker, of Dartmouth college, has been advising students to study the newspaper—not what is called "journalism" by those who don't know anything about it, but the actual newspaper itself. HILLSIDE CLUB STILL LEADS IN LEAGUE.

Saturday's Games Brought Elizabeth and East Orange Too Close For Comfort.

MORE GAMES SATURDAY.

ELIZABETH AND EAST ORANGE WILL SOON MEET AT EAST ORANGE.

Those Clubs Are Now Tied—Hillside Club Still Has Two Matches to Play, One at Glen Ridge and One Here With Forest Hill.

While the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club still remains in the lead for the championship of the East Jersey Golf Association but, as a result of last Saturday's games, the lead of the Plainfield club has been reduced. The East Orange Golf Club and the Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth, are now tied for second place with one less victory and one more defeat than Hillside. Newark A. C., which has heretofore brought up the end of the procession, jumped up to fifth.

Despite the fact that the Hillside Club isn't much in the lead, that club still has a good show of finishing first. The Hillside team has two more matches to play. The Forest Hill team comes here Saturday and is practically certain to be defeated. Even without all the crack players, Hillside is close to invincible on its own links. On the 29th, the Hillside team goes to Glen Ridge and is likely to have to fight hard for victory with a good chance of being defeated. The Glen Ridge course is an exceedingly difficult one with lots of bunkers and other hazards on it. A slight deviation from the course puts the player is all kinds of trouble. The players of that club know the course and peculiarities, but to the stranger it is very difficult.

Out of these two matches, Hillside should get at least one. That will mean that Elizabeth and East Orange must each loose a match as well to give the Hillside victory. Now as those two teams happen to meet soon on the Elizabeth course, one of them at least is out of the way. Elizabeth has a tie with Forest Hill to play off and East Orange meets Glen Ridge on the East Orange links.

As far as the other teams are concerned they are not in the race for the championship now. It lies entirely between the Hillside Club, Elizabeth and East Orange. With careful playing by Hillside, the coveted honor will come to that club.

Two games are scheduled for Saturday. Forest Hill is booked to play in Plainfield. On account of the big day planned by Hillside for the entertainment of the Park Golf Club, the match may be postponed. The other game scheduled for Saturday is between Glen Ridge and East Orange on the latter club. If East Orange looses, then good bye to that club's chances in the league.

The standing of the clubs at present is as follows:

	Won.	Lost
Hillside Tennis and Golf Club	7	3
East Orange Golf Club	6	4
Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth	6	4
Glen Ridge Golf Club	5	5
Newark Athletic Club	4	6
Forest Hill Golf Club	3	5
Madison Golf Club	3	6

THE FIREMEN'S HOME.

The State Institution at Boonton is Now Open.

The New Jersey State Firemen's Home at Boonton, which was dedicated with elaborate ceremony on June 16th, has been formally opened. At last week's meeting of the board of managers three applicants were admitted. Two were from Paterson and the other from Trenton.

The Home cost originally, with fifty-six acres of land, $36,900, and about $28,000 additional was spent on the construction of an extension and the introduction of various improvements. The commission in June turned it over to the State free and clear of all debt and had the comfortable balance of $5,000 remaining in the treasury to be used toward the first year's maintenance.

The Home was established for the benefit of aged and indigent firemen and entrance may be obtained upon satisfactory application to the board of managers.

Contract for $175,000 Awarded.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Centenary Collegiate Institute of Hackettstown, which was held in Newark yesterday, the contract for the rebuilding of the institution was awarded to the Wales-Lines Company, of Meriden, Conn., for $175,000. The building was destroyed by fire a year ago.

—One hundred and fifty baskets of peaches, chiefly white, will be received at Neuman Brothers tomorrow.

PLAINFIELDER WEDDED.

JOHN V. BEEKMAN, JR., MARRIED TO MISS HALL, OF CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

Wedding Took Place Last Night in Old Cambridge Baptist Church—Will Reside in Glen Ridge.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Boston, October 3.—Miss Susan Warren Hill, daughter of Mrs. Frederic K. Hill, of Cambridge, Mass., and John VanDerveer Beekman, Jr., of Plainfield, N. J., were married last evening at 8 o'clock in the Old Cambridge Baptist church, Cambridge. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Gartner, pastor of the church. The couple were unattended except for the six ushers, six friends of the groom from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. There were a number of friends of the couple present. The bride was gowned in white.

After the ceremony the families of the young couple assembled at the bride's home where the wedding supper was served. John V. Beekman and Miss Eda Beekman, of West Eighth street, were the only Plainfielders present.

After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Beekman will come to this city Saturday where they will be the guests of Mr. Beekman's father. After a visit here they will go to Glen Ridge to take up their residence.

Mr. Beekman graduated from the Plainfield High School as a member of the class of '95 and subsequently entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which he graduated last June. He now has an excellent position with a prominent New York firm of architectural engineers.

NO MONEY TO PAY SPEAKERS

Democratic Spellbinders Said to be Working Without Cash From the State Committee.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Oct. 3.—The Democratic State Committee is running the campaign in New Jersey with probably the smallest amount of cash ever used to run any Democratic State campaign in New Jersey, according to a statement made Monday by Secretary Devereaux. The speakers sent out by the State Committee are receiving no pay from the State organization. In cases where the spellbinders are paid salaries, they are generally furnished by the National Committee, which is not so hard pressed for ready cash. The State Committee expects the speakers it assigns to be entertained and taken care of by the local Democratic organizations, under whose auspices they rate. In some cases, however, especially in the backwoods districts, the speakers thus assigned are not even reimbursed for carfares.

The Democratic State Committee some time ago prepared a list of speakers, but they are mostly volunteers, and include Democratic State Senators and Assemblymen and local Democratic office holders, who entered upon the campaign with a full knowledge of what to expect. Secretary Devereaux said Monday that the Democrats are making their fight this year in a true spirit of patriotism, and that the speakers, as a rule, have been perfectly willing to tender their services for nothing.

Short of Funds.

The Westfield Township Committee finds itself short of funds with which to maintain the police department until the next spring election. The appropriation made last election was $1,500, but the force has been more expensive than anticipated and the money is nearly gone. The Board of Trade has come to the rescue of the police and agreed to donate $250, which will, with money transferred from unexpended balances, keep the force alive until the voters have a chance to pass on the matter again.

"Super" Was Hurt.

The play given at Music Hall last evening, called for considerable shooting and during one of the bombardments, Charles Leonard, a "super" was struck in the ear by a flying wad. The ear was cut quite badly causing the blood to flow, otherwise he was unhurt.

Entertained Singers.

The members of the chorus choir of the First M. E. church, together with a few of the prominent workers of that church, were entertained last evening at the parsonage on Central avenue. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games. Refreshments were served.

Miss Mair to Speak.

GRAND JURORS.

Frank Hubbard, of This City, Elected Foreman—Important Cases to Investigate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 3—The October term of the Union County Court opened yesterday, Justice VanSyckel presiding. The calendar is heavy and consists of twenty-seven Supreme Court cases, seventeen Circuit Court cases, ten Justice Appeal Court cases, while the jail list numbers fifteen. The principal criminal case is that of Thomas Doyle, who shot Farmer Horace Baldwin, of Unionville, causing his death yesterday morning.

The Grand Jurors are: Foreman, J. Frank Hubbard; William A. Woodruff, Robert H. Cook, Henry Liefke, Plainfield; Charles Ehrlech, Matthew M. Armstrong, George Belcher, Rahway; William H. Hicks, Joseph Nolte, F. D. Bennett, F. F. Glasby, Richard T. Potts, Isaac M. Littell, Dr. John P. Reilly, Elizabeth; Emmor K. Adams, Cranford, George W. Bauer, Linden; John Maxwell, New Providence; J. F. Sickley, Springfield; C. S. Day, Summit; Spence Winnie, Union; George Schuckher, Westfield, and F. W. Hopper, Fanwood.

Justice VanSyckel had one special charge to deliver to the Grand Jury. He briefly referred to the homicide case at Unionville, and said the facts would be laid before the Grand Inquest by Prosecutor English. He also referred to the Summit Italian homicide case, but as the criminal, although caught in Italy, has not been extradited, nothing can be done in the matter. It is doubtful if the authorities will take the trouble to bring the prisoner back to the United States.

LOVE AND MURDER.

Horace Baldwin, Who Was Shot by Doyle, His Daughter's Sweetheart, Is Dead.

Horace Baldwin, of Unionville, the farmer, who was shot September 18th by Thomas Doyle, a discharged employe, died yesterday at his home from the effects of his wounds. Mr. Baldwin was sixty-six years old. Doyle, who was shot by the farmer at the same time, is still in the hospital.

Doyle was in love with Baldwin's daughter, Grace, and for a time his affection was reciprocated. Later, however, Miss Baldwin learned that Doyle was inclined to be dissipated, and she refused to have anything to do with him. He left the village for a time, but subsequently returned. The evening of the shooting he went to the farmer's house and tried to see Miss Baldwin. Her father took a shotgun, and, going to the door, ordered Doyle away. The shooting followed.

Doyle fired several shots at Baldwin, all of which took effect. Doyle himself was terribly wounded, but it is said at the hospital that he is recovering. When he is in condition to be taken to court he will be arraigned on a charge of murder.

Library Directors Meet.

A regular meeting of the board of directors of the Public Library was held last evening. There were present M. W. Tyler, J. B. Dumont, Alexander Gilbert, W. H. Larrabee and Wm. M. Stillman. The minutes of the meeting of July 3d were read and approved. It was moved that the gift to the art gallery of the collection of moths and butterflies belonging to the late Mrs. Alex. Gilbert be accepted, and that the art committee be authorized to arrange for a man to take charge of it. Bills of the general and Babcock libraries were ordered paid. After the reading of the librarian's report for September the Board adjourned.

Had to be Rebuilt.

The flight of steps which are to connect the North avenue station platform with Watchung avenue, north of the railroad tracks, were nearly completed when it was discovered that they were not in the proper place. They led up directly to the fourth track instead of to the platform. They were therefore torn down and and are being rebuilt with an extra turn which will bring them at the end of the extension of the platform instead of on the track. The steps are of concrete with stone tops.

Netherwood Guests to Wed.

The marriage of Miss Laura Holbrooock, of New York, to George Brown, of New York, will take place next Wednesday afternoon in St. Stephen's church in Netherwood. After the wedding a reception will be given at the Hotel Netherwood, where they both have been guests for two seasons.

More Books Read.

The report of the librarian of Public Library for September shows an increase of 1,158 volumes over the total number circulated in September, 1899.

PROBLEM OF SEWAGE DISPOSAL FOR CITY.

Councilmanic Committee on Streets and Sewers Will Try to Settle It

MANY METHODS PROPOSED.

COMMITTE WILL PROBABLY REPORT AT COUNCIL MEETING NEXT WEEK.

Question Whether to Try to Improve Present System or Adopt an Entirely New Process—Concerning the Spangenberg Proposition.

None of the members of the Common Council take the ground that the present situation of the sewage disposal problem is satisfactory. Some course is necessary but, so far, there has been no unity opinion as to just what course should be pursued to remedy the existing troubles. The principal choice is whether or not the old system shall be retained or an entirely new method be introduced. The Councilmanic committee on streets and sewers has the matter under consideration and it is expected to make a report at the adjourned meeting of the Council next Monday night.

There are several plans under consideration by the committee. The new proposition made by Leonard Spangenberg to the Council Monday night differed considerably from his original proposition. He desires to introduce the system of chemical sewage disposal invented by C. W. Doughty. Mr. Doughty applied to the city several months ago for permission to test his new invention at the city sewer farm. He wanted to experiment. He also offered to allow the city authorities to witness his work if it should turn out satisfactorily.

Mr. Doughty's request was readily granted, as it incurred no expense to the city and migh develop something worth owning. After his little experimental shed had been built the street committee was surpised to receive the proposition from Mr. Spangenberg, asking the city to agree to take the plant at a cost of $25,000, if the process worked successfully in a trial of 30 days.

The members of the street committee deemed that thirty days was not long enough to demonstrate the feasability of any plan in all kinds of weather so the new proposition was submitted Monday evening which extended the time of the trial to six months and reduced the price to the city.

While the city is not bound to take the plant of Mr. Doughty, unless the trial is successful, the chief opposition to accepting his offer seems to be the fact that if the six months trial should prove a failure, the city would be just as badly off six months from now as it is today.

It may be that the committee will decide that the best thing to do will be to enlarge the present beds and put new sand and gravel in them as the present sand is said to be too fine. The "septic tank" system, which Mayor Rockfellow has been investigating, is also under consideration. Several other plans have been suggested.

EULOGIZED LATE MRS. KROM.

Monday Afternoon Club Mourns Death of One of Its Members.

At the joint meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club the president, Mrs. John M. Whiton, spoke of the sad event which had occurred during the summer recess, and called upon Mrs. Florence Howe Hall to present appropriate resolutions on the death of Mrs. Stephen R. Krom.

Mrs. Hall made a brief but warm eulogy of this lady, paying tribute to the loyalty, earnestness, enthusiasm, executive ability and good judgment which characterized her, and which made her a valued officer and worker in various clubs and associations for benevolent or religious purposes. Mrs. Hall then offered resolutions, which were passed by a rising vote of the club.

Need of Reading Matter.

Recent messages received by the International Committee Young Men's Christian Associations from its representatives with the Army in China and the Philippines report the supply of good reading matter to be inadequate to meet demands from the three hundred or more stations of the Army. Gifts in quantities to enable the secretaries to send supplies to every post should be sent at once. Books, late numbers of standard illustrated papers and magazines are especially desirable and will be forwarded without further expense to the givers if sent with express or freight prepaid to the office of International Committee Young Men's Christian Associations, No. 3 West 29th street, New York City.

CLERGYMAN KILLED.

Steps Into the Path of an Erie Express at Ferndale, N. J.—Just Installed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Paterson, Oct. 3.—Rev. Geo. Luckenbill, pastor of the Reformed church of Glen Rock, N. J., was struck and mortally injured by an Erie Railroad train at Ferndale last night at 9:40 o'clock. He had just said goodbye to his friend, Rev. E. W. Thompson, pastor of the Broadway Reformed church of this city, and had dropped off the outgoing train to cross the track when the westbound train, which does not stop, flew past and caught him.

He was thrown a considerable distance, his head, arms and body were cut, and his back broken. He was brought to this city by the next eastbound train, and died in the General Hospital a few minutes after admission. He was 35 years old.

Mr. Luckenbill had just been installed as pastor of his church.

Rev. Mr. Luckenbill lived in Plainfield several years ago, making his home when here with the late Thomas R. Crosley, of Duer street. He preached at one service in Trinity Reformed church during the pastor's vacation in the summer of 1898. He was well known in this city.

STUDENTS ENROLLED.

Good Start Made Last Night for the Educational Classes in the Y. M. C. A.

There was an encouraging interest manifested last evening on the part of the students enrolled in the evening classes of the Y. M. C. A. President Cahoone presided and spoke of the importance of this department of the work. He was followed by I. W. Travell, of the educational work committee, who spoke of the course in English to be taught by George W. Sandford, who is at the head of the department of English and commerce at the High School. Mr. Sandford told of the new advantages of the new system of book-keeping to be taken up this year. Remarks were also made by George L. Eager, who has charge of the mechanical drawing, and by Frederick C. Grant, who will teach mathematics in connection with mechanical course. At the close of the meeting the students who are to take up Spanish, German and other studies met for conference and enrollment in the rooms that were assigned them.

Collision of Bicyclists.

Edward A. Laing, of East Front street, the newspaper dealer, met with an accident while riding his wheel on East Ninth street last evening at 6:30 o'clock. He was on the right hand side of the road when he suddenly came upon a wheelwoman coming in the opposite direction. In their efforts to avoid each other, they collided and Laing was thrown heavily to the ground. He was badly stunned for a few moments but was finally able to walk home. The woman was not injured, neither was her wheel. The rim to the front wheel of Laing's bicycle was smashed.

Officers Elected.

The members of the Martin Gaghan Association met last evening and elected the following officers: Martin Gaghan, president; George Mehl, vice-president; John Conroy, secretary; Clarence Woodcock, recording secretary; Howard Manning, treasurer; James Totten, sergeant-at-arms. John Cose and George Feiring were appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws. At the next meeting several matters of importance will be considered.

As the Society is about to enter upon its fall and winter work, every member is urged to be present, and the chairman to bring in written reports of the work of their respective committees for last month.

No Doubt About Theft.

There is now no doubt but what the wheel taken from in front of Woodhull & Martin's store yesterday belonging to Mrs. Clare, of Willow avenue, was stolen. It was thought at first it might have been taken by mistake, but it has not yet been returned.

Danced Evening Away.

The Tuesday Evening Dancing Club met as usual last evening in the Camera Club rooms and a pleasant evening was spent. Nearly all of the fifty members of the club were present.

TO HELP G. O. P. CAUSE.

MASS MEETING TO BE HELD IN THE BOROUGH THIS EVENING.

Congressman Foster and Senator Pitney to be the Principal Speakers at the Meeting.

The U. S. Grant Club, of the borough, is making every possible effort to ensure a rousing mass meeting at Saengerbund hall this evening. It is really the first big Republican gun of the campaign in Somerset county. There have been a few meetings in the borough and elsewhere but this will be the first appearance of any speakers of national reputation.

The speakers of the evening will be State Senator Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown, who was Governor Voorhees' strongest opponent in the race for the Gubernatorial nomination two years ago, and Congressman D. J. Foster, of Vermont. Congressman Foster is one of the speakers assigned to New Jersey by the national committee, and is said to have a ready flow of language and to be a bright and interesting campaign orator.

Congressman B. F. Howell, County Clerk F. H. Somers and Republican nominee for the Assembly Hoagland will also be present at the meeting and will probably be called on to say a few words.

A wrong impression has gone forth that ladies are not invited to the meeting. They will be very welcome and seats will be reserved for them and their escorts. It is hoped that there will be many present. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock, but it will be preceded by a number of selections by an orchestra. There will also be vocal music also. The public of Plainfield and North Plainfield are invited.

P. VAN ARSDALE'S FUNERAL

The Hymns That He Had Composed Were Sung at His Bier by Near Relatives.

In the presence of a large number of sorrowing friends and relatives, the funeral services of Philip P. VanArsdale were conducted in the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the church, was the officiating clergyman. Previous to the church ceremonies a short service took place at his late home which was also conducted by Mr. Herring. At this service "The Twentieth Century Hymn," the last of the many composed by the deceased, was sung very effectively by his nieces and nephews. At the church this hymn, together with "The Beautiful Mansion" and "Nearer the Kingdom," all composed by the departed, were sung by a special choir. Mr. Herring spoke very feelingly to the bereaved family, and his words were very comforting.

There were a large number of floral tributes from friends and relatives, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The pallbearers were six nephews: Charles Powlison, of New York; George VanArsdale, of Peapack; Philip and Peter Vroom, of Peapack; Morris VanArsdale and J. A. Powlison, of Plainfield. The interment was made in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

NEW MEMBERS.

Hillside Club Board of Governors Act on Applications for Membership.

A meeting of the Board of Governors of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was held last evening. Several associate and junior associate members were added to the list. There are already a number of applications for active membership but the membership of the club is completely filled and they have been placed on a waiting list.

At the meeting last evening arrangements for the entertainment of the Park Golf Club were completed. Everything has been done on an elaborate scale and the day promises to be one of the most important in local golfing circles.

Pretty Birthday Party.

Madeline Doud Blair, daughter of James R. Blair and granddaughter of Borough Street Commissioner Thomas Doud, celebrated the fourth anniversary of her birth yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, 78 Duer street. There were fourteen little friends of Madeline present and the afternoon was full of enjoyment to the little ones. Madeline received many pretty gifts, including a gold breastpin from her cousin, Craig Blair. Refreshments were served and games indulged in by the little folks to their heart's content. Prominent on the refreshment table was a birthday cake containing four candles and the name "Madaline" across the top of the cake.

NEW BRUNSWICK IN GALA ATTIRE.

Ten Thousand Persons Attended Biennial Firemen's Day Parade and Festivities.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM SHOWN.

DWELLING HOUSES HIDDEN BENEATH DISPLAY OF FLAGS AND BUNTING.

Banquet in the Evening—All Business Was Suspended and Everybody Turned Out to See the Splendid Procession.

Accompanying Warren Engine Company, of North Plainfield, to New Brunswick yesterday to participate in the annual firemen's parade of that city, there were a large number of Plainfielders. The day was a perfect one in the weather line, and New Brunswickites made a great time of the occasion. The city was literally swathed in bunting, flags and decorations, and business as a rule was suspended.

Private houses and stores were hidden beneath flags and bunting, and on every side was the sign "Welcome Firemen." Women wore red waists and flaunted badges of their own favorite company. Men wore badges and everything in "busy Brunswick" was fireman.

People for miles around poured into New Brunswick, and at 10 o'clock it was estimated that ten thousand people from Somerville, Bound Brook, Dunellen, Plainfield, Elizabeth, Rahway, South River, Milltown and nearby cities swelled the New Brunswick throng.

Promptly at half-past nine Chief Charles Banks sounded three taps on the fire alarm and the companies hurried into readiness. Fifteen minutes later another alarm moved the firemen to Livingston avenue, and at 10 o'clock the great biennial parade began.

First came carriages containing Mayor Williamson, City Counsel Fred Weigel, City Engineer Atkinson, Street Commissioner Harkins, City Clerk Demzer and City Treasurer Kirkpatrick; then President Woodbridge and the Board of Aldermen; a platoon of the Fire Patrol followed; then came Chief Charles Banks, Acting Assistant Chief John Harding and Assistant Chief James Kidney; former Chief Milton Rose, an old timer; with Chiefs Jaques and Banker, who were leading a dozen other former chiefs and assistant chiefs.

Hook and Ladder company from Flemington had the position of honor, and with their long frock coats, trousers of buff and campaign hats, they won plaudits. The Goodwill band, of New Brunswick, in white, followed them and preceded Washington Engine company No. 1 and Washington Hose company.

Union band, of New Brunswick, led Neptune Engine and Hose companies. LaVere's band, of Plainfield, and the Independent Fife and Drum Corps led Warren Engine Company, of North Plainfield, and Hanesack band, of Newark, was followed by Phœnix Engine and Hose Company, of New Brunswick.

Warickler's band, of Trenton, heralded the approach of New Brunswick Hook and Ladder Company and the West End Hose Company, of Somerville. Behind them was the Second Regiment field band, leading Liberty Hose Company, of New Brunswick.

Columbia Band, of Newark, led the way for a platoon of chiefs and former chiefs of Elizabeth, and then Hibernia, No. 5, of Elizabeth appeared.

Liberty Band, of New Brunswick, headed Raritan Engine and Hose Company, and the Nicholas Band, of Newark, preceded Protection Engine Company, No. 5, of New Brunswick.

LaVere's band, of Plainfield, brought in Hibernia Company, No. 6, of New Brunswick.

A JERSEY FLEET SAILS.

Five Gunboats, Built in 120 Days, Leave Nixon Yards for Cuba.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 3.—The five revenue cutters built at the Nixon ship-yards for Government service in Cuban waters, left Monday on their long journey southward. The boats are especially adopted for work among the coral reefs and shallow bayous of the southern waters. They will be used to break up the smuggling in and around the harbor of Havana.

The fleet is under the command of Commodore Hunic. He uses Cutter No. 7 as the flagship. This boat is seventy feet long, while the others are ten feet shorter on the water line. The boats are built of steel and draw but thirty inches of water.

The first to be built was finished just 100 days after the contract was received at the ship-yards, the others inside of the next twenty days. There are still twenty-two boats in course of construction at this shipyard, among the most interesting being two of the Holland submarine craft.

The Board of Managers and medical staff held an anxious conference and decided to make an appeal to the public to come to save the hospital.

The institution owes $9,000 in unpaid bills and $21,500 on notes indorsed by members of the Board of Managers. The unpaid subscriptions for the past two years amount to over $8,000. Senator Kane's bank was the first to respond and sent the managers $500.

BAD FOR RATHBONE.

Havana Post Believes Him Guilty of Planning the Postal Frauds.

HAVANA, Oct. 3.—The Havana Post, referring to the postoffice frauds, makes the following statement:

"We have been quietly and on our own account working up the case against Mr. Estes G. Rathbone, and we now believe that he will be charged with having concocted the whole scheme of embezzlement. It may even be shown that he secured for himself something between $27,000 and $28,000."

Mr. Ernest Lee Conant, special counsel of the government in the matter, when asked to confirm or deny the assertions of The Post, replied that he would not deny them nor confirm them. He said, however, that the investigations had not been confined to a mere revision of accounts.

At yesterday's meeting of the Havana municipality no vote was taken on the question of accepting the improved plans for sewerage and paving. The subject will be further considered at the next session.

BURNED AT A STAKE

Negro Criminal Killed by an Angry Mob.

CRIES FOR MERCY PASS UNHEEDED.

Eclectic, Ala., Scene of the Shocking Spectacle—The Criminal Confessed Attempted Assault and Other Crimes.

WETUMPKA, Ala., Oct. 3.—Winfield Townsend, alias Floyd, a negro, was burned at the stake in the little town of Eclectic, 15 miles from this place, yesterday. The crime with which he was charged was an attempted assault upon Mrs. Lonnie Harrington, whose husband set fire to the brands which reduced Townsend's body to ashes. Monday afternoon about 1 o'clock the negro, a nephew of the negro Floyd who was hanged in the Wetumpka jail week before last for attempted assault, attempted to outrage Mrs. Harrington. Mr. Harrington was engaged at a cotton gin in Eclectic and lives one mile out of town.

The negro came to the house and told Mrs. Harrington that her husband had sent him to get 20 cents from her. She told him she had no change. Then the negro left, but returned in about ten minutes. The woman's screams were heard by Bob Nichols, another negro who was passing along the road at the time. He ran to the house in time to see the negro escape. As soon as Mrs. Harrington was brought back to consciousness Nichols gave the alarm.

The news spread rapidly. All the stores in Eclectic were closed, all the gins and sawmills shut down, the people left their wagons in the road and their plows in the field and gathered for pursuit of the negro. The crowd divided, some scouring the woods near the scene of the crime and others going to the penitentiary for bloodhounds. The dogs were not brought to the scene until nearly dark. They were taken to where the negro's tracks disappeared, and an exciting chase ensued.

The dogs stopped finally at a tree in front of Odion's store on the outskirts of the town. The crowd coming up soon discovered the negro sitting on a limb. He was brought down at once and taken to the scene of his crime. There he was confronted by his victim, who positively identified him.

Word was sent to the other searching parties that the negro had been found, and about 11 o'clock a crowd of several hundred was in the little village. The negro was then taken to the edge of the village, and, surrounded by the mob, he shivered with fear. The preparations for death were quickly made. A rope was flung over the limb of a big oak, and a hundred stood ready to lend a hand at the rope.

Then a halt was called and the manner of death discussed by the mob. To decide the matter a vote was taken, and the balloting showed a majority of the crowd to favor death at the stake.

The stake was prepared, and the negro was bound to it with chains. Pine knots were piled about him, and the flames were started by the husband of the negro's victim. As they leaped to the wretch's flesh his wild cries upon God for mercy and help could be heard far away. The crowd looked on deaf to his cries, and in an hour the negro was reduced to ashes.

Townsend, before being bound, confessed the crime and said he was also implicated with Alexander Floyd, who was hung a couple of weeks ago for an attempted assault on Miss Kate Pearson, in the attempt at that time. He said he and Floyd had planned for other crimes of like character, but that Floyd's being hung put a stop to them.

Chance For American Dried Fruits.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The prospect for an unprecedented export of American dried prunes, apricots, peaches and pears, as well as evaporated apples and raspberries, to Germany this autumn and winter is exceedingly bright, says Consul General Mason at Berlin, provided the crop in the United States is sufficiently plentiful to furnish a large supply at reasonable prices. Consul General Mason says that the supply of dried American fruits last year was insufficient to meet the demands of the German market, but that large contracts have been made this year by American merchants who, after attending the Paris exposition, visited the principal cities of Germany and personally offered their products to the more important dealers.

The servant has eluded arrest, but has been traced to Suffolk county.

MINERS ON PARADE.

Monster Labor Demonstration at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT MITCHELL.

A Convention of Anthracite Workers to Be Held to Take Action In Regard to the Recent Offers of Operators.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 3.—The parade and mass meeting of the striking miners in this city yesterday was the greatest labor demonstration ever held in northeastern Pennsylvania. The weather was favorable for a large turnout. The sun shone brightly all day, and it was more like a day in June than October.

Early in the morning the steam and electric roads began hauling the people into the city, and many thousands came on foot from the nearby towns. The buildings along the route of the parade were decorated with flags and bunting, and the city presented a holiday appearance.

President Mitchell and party arrived from Hazleton shortly after 1 o'clock and were met at the depot by a large and enthusiastic crowd. The visitors were given a cheer and were then driven to their hotel.

The parade, headed by President Mitchell and the officers of the national executive board, started a little after 2 o'clock, and it required an hour and 20 minutes to pass a given point. It is estimated that there were fully 15,000 men and breaker boys in line. The great bulk of the paraders was made up of stalwart men. As a rule they were well dressed, and some of them from their appearance might be taken for a body of farmers. They did not march with precision, but were a dense mass of humanity. They walked six, five and four abreast. The music was furnished by about 40 brass bands and drum corps.

Many banners and transparencies were carried by the men. Among the most noticeable were these: "We want our dinner pails filled with substantial food, not coal barons' taffy;" "We are fighting a cause that is just and right;" "Stand by President Mitchell and the union;" "Our union must be recognized;" "We will no longer be slaves;" "2,240 pounds for a ton;" "We want two weeks' pay."

The breaker boys carried banners which read: "We need schooling, but must work;" "Save us from the whims of the sheriff and deputies;" "Down with oppression; we will stand by Mitchell."

The parade passed over the principal streets of the city, and thousands of people lined the sidewalks. Here and there an enthusiastic admirer of President Mitchell would break through the lines and insist on shaking hands with him. The men from Pittston had a float with four men representing "Coal Barons." They were drinking what purported to be champagne. Directly following was a float with miners dining on bread and water. A stretcher was carried containing a dummy representing a miner who had just lost his life in a mine.

President Mitchell reviewed the great army of marchers on the river common. He was generously applauded by the marchers. Business was at a standstill in the city all the afternoon. The superintendents of the coal companies and their clerks viewed the parade from their office buildings. One coal man said it was a very creditable demonstration.

Following is President Mitchell's speech in part:

"A man would indeed be devoid of feeling if he were not proud to have the opportunity to stand before a multitude like this which is making a fight for something which it believes to be just. I am proud to know that you are composed of coal miners and their families. I am proud to know that you command in this fight the respect of the clergymen, that you have the sympathy of the public and that the great American press has said with one voice that your cause is a righteous one. No man would go further to avoid a strike than I, but when all honorable methods fail then I favor strikes. I went to New York to call on the operators at the sacrifice of personal dignity to get a hearing, but the men who employ you turned me away and even refused to receive a committee of their own men for the purpose of talking over the differences.

"The greatest strike in the history of the world is drawing to a close. Already the great coal carrying railroads have agreed to increase your wages 10 per cent, which is a great victory in itself. True, it is enough, but it does not satisfy us, but the time is not far distant when the anthracite coal miners will receive as much for their labor as any other class of workmen in the world.

"In this struggle do not place absolute faith in John Mitchell or any other one man. Put your faith in the organization. Work hard for its prosperity, for the stronger it is the better you are armed for the struggle in which you are now engaged. This strike shall not be declared off by me. It shall not be ended until a convention of anthracite miners shall so decide. Every union and every colliery will be asked to send one or more delegates to a convention to determine the question for themselves. Your interests are greater than mine. I shall not decide the question of your going back to work. You must vote on that yourself. I will not pretend to determine your fate or that of the 500,000 who are directly affected by this struggle."

Mr. Mitchell then briefly reviewed the struggles of the miners during the past 40 years and said that the miners cannot expect to have all the evils which have been heaped upon them during the last half century of unorganized labor righted at once. Continuing Mr. Mitchell said: "I firmly believe that victory will be achieved by the men standing together. Do not let one of you move until all move. If you stand together we will achieve a greater victory than was ever attained by labor in the anthracite coal region. If nothing else is achieved than the taking of the young boys who today yelled as I passed them in the parade 'that 'Mitchell is all right!' out of the breakers and placing them in the schools, the future will show that Mitchell was all right. I am firmly of the belief that the mothers of the breaker boys nightly pray to the Ruler of the universe to decide in favor of the men, so that their boys can go to the schools.

"A miner should receive for his wages as much as any man on earth, so that he himself can build a home on the present tumbling ruins of his hovel built by the companies and so that he can afford to allow his children to have the advantages of the college too.

"Through the efforts of the United Mine Workers we can secure justice for all. We want to stand together, and I hope that not one man will desert the ranks of the union and that not one man will go back to the mines until the victory is complete."

The coal operators of the Wyoming valley who posted notices at their collieries Monday night notifying their employees of a 10 per cent increase in wages had no information from their men yesterday as to whether the offer would be accepted or not. They thought the strikers were too busy with the parade and mass meeting to take any action. The operators are in no hurry and will await the pleasure of the strikers. The miners, however, have about made up their minds that they will not consider the offer. The increase, they say, is a mere trifle and not worthy of consideration.

The fact that the operators have made what appears to be a studied effort to ignore the miners' union is what aggravates the strikers most. They say it is useless to talk of a settlement unless the presidents of the big coal companies make up their minds to recognize the union. One of the officers of the United Mine Workers' council of this district said:

"I don't see how an agreement can be reached so long as the union is left out of the negotiations. The operators might as well understand now as later on that the union has come to stay and that it will insist on its demands being granted."

Advance In Lackawanna Region.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 3.—The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, the Hillside Coal and Iron company and the Temple Iron company were the only operators in the Lackawanna region to post the notice offering a 10 per cent increase. These three companies operate 36 collieries. There are 98 collieries in Lackawanna county. The Delaware and Hudson company, with 21 collieries, and the Pennsylvania Coal company, with 27 collieries, joined with the individual operators in refusing to post the notices. The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company announces that the offer to take up any grievances its men may have is not to be construed to mean that it will enter into a general arbitration. Each operator will deal with his own employees separately. There is not the slightest probability from present indications of the miners of this region going back to work until they get the word from the headquarters of the United Mine Workers.

PARLIAMENTARY ELECTION.

Large Vote Being Polled In England The Government Sustained.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Yesterday's pollings prove that the country is taking a strong interest in the election, the aggregate votes being in most cases much larger than in 1895. The Conservative papers are quite satisfied that the government will be returned to power with a majority quite as large as it had in the last parliament, if not even a greater. The Liberal organs are still hopeful that the pollings yet to come may have some surprise in store, although they recognize that their chances are slender. The Daily News says:

"A great improvement in the pace must be made if any sweeping reduction of the government's bloated majority is to be effected."

The Daily Chronicle says: "The government are not entirely out of their calculation so far as the 'khaki' rally is concerned, but they will have to make the best of the fact that there is a strong Liberal rally at the same time."

The Standard and The Daily Mail agree that "Little Englandism" as a parliamentary force is dead, all the Liberals thus far returned, except Messrs. Labouchere and Burns, being imperialists.

The Times considers that the pollings up to date "prove the existence of a big Unionist revival in all industrial and working class centers."

Balfour Re-elected.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The returns from Battersea, East Manchester, Northampton and Swansea were published shortly before midnight. The result of the polling in East Manchester is the re-election of Mr. A. J. Balfour by a majority which exceeds by 1,677 votes the majority he secured at the general election of 1895.

Largest Steam Dredge Launched.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 3.—One of the two dredges, being built by the Maryland Steel company for the Metropolitan Dredge company, New York, was launched yesterday from the ways of the builders at Sparrow's point. Miss Onderdonk, daughter of Mr. Andrew Onderdonk, vice president of the Metropolitan company, christened the vessel Thomas. The Thomas is the largest seagoing, self propelling dredge in this country, and her owners will employ her in dredging the new East channel of New York harbor, for which they have received the government contract. Her dimensions are: Length, 300 feet; beam, 52½ feet; depth of hold, 26 feet.

Hill Speaks In Richmond.

RICHMOND, Oct. 3.—Although the weather here last night was intensely disagreeable, a cold drizzling rain falling, a large crowd assembled at the Reservoir Park Casino, a mile from the city, to hear Hon. David B. Hill of New York speak. Mr. Hill was introduced in a few appropriate words by State Democratic Chairman J. Taylor Ellyson and was accorded an enthusiastic reception. Mr Hill's speech was largely confined to a constitutional argument against imperialism. He hardly touched upon the financial issue. He said that as imperialism was the paramount issue it was natural and proper that he should confine his address to that theme.

BAY STATE DEMOCRATS.

Robert Treat Paine For Governor. The Platform.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Robert Treat Paine, Jr., will again head the ticket which the Democrats of this state will be asked to support at the coming election, having received the nomination for governor at the state convention held in Faneuil hall.

The balance of the ticket follows: Lieutenant governor, Hon. John B. O'Donnell of Northampton; secretary of state, General Luther P. Stevenson of Hingham; auditor, E. Gerry Brown of Brockton; treasurer, John L. Chalifoux of Lowell; attorney general, John C. Crosby of Pittsfield.

The platform adopted declares the dominant question to be the continuance of government by consent of the governed; declares the Porto Rico law is an outrage on the liberties of the people; calls for a free constitution for Cuba and in the Philippines a speedy restoration of independence; opposes any alliance, open or secret, with any foreign nation; condemns company stores in the coalfields; condemns useless commissions in the state; calls for reductions in railroad rates and more power for the railroad commission; calls for the initiative and referendum, also an inheritance tax and municipal ownership of public utilities and condemns the Albany lease as a robbery of the state.

An innovation was the reading of the Declaration of Independence previous to beginning the work of the convention, this preliminary being deemed fitting in view of the fact that this convention was held in the cradle of liberty on the anniversary of the first election of Jefferson.

The platform was prepared by Hon. George Fred Williams as chairman of the resolutions committee.

Oil Steamer Sinks a Tugboat.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—The Standard Oil steamer Major Barrett, which sailed from this city, ran into and sunk the tugboat Fleetwood at the junction of the Schuylkill and Delaware rivers, drowning two of the crew of the Fleetwood. The drowned men were David Strawbridge of Auburn, N. J., and Fred Hickman of Camden, Del. Captain A. N. Strawbridge, father of the drowned man, and his grandson, Robert S. Strawbridge, and Nathan Mattson, all of the tugboat, were saved, but were taken to a hospital in a serious condition. Mattson, who is an aged man, is not expected to live. The Fleetwood was on its way up the Schuylkill river and had just left the Delaware river when the Major Barrett ran into it. The Fleetwood was turned completely over, and all on board were thrown into the river. The crew of the oil steamer quickly began the work of rescue and succeeded in saving the captain of the Fleetwood and the other two.

Roosevelt In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 3.—Governor Roosevelt was accorded a magnificent demonstration yesterday afternoon by the citizens of Lincoln. Nothing equal to it has yet been seen during the progress of the governor's journey through the west. Along the line of march from the station to Capital House square the streets, windows and balconies were filled with cheering people. In many streets the crowds were so dense as to impede the passage of the carriages and the mounted escort. Arriving at Capital House square Governor Roosevelt was conducted to a reviewing stand, before which the long procession passed in review, occupying more than an hour. There were many unique and amusing features in the parade. After the procession had passed in review Governor Roosevelt was conducted to a speaker's stand, where he spoke for three-quarters of an hour.

Bryan Speaks In Wisconsin.

LACROSSE, Wis., Oct. 3.—When William J. Bryan concluded his last speech here last night he had made 18 addresses and had covered about 15 hours of time during the day. Beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning he talked at intervals until 11 o'clock at night, putting in fully six hours of speechmaking. The first speech was made at Shakepee, and after that appearance he spoke in succession at Jordan, Belle Plaine, Henderson, Lesueur, St. Peter, Mankato, Janesville, Waseca, Towatona, Dodge Center, Kasson, Rochester, St. Charles, Winona and three speeches here. The region traversed is a rich agricultural section, and Mr. Bryan's remarks were addressed especially to farmers, the trust question receiving even a greater share of attention than usual.

Westinghouse, president; Robert Pitcairn, H. H. Westinghouse, John Caldwell, E. N. Herr, W. W. Card and Henry W. Oliver. The treasurer's report showed an income for last year of $8,530,905.21 and disbursements amounting to $5,011,700.46, leaving a net profit of $3,519,198.75.

AGREEMENT IN SIGHT

Washington Has Favorable News From the Powers.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH CHINA SOON.

Russia In Close Accord With the United States—Other European Nations Preparing to Follow. Germany's Position.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Favorable news has reached Washington from the European chancelleries indicating that a complete agreement as to China is within sight. The agreement will be on the basis of the propositions laid down by Secretary Hay in his note of July 3 and the subsequent notes treating of that subject. The accord of Russia with the United States is more complete than was anticipated at first, and the reports show that all of the European nations probably are placing themselves in position to take advantage of the opening made by the United States and soon will be ready to begin negotiations for a settlement with the Chinese government.

The Russians already have given notice of such purpose, and while the text of the French note on this subject referred to in yesterday's press dispatches has not reached the state department the officials are satisfied that this is correctly reported and that France, like Russia, is ready to negotiate at once.

As for Germany, either the position of that government has been misunderstood or it has sustained a change of mind. Possibly the former is the case, but, however that may be, it is quite certain from the advices which have reached Washington that the German government, upon careful inspection of the plans for a settlement projected by the United States, finds therein nothing inconsistent with the German aspirations. Therefore it may be expected that Germany, too, will be prepared soon to join in this common movement toward a settlement. It may be stated that altogether the prospects of an adjusment of the Chinese difficulty without resort to formal war are very much brighter than they were one week ago.

The news developments are few, being confined to a cablegram from Mr. Conger reciting the departure of the Russian minister and suit from Peking and an authentication by Minister Wu of the edict providing for the punishment of Tuan and the guilty princes.

Germans Punish Boxers.

PEKING, Sept. 26, via Shanghai, Oct 3.—The object of Monday's movement south of the imperial hunting park was to punish the Chinese for firing on a German patrol. General von Hoepfner's force, which included a battery, burned several villages where arms were found. The German commander then proceeded to Nan-hung-nen and dispersed a body of Boxers outside the town. Half were armed with rifles and the others with pikes and swords. Some of them advanced to within 20 yards of the German rifles, performing Boxer exercises, and were mowed down. The Americans, with the assistance of missionaries, are trying a system of pacification throughout numerous villages in the vicinity of Tung-chau.

Had Orders to Shoot Foreigners.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Official advices from Peking, dated Sept. 23, assert that a further examination of the Chinese noncommissioned officer accused of the murder of Baron von Ketteler resulted in this statement: "On June 21 I and my people received orders from a prince to shoot foreigners wherever we came across them." The accused, it appears, denied that the order was to shoot a minister of the German minister, and he declared himself unable to say which prince gave the order.

Rumored Capture of Allies.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—There is no fresh news from China today except a Shanghai rumor that the allies have captured Shan-hai-kwan and a report from Canton that mission property has been destroyed at Kung-mun, on the West river

New Steamship Line Opened.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—The Allegheny of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company, the first steamship to sail from this port in regular ocean traffic with the south, steamed down the Delaware river yesterday with a full cargo for Savannah. Mayor Ashbridge and representatives of business organizations were guests at a dinner given on board the new ship to celebrate the event. For the present there will be two sailings each way a week, and the outlook for the success of the enterprise is said to be promising.

Thieves In the Vatican.

Rome, Oct. 3.—While services were being held in St. Peter's and most of the attendants upon the pope as well as the Vatican guards were in attendance thieves managed to gain an entrance to the Vatican. They eluded the guards and succeeded in reaching the papal strong box, which they quickly looted They made their escape in safety, and there is no clew to their identity. Their booty, it is said, amounted to several hundred thousand francs.

Another Boer Success.

DURBAN, Oct. 3.—In consequence of the Boers capturing a convoy of Natal volunteers between De Jager's drift and Blood river, burning several wagons and capturing the escort, the intended homegoing of the Natal volunteers has been indefinitely postponed. This has caused a painful impression throughout the colony.

New Quebec Bridge Begun.

QUEBEC, Oct. 3.—In the presence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and 5,000 invited guests the cornerstone was laid yesterday of the new Quebec bridge over the St. Lawrence. This bridge will have one span that will be the biggest in the world. It will cost $5,000,000 and is to be finished in 1904.

All Favored a Shorter Creed.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 3.—At a special meeting of the St. Lawrence presbytery held at Philadelphia, N. Y., the 40 pastors and laymen present voted unanimously in favor of a new and shorter creed in place of the Westminster creed.

Anarchist Suspects Arrested.

ROME, Oct. 3.—A dispatch from Milan announces the arrest of five suspected anarchists from the United States. One was found in possession of a revolver and a poniard. They were supplied with American and English money.

Legislative Prospects.

There is no doubt about the next State Senate being safely Republican in majority. There are thirteen hold-over Senators this year, only one of whom is a Democrat. As eleven is a majority this gives the Republicans one vote to spare even if the eight Senators to be elected this fall were all Democrats.

This year is the regular year for electing six Senators, but owing to the resignation of Senators Johnson and McDermott—the former to accept the office of First Assistant Postmaster-General and the latter to run for Congress—it makes eight vacancies. Three of the counties in which Senators are elected are considered safely Republican—Bergen, Burlington and Cape May. The counties of Hudson, Hunterdon, Middlesex, Sussex and Passaic are now represented by Democrats. The first four the Democrats are counting on as sure to return Democratic members, but in Passaic the Republicans believe that they have a good show for election. Thus it would appear that the Republicans are reasonably certain of at least fifteen out of the twenty-one members of the next Senate.

The House of the Assembly consists of sixty members. Last year there were forty-three Republicans and sixteen Democrats, one member having died and his place not having been filled. The Republicans say that they will carry every Assembly district that they did last year, and that there is no show, therefore, for the Democrats to get control of the next Legislature, which will have the important duty of electing a United States Senator to succeed William J. Sewell. General Sewell will unquestionably be returned to Washington for another six years if Republican expectations can be realized.

The only way it seems possible for the Democrats to gain control of the State Legislature is to carry Essex county, but this year it is not regarded as very likely to happen that way.

The bitter political fight waged for a year between Major Carl Lentz, chairman of the Essex county Republican organization, and a strong element under the leadership of Supreme Court Clerk William Riker culminated Monday night in the nomination of George E. DeCamp, of Livingston, for County Register of Essex. The result was a triumph for Major Lentz and the party machine. The fight against Lentz had for its open purpose his political extermination. The opponents of the machine openly charged Lentz with being a veritable dictator. The candidate of the Riker faction was John P. Dexheimer, of Orange. He now holds the office of Register by appointment by the Governor upon the accession of former Register Alfred F. Skinner to the bench of the Common Pleas Court. Dexheimer's appointment was made in defiance of the wishes of Lentz.

It is to be regretted that the city finds itself handicapped in the matter of disposing of dead leaves by the lack of money. Already the bonfire season is at hand, and with the smoke, smut and stench that comes with the practice of burning leaves life is made miserable a good part of the time till the leaves have all been disposed of this unpopular and unhealthy method.

The Passaic County Democrats have nominated the following ticket: Senator, Frank VanCleve; Sheriff, Francis J. Marley; Surrogate, Peter H. Hopper; Assembly, Isadore Kienert, Leter Inglis, John M. Gardner and Michael J. Murphy. The Democrats were dismayed because Senator Braun refused to stand for re election.

Robert Davis, the Hudson county Democratic leader, who makes it a rule of his life to do but little talking for publication, yesterday predicted that Hudson county would roll up a majority of 10,000 for the Democratic ticket all around on next election day.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A dimpled chin or cheek has sometimes caused trouble and made a married man forget his martial vows. An unmarried man with a dimple can run risks with the fair sex and escape notoriety. This is the case with Barney Gilmore, the comedian. He has a dimpled cheek, and no wife to be afflicted with jealousy and to cause trouble for him. Gilmore's dimple aroused a craze among salesladies and shopgirls on Sixth avenue, New York, during the week he was playing there. Frank Du Cain, the agent of "Kidnapped in New York," of which Gilmore is the star and will be seen at Music Hall Tuesday next, is partly responsible for the sighs of these young women. He used to paint the face of Herrmann, the magician, on windows and is a skillful artist in this line. He was just putting the finishing touches on this dimple the other day when some girls out for lunch happened to pass. They stopped and watched him. "Oh, Della," said one, "Just look at that beautiful dimple. I'd just like to have one like it." "Too delicious for anything," replied Della, "I'd give my week's salary to see the original." Then the girls all sighed, giggled as Du Cain smiled at them and marched away.

A writer in "Success" says that those who use slang habitually, and can hardly speak without saying a thing is "astonishing," "awful," "charming," "delicious," "dreadful," "elegant," "gorgeous," "grand," "hateful," "horrible," "immense," "magnificent," "nice," "shocking" "splendid," superb" or "wonderful," should now desist for very shame at their comparative inefficiency for harm to our noble tongue, so long as the Boers flourish. Their reckless and prodigal use of words does not show that they have "a great command of language," but rather, as Mathews says, that language has a great command of them. "They have the same command of language," says Whately, "that a man has of a horse that runs away with him." A habit of using slang, or misusing words of any kind, is not a thing to be put off like a garment. Whoever expects ever to have a good literary or conversational style, must cultivate it assiduously. Let him conquer his fondness for slang before it fetters him. Let him seek a higher plane of thought and expression. Let him take his stand on some "kopje," to quote the words of a Yankee editor, else, like Cronje, he may find that he is in a "trapje" from which it will be hard for him to get "outje"

Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—My mamma has been a great coffee drinker and has found it very injurious. Having used several packages of your GRAIN-O, the drink that takes the place of coffee, she finds it much better for herself and for us children to drink. She has given up coffee drinking entirely. We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

Yours respectfully, FANNIE WILLIAMS.

-- OPENING DAYS --

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 2, 3, 4.

A rare exhibition of Pattern Hats and Novelties. The latest novelties in Turbans, in Crushed Velvet effects. GASSNER.

At the same time we shall display our new Waists of Silk, Satin, French Flannel, Domestic Flannel, Brilliantines and Mercerized Fabrics, and a rare display it will be. Waists were never more in demand, never so stylishly made, never better fitting and never so inexpensive. The same might be truly said of our new Jackets and Capes. Refined in general effect, stylish, correct, good, exclusive, moderate priced. The most desirable garments we buy but one of, and there will be no duplicates.

Rainy-Day Skirts Commendable from every point of view. Becoming, natty, sensible garments for the fall season. Good material, neatly stitched, plenty of pockets and made in the most approved manner. Prices 3.98 to 7.48.

Satine and mercerized moreen underskirts, in infinite variety, 98c to 5.98.

Dress Goods We can't tell you all about them. We have them in stupendous assortment, nothing like the variety ever placed on sale before in this city. They are new. They are not only elegant but serviceable. Cheviots, homespuns, venetians, broadcloth, serges, vicunas, etc., etc. Double-face cloths in special styles and at special prices. Splendid all-wool plaid backs, at 1.25. Better grades up to 4.00.

The very latest double-faced cloths are plain on both sides in contrasting colors, such as black and lavender, black and gray, brown and castor, navy and red, etc. They are not cheap, but extremely rich.

These are just a few hints of the many, many good things for fall wear. The pen of the most ready writer would fail to do them justice in the limited space of these columns. Our store grows in importance daily. It is rapidly filling a long felt want. It is saving the good people of this and neighboring communities much time, thought and money. Visit us as often as you may, a warm welcome awaits you.

LAMPS
A BROAD AND INTERESTING DISPLAY.

The final touch of beauty to the hall or parlor, as the rose or carnation to the costume, is the lamp. The picturesque effect of its form and decoration gives a finish to the entire furnishing, and the soft, rich glow of the blended light gives a mellow refinement that brings the entire room into eye-pleasing harmony. The place of the lamp in the furnishing scheme is most important. Like the rose on the bodice, the eye catches it first, its tone measures the effect of the entire room. Our constant effort is to gather here a broad variety of lamps, the new colorings, are a feature of the lamps this season. Some are richly painted on warm colored backgrounds, but the variety is too great to describe in detail, so come and judge for yourself. Suggestion of price ranges 75c up to 10.00.

JARDINIERS.

A most comprehensive exhibit. Everything bright and new. The colorings are very rich, mahogany, apple green, oxblood, others beautifully tinted and others very prettily blended. Enough colors and shapes to suit anyone's taste. Sizes run from 5½ inches up to 12 inches. Prices from 18c up to 2.98. Some very pretty styles with pedestals, entirely new shapes, at 69c, 98c, 1.25.

Tabourettes After you have selected a jardinier you'll need a stand for it. Well here's a lot specially priced for this week, 49c, the tops are 14x14 inches, some are round and others octagon shape, in solid oak, golden finish and mahogany. Other stands at 79c, 98c and up to 2.98.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, October 3.—Owing to the driver's being unacquainted with the road a tank wagon belonging to the Standard Oil Company from Plainfield sank to the hubs in a soft spot near the trolley terminus yesterday. The tank was loaded to its full capacity and the driver was unable to extricate it. It was finally dug out after it had remained in the mud for three hours.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening. Contrary to expectation no settlement of the slight differences between T. C. Bodine and the Board was made. A new set of rules for the discipline of the school was adopted, and will take effect at once. The scholars noon hour was shortened fifteen minutes.

The most important business transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the borough council Monday evening was the appointment of O. A. Douglas as borough clerk, in the place of Thomas P. Cady whose resignation was received at the same meeting. Mr. Cady's action was necessary on account of his removal from the borough.

Contractor Farrier has completed the work of building the wall along Main street and is now laying the top flagging and covering it over. As the work progresses the improvement becomes more noticeable and is one which should have been done long ago. It will be entirely completed in about one week.

The cars of the Somerset and Middlesex Traction Company were crowded all day yesterday with people bound for the parade at New Brunswick. Quite a number went from the borough.

What promises to be an exciting game of football will take place next Saturday when the local team will meet an eleven from Elizabeth on the Lincoln avenue grounds.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Oct. 3—The recent death of Jacob Long and the illness of his hired help, both of which was said to be caused by the impure water upon the farm of Long, was brought before the attention of the Board of Health at their meeting in the town rooms on Monday evening. Dr. Westcott, president of the Board, and who attended Mr. Long during his fatal illness, and the illness of the young woman and man employed by him, secured a sample of the water from the well and the Board decided to have it anaylized before taking any action.

Funeral services of the late Wm. McDonough were held from his late residence this morning at 8:30 and from St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, at 9:30. The house was filled with the many friends who had gathered to respect the one gone whom they had known and respected for many years. Father Miller had charge of the service at the house and later at the church. Many of the friends followed the sad cortage to the latter service and the interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

The license applications of John Anderson and Lynus Walpole came up at Elizabeth yesterday before Judge Vail. Both applications were laid over by the Court until Saturday. Anderson, if granted his application, will reopen the W. S. Emery hotel, which the Court refused a license for last spring. The Citizens' League will no doubt be on hand Saturday to bitterly oppose the granting of either application.

Col. Stegman, who has been a resident of the village for nearly two years, has gained quite a reputation as a Republican campaign speaker. Mr. Stegman is in demand by the National Committee for several evenings a week but the local club, of which he is a member, will make an effort to have him speak to his own townsmen upon the great issues of the day before the campaign closes.

Berlin. Die Stadtverordneten bewilligten dem Komite für das Haydn-, Mozart- und Beethoven-Denkmal den ganzen noch fehlenden Betrag von 12,000 Mark.—Auf dem Dache der chinesischen Gesandtschaft wehte neulich stolz die Drachenflagge. Anlaß dazu gab das Drachenfest. In früheren Jahren pflegte die Berliner chinesische Kolonie das Fest nach chinesischer Sitte im Freien zu feiern. Zu diesem Zweck begaben sich die Zopfträger nach Treptow und ließen hier auf den Wiesen bunte Papierdrachen steigen; in diesem Jahre wurde davon Abstand genommen, das Fest öffentlich zu begehen.—Einbrecher drangen in der Thiergartenstraße in das Haus des Rentiers Dr. Wrede, erbrachen den Geldschrank und raubten aus diesem 1,000,000 Mark in Baargeld und Werthpapieren.—Der am 11. Juli nach Unterschlagung von etwa 10,000 Mark aus Berlin geflüchtete Kassenbote Albert Struck wurde kürzlich in der Nähe von Innsbruck verhaftet. Er hatte noch 4500 Mark bei sich.

Köpenick. Beim Edelweißpflücken auf dem Berge Höfats im bayerischen Allgäu ist der Zimmergeselle Wossak aus Köpenick abgestürzt und todt liegen geblieben.

Rüdersdorf. Der Bergbau Rüdersdorf, welcher in östlichster Richtung auf den alten Berliner Magistratsbruch beschränkt war, wird jetzt noch mehr östlich auf bisher ganz jungfräuliches Terrain ausgedehnt. Die vorhergegangenen Bohrungen haben das erfreuliche Resultat ergeben, daß hier noch unermeßliche Muschelkalklager vorhanden sind.

Dear girls and ladies, "settling down" is a pernicious phrase and ought to be excluded from a woman's vocabulary. There is in France, Germany, Switzerland, Holland and in most countries of Europe a distinct type of female who exists today as the result of the settling down of her sex a thousand years ago. This is the peasant type. It is so pronounced that even girls of 16 born under its bane have that settled down, heavy look around the hips and the springless, humpity clump movement of the head and shoulders which we sometimes observe in American women 50 and 60 years old. Centuries ago the ancestors in the female line of these girls sank with oxlike resignation into the mental plane of burden bearers and field laborers. Their descendants bear the stamp of it today in the clumpy form and movement and the slow, heavy brain. All over Europe, except in Great Britain, this peasant type of woman is so distinct from that of her sister in the upper classes that they seem actually to belong to two different races—one short and broad, the other slender and more or less tall.

In our country the "settling down" of a woman's body as she approaches middle age is the result of the slumping down of her mind. In this republic, heaven be praised, we have no peasant type, and we never shall have if our women keep themselves braced up and bright all their lives. A woman's pleasure in life is not ended when she is married and the mother of children. It should really begin then. A course of physical exercises will keep a human body as active at 60 as it was at 16 and as capable of endurance, and these physical exercises will not cost a cent of money, only a determined will and a few minutes of time every day. It has been said so often that it is like repeating the multiplication table to write it again; but, just the same, physical exercise, pure air, proper diet and a determined cheerfulness will keep the body healthy and limber down to old age.

It is not necessary to grow helpless and lumpy because of mere flesh. One of the most active women I ever met is a lady of middle age weighing 200 pounds. She is well nigh as strong as her husband or grown son and has superb health.

When you know precisely the right thing to do in every case for yourself, then, and not till then, are you qualified to give advice to other people.

The willowy, twisted style of skirt and arms in a fashion plate were originated by a young woman, Miss Abby Underwood of the New York Sun. She writes her own fashion articles and illustrates them herself. Her drawings made a fine hit and revolutionized fashion cuts. Her work is so well appreciated that Miss Underwood receives $125 a week from The Sun for it.

One of the pleasantest sights in Washington for some time past has been in the department where young women operate the counting machines for summing up the census. There have been 1,200 of them employed. They were excellent types of the comely, intelligent American girl, and they looked uncommonly pretty in the light colored muslin gowns that the temperature made necessary. Those who had had piano practice worked the machines the most rapidly.

At the last meeting of the English Church union Canon Gore spoke out in favor of the participation of women in the parish meetings of the church of England. In a voice which showed he was not afraid of anybody he said: "In past centuries the parish meeting was active and powerful, and women took part in it as well as men. Why not revive that form? Women are the heart and backbone of religion. The rights of the laity must include the rights of laywomen."

Should a woman marry a man younger than herself? She should do exactly as she pleases about it.

I know several women whose lives have been one long fight against Mrs. Grundy, and Grundy has not conquered yet.

The Jersey City Woman's club is to be commended to women's organizations the country over because of its town improvement department. Up to this time nobody has thought of Jersey City as a handsome town. To the average mind of the United States it has been merely a station where you got off the railway train and upon the ferryboat, a place to hustle out of as quickly as possible. The coming year, however, the Jersey club ladies will deal with these problems among others, "How to Make a City Beautiful," "Sanitary Condition of Tenements," "System of Street Cleaning," "Better Trolley Service and Protection to Passengers." If the women's clubs the country over took actively in hand such matters, we should soon have every town in the Union bright and handsome as a new dollar and healthy as a mountain home. Subjects like these come especially within the province of women, all women, suffragist and anti alike, if unfortunately there are any antis left.

A well-known notary public of Philadelphia says of Ripans Tabules: "I have been using them for about two months at a rate of two per day and find them so very effective that I should not dream of being without them even for a day. Had been troubled with indigestion for over four years to such an extent that I was compelled to eat very sparingly at all times. I now partake of all kinds of food indiscriminately and immediately thereafter swallow a Tabule. Have given a number of Tabules to friends troubled as I was and have heard nothing but praise for them in consequence. Will say, finally, that I have an aunt who has been a dyspeptic for fifteen years. Of late she had been unable to eat even the smallest kind of a meal with any degree of comfort. She had tried numberless remedies (some of which I had procured for her) without obtaining relief. Sleepless nights and miserable days were all she had to look forward to. Ripans Tabules made a new woman of her (not a bloomer girl or woman's rights advocate, but in a physical sense). She never tires of thanking Dr. Sam (as she now dubs me) for her present relief from distress and her ability to sleep."

Story of the National Debt

Uncle Sam Tells of the Trials and Pleasures of Financiering a Nation for a Century

"B' GOSH, that's a pretty big load to start on a new century with," commented Uncle Sam, as he looked at the bag of debt, $83,038,050, he had to carry. "'Tain't every young feller as has to shoulder sich a load as that is. Tain't many years since old John Bull hisself wouldn't a liked th' looks o' that load, though I guess his is heftier'n mine is jist now. 'Tween Gen. Washington and Napoleon he's got about all he wants to handle, an' Napoleon's still a pilin' it up fer him. A leetle hard work, with Mother Columbia to keep down the household expenses, an' no more pesky wars a comin' along, an' I'll git through with it some time, I reckon."

Ten years later Uncle Sam stopped in his onward march to review the situation.

"This here load o' debt's a gittin' smaller all right. Chopped most $30,000,000 off the thing in ten years, an' still a choppin'. Feel a right smart chirper 'an I did ten years ago."

But there was trouble ahead for the struggling household, and two years later John Bull forced a war upon the country. It was not until the war was over and the English whipped that Uncle Sam had another opportunity to view the load of debt that the war had left, $127,334,933.

"Dad blast the English!" exclaimed Uncle Sam, as he looked at the great bag of debt and the smoldering ruins of his capital. "Dad blast 'em! I say. Me an' Columbia was a gittin' along real nice, and old John Bull wasn't satisfied to let us alone. Tried takin' my sailors, an' stoppin' my ships on the seas. Guess a few such lessons as Perry and Jackson gave 'em will teach 'em a lesson. Had to burn up my buildings and make it cost me a lot o' money fer ships. Don't know as I'll ever git this debt paid now."

But Uncle Samuel was willing to try, and he went to work with a will. Nine years later he was surprised to find how rapidly it had decreased.

"Well, now, she's a comin' down," he said. "Only $83,788,432 already. Jist where I started at 25 year ago, an' I had the fun o' lickin' them English, too."

Gradually the load slipped away at the rate of nearly $10,000,000 a year, and one day in 1835 Uncle Sam awoke to the fact that it was practically all paid.

"B' gosh, an' who'd a thought it," said he. "Down to $37,733. Ain't worth carryin' on my back now, an' old John Bull's pilin' his up 'stead o' payin' it off. Beats all how Columbia can manage when she's a mind to. Never could a done it if Columbia hadn't a been sich a helpful creature."

But Uncle Sam's hilarious mood did not last long. He took a glance over his shoulder four years later and was surprised to find a tidy little sum of debt fastened to his back.

"Now, I do wonder how that come there?" he remarked. "'Pears to me that Columbia's been a gittin' wasteful ideas. Must a been spendin' money on fol de rols an' sich. 'Tain't a very big load, an' I guess I'd better git to work and pay it off 'fore it grows any."

He did, and by the end of another year the $10,434,221 of 1830 had been reduced to $3,573,343.

"That's more like it now," said he. "Pretty hard work for a little while, but it didn't last long."

Nine years later that little load had grown to $63,061,858, but your Uncle Samuel did not care in the least.

"Ha! ha! ha!" he laughed. "Wasn't it funny the way them Mexicans did run. Guess old Gen. Scott surprised 'em a leetle when he walked right into their home town. Nice little load o' debt I got now, but I got Texas 'long with it, an' that more'n makes up."

By the end of another eight years the load had been reduced to $28,699,831, and Uncle Sam was feeling quite easy over it.

"Beats all how Columbia can save when she's a mind to," he said. "Got more'n half o' that last big load off a'ready."

Not until 1866 did Uncle Sam have time to again take account of his indebtedness. It was with a heavy heart that he footed up the great total of $2,773,236,173.

"Too bad! Too bad!" he said. "I'm gittin' 'long in years now, an' this great pack to carry. 'Tain't possible that I'll ever git through with it. Everything gone to wreck and ruin. Nothin' left but a united family, an' all because of a quarrel 'mong my boys. Can't never pay it off, I know, but the honest way's to try, an' then they can't nobody say as Uncle Sam didn't make an honest effort."

For 24 years the old man worked and saved without again taking account of his load of debt, and when he did so in 1890 he was surprised at the way it had been reduced—more than a billion dollars of it paid.

"Who'd a thought it possible?" he asked. "Nothin' but a harmonious, hard-workin' family could a done that."

Eight years later came another war and when it was over Uncle Sam footed up his indebtedness.

"Don't care much about the debt now," he said. "A great big happy family will take care o' that, an' jist think o' the fun o' seein' them Spaniards run. Better'n the fun I had with the Mexicans back in the '40s. This financeerin' of a big family like mine through a century has its pleasures as well as difficulties."

BERNHARD BRISTOL.

FATE OF A CROAKER.

The Gray Goose Gander Tells a Tale of the Farm Pond with an Impressive Moral.

Three or four years ago, when our pond was quite full of water, and the ducks and geese were taking lots of comfort, there came to us from some other pond a strange bullfrog. He was a whopping big fellow, who made all our frogs hustle around, and he had a voice on him which could be heard a full mile on a quiet night. There was room enough for the stranger, and we made him welcome, but on the very first night of his stay he kept us all awake and made no end of trouble. Almost as soon as it was dark he took his seat on a log in the middle of the pond and cried out:

"How! how! how! oh-h-h-h! how! how! how!"

The noise woke up every fowl on the place, including the peacock, who was almost deaf with old age, but the frog had no care for our rights. He had slept all day, and now wanted to croak all night. As he was a stranger, nothing was said to him that night, but next day, as he came out of the water to get his sun bath I swam out to the log and said to him:

"Last night you kept us all awake with your croaking, and I want to know if you are going to do the same thing to-night?"

"I am going to do as I please about it," he replied, as he swelled up and tried to look as big as a barrel.

"But we must have our sleep," I said. "We shall not find fault if you croak softly now and then, but to bellow as loud and as long as you do is more than we can put up with."

"I'd like to see you help yourselves!" he shouted in anger. "My voice is my own, and I shall use it all I want to! If you don't like things you'd better go away."

"But this is our pond."

"Oh, it is! Well, I'll show you that a bullfrog can take up his quarters in any pond he wishes to. Grandaddy Gander, you go back and tell the fowls that I shall croak all night for the next ten nights to come."

"If you do, you'll get into trouble," I said.

"Bring on your trouble!" he sneered, as he kicked his hind legs at me.

The ducks and geese were for driving him away at once, and the hens said it was a shame for a frog to come to a strange pond and be so impudent, but I said to them:

"We will do nothing yet. We will wait three or four nights more, and then if he is not more reasonable we will give him a surprise party."

It was the same on the second night as on the first. He kept calling out "How! How!" as loud as he could bellow, and now and then we heard him chuckling to think he was keeping us awake. It was the same on the third night. That is, the frog started in soon after dark to make the night hideous again, and some of the ducks and geese were for driving him out at once, when I saw one of the farmer's sons come skulking down to the pond. He stood for a minute until he made out the frog on the log, and then he drew back his arm and hurled a stone. His aim was true, and the frog fell into the water as dead as a nail. Then the boy turned to go back to the house, and we heard him say:

"Oh, ho, old frog! You wanted to know 'How! How!' it was, and I've shown you! You kept me awake two nights, but I guess you won't do any more croaking this summer!" — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Cow Blew Her Horns.

A little four-year-old was taken on a visit to grandmamma in the country. There, for the first time, he had a near view of a cow. He would stand and look on while the man milked, and ask all manner of questions. In this way he learned that the long, crooked branches on the cow's head were called horns. Now the little fellow knew of only one kind of horn, so hearing a strange bellowing noise in the yard, he ran out to ascertain its cause. In a few minutes he returned exclaiming: "Mamma, mamma! Oh, do come out here! The cow's blowing her horns!"

The Professor Got Even.

In college there is a constant combat of wits between the tutor and his pupils. The students who attended the lectures on biology planned a little joke on their professor. They removed a stuffed baboon from the natural history museum, dressed it up in a student's gown and set it in the professor's chair upon the lecture platform. When he entered the room they greeted his evident surprise with a suppressed giggle of merriment. "Well, gentlemen," said the professor, blandly, "I'm glad to see that you have found at last a professor who is suited to your capacities."

RIBS HELD BY RIVETS.

Unusual Operation Recently Performed at the Paterson (N. J.) General Hospital.

If John Christian survives the operation performed on him at the general hospital, Paterson, N. J., he will go through the remaining years of his life with three ribs patched up with metal. Christian is a watchman at Gautschy's dye works in Paterson. He was set upon one night about three weeks ago and brutally beaten. The robbers were trying to make their way into the factory, but Christian, who is more than 50 years old, stubbornly resisted them and suffered severely in consequence, says the New York World.

When he was taken to the general hospital it was found that three ribs

SURGICAL TRIUMPH.
(Diagram Showing How Christian's Ribs Were Patched.)

had been broken in two places, causing them to sink inward until the pressure on his heart was dangerous. More than this, the doctors found that the broken ribs had penetrated the lung.

When Christian grew weaker and weaker each day the physicians decided that they must perform an operation. The broken ribs must be raised so that they would join with the fragments which still retained their position in the diaphragm. This is always considered a delicate operation, and when the patient is in a weakened condition and it becomes necessary to actually rivet the broken bones with metal, the operation is considered a very precarious one. It was necessary to put a metal band around each rib and weld these metal bands together with an artificial metallic rib.

"While this operation is a very delicate one and of unusual interest," said one of the surgeons at the hospital to a reporter, "it is not new in surgery. There are many persons walking around to-day who have metal patchwork holding their bones together.

"Whether the patient will live or not does not depend upon the operation, but upon his ability to rally from the weakened state brought on by pneumonia. He is now in a dangerous condition, but if he lives 48 hours he will doubtless recover and go through life with the metallic gearing on his ribs."

CANINE DENTISTRY.

English Bulldog, Owned by a Chicago Man, to Be Supplied with Artificial Molars.

"Handsome," the English bulldog owned by Harry D. Piatt, 4423 Prairie avenue, Chicago, holds the record for having more gold in its mouth than any other dog in existence. In a few days Dr. C. F. P. O'Connor will commence some bridge work, which is expected to put the dog's teeth in good condition, at a cost of $25 to the owner.

A few days ago Dr. O'Connor put some gold crowns on the sharp teeth of the unprepossessing animal. The dog climbed into the dentist's chair without realizing what was about to take place. Its owner held its jaws while the dentist worked, and soon the dog had three as pretty crowns as even a high-bred bulldog could ask for. Thursday, when Mr. Piatt went driving, Handsome sat in the back part of the vehicle. The dog put its nose too close to the spokes and a yelp of pain followed. An examination showed that it had lost three teeth in the contact. Mr. Piatt took the animal over to Dr. O'Connor for repairs. The dentist decided that some new tools would be necessary for the work and these have been ordered.

"HANDSOME" AT EASE.
(Chicago Dog with Gold-Capped Teeth in His Mouth.)

Handsome is a short, homely-looking bulldog, 18 months of age. Its present master paid $50 for it, but would not part with the animal for several times that sum.

New Calling for Women.

A curious profession for a woman is that of dinner taster. She is the product of Parisian refinement, and spends a portion of each day visiting houses and tasting dishes intended for dinner. She suggests improvements, and shows the cook new ways of preparing dishes. The duties are pleasant and the compensation ample.

Signs of DEGENERATION in the CITY of CHICAGO

Are we to have a second Dearborn massacre, or a second Custer killing, or a second Fort Mimms horror? According to Prof. Starr, of the Chicago university such things are to again become possible, for the worthy professor would have us all turn into Indians once more.

According to Prof. Starr's Idea.

Chicago is a bad place to preach such a theory; the people of Chicago are not enthusiastic over the development of the red men, and when some reformer reaches the town to preach his doctrine of Christian charity to the red men of the forest they take him around to a little monument that stands near the Pullman residence on Prairie avenue and read him the inscription thereon. It is not an elaborate inscription, but it relates in its few words a tale that is sufficiently terrible to strain the nerves of the timid even at this late day. It tells of the awful fate of the first white settlers of Chicago; of the men, women and children that went down before the bloody tomahawks of the Indians almost a century ago, and the reformer is sent away a sadder but a wiser man.

Chicago has not a monopoly on these tales of savage cruelty. In fact, she cannot even claim the largest massacre in the history of the nation, but hers was quite large enough and bloody enough to make the Chicago people look with disfavor upon Prof. Starr's scheme of transforming the populace again into red aborigines.

Chicago is not partial to tomahawks, wigwams, war dances on the Indian style and breechclouts, and the city is a poor place to propagate such a theory. It may be that the professor has been studying the complexion of the recently returned summer girl, and has evolved his theory from that.

What Are We Coming To?

But it may be that Prof. Starr's theory is not so improbable after all. There are many things in our present day civilization(?) that cause us to grant at least a portion of the professor's argument.

What Will Another Century Bring?

The Indians that our forefathers knew and fought with were fond of a wild, hilarious dance. A dance in which weird sounds and weird actions were the predominating features. What more apt comparison can be found for our "ragtime" dances and music of the present day than the Indian dances and music of the past? The Indian and his weird dances have passed away, and in their places have come the modern American and his "ragtime," which, after all, is seemingly but an encore for that which is gone.

Then, too, there are the feathers. The pictures of the Indians that our histories have preserved for us show the red nobility of the past bedecked with innumerable feathers. They were his pride and his joy. To-day ask the modern woman of fashion what she prizes most in her wardrobe and she will as a rule point to the feathers that adorn her headgear. It may not be an eagle's feather, but then the eagles have gone with the Indians, but it will be feathers, anything from a goose quill to a bird of paradise, that she will show you. Is that not another symptom of the value of Prof. Starr's theory?

The Indians of the past wore as few clothes as nature and their unwritten laws permitted—that is, if the pictures in our histories are to be believed. Does not the shirt-waist man of to-day point to a tendency to return to the ways of the Indian?

If these things exist to-day, and who will deny their existence, what may not the evolution of another century bring forth?

Eat Raw Food.

Chicago is given to fads. Not that we would class Prof. Starr's theory as a fad, for we could not think of such a thing. That is all perfectly proper, and so far as we know we may be turning to Indians; we simply assert that Chicago is a bad place to mention the fact. There are other people in Chicago, however, less noted, and whose opinions are given less credence, but who are probably no less sincere in their beliefs, whose ideas the world classes as faddish.

Prof. Tyler Should Beware.

As an instance, there is the society whose members are barred from eating cooked foods. They are not permitted to taste of the delicacies that Chicago's famous chefs know so well how to prepare. They must content themselves with a diet of such foods as may be eaten raw, but they assert that that does not mean a vegetable diet. We suppose they mean to take their sirloins and porterhouse steaks like they take their vegetables.

Prof. Tyler, of Indianapolis, is the motive power for this new movement, and in it he claims to have found that for which De Soto searched in vain—the fountain of perpetual youth. The professor claims that cooking is simply a notion, and a bad notion at that; one that has brought to the world quite as many ills as did Eve's temptation of Adam. Without the notion man should live, according to the professor, to a far greater age than is now deemed possible, and he advances some seemingly sound reasons for his statements.

But the professor should beware, or he may have the Amalgamated Association of Servant Girls after him, for has he not unconsciously assisted in the solution of the servant girl problem, even though he may not have found the fountain of perpetual youth.

A Gretna Green Difficulty.

St. Joseph, Mich., is losing its popularity as a Gretna Green for the lovesick youths and maidens of Chicago, and all because some evilly-disposed persons who are more desirous of a share in this world's goods than careful of the happiness of others have basely imposed upon those seeking for the joys of connubial bliss.

"Going Right Home to Mamma."

After one takes the trouble to cross the lake to get himself tied up to the girl of his choice, and then returns to face an irate parent and the difficulties of providing the wherewithal with which the two are to live, it is discouraging to find that the effort has all been in vain, and that the young lady is as free to "go right home to mamma" as though there had been no ceremony.

That is just the predicament in which a number of newly-married men in Chicago are finding themselves at the present time, or at least are afraid they are in, and they are anxiously awaiting developments at St. Joseph that will either give them a good title to their wives or dash their hopes of matrimonial joys to the ground, and permit them to begin their courting days all over again with some other girl if they feel so inclined.

The trouble is, it is feared, there have been wolves in sheep's clothing in St. Joseph; that unauthorized men have led guileless youths to the slaughter for the two dollars there was in the job, and not because either the law or the church gave them the authority. It is said that house rent has advanced in St. Joseph because of the demand for locations for matrimonial agencies where three-minute ceremonies might be performed at the regular rates. Now it is said that all of these agencies are not "regular," and the chief of police of St. Joseph is investigating some of them in the interests of a few hundred anxious Chicago husbands.

As Seen in a Ticket Office.

Did you ever hang around a railroad ticket office and listen to people who come there engaging sleeping-car berths? I have, and I assure you that it is a good place to study human nature.

Both Wanted a Lower Berth.

There is not one man in a dozen who will not show some sign of what he is made of when he goes to buy a sleeping car berth. It does not matter what kind of a man, or a woman either for that matter, it is; no matter what sort of a reputation he or she may have for graciousness and Christian charity, they lose it all when they go to buy a sleeping car berth and find that all the lower berths in the center of the car are sold.

I was standing at the counter in one of the Chicago ticket offices the other day when a clerical-looking gentleman and a woman entered. They had both come to secure sleeping car berths on the same train, and both made known their wants at the same time, but to different clerks. Both wanted lower berths, and both were told that there was but one left and that they could have it.

Then of course there was trouble. The laws of propriety would not permit them to occupy the berth together. The lady insisted that she had spoken first, and anyhow the fact of her being a lady should give her the preference. The gentleman insisted that he had secured it first, and that he would willingly surrender it to the lady but for the fact of his great weight making it practically impossible for him to get into an upper berth.

Just as the trouble threatened to result in a hair-pulling match, a clerk from the general office of the road came in with instructions to hold a lower berth for the general passenger agent of the road, and the trouble between the two was settled by neither of them getting the berth.

When they left it was with a threat that they would bring a joint suit for damages against the road.

The Leal's School boys have only recently organized with Donald A. McGee as manager and Robert Tilney as captain. Schoonmaker and Brown, half backs; D. McGee, full back. Vaughn McGee is also a likely candidate and he may be placed at end or behind the line.

POLITICIAN PROSTRATED.

Disappointed, Cranberry's Republican Leader is Stricken With Brain Fever.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Oct. 2—R. L. McDowell, the Republican leader in Cranbury Township, fell unconscious as a result of excitement at the primaries at Cranbury, which elected delegates to the county convention.

There has been intense rivalry throughout the county for delegates to name the candidate for Senator at the convention to take place here Thursday. The fight is unprecedented for bitterness, the chief contestants being Theodore Strong, Edward Hicks and Charles Edgar.

McDowell's failure to get his delegates selected Monday night caused his utter collapse. He has been working hard and the strain brought on a severe attack of brain fever, from which he is still suffering.

In the selection of delegates Monday night, it is believed that the rival candidates for the nomination came out about even. Second primaries will be held tonight in many places.

FOR ENDEAVORERS.

Interesting Side of the Work Being Carried on by Young Christians.

(Conducted by Press Department Union County C. E. Union.)

October seems to be as popular a month for State Christian Endeavor gatherings as for weddings. No less than twelve large States are to have their annual conventions next month. For each a fine programme has been prepared and at each there will be a large number of delegates.

Of the western States, Colorado, perhaps, will have the largest convention, as besides the thousands from within its borders delegates from the entire Rocky Mountain region will go to Denver. Two hundred newspapers are publishing weekly bulletins concerning the event. A colored quartette will sing at the sessions and upon the streets, and there will be fine speakers.

New York's convention at Binghamton, will also be a notable gathering. H. A. Kinports, the State secretary, is working diligently for its success.

New Jersey's young people, however, need entertain no envious feelings. The programme promised for Jersey City, October 10th and 12th, is one which could scarcely be excelled, and thousands of Endeavors should avail themselves of the rare privileges which the sessions will afford.

Rev. Leonard P. Davidson, recently appointed superintendent of Christian Endeavor work in the Philippines, reports the formation of new societies and other aggressive work. The San Diego County Union (Cal.,) with which Mr. Davidson was actively identified before leaving for Manila, will send to him as a union offering a portable organ, for use in his new field of labor.

The Endeavorers of the Central Christian church, New York, in addition to attending the regular meetings of their chuech, attended and assist in the services at the jail, the infirmary or the Old Ladies' Home, and at the park meetings. They also carry flowers to the hospital and their missionary committee has done effective work.

Much is expected from the appointment of George Kilbon as traveling secretary for the South African Union. Mr. Kilbon, who was born in Natal, is the son of an American missionary and received his education in this country. He has been appointed for a term of two years and was recently installed at a large public meeting in which five denominations were represented on the platform. In speaking of the new secretary, Rev. Andrew Murray said, "We have 5,000 members and we put Mr. Kilbon in charge of these. We have 50,000 more who ought to belong, and we put him in charge of these."

HE JUST PLAYED ON.

A Terre Haute Musician Who Tooted Defiance at the Bolts of Jupiter.

Over in Terre Haute, "on the banks of the Wabash," there is a brass band which has, for a good many years, borne the reputation of being one of the best, if not the best, in the state. Whenever this band appears in the streets of Terre Haute or any other city in Indiana, it is sure to attract a crowd, and the quality of the music it renders makes this fact easily accounted for, says the Indianapolis News. The band has a solo alto player who is a genius in his way. He can play anything that can be blown into or scratched with a bow, and his part in the "music by the band" is always an important one. This artist is a German, more or less phlegmatic in temperament. It has often been said that nothing seemed to rattle him when out with the band, and his stolidity in the face of accidents is a by-word with the other members of the band. Street cars have run into the parade, runaway horses and teams have scattered the other members of the band like chaff before the wind, but the solo alto kept serenely on without even losing step. The other members of the band look on Gus as a kind of uncanny being, absolutely devoid of nerves.

On a recent Sunday the band was engaged to play at the baseball park in Terre Haute, and while waiting for the car that was to take them out, a storm came up. The band went to Seventh and Main streets to "wait till the clouds rolled by," and while waiting they gave the guests of the Terre Haute house, at the corner, a serenade. Several selections were played, but still the rain kept up, or down, and lightning began to blaze. Finally, as the band was getting in its best licks at "On the Banks of the Wabash," the storm reached its climax. The front of the hotel is ornamented with several towers above the fourth story, and just as Gus was beating down strong on the solo part of the air so dear to Terre Haute people, lightning struck one of the towers and ran down the front of the building. The bolt was of sufficient force to create a panic. Chairs were overturned, and their occupants knocked "galley west," tiling from the roof fell in a shower, and the members of the band were hurled into the street or against the wall of the hotel. The man who operates the tuba was thrown into the middle of the street car tracks, and others were lying around in more or less picturesque attitudes for half a block. All except Gus. When the smoke cleared away, there stood the solo alto, playing away as if nothing had happened, and competent witnesses declare that he never missed a note. With his eyes half closed, he was blowing away at "The Banks of the Wabash," and not until he reached the end did he pause. Then he looked around for the rest of the band and asked, in a surprised tone:

"Vot's de matter off you fellers?"

Nobody has told him yet; they say it wouldn't be any use, because Dewey on the bridge at Manila was in a panic compared to Gus.

Value of the Museums.

Education having lain mainly in the school-room and the lecture-room, in the study and the library, the opportunities of museums and exhibition and of travel commonly come too late to be of much real use. Here, as in some other respects, our children are more fortunate, and are having not only a better time at school now, but are obtaining a better preparation also. They are going to the museums, to the city and to the country; they are often learning first to observe keenly, to remember vividly, to interpret shrewdly and to question eagerly, to read hungrily afterward. — International Monthly.

POPULAR ENGINEER WEDDED IN ELIZABETH

One of the Prettiest and Most Elaborate Weddings in the County Seat This Season.

MANY BEAUTIFUL GOWNS.

HARRY C. VAN EMBURGH MARRIED TO MISS LILLIAN KLINE.

Ceremony Took Place in St. James M. E. Church Last Evening—Reception at Bride's Home on Maple Avenue Followed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, October 4.—One of the prettiest and most elaborate weddings of the autumnal season took place last evening in St. James M. E. church on South Broad steeet, when Miss Lillian Annabelle Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Kline, of Maple avenue, was married to Harry Clifford VanEmburgh, the well-known young civil engineer of Plainfield. Long before 8 o'clock, the hour set for the ceremony, every pew except those reserved for the families of the young couple, were filled. The sanctuary was handsomely decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums. In the decorations and the gowns of the young women in the bridal party, the colors, green and white, predominated.

After an organ prelude, four of the bridemaids entered from the front of the church and walked slowly down the aisle to the strains of the Tannhauser wedding march. At the entrance they met the rest of the bridal party and returned again to the chancel, while the familiar Lohengrin march was played. The two little flower girls led the procession, followed by the six ushers, five bridemaids and the maid-of-honor, immediatiately preceding the bride, leaning on the arm of her father.

The groom and his best man with the two officiating clergymen, Rev. Dr. George C. Wilding, pastor of St. James church, where the bride attends, and Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of Plainfield, at which the groom is an attendant, entered from the front of the church and met the rest before the bower of palms and chrysanthemums which nearly hid the pulpit from sight

The bride looked very beautiful in a gown entrain of white ivory satin, trimmed with chiffon and panne velvet. She wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bridemaids were Miss Delia L. VanSickle, of Elizabeth, a niece of the bride, Miss Katheryn Karr, of Elizabeth, Miss Lillian A. Force, of Plainfield, Miss Ella B. Buell, of Bayonne, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Jessimine Mills, of Elizabeth. Their gowns were particularly elaborate, cut low at the neck and with a slight train. Three were gowned in green mouselin de sole, trimmed with lace and satin ribbons. The gowns of the other two were similar, except that they were of white instead of green. All wore lace butterfly ornaments in their hair. Their bouquets were of white chrysanthemums.

The maid of honor was the little five year old niece of the bride, Miss Katherine Benton, of Elizabeth. Her gown was of white organdie and she carried white roses. The two flower girls, Miss Helen Baker and Miss Harriet Benton, both of Elizabeth, were also young neices of the bride. They were gowned in white organdie and carried baskets of white flowers. The best man was John G. MacLoughlin, of Plainfield. The ushers were William E. Kline, of Elizabeth, a brother of the bride, Addison Clark, of Westfield, Harry Maxson, William N. Runyon, William Slape and Harry H. Coward, all of Plainfield. All wore the conventional evening dress. The groom and best man had boutonnieres of bride roses. The ushers each wore a white chrysanthemum on the lapel of his coat.

The Methodist Episcopal service was used, both clergymen taking part, and the groom placed the ring on the bride's finger. Then the organ pealed forth the triumphant Mendelssohn wedding march and the newly wedded couple led the way down the aisle. Before them went the fairy-like flower girls, scattering the fragrant blossoms in their path. The organ was played by Miss Gussie Hooker, of Elizabeth, a former Sunday-school teacher of the bride.

After the ceremony was over a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Maple avenue where assembled the relatives and out-of-town friends of the couple to the number of a hundred and fifty. They included guests from New York,

DR. MERRILL MARRIED.

WAS WEDDED TO ONE OF BROOKLYN'S FAIR DAUGHTERS.

Ceremony Took Place at Bride's Home in Brooklyn Last Night Before Relatives and Friends.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Brooklyn, Oct. 4—One of Brooklyn's fair daughters, Miss Elizabeth Huntington Bridge, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Bridge, of 202 Macon street, was happily wedded last evening to Dr. Howard Valentine Merrill, of Plainfield. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother and was witnessed by a merry throng of relatives and friends who gathered from Brooklyn and many parts of New Jersey and New York.

Dr. E. O. R. Maguire, of Derby, Conn., acted as best man for his old college friend. The bridesmaids were Miss Edith Norton, of Staten Island, and Miss Florence Bridge, of Brooklyn, a sister of the bride. After the ceremony an informal reception was held and all sat down to the wedding supper. Late in the evening the newly married couple departed on their wedding journey after the usual shower of rice and old shoes to mark their departure. On their return they will take up their residence at Meadville, Pa., where Dr. Merrill will practice.

Mr. Merrill has been making his home on Central avenue, Plainfield, for the past year, and has made a very favorable impression on those who have made his acquaintance. His father, whose home is at South Branch, is one of the most prominent physicians of Somerset county, N. J.

A COMPLETE SURPRISE.

Young Man Went Home to Find the House Full of Guests.

A pleasant surprise was tendered George B. Lindabury Tuesday evening, in honor of his sixteenth birthday, at the residence of J. S. Wikoff, 817 Richmond street. Mr. Lindabury was out wheeling and on his return to the house he found more than thirty of his friends, mostly from Plainfield, Brooklyn, High Bridge, Cranford and Dunellen, when they reminded him that another hear had passed.

But the greatest surprise was when he opened the door to find his mother and brother from High Bridge, N. J., to greet him. George being somewhat timid, owing to the presence of so many young ladies, was nervous, but in a short time he became himself and requested all to make themselves at home. A pleasant time was spent with games, music and recitations.

About 11 o'clock Walter E. Reinhart came in with a large wooden box, and with a few remarks presented it to Mr. Lindabury. Then Mr. Lindabury proceeded to relieve the box of its contents, and found many presents, useful as well as ornamental. At midnight refreshments were served.

Merry Strawride Party.

A merry party of twenty young people left the corner of East Third and Church streets at 8 o'clock last evening in a large wagon, bound on a straw ride. The decorations on the wagon and the blowing of horns attracted a great deal of attention as they passed through town. After reaching Metuchen the party turned and proceeded to South Plainfield, where supper was awaiting them at Higgins' Hall. A dance followed, and it was kept up until a late hour this mornning. Those in charge of the affair were Charles Shirley, Charles Mumford and Edward Wrage.

Republican Smoker.

The Third Ward Republican Association will give its smoker this evening at the Casino. A good programme has been secured by the committee. A clever magician and other good entertainers will come out from New York to take part in the entertainment. It will be strictly a ward affair but a few invitations have been sent to prominent Republicans in other wards.

Home Missionary Conference.

The home missionary societies of the Elizabeth district of the M. E. churches will hold a home missionary conference in Vincent chapel Wednesday of next week. The affair will be under the auspices of the Ladies' Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church.

Elected Captain.

A meeting of the football eleven of the Plainfield High School was held yesterday morning and Harold Davis, who has been acting as temporary captain, was elected permanent captain. A captain of the scrub team will be chosen later.

PETER L. UGHETTA WON PRESS MEDAL.

Field Meet to Decide All-Round Championship of Plianfield High School.

IT WAS HELD YESTERDAY.

EVENTS WERE HOTLY CONTESTED BY A FAIR NUMBER OF ENTRIES.

Clever Work on Track and Field—Bicycle Events Went to Pond—The Mason Brothers Won Honors in Many Events.

The athletes of the Plainfield High School furnished some good sport at the Gentlemen's Driving Park track yesterday afternoon in their contest for the all-round championship of the school and The Daily Press medal. The honors of the day went to Peter L. Ughetta, of Roselle, who commutes daily to Plainfield. His superiority in the runs and the long jumps gave him the coveted trophy which marks the best all round work of the school meet. A crowd of nearly 200 people witnessed the games.

It was an open question as to who would win the various events, so no handicaps were allowed. There were fair sized fields in all except the bicycle events, in each of which there were only three starters. Ughetta came to the front in the 100 yard dash and won cleverly against the Mason brothers, who took second and third places.

Denton gave Pond a hard fight for first in putting the shot. Stanley Mosher tried to run away from Pond in the half-mile bicycle, but Pond held the pace and won out in the stretch, while Randolph failed to finish. Ughetta won the running broad jump easily, but the Mason brothers had a lively fight for second place and Townsend only defeated his brother by half an inch.

The three-legged race was won by Ughetta and Bulkley, neither of the other two teams getting their stride. Denton came to the front in the high jump. The 220 yard dash was easily won by Ughetta, with the Masons in the places.

Edward A. Janes did well in the standing broad jump, beating Ughetta out by two inches. Pond was half an inch worse. Janes turned his ankle in the pole vault and had to stop else Denton might have had to work harder for first in that event. Davis made a remarkable showing for one completely new to the event. He was second.

Pond cut out the pace in the two-mile bicycle race and then beat Mosher out on the stretch. The racers were inclined to loaf until the last lap came.

Points were scored in the events as follows: Three for first, two for second and one for third. Points for the all-round championship and The Daily Press medal were as follows: Peter L. Ughetta, 14½; David S. Pond, 10; Townsend Mason, 8½; Arthur Denton, 8; Fred Mason, 6; Edward A. Janes, 5; J. Stanley Mosher, 4; Edson Davis, 4; Shepard Randolph, 3; Kenneth Bulkley, 3.

The summary of the events was as follows:

One hundred yard dash—Won by Peter L. Ughetta; Townsend Mason, second; Fred Mason, third. Time, 10½ sec.

Putting the shot—Won by David S. Pond; Arthur Denton, second; Townsend Mason, third. Distance, 30 feet, 1 inch.

Half mile bicycle race—Won by David S. Pond; J. Stanley Mosher, second; Shepard Randolph, third. Time, 1 min. 16 sec.

Running broad jump—Won by Peter L. Ughetta; Townsen Mason, second; Fred Mason, third. Distance, 18 feet, 4½ inches.

Three-legged race—Won by Peter L. Ughetta and Kenneth Bulkley; Shepard Randolph and Edson Davis, second; Fred Mason and Townsend Mason, third. Time, 15½ sec.

Running high jump—Won by Arthur Denton; Fred Mason, second; Townsend Mason and Peter L. Ughetta tied for third. Height, 4 feet, 8 inches.

Standing broad jump—Won by Edward A. Janes; Peter L. Ughetta, second; David S. Pond, third. Distance, 8 feet, 11½ inches.

Pole vault—Won by Arthur Denton; Edson Davis, second; Edward A. Janes, third. Height, 7 feet, 5 inches.

Two mile bicycle race—Won by Davis S. Pond; J. Stanley Mosher, second; Shepard Randolph, third. Time, 6 minutes, 25 seconds.

CUPID AND HYMEN IN THREE HOMES.

Happy Young Couples Plighted Troth at Pretty Wedding Ceremonies.

GROOMS ALL OF PLAINFIELD.

CITY JUDGE RUNYON TIED ONE OF THE NUPTIAL KNOTS.

Sheppard-Darby Nuptials Celebrated at Alton—Other Two Weddings Took Place in the Borough—Details of Them All.

Surrounded by relatives and intimate friends Miss Loretta Darby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Darby, of Alton, and Edgar Felton Sheppard, of 144 Central avenue, this city, were united in wedlock last evening at 5:30 o'clock. The marriage took place at the home of the bride at Alton, three miles from this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The bride was gowned in white organdie over white silk and carried a bouquet of white bride roses. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Edith M. Darby, as maid-of-honor. The latter wore a gown of white organdie over pink silk and carried pink carnations. The little niece of the bride, Miss Margaret Darby, gowned in white trimmed with blue ribbons, was the flower girl.

The best man was Chauncey F. Colthar, of Plainfield. The ushers were Charles Marvin Dolliver, of Plainfield, and Walter R. Darby, of Westfield, a brother of the bride. A little nephew of the bride, Willard Lambert, of Westfield, accompanied the bridal party as a page and bore the wedding ring on a plate of antique china, which has been in the possession of the family for over a century.

The groom and his best man headed the bridal procession. Then came the ushers, the flower girl and page, the maid of-honor and last the bride leaning on the arm of her father. The Lohengrin wedding march was played by Mrs. Victor Burgesser, a cousin of the bride, on their entrance.

An informal reception followed the ceremony. The best wishes of everyone were given to the young couple and then the bridal party and the guests partook of the wedding supper.

Many gifts were received by the young couple which included those of considerable value and usefulness. The employers of the groom remembered his bride with a substantial gift. The best man and ushers were presented by the groom with handsome scarf pins.

The guests prepared to give the departing couple a rousing sendoff but Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard quietly slipped down and out by the back way and had reached their coach before the guests realized that they had been outwitted. The young people pursued the coach and showered the occupants with rice through the windows but the coach soon left them behind. Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard boarded the 9:41 train at Fanwood for New York. They will take a trip to Niagara Falls and expect to be absent several days.

The groom is a trusted employe in the New York office of the Lawrence Cement Company. He is well-known here and has a large circle of acquaintances with whom he is a general favorite. He is president of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Trinity Reformed church and an energetic worker there.

In very quiet and simple fashion, Miss Louise Helene Loizeaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Loizeaux, of Brook avenue, was wedded to Walter Ernest Lough, of Fairview avenue, recently of Canada, last evening at 6 oclock. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents and was witnessed by the relatives of the couple and their intimate friends.

The ceremony was performed by City Judge Runyon. Miss Loizeaux was accompanied by her sister, Miss Lydie E. Loizeaux, as maid-of-honor. The bride was gowned in white silk mull and carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid of-honor's gown was of white silk. She also carried white roses.

An informal reception followed the ceremony and the guests, who numbered 125, extended their heartiest congratulations to the young couple. The party sat down to the wedding supper and later in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Lough departed amid a shower of rice for a two weeks' trip. They will take up their residence in New York on their return and will remain there for the winter. They will probably return

DAMAGES DEPEND ON PROOF OF NEGLECT

Suit of J. D Spicer Against Boice, Runyon & Co, Now Being Tried.

MANY WITNESSES HEARD.

PLAINTIFF CLAIMS THAT DEFENDANTS WERE NEGLIGENT.

Against That Claim is the One That All Reasonable Precaution Had Been Made for Safety—Trial Will End Today.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, October 4.—The case of Joseph D. Spicer, of Plainfield, against Rachael R. Boice et al., in tort, for $20,000 damages for injuries sustained in the lumber shed of Boice, Runyon & Co. several months ago, was resumed in the Circuit Court this morning.

Yesterday afternoon the plaintiff's side was finished, and the defense commenced its side, which will probably be finished today. The plaintiff's side examined a large number of witnesses, including Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spicer, Drs. Long and Jenkins, D. T. Titsworth, C. P. Ross, Morgan Bird and others from Plainfield. An important witness was C. P. Chew, of Morristown, who was with Messrs. Runyon and Spicer when the stairs fell that resulted in mortal injuries to Mr. Runyon and serious hurts to Mr. Spicer, for which he now asks damages.

The claim of the plaintiff's side is that the stairs were insecurely erected and that the accident was wholly due to the negligence of the defendants in seeing to it that the stairs were not more substantial and safe.

Among the witnesses sworn by the defendant's side yesterday afternoon were Mrs. Boice, against whom the suit is brought with the others in the firm, and her daughter, Miss Boice. Dr. Tomlinson, Harry Barber and Henry Sprague, the two latter employed by the firm, were also called to testify and to try to prove that every reasonable precaution and effort had been made to make the stairs safe.

Judge Childs, of Newark, is representing the defendant in court, and Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, is looking after the interests of Mr. Spicer.

The circumstances of the accident were that Spicer, John D. Runyon, the business manager, and C. P. Chew, an agent, went to the storehouse and started to descend a steep flight of stairs located about midway of the building. Mr. Runyon started down the stairs, closely followed by Mr. Spicer. Chew was about to place his foot on the stairway to follow Runyon and Spicer, when he was startled by hearing a cracking sound as though the stairs were giving away, when instinctively he halted, and the next instant the stairway fell with a crash, throwing Mr. Runyon and the plaintiff to the ground. Both men were rendered unconscious. Mr. Runyon was so badly injured that death resulted a few days later. Mr. Spicer had his left leg and nose broken, sustained a fracture of the skull and other injuries. For several weeks he lay unconscious, hovering between life and death, and as a result of the accident, it is claimed, will never fully recover.

FORMER PROSECUTOR BUDD TO BE NAMED FOR SENATOR.

Burlington County Convention Being Held Today—Borough Primary Tomorrow Night.

Ex-Prosecutor Eckard P. Budd, a member of the State executive committee, believing there is a chance for his party to elect a Senator, has entered the race, and it is confidently believed that he will be nominated by his party at the convention to be held in Mt. Holly today. Senator Packer, of Burlington, was slated for this position before Mr. Budd entered the field. The latter saw his chance because of the dissatisfaction among the Republicans in turning down George Wildes, who was the candidate the people wanted. The combine won and Colonel Nathan Haines was nominated. This was the case three years ago, when Joshua E. Borton was nominated against the wishes of the people and defeated, and Mr. Budd believes that the same conditions will prevail this fall. The Democrats will put a full ticket in the field and will make their fight on the Senatorship.

The Democratic County Committee will hold a meeting in Elizabeth tomorrow night for the purpose of calling the county convention to nominate three members of the Assembly.

The Democratic primary for the election of delegates to the Somerset county Democratic convention, to be held in Somerville Monday, will be held in North Plainfield tomorrow evening in the basement of the public school building on Somerset street.

The Democrats of North Plainfield are arranging to open headquarters in the vacant store in the Eggerding building on Somerset street.

FOR A BRIEFER STATEMENT.

Elizabeth Presbytery Goes on Record on Creed Revision.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Liberty Corner, Oct. 4—The Presbytery of Elizabeth, at its session here yesterday, voted on the question of revision of the creed, and adopted the following by a vote of 22 to 7:

"We desire that there should be prepared and submitted to the Presbyteries a briefer statement of the doctrines most surely believed among us, expressing in simple language the faith of the church, in loyalty to the system of doctrine contained in the Holy Scriptures and held by the reformed churches."

Stopped Just in Time.

Officer Totten distinguished himself last evening by stopping a runaway on North avenue just in time to prevent it from dashing into the scores of carriages coming from the 6:19 train. The rig belonged to a Westfield man and had been left standing near Armstrong's drug store. A train passing over the bridge frightened the horse and it started up the street at a high rate of speed. Officer Totten was on the alert, however, and dashing out caught the runaway near the express office. A few feet further and a crash would have been inevitable as the street was thronged with carriages.

A Barn Dance.

An enjoyable barn dance was given by Albert and Harry Vail, of Duer street, last evening, in honor of Miss Ada Cadmus, of Philadelphia, and Miss Jennie Vail, of Orange, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Vail. There were about forty young people present and dancing was indulged in, music for which was furnished by Prof. Frazee. It kept up until a late hour. Refreshments formed a part of programme being served about midnignt. The hours passed so quickly that it was late before they realized it, and it was with many regrets that they left for home.

Doctors Banqueted.

The quarterly meeting of the Plainfield Medical Association was held at Hotel McVey last evening. The local physicians sat down to dinner in the new private dining room of the hotel and were served with an elaborate repast. Hibbard & Jones, the new proprietors of the place, had prepared a fine menu which was very satisfactory to the members of the association. Covers were laid for twenty. After the dinner, a paper was read by Dr. C. B. Luffburrow on "Shock." Routine business of the association was transacted.

Fatal Paralytic Stroke.

Mrs. Maria Hoeli was taken to the hospital last evening about 9 o'clock suffering from a paralytic stroke. She died about two hours later. She was married and lived with her husband on Warren street. She was sixty years old. The funeral services will be held from DeMott's undertaking establishment tomorrow at 3 p. m.

REPUBLICAN GOSPEL HEARD IN BOROUGH.

Congressman Foster and Senator Pitney Were the Principal Speakers.

McKINLEY POLICY PRAISED.

LARGE AUDIENCE GATHERED IN SAENGERBUND HALL

Foster Pictured Republican Administration in Glowing Colors and Pitney Declared There is No Imperialism.

Music, pyrotechnics, enthusiasm and good speaking, marked the first Republican mass meeting in the National campaign to be held in the borough. It took place in Saengerbund Hall last evening under the auspices of the U. S. Grant Club. The city as well as borough Republicans were there in full force and they all took occasion to cheer for their candidates at every opportunity offered.

Previous to the meeting, the Independent Fife and Drum Corps paraded the streets while rockets and red fire were set off galore.

The meeting itself was opened by the singing of several campaign songs by the audience, with the assistance of a quartette under the direction of Horace Martin. Chairman Charles A. Reed then arose and after a few words in which he referred to a previous meeting held by the Democrats in Washington Hall Monday night and some of the questions that were discussed, he introduced one of the speakers of the evening, Congressman D. J. Foster, of Vermont.

Mr. Foster began by remarking upon the number of the fair sex present and declared that if they were on his side, he knew the husbands, fathers and brothers were, for it is they and not the man who are the first to feel the effects of hard times. When times are poor and the children are crying for food or are asking for a much needed pair of shoes, it is the wives and mothers who suffer most.

He said that prosperity is a good thing, but the problem that confronts the American people is their daily bread, and Bryan, though he rails at the full dinner pail, forgets that the Bible which he quotes from, teaches us to pray for that bread. "We are standing," he said, "at the closing door of a century, replete with many important events and remarkable for its growth and complete unification, especially for the last forty years. But it has been since Cleveland got out that the Republicans have been the ones who made it famous. There is no reason why the present good times should be changed. There is nothing in history to show why the Democrats should be in. For the past forty years they have been wrong on all the great questions that have confronted the American people. In 1864 the Democrats loudly declared the war was a failure but the Republicans believed they were right and held to it. The result was the preservation of the Union. Again during the war money was scarce and paper money was issued by the Repnblicans, with nothing but the Governments promise to pay it. In 1879 they offered to redeem all certificates in gold. The Democrats declared it was wrong, but that same gold standard is kept by the Nation today.

"Again when becoming tired of good times, Harrison was voted out and Cleveland with a Democratic congress was swept in and the Wilson tariff bill was passed." The consequences were more plainly seen by him, Mr. Foster said, than we in this section, for living in New England he saw the hungry workman clamoring for the mills to open that had been closed by the Democrats. McKinley came to the rescue with his tariff law and to prove his words the speakers gave some figures relating to exports under Republican rule. Mr. Foster then pointed out that the paramount issue with the Democrats was not the Philippine question but 16 to 1, although they do not say so.

Regarding imperialism, he said the Philippines were bought by Democrats and Republicans alike and that Bryan was instrumental in their purchase. The Spanish war treaty was ratified by a Democratic majority at Bryan's instigation. In conclusion he stated that there is no imperialism in this great country but the imperialism of a great liberty loving people.

After another song was sung by the audience the second speaker of the evening was introduced. He was Senator Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown, and he was greeted with even louder applause than his predecessor. Mr. Pitney began his speech by stat-

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

A theatrical event of much importance will be the coming next Tuesday night at Music Hall of Barney Gilmore in his production of "Kidnapped in New York." Mr. Gilmore has taken great pains, it is said, in the selection of the actors comprising this company, and the performance will, in every way, be equal to the demands of Howard Hall's splendid story of "How Baby Marion Clark was Kidnapped in Broad Daylight." The play, we are informed, will be presented with a lot fine scenery and accessories necessary for a first-class production.

CHANGED SITE AFTER CENTURY.

Dr. J. Ackerman Coles's Offer for Mountainside School Accepted

A school meeting was held at Mountainside Monday night to decide on a site for the new school-house. The meeting made up in warmth what it lacked in numbers.

For over 100 years a schoolhouse has been located on the present site and W. G. Peckham could see no reason for making a change, so long as the lot was large enough to hold the proposed schoolhouse. W. R. Forster, who is a member of the Board of Education, was in favor of a site offered to the School Board in exchange for the present lot by Dr. J. Ackerman Coles. The lot offered is larger and more valuable.

Both sides had a following, and even though there were women present, much strong language was used before the ballot was taken. When the votes were taken it was found that the party in favor of a change had won the day.

W. G. Peckham, who is classed as a first-class lawyer, threatens to take the matter into the courts.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cox was also taken before the Justice charged with attempting to commit suicide, having shot himself with a revolver, inflicting a slight wound. On this charge he was not held. CHASING THE PIGSKIN.

Results of Opening Games by Prominent College Teams.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—In a hotly contested game Columbia college eleven yesterday defeated Rutgers college eleven at New Brunswick, N. J., by a score of 11 to 0. Sanford, the coach for Columbia assembled his men at the end of the first half and read them a curtain lecture because of their failure to make a larger score over Rutgers.

Rutgers fought hard to keep the score down and succeeded beyond the most sanguine expectations, as last year Columbia won by a score of 28 to 0. The Columbia team was much heavier than Rutgers', and the interference work of the men was fine, but Rutgers repeatedly went through the center for gains.

Yale Defeats Amherst.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 4.—Yale won the game with Amherst yesterday afternoon by the score of 27 to 0 after a trying contest. The Amherst eleven was lighter and not in so good condition to stand the heat as the Yale team. The Yale half backs did not seem to have the speed they have shown in practice and were often caught before they were well started. They dragged the tacklers sometimes by main force for the necessary gain. The feature of the game was the brilliant run by Sharpe of nearly the whole length of the field for a touchdown.

Harvard Wins From Williams.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4.—Harvard defeated Williams by a score of 12 to 0 on Soldiers' field. The playing of the Harvard eleven was discouraging, there being no team play, little life and dash and absolutely no interference. Williams played a faster game and did some very lively rushing, but the superior weight of the Harvard line alone prevented Williams from scoring. The Harvard backs played rather poorly.

Pennsylvania a Winner.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—University of Pennsylvania played great football against Franklin and Marshall, scoring 29 in the first half and 18 in the second. At the same time they kept the Franklin and Marshall boys away from their goal, which was at no time seriously threatened.

Cornell Scrub Defeats Rochester.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Cornell put up its scrub eleven against Rochester university and won the contest by a score of 6 to 0. Neither of the teams made a good showing.

Democratic Clubs Meet.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—The city of Indianapolis last night presented a scene of Democratic festivity. From the various buildings in the business portion American flags and streamers of bunting were flung to the evening breeze, while prominent among the decorations portraits framed in electric bulbs of distinguished leaders of the Democracy were displayed. At 8 o'clock a parade of all the Democratic clubs and delegates marched through the streets, while thousands of people lined the sidewalks. The programme for the opening session of the convention as officially announced was changed just prior to the hour of meeting. President W. R. Hearst was expected to be present to preside, but telegraphed that he was ill and unable to attend. The convention was therefore called to order by Senator James K. Jones, chairman of the national committee.

Mr. Bryan's Campaign.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Oct. 4.—Mr. Bryan yesterday made less than half a dozen speeches and traveled by easy stages from Portage City to this place, speaking only at Portage, Columbus, Watertown, Oconomowoc and Waukesha. He said at night he would give the 8th and 9th of this month to Illinois, the 10th and 11th to Michigan and the 12th, 13th and 15th to Ohio. He will go direct from Cleveland to New York.

Yellow Fever Spreading.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Private letters received from Havana indicate that much apprehension exists among the Americans there regarding the yellow fever, as the condition grows worse instead of improving. Civilian employees in Cuba seem to be subject to the disease, and in several government offices many have been stricken. There is yet no fear of the fever spreading among the troops.

Four Hundred and Fifty Ballots.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—John Starr was nominated for sheriff of Passaic county, N. J., last night by the Republicans at Paterson. The convention had been in a deadlock for days, and it was only when John J. Slater, one of the three candidates, withdrew after the four hundred and forty-ninth ballot that Starr was nominated over John Wright, the remaining candidate.

School Children Smoke Cigarettes.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 4.—An investigation in the public schools shows that 87 per cent of the boys and many of the girls are addicted to cigarette smoking, and the vice extends into the High school. As a result many young women have formed a society, pledging themselves not to speak to or associate with any one who smokes cigarettes.

Amherst Abolishes Cane Rush.

AMHERST, Mass., Oct. 4.—At a meeting of the students of Amherst college, held yesterday, it was voted by 230 to 31 to abolish the annual cane rush between the sophomores and the freshmen. One student is at the hospital as the result of injuries received in the rush this year.

YEAR'S WORK IN CUBA

Governor General Wood Makes Annual Report.

THE ARMY CANTEEN INDORSED.

Garrisons Have Been Steadily Reduced—Many Posts Entirely Abandoned—General Wood Would Have Mounted Troops Only.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The war department has just received from Havana a copy of General Wood's annual report on the work in Cuba. The book contains 800 pages and includes reports on the geographical and physical features of the island, present state of improvement on plantations, census, inland transportation, mineral resources, public lands and forests. It is profusely illustrated and presents the reports of the various staff officers and department commanders. A feature of General Lee's report to General Wood is the result of a practical test of the army canteen, which receives General Lee's indorsement, the test showing a better condition of the health of the troops having the canteen system.

General Wood says in part:

"There has been a steady diminution in the strength of the garrisons of the island since December, 1899. In January the Fifteenth infantry was relieved from duty in the island, and the home battalions of the Tenth and Eighth cavalry were sent to the United States, also the home battalions of the First, Second, Eighth and Tenth infantry and the Second artillery. In the month of July, 1900, the First, Second, Fifth and Eighth infantry were relieved from duty in the island.

"The general reductions in the garrisons resulted in the abandonment of the posts of Baracoa, Gibara, Nuevitas, Caibarien, Cardenas, Sagua la Grande, Placetas, Sancti Spiritus, Trinidad, Pinar del Rio and Guanajay and the abandonment of many temporary stations and in the concentration of the troops of the remaining regiments into comparatively large garrisons. The Seventh cavalry is assembled at Camp Columbia, the Second artillery garrisons the defenses of Havana, and one light battery is at Columbia barracks. The entire Second cavalry has been assembled at Matanzas headquarters, and one battalion of the Tenth infantry at Cienfuegos, the remaining battalions being stationed at Morro castle, Santiago."

General Wood recommends that all troops in Cuba be mounted. He says: "All troops intended for service in Cuba should be mounted. Infantry engaged in active work in Cuba during the hot and rainy season, and even during the winter, will suffer from malaria, heat and exhaustion, whereas mounted troops can perform hard service without bad results.

"The posts in the division are in good condition to shelter troops. After two years' service in the island I think it can be said that our troops can serve here without difficulty. The health of the entire command is excellent. The general conduct of the troops has been most admirable, and it may be said that complaints against the troops from the civil authorities and individuals have been of extremely rare occurrence.

"The general conduct of officers and men has been such that the military occupation has been free from scandal or evil reports reflecting in any way upon the service. Special attention has been given to military instruction, and the fine appearance of our soldiers, their efficiency in drill and high state of their discipline are conclusive proof that officers have given careful and personal attention toward attaining this degree of efficiency."

Russian Operations.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 4.—The Russian general staff has received a dispatch dealing with the operations north of Old Newchwang which says that General Fleischer's division of 6,000 men, with artillery, engaged the Chinese on a vast plain covered with high grass. The Russians lost two officers killed and 18 men wounded. According to the same advices, Colonel Artamanoff, while reconnoitering with two squadrons of cavalry, came into touch with 14,000 disciplined Chinese. These General Fleischer is expected to engage.

Fire at Lake Hopatcong.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Methodist church building, the general merchandise store of J. J. Langdon & Co., the post-office in the latter building and J. A. Burckhardt's cottage nearby, with their contents, all at Lake Hopatcong, N. J., were destroyed by fire yesterday. The total loss is placed at $17,000. Cause thought to be rats eating matches in the Langdon store.

German Emperor Deer Hunting.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Emperor William is now deer stalking at Rominten, his hunting lodge in western Prussia. Recently he invited the village children to an entertainment where coffee and cake were served and poured the coffee himself, chatting and laughing heartily with his young guests.

Wild Man in the Woods.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 4.—George Gann, a demented young man, has been hiding in the woods near Bear Spring, Delaware county, for over a month, and all efforts to capture him are unsuccessful. He occasionally appears in the openings, but when detected quickly disappears.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

Overwhelming Majority For Ministerial Party.

FEW NOTABLE CHANGES RESULT.

Out of 287 Candidates Returned Conservatives Have 212, Liberals 47 and Nationalists 28—Gilbert Parker One of the New Men.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The results of yesterday's polling in the parliamentary general election were less striking than those of Tuesday. The Conservative majorities still show increases in numerous contests, but in a less marked degree. On the other hand the Liberals have gained additional seats.

On the whole the indication this morning is that there will not be much change in the complexion of the new parliament. As matters stand now, out of the 287 candidates returned the relative strength of parties is as follows: Ministerialists, 212; Liberals, including labor members, 47; Nationalists, 28.

Altogether the Liberals have gained ten seats and the Conservatives seven. Only one Conservative seat was gained yesterday, but it was a very important victory. In the Brightside division of Sheffield, an industrial constituency held for ten years by the late Mr. Anthony J. Mundella, who was succeeded by Mr. Fred Maddison in 1897, the Maddison majority of 183 was converted by Mr. J. F. Hope, Ministerialist, into a Conservative majority of 964.

At Derby the Liberals had a striking success, recovering there the two seats wrested in the general election of 1895 from Sir William Vernon-Harcourt and Sir Thomas Roe by Sir Henry Howe Bemrose and Mr. Geoffrey Drage.

T. A. Brassey, Liberal, who was defeated by 84 votes at the last general election, when Mr. Abel H. Smith, Unionist, was elected, has reduced that majority to three in his contest with Major K. R. Balfour, the present Unionist candidate, and the Liberals have demanded a scrutiny of the vote.

The notable triumph of Mr. Burdett-Coutts at Westminster is regarded by the Liberals as almost equivalent to a victory for themselves. Mr. Bell has been very prominent in railway disputes, and Derby is a great railway center.

Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, Conservative, has been re-elected for the Ecclesall division of Sheffield with an increased majority.

Mr. Gilbert Parker, the novelist, has been elected at Gravesend, securing a Unionist majority of 738 over the Liberal candidate, Mr. Hildebrand Harmsworth.

Fusionists Hold a Rally at Lincoln.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 4.—Following the Roosevelt demonstration of Tuesday the fusionists of Nebraska held a counter rally yesterday with Senator Wellington of Maryland and ex-Governor Hogg of Texas as speakers. The crowd in the city was very large. Marching clubs escorted the speakers to the state capitol grounds, where the afternoon meeting was held. Governor Hogg confined his address to an answer of Governor Roosevelt. He accused the vice presidential candidate of flaunting the bloody shirt of 40 years ago and denounced what he called the strictures passed on the national guard as compared with the Rough Riders. Senator Wellington spoke for nearly two hours. He said he was still a Republican and differed with Mr. Bryan on the tariff and money questions, but was supporting him because imperialism was the issue of all others and on that they were agreed.

Bankers Elect Officers.

RICHMOND, Oct. 4.—The American bankers' convention yesterday heard read reports from the various states, every section of the country reporting financial improvement. This was followed by the address of United States Treasurer Roberts on "The Treasury and the Money Market." In the afternoon the association elected the following officers: President, Alvah Trowbridge, president of the North American Trust company of New York, recently vice president of the association; vice president, Myron T. Herrick, president of the Society For Savings of Cleveland, recently chairman of the executive council; treasurer, George M. Reynolds, cashier of the Continental National bank of Chicago, the incumbent; chairman of the executive council, Caldwell Hardy, president of the Norfolk National bank of Norfolk.

Supplies Reach Galveston.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn is in receipt of the following telegram from Walter C. Jones, mayor of Galveston and chairman of the central relief committee: "The supplies on transport McPherson have been received. Galveston and the central relief committee are very grateful to President McKinley and yourself for the great service in placing the McPherson at the disposal of our New York friends for relief of Galveston sufferers. These supplies are being used in feeding and clothing our hungry and destitute people who lost so much by the storm."

Peru's New Ministry.

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 4.—Senor Domingo Almenara has succeeded in forming a new cabinet, which is constituted as follows: Premier and minister of finance, Domingo Almenara; minister of foreign affairs, Felipe Ohmo; minister of commerce, Ernest Zapata; minister of justice, Rafael Villanueva; minister of war and marine, Colonel Pedro Portillo; minister of public works, Agustin Torar.

FIGHTING ASHANTIS.

British Under Willcocks Capture and Burn Four Villages.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—A dispatch to The Morning Post from Kumassi reports that heavy fighting took place last Sunday between Colonel Willcocks' column and the Ashantis at Abu-asu.

"After heavy firing," says the dispatch, "the British column made an ineffectual attempt to charge the Ashanti positions, but was obliged to retire and to resume the rifle duel, while awaiting re-enforcements. Eventually, after hard work, Colonel Willcocks captured the positions and occupied the village of Isansu without opposition. Subsequently the British carried three other villages at the point of the bayonet and burned them. Seventy Ashantis were killed.

"The British losses were Major Melliss and Captain Luard, severely wounded, three officers slightly wounded, three men killed and 28 others wounded.

"A flying column of 800 men, with two guns, was sent Monday in pursuit of the enemy."

From Lake Ports to Europe.

MONTREAL, Oct. 4.—There is a strong probability that next season there will be a line of grain carrying steam vessels plying between the great lakes and European ports by way of the Canadian ports and Montreal. At the meeting of the harbor board a letter was read from Brown Bros. of Buffalo, in which it was stated that four steamships of the Northwestern Steamship company would be ready for navigation next season and that they proposed carrying grain cargoes between the lake ports and Europe without change of bottom.

Alabama Election.

ATLANTA, Oct. 4.—Reports received from all parts of the state indicate that the Democratic majority in yesterday's general election for members of congress, statehouse officers, members of the general assembly and local county officers will be about 50,000. No opposition developing against the Democratic nominees except in a few counties where the Populist organization is strongest, little interest was taken in the election.

Watch Your Kidneys!

They are Filters For the Blood. Impure Blood Causes Disease.

Few people understand the important part performed by the kidneys in filtering the blood. As the blood in its circulation through the body passes through the kidneys, its impurity is left in the kidneys, which in turn empties the secretions into the bladder in the form of urine.

If the kidneys are blocked and filtration of the blood from poisonous or diseased germs is prevented thereby, the result is one or all of the following: Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Weak Back, Pains in the Back and Loins, Scalding Dark and Cloudy Urine, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bright's Disease and Inflammation of the Bladder.

Unhealthy Kidneys Must Be Treated

A medicine is needed that will properly promote the filtration of the blood and check the over-secretion of urine.

LAST MULE CARGO.

British Will Buy No More Mules For South Africa.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—The steamer Montezuma left yesterday with a cargo of mules and horses for the British army in South Africa. Her cargo is the last of the kind to go there. The horse and mule buying agency established here has been broken up, and the officers who have had charge of it will leave for home. The agency was established here in October, 1899. Since then 56 steamers have left New Orleans for Cape Town, East London and Delagoa Bay, all in South Africa, carrying 42,100 American mules and 18,482 American horses for the use of the British army operating against the Boers. These animals were inventoried as worth $6,190,255, but were probably worth considerably more.

The vessels took large stocks of hay, oats and feed with them, bringing the total value of their cargoes up to over $10,000,000. Between 3,000 and 4,000 Americans went to South Africa as mule tenders, about one-fourth of whom remained there, many of them entering the British military service.

RESERVOIR BURSTS.

Causes a Sudden Flood at Fisher's Island, N. Y.

FISHER'S ISLAND, N. Y., Oct. 4.—The $500,000 water reservoir that supplies all of the hotels and houses on the island burst without a moment's notice, and over half a million gallons of water was released.

The reservoir is located on Bell hill, 300 feet above the village proper. Nearly 200 feet of solid masonry forming the walls of the reservoir was carried away by the pressure, and the vast volume of water rushed down Bell hill, sweeping great bowlders along like pebbles.

The cellars of the Mansion House and nearby buildings were flooded, and the guests and occupants were thrown into great excitement and consternation, but no one was injured. Twelve servants at the hotel were found prostrated in their rooms.

At the foot of Bell hill the water spread to such an extent that its depth was lessened, and no serious damage was done by the water.

BOERS DERAIL A TRAIN.

Twenty-four British Killed and Wounded Near Middleburg.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Five persons have been killed and 19 injured in the wreck of a train derailed by Boers at Pan station, east of Middleburg.

General Lord Roberts reports the facts. The train was derailed Tuesday night.

A dispatch from Durban says: "Desperate fighting and another disaster for the British at the hands of the 'conquered' Boers are reported. A large and important convoy, with its escort of British troops, has been captured at Drift, across the Blood river, in the Transvaal. The burghers had all the best of the fighting. Evidently the British were taken by surprise. They made a stout defense, and several of them were killed before the convoy was taken. A number of others were wounded. No losses on the part of the Boer forces have been reported."

"Mr. Mason" Wanted.

GREAT NECK, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Detectives have been searching this neighborhood for a man who styled himself "Mr. Mason." He is wanted for swindling Mrs. William Kirkman, widow of the late Captain Kirkman, who made a fortune out of the propagation of Saddle Rock oysters, out of $600 under the promise of marriage. The description given of "Mr. Mason" to the detectives tallies with that of "J. L. Munson," who on Sept. 23 became engaged to and married a widow living in Oyster Bay. He got $1,800 from her under the plea that the money was to be used to adjust some contracts in Newark, N. J., so that the widow might clear $50,000. A man answering the same description and representing himself to be "the heir to a fortune left me by my uncle, a coffee grower in Java," succeeded in getting $1,600 out of Carrie Bamford of Roselle, N. J., $600 from Mrs. Bertha Love of Newark, N. J., and nearly $700 from Mrs. Johannsenn of Brooklyn.

Searching For Vatican Thieves.

ROME, Oct. 4.—The Italian police have begun investigation into the burglary at the Vatican, where thieves the other day forced a safe and carried off securities worth 357,000 lire and 8,000 lire in silver, although the Vatican officials have not lodged a formal complaint, contenting themselves with merely announcing the theft. Four persons are under suspicion, and one has been arrested. The Tribuna says that the Italian police warned the Vatican police in July of last year that a plan was on foot to commit some such robbery. It is believed that the stolen property does not belong, as was originally asserted, to the management of the apostolic palace, but is a part of the private funds of the pope.

Iron Workers Accept Reduction.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—At last the employees of the Reading Iron company have agreed to accept the 25 per cent cut in their wages. Their action this time is final, as the men have already returned to work. At their last meeting the 700 puddlers and other employees decided by majority vote to go to work. The Danville Rolling mills have also resumed work after an idleness of several months, and as this firm employs several hundred men general satisfaction is expressed over the winter's prospects at Danville.

A Lamp Chimney Combine.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 4.—An organization to be known as the Glass Chimney association has been formed by the largest producers and general offices established here. It is expected to induce all of the chimney makers to become members, agree to sell only at association prices and thus stop the cutting of rates, which is said to have been quite heavy and disastrous recently.

BAIT TEMPTS NONE.

Miners Make No Move Toward Accepting Operators' Offer.

FURTHER CONCESSIONS MUST BE MADE

President Mitchell Denies That He Has Made Any Agreement With Coal Road Presidents—The Tie Up Almost Complete.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 4.—Another day has come and gone without developing anything new in the strike of the anthracite coal miners of Pennsylvania. Although most of the big companies have offered mine workers 10 per cent net increase in wages, not a move has yet been made by any of the strikers toward a resumption of work. The way the men have thus far stood together without showing any weakness in any part of the ranks is considered remarkable by many persons in this region. That a break will come sooner or later, however, is believed by many to be certain. It is pointed out that as the strikers' funds grow smaller their hope will become fainter, and they will then readily accept the 10 per cent offered by the companies. But against this argument is that of the labor leaders, who stoutly maintain, as they did before the increase was offered, that the men will stand fast like so many rocks against what they term an unsatisfactory concession on the part of the operators.

Though President Mitchell and his colleagues say they are sanguine of their ability to keep the almost general tie up in force until the operators further recede from their positions, they are not losing an opportunity to keep the men from being influenced into resuming work by rumors of settlements, agreements, etc.

President Mitchell was informed of the wide circulation of a story to the effect that he had reached an agreement with the presidents of the coal mining and coal carrying railroads, and after verbally denying the report he issued the following:

"To the Miners and Mine Workers of the Anthracite Region:

"We have just been informed that the report has been circulated at Ashland to the effect that in a conference at New York this morning between the coal presidents and myself an agreement was reached which will end the strike.

"I desire to notify all mine workers that the report is incorrect and that I have not been in conference with the presidents of the coal companies and have had no agreement with them. I wish to reiterate what I said several days ago, that there would be no settlement of the strike until a convention of the anthracite miners is held. You are further requested to pay no attention to statements of this kind and to continue the strike until such concessions are made by the operators as will justify us in calling a general convention, when you will be regularly notified of the date and place at which the convention will be held."

The strike situation in the Lehigh valley, as far as the number of men on strike is concerned, remains the same. One hundred strikers marched from Milnesville to Lattimer and about 25 tramped to Cranberry from Crystal Ridge for the purpose of inducing mine workers at those places to quit, but they met with little success. The question of relief is now receiving serious consideration by the United Mine Workers' officials.

A secret conference was held last night by the officials of the United Mine Workers which lasted for an hour and a half. At its conclusion President Mitchell said the meeting was held for the purpose of canvassing. It was found, he said, that only about 5,000 mine workers out of 142,000 were still at work. It was the opinion of the officials in the conference, he said, that all of these will also have to quit in a short time. Mr. Mitchell also said that of the 5,000 nonstrikers 2,100 are in the Hazleton district and the remainder in the Schuylkill district.

The question of calling a joint convention and the matter of affording the strikers relief were not considered at the conference.

AN UNBROKEN FRONT.

Miners In the Shenandoah District Do Not Weaken.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Oct. 4.—The only important development in the strike situation in this district yesterday was the posting of notices by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company at all of its collieries and in conspicuous places in the towns and mining "patches" announcing a net increase of 10 per cent in wages and a willingness to hear the grievances of its employees.

The local and district organizers were on the alert, and in less than five minutes after the company's proposal had been placarded a warning to the mine workers was circulated. In this town and vicinity Organizer C. S. Pottier distributed circulars printed in the English, Polish and Lithuanian languages calling on the strikers to pay no attention to the company's offer, but to wait for the decision of the Mine Workers' convention. The impression here is that none of the strikers will attempt to return to work until so ordered by President Mitchell.

There are no indications of trouble in the Panther Creek valley.

General Gobin has been informed that a big meeting of mine workers will be held at Lansford tonight. A large number of Hazleton strikers are expected to attend. General Gobin says he will be ready if troops are needed. The Eighth regiment is making preparations to break camp. General Gobin has ordered the regiment to start for home today.

Seizure of Shan-hai-kuan.

VIENNA, Oct. 4.—The admiralty has received the following dispatch from Taku: "In accordance with the request of Count von Waldersee the seizure of Shan-hai-kuan was decided upon by a council of the admirals Sept. 29 and all was prepared for action. English ships were sent to demand its surrender, and the Chinese evacuated the place. The British then hoisted their flag, and the other flagships thereupon went thither and put up their respective flags over the forts."

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 4.—Robert F. Hill, who has been on trial in the county court for wife murder, was found guilty in the first degree. Hill, who was extremely jealous of his wife, Mary, on June 7 shot her four times and then turned the revolver upon himself. The woman died soon afterward, but Hill did not seriously injure himself and recovered to be placed on trial.

Bishop McFaul Answered.

Bishop James McFaul, of Trenton, is taken to task in the October North American Review by Rev. Thomas H. Malone, member of the Colorado State Board of Charities and Correction, for an article in the September number of the Review entitled "Catholics and American Citizenship."

Father Malone thinks the Bishop's article unfortunate, and says that even if the grievances of which the Bishop complains had existence in fact, they would be less likely to receive due attention in the excitement of a Presidential canvass than at a period when men's minds would be more prone to fair and conservative judgment.

"But," Father Malone asks, "are the Catholic inmates of State institutions denied their rights?"

He thinks not. He says that from the trend of the Bishop's article one would infer the privileges asked by the Bishop of Trenton are in most instances refused to Roman Catholics. After mentioning his opportunities for being in touch with such subjects, Father Malone says:

"In America more than in any other country in the world Catholics are permitted to enjoy, without interference or molestation, their full constitutional rights, while they are guaranteed the freest exercise of their religion in every State in the Union."

As to the charge that Catholics are denied their spiritual privileges in penal institutions, Father Malone says he has found directly opposite conclusions. He does not deny that in isolated cases a priest may be hampered, but such an instance should not be made the basis of wholesale charges.

Dealers who sell proprietary articles and novelties of any kind have excellent opportunities to observe the results of newspaper advertising, says the Philadelphia Record. So convinced are they that the publicity of the newspaper columns makes trade that they refuse to handle any article which has not been thoroughly advertised in that way. Printer's Ink publishes a letter from a large western dealer to a manufacturer in which the former makes an order for goods conditional on a promise to place "ads" in the local newspapers. There could be no better proof than this that newspaper advertising sells things.

After taking 450 ballots and being deadlocked for two weeks the Republican convention of Passaic county finally came to its senses last night and was able to make a nomination for Sheriff. The deadlock was broken by the withdrawal of John J. Slater, of Passaic, and the voting of sixteen of his delegates for John W. Sturr, who was successful, with one vote to spare. John Wright, the other candidate, had sixty-five votes, and his friends protested there was a mistake in the ballot. They rushed to the stage, and it took some time before they were convinced they were defeated.

The Outlook, which has been making a special investigation of the conditions of the mining regions, shows that 90 cents a ton would be a high estimate of the average cost of mining coal of all sizes. It asserts that the average wages of the miner, therefore, would not exceed $285 a year. This is the gross sum placed to the miners' credit and from it must be deducted the cost of his powder, oil and tools.

Congressman Charles N. Fowler will address a Republican mass meeting in Jersey City tonight. During a part of next he probably will speak in Connecticut. He will make his first speech in his own Congress district in this city October 15th.

The cost up to June 30th of the construction of the City Hall in Philadelphia is $23,739,592. The work was begun thirty years ago, and it is far from being completed. Probably several millions of expenditures more will be necessary.

The Morris County Democratic convention, yesterday afternoon, nominated John Bergen, of Butler, and George Pierson, of Dover, for the Assembly.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The old couplet.

"Little head, little wit"
Big head, less wit"

and the theory that "the mind's is the measure of the man" have been refuted by the experiments made in Chicago schools last year. After an examination of 7,000 pupils Dr. Frederick Smedley and two assistants have come to the conclusion that "the average large pupil is brighter than the small one. There are small pupils who excel in their classes but the rule is that the larger, stronger and heavier the pupil is, the higher will be his standing in school." They claim that the principle of a sound mind accompanying a sound body works with mathematical accuracy and that in this examination of such a large number of students the excellency in their classes was in ratio to their size.

ing that the paramount issue in the campaign was the common sense of the people. They are going to rely on their memories and not on Bryan's talk. They remember the hard times previous to 1896 and also the war loan McKinley was able to borrow if necessary when the war would be over. The Democratic cry this year is but a repitition of that of 1892, the poor against the rich. The election was hardly over then before hard times commenced and heavy business reverses followed, far beyond that of previous years. He quoted figures of failures and predicted that if Bryan was elected, they would increase to tens of millions. Regarding the trust question, he declared that any one was foolish to make that a political issue. For these there is no political remedy but it must be an industrial remedy.

He said that the Democrats have had two trials since 1884 in which to cope with the Trusts, but as yet nothing has been done. Labor cannot profit without capital profiting and if capital prospers labor prospers. In case Bryan was elected he pictured the New Jersey corporations having to go to Washington to secure a license before being able to do business in York city.

He declared he wished imperialism was the issue, for if it was New Jersey would roll up 187,000 majority instead of 87,000, as in 1896. Referring to McKinley, he said there never was a President who prepared himself for a greater responsibility or acquitted himself more nobly, and his foreign policy will shine forth as the greatest issue in American history. When the Spanish war treaty was ratified he was found to uphold it and keep the Philippines. If political agitation was stopped the insurrection in the islands would be speedily settled. In regard to militarism he stated that if Aguinaldo was allowed to set up a government to suit himself, as Bryan wanted, we would not only need soldiers for the Philippines, but we would have to defend it against Germany, Russia and other countries that would rush in to seize them.

In conclusion he spoke of Congressman B. F. Howell, and said he wished to see him elected by an increased majority. The announcement was received with enthusiasm.

County Clerk Somers also made a few remarks, in which he thanked North Plainfield for the majority given him last year and hoped they would be as loyal to him at the next election.

The meeting closed with the singing of "America" by the audience.

These are just a few hints of the many, many good things for fall wear. The pen of the most ready writer would fail to do them justice in the limited space of these columns. Our store grows in importance daily. It is rapidly filling a long felt want. It is saving the good people of this and neighboring communities much time, thought and money. Visit us as often as you may, a warm welcome awaits you.

LAMPS
A BROAD AND INTERESTING DISPLAY.

The final touch of beauty to the hall or parlor, as the rose or carnation to the costume, is the lamp. The picturesque effect of its form and decoration gives a finish to the entire furnishing, and the soft, rich glow of the blended light gives a mellow refinement that brings the entire room into eye-pleasing harmony. The place of the lamp in the furnishing scheme is most important. Like the rose on the bodice, the eye catches it first, its tone measures the effect of the entire room. Our constant effort is to gather here a broad variety of lamps, the new colorings are a feature of the lamps this season. Some are richly painted on warm colored backgrounds, but the variety is too great to describe in detail, so come and judge for yourself. Suggestion of price ranges 75c up to 10.00.

JARDINIERS.

A most comprehensive exhibit. Everything bright and new. The colorings are very rich, mahogany, apple green, oxblood, others beautifully tinted and others very prettily blended. Enough colors and shapes to suit anyone's taste. Sizes run from 5½ inches up to 12 inches. Prices from 18c up to 2.98. Some very pretty styles with pedestals, entirely new shapes, at 69c, 98c, 1.25.

Tabourettes After you have selected a jardinier you'll need a stand for it. Well here's a lot specially priced for this week, 49c, the tops are 14x14 inches, some are round and others octagon shape, in solid oak, golden finish and mahogany. Other stands at 79c, 98c and up to 2.98.

CUPID AND HYMEN IN THREE HOMES.

to Plainfield in the spring.

The groom is well liked by those who have met him since he came to Plainfield. He is now employed as cashier in a large mercantile house in New York.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ross, of Prospect place, when their youngest daughter, Miss Jennie B., was united in marriage to William H. Kirch, of this city. Half past six o'clock was the time set for the service and promptly the young couple stood beneath a waving canopy of ferns and flowers, facing the clergyman who was to perform the act of uniting their lives, Rev. Dr. Schenck, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, of which the bride and groom are both members, officiated.

The residence was aglow with brilliant decorations, consisting of ferns, palms and asters. Yellow was the prevalent color.

Miss Mary Hoagland, of Somerville, cousin of the bride, and Miss Minnie Kirch, of Springdale, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaids. Both were dressed in white organde, over canary yellow. They carried yellow carnishions. The ushers were Edward A. Ross and Fred A. Kirch. The wedding march was played by Miss Nellie Winckler, of this city.

The bride was beautifully attired in white point De Sprit over white satin and carried a shower bouquet of bridle roses. The bridle couple were the recipients of a large number of beautiful and costly presents showing the well wishes of their friends.

They will spend their honeymoon in Washington, D. C., and points of interest in the south, and on their return will take up their residence at No. 66 Duer street, which is furnished and awaits them.

Königsberg. Die hier tagende 53. Hauptversammlung des Gustav-Adolf-Vereins beschloß, die diesjährige große Liebesgabe von 20,000 Mark der Gemeinde Mundenheim in der Rheinpfalz zuzuwenden.

Pillau. Seit undenklichen Zeiten dienten zur Einfassung des Bürgersteiges am Lootsenbureau dicke, eiserne Pfähle, die man bei näherer Untersuchung als Geschützrohre erkannte. Dieselben sollen nach einer Tradition aus dem 17. Jahrhundert stammen, als Gustav Adolf mit einer schwedischen vor Pillau erschien und die

Böhmisch-Brod. Der regierende Fürst Johann Liechtenstein hat anläßlich des 70jährigen Geburtsfestes des Kaisers der Gemeinde Böhmisch-Brod zur Errichtung eines öffentlichen Krankenhauses 40,000 Kronen gespendet.

Budapest. Unter dem Verdachte der Banknotenfälschung wurde der frühere Advokat Dr. Zoltan Takacz verhaftet. Er ist der That geständig. Die Polizei verhaftete ferner als Mitschuldige Takacz' zehn Personen, darunter den Gutsbesitzer Franz Balint, dessen Bruder, den Polizeibeamten Josef Balint, und Beider Mutter, sowie den Polizeiwachtmeister Lakner. Takacz war vor Jahren wegen Hehlerei und Unterschlagung zu fünf Jahren Zuchthaus verurtheilt und im vorigen Jahre bedingungsweise freigelassen worden.

Gritschin. Bei der Wegübersetzung vor dem hiesigen Bahnhof wurde ein Wagen, in dem sich die von einem Ausfluge heimkehrende Familie des Wirthschaftsbesitzers Wenzel Wobornik aus Remkovicky befand, bestehend aus Vater, Mutter und zwei Söhnen, von der Maschine eines einfahrenden Zuges erfaßt. Die Mutter wurde getödtet, die Anderen schwer verletzt.

Zürich. Der kürzlich in Bulle verstorbene Apotheker Albert Rieter von Winterthur hat in seinem Testament die Summe von 466,000 Francs für wohlthätige Zwecke vermacht.

Luzern. Ein seltener Gast zog jüngst in Malters die Aufmerksamkeit aller Augen auf sich. Es war Dr. phil. Eduard Müller, ein Angehöriger der schwarzen Rasse aus dem Zululande, der erste katholische schwarze Priester seines Volkes, der kurze Zeit bei seinem Freunde und Gönner, Pfarrer Dr. Vogel, sich aufhielt. Der schwarze Priester war gekommen, um Hilfsmittel für seine Mission zu sammeln.

Glarus. Vor nicht gar langer Zeit wurde dem etwa 60jährigen Maurer Samuel Stüßi in Niederurnen wegen seines liederlichen Lebenswandels und seiner unheilbaren Trunksucht der Besuch des Wirthshauses polizeigerichtlich untersagt. Letzthin nahm Stüßi eine Dynamitpatrone in den Mund und zündete eine an derselben befestigte Zündschnur an. OUTDOOR DRESS.

New and Artistic Creations In Suits and Wraps.

Two representative suits are presented in this illustration and they bid fair to become the chief favorites, with perhaps some slight changes. One is the long sack coat, and this will be used for riding, driving, automobiling and walking, where the wearer is bent on looking her most stylish. The coats made in this way are of black, brown and russet red and even terra cotta. The garment is as awkward and ungainly a thing as one can well imagine, but it is style that counts in all things belonging to womankind. The coat is long and as tight as it is possible to wear it and the only trimming is stitching and a few buttons. Large flap pockets and straps add a little ornamentation, and there is always a velvet flat collar, most often of black, but sometimes in a darker shade of the color, in the coat. All coats shown so far have plain coat sleeves.

The other suit has a jacket in a pointed Eton shape, and this divides popularity with the figaro effect. But the Eton jacket is capable of so many different arrangements, and all still leaving the salient points of that well liked short coat, that it is probably the greatest favorite of all. So many of the new jackets are manifestly built on the Eton that we may safely make up anything in the style. In the illustration the Eton is made to fly open and to close with frogs when desired, and it is lined in this instance and many others with tan colored cloth. The lapels are faced with it and the effect is fine. The inner vest is of the same, and the waist itself is of black cloth. Some of these have a perfectly straight back and the others have short postillions, with more or less ornamentation on them in form of braiding or frogs. These are quite a fashion just now, and they are pretty.

There are many long velvet mantles and cloth garments for wraps, and it would puzzle any uninitiated person to tell whether the long cloak could be called a dress or not. These are more for very ceremonious wear and are so long they are in every one's way, including that of the wearer. There was one called redingote with cape effects. It was of biscuit cloth and was cut so that the lower part of it looked like a skirt and the upper portion seemed to be a three-quarter jacket, and above that was a slashed and rather long figaro. Above this again was a shoulder double cape, which ended in a wide triple revers. The sleeves were easy coat shape, with very deep cuffs. The smallest of the revers was made of velvet of the same shade. Altogether this is a remarkable but really elegant and graceful redingote.

The liking for velvet and its kindred stuffs, like velutina and some plush, grows apace, and the number of dresses and cloaks made of this material is beyond my capacity as an arithmetician to compute. For home garments the skirts are made as long as the lady can manage, but for walking the velvet skirts are going to be quite as short as the new woolens. Every place will be enriched by the presence of whole costumes of velvet, and they are made even more sumptuous by the rich lace and beading and embroidery with which they are trimmed. Eton jackets are especially good in velvet, and they are made so that they can be worn closed or open. Capes are not quite so stylish as they were, but still there are many, and they are of the very best material, and those for evening are markedly handsome and correspondingly costly. In some of the lightweight broadcloths trimmed with lace and fancy beading we find light pastel shades, and often the cape is of one shade or color and the sprung ruffle is of another. Other cloaks remind us of those of olden days, as they are long and the body is straight and gathered to a round yoke, but this is covered with a hood, and this hood is most beautifully ornamented, being lined with fine stuff and overlaid with lace and often wrought with gold or silver threads and fine cut beads. It is of black silk or satin duchesse and lined with light colored brocade.

One thing is sure, and that is that all the wraps and cloaks are to have the high collars so much liked for so many seasons. It would seem little short of a revolution to see a garment for outdoors other than the short jackets without collars. The fur collars and revers are seen on many of the season's jackets. Rough material is rather best liked for the short reefers, but the short jackets to match suits are not necessarily rough. Homespun is much affected, especially for the walking skirt suits.

I began to use Ripans Tabules about two years ago. Up to that time I had been troubled with indigestion since five years previous. After eating my stomach would become distended and food become sour, with frequent belching. I was also troubled with palpitation of the heart. While my appetite was usually good, I dreaded to take food. I was induced to try Ripans Tabules by seeing them so much advertised in the papers. After I had taken two or three Tabules that fulness disappeared, my bowels became regular and I have never felt the least symptoms of palpitation of the heart. I have taken them twice a day after meals up to about fifteen days ago, when my supply gave out. Though I have taken nothing since then, my digestion has been all right. My present occupation is farming, although I spent several years teaching. My age is thirty-one years.

ART IN ARCHITECTURE

Designed and Written Especially for This Paper

THIS building is estimated to cost $1,600 complete, exclusive of furnace and mantels. The entire building and veranda have foundations built with field stones. The rooms are all of a large size, as follows: Parlor, 11x13 feet; sitting-room and dining-room, 9½x12 feet; kitchen 9½x10 feet; chambers, 11x13, 12x12 and 10x10 feet. gutters and flashing are of tin.

Star A star cedar shingles for all roofs. All doors are five cross panel doors, and all the hardware is of a neat design.

Trimming throughout is plain and of Georgia pine. The main cornice is projected two feet.

Plastering is two-coat work, painting three-coat work, including the trimming. Finishing colors are a light pea green for body of the house and white for trimmings.

DAINTY LITTLE TOWN RESIDENCE.

Each chamber has a large closet fitted with shelves.

The entrance at side, where shown on plans, is a novel feature and separates the parlor from the other part of the house, which is apt to suit a great many persons. The sitting-room, dining-room and one chamber have fireplaces, with neatly designed mantels.

The sitting and dining-rooms are divided with cased opening. The three rooms in this residence have the bay window treatment, and the parlor has one end of the room finished in a circular shape. The stairway leads to the second floor from the dining-room.

Height of basement is 7 feet; first and second stories, 9 feet. Studs are 2x4, joist, 2x10; rafters 2x4. All floors are double, having felt paper between them.

Sheathing is of matched flooring. Siding 4 inch. Building paper is placed between sheathing and siding.

American glass throughout, double thick. Attic is floored. Down spouts, da and porch floors three coats of paint, having all tongues and grooves well leaded to insure against rotting.

The front and rear steps are of wood, excepting first bottom step, which will be of stone. Electric bells from front and rear doors. The entire house is piped for gas and furnace.

The intention of the architect is to have all the material and labor throughout the best of its respective kind.

GEORGE A. W. KINTZ.

PLANS OF FIRST AND SECOND FLOORS.

The Science of Eating.

At a recent meeting of medical men Dr. P. A. Burrall spoke of the amount of mischief done by the very common habit of eating the meals rapidly. Thorough mastication was of the utmost importance, and, of course, this presupposed a proper condition of the teeth. Gastric digestion was often weakened and much distress was caused by taking in too much fluid with the food, particularly at the beginning of a meal. Another factor in causing dyspepsia was the habit of eating food in silence or without that mirth and good fellowship so necessary to insure the normal action of the digestive organs. These little details might seem trite and unimportant, but it was the duty of the careful physician to instruct his patients in regard to them. The long-continued and free use of digestive agents served to make the digestive organs lazy and inactive.—Medical Record.

Electric Light for Hunting.

A Portuguese inventor has patented an application of the electric light to fox and badger hunting. The fox and the badger are animals that live in dens underground and terriers and other kinds of dogs are used to dig them out of their burrows or to fight and kill them underground. The ingenious Portuguese conceived the idea of attaching an electric lamp to the collar of the dog so as to light the way for him in his descent into the hole and of making the light colored so as to scare the animal and cause it to rush forth to its destruction.

Plants Seek Fresh Pastures.

Plants, like animals, are continually wandering to fresh fields and pastures new. Prof. Kellerman finds that of the present flora of Ohio no less than 430 are immigrants. Almost all are from Europe.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

His Income Nearly Equal to the Combined Incomes of All the Potentates of Europe.

A New York financier, in an idle moment, was seized with a desire to find out how the income of John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil king, compared with the incomes of the monarchs of the world. So he undertook the task, and the result was startling. The exact annual receipts of Rockefeller are indefinite, but are in the neighborhood of $30,000,000, and this amount is very nearly equal to the combined incomes each year of all the crowned heads of Europe.

The discoverer of this remarkable fact figured the annual incomes of

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.
(His Annual Income Equal to That of Europe's Rulers.)

the rulers of Europe as follows:

Czar of Russia, $12,000,000; king of Prussia (exclusive of his income as emperor of Germany), $3,852,770; Austria-Hungary's emperor, $3,875,000; king of Spain, $2,000,000; king of Italy, $2,858,000; Queen Victoria, $1,925,000; king of Portugal, $634,440; king of Norway and Sweden, $575,525; king of Greece, $250,000; king of Saxony, $735,000; king of Wurtemburg, $449,000; king of Roumania, $237,000; king of Servia, $240,000; king of Denmark, $227,775; king of Belgium, $660,000; King of Bavaria, $1,412,000. The total is $31,931,510, but $1,931,510 more than Rockefeller's estimated yearly income.

Of course there must be taken into consideration the fact that the emperor of Germany is not counted on the list. His income is not known, but it is considerably smaller than the amount he receives as king of Prussia. John D. Rockefeller is now called the richest man in the world. His start in life as a poor boy and his present comparatively plain manner of living add picturesqueness to the story of his wonderful wealth. Rockefeller is now 61 years of age and his health is excellent. Should he live 20 years, as seems likely, and his wealth increase at the present rate the dividend would pile up $600,000,000 for him and the compound interest upon this income invested put his fortune almost beyond calculation. Possibly he will have all the money in the world.

SELF-ACTING RAT TRAP.

Chicago Inventor Is Confident That He Can Make the Rodents Annihilate Themselves.

A Milwaukee avenue inventor, says the Chicago Daily News, thinks he has solved the problem of how to induce rats and mice to exterminate themselves and assist in the annihilation of those that come after them. He is S. Ruckersberg, and his annihilator is a self-acting rat trap.

The first night the trap is in action it is tightly closed and loaded with a

(Device That Makes the Rodents Annihilate Themselves.)

table d'hote dinner. The second night the hearts of the hungry rodents are made glad by the sight of an open door at one end. As it advances the rat's weight overbalances a sheet iron false door, the door falls with a click and his ratship is doomed. Inspection discloses but one way of escape—up a boxlike flue—and this he accepts. Once again an automatic door closes. The way leads into a large tin funnel. The rat walks on until it tips and it is precipitated into a can of water. The tipping of the funnel raises the door to the first entrance and things are in readiness for the next adventurer. In four nights 113 rats were captured and disposed of in one of the big clubhouses.

It is hard to say new things about Doan's Kidney Pills. They cure the lame and aching back, the sufferer from kidney disorders. That they do this is so easy to prove that not a vestige of doubt remains. Public endorsement of local citizens is easily proven. Read this case:

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 728 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of grinding pain across my back, at times extending up to my shoulders, and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

EDUCATION IS LIFE.

That Is the Sentiment Adopted by Modern Educators.

What the New Chicago Institute for the Training of Teachers and Its President, Col. Parker, Expect to Accomplish.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

IT is seldom that a radical reformer receives, during his earthly existence, the appreciation that is so generously accorded to Col. F. W. Parker, president of the new Chicago institute endowed by Mrs. Emmons Blaine. Col. Parker's methods have revolutionized teaching in this country. Perhaps "method" is not a good word to use in connection with his work, as he seemed to disown it when, last April, he addressed the large audience so vitally interested in educational matters, which had gathered to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his advent in Quincy, Mass., where as superintendent of schools, he first introduced ideas entirely at variance with preconceived opinions regarding the instruction of children in this country. He said: "Those who seek for some special and peculiar method or device in the Quincy movement will never find it. Faith, ideal spirit, explain all that pertain to our success, whatever that success may be. The outcome was what may always be expected under similar circumstances—progressive movement. If you ask me to name the best of all results I should say the more humane treatment of little folks. We tried to teach them, not as children or as pupils, but as human beings." At this reunion, friends of education, from the Atlantic coast to the Hawaiian island testified either in person or by letter to the high esteem in which they held the work accomplished by Col. Parker and his co-laborers during the last quarter century.

FRONT VIEW OF THE NEW CHICAGO INSTITUTE.

Col. Francis Wayland Parker was born in the village of Piscataquog, town of Bedford, N. H., on October 9, 1837. His ancestors were actively engaged in the French and Indian and revolutionary wars. His grandfather fought at Bunker Hill. In every strain of Col. Parker's heredity are ministers and teachers. He was well advanced in his studies when, at eight years of age, he was taken from school and bound out to farm work for five years, attending school but eight or nine weeks each winter. He now considers that during this period he received the best part of his education. Here he studied geography and all the sciences in a practical way, authough he did not discover the fact until after about 20 years of experience in teaching.

Thirteen years of age he left the farm, and, eager for an education, attended Mount Vernon (New Hampshire) academy. Here he did chores to support himself and worked on the farm in summer. At 16 he taught 75 pupils at $15 per month. He continued to teach school, work on farms and attended academies until 21 years old. In 1858 was principal of the school at Carrolton, Ill. At the breaking out of the war, as a private, he joined the Fourth New Hampshire regiment. His war record is too well known to need comment. He left the army when his regiment was mustered out in 1865, put aside all offers of political preferment and became principal of the Manchester (N. H.) grammar school, for he says he does not remember the day when he did not believe he should be a teacher. At Dayton (O.) in 1868 he began reform work in methods of education. Although strongly opposed by teachers and people, the board of education had faith to appoint him principal of the first normal training school in Dayton. In 1871 he went to Europe for the purpose of studying the science of education; in 1872 entered King William's university at Berlin, where he spent 2½ years in the study of psychology, philosophy, history and pedagogics. He traveled over the continent, visiting schools, studying the arts, geography and history of the various nations until, on his return to America, he was elected superintendent of schools at Quincy, Mass., and began his work April 20, 1875. During the three years, 1878-'80, over 30,000 visitors inspected the Quincy schools. Col. Parker asserts that he introduced no new methods, simply carried out the recommendations of the great educators of the past, Comenius, Pestalozzi and Froebel. In 1880 he was supervisor of schools in Boston. Here his work met fierce opposition, but he was reelected. However, he desired to come into a closer contact with schools that he might verify the suspicions of better things which he thought were in store for children.

COL. FRANCIS W. PARKER.

He declined the offer of superintendency of schools in Philadelphia, but, on January 1, 1883, became principal of Cook county normal school, which had had a struggling existence for 15 years. He regarded Chicago as the "storm center" of our civilization. Here he could closely study the children in the practice school and enter into what he believed the greatest need of the country—the education and training of teachers. He has given the school a world-wide reputation, and this is the man who has been selected as head of the new institute which promises to do so much for our future citizens, for as Col. Parker says, "the future demands an education into free government, a strictly American education" which will "meet the demands of the times with their world problems that are weighing us down and the ever increasing duties of citizenship. These problems must be worked out in the common schools."

The Chicago institute is near Lake Michigan, on North Park avenue, and may be easily reached from any part of Chicago. It offers unusual advantages for all the work, play and recreation connected with the school, being adjacent to Lincoln park, with its playgrounds, botanical, horticultural and zoological gardens, and the libraries and scientific collections in its vicinity. The building is designed to accommodate three schools, the academic, pedagogic and summer school. It is to contain a library, gymnasium, natatorium, manual training-rooms, assembly hall, music, lecture and classrooms. There will be laboratories for home economics, geography, history, biology, physics and chemistry. Owing to labor troubles the building will not be ready for occupancy at the opening of the school on October 1, but commodious temporary quarters have been secured in the vicinity. In the academic course ideal conditions will be provided for the education of children between the ages of four and 18. It will include kindergarten and all the grades of elementary and secondary (high school) education, and prepare pupils for entrance to the best colleges. The pedagogic school will offer teachers the best possible professional training. Every candidate will be considered on probation until the faculty decides that he is able to teach successfully. Under no circumstances will a diploma be granted until his efficiency has been demonstrated.

The summer school will be open to all who wish to have the best advantages for the study of education for three or 12 weeks. All departments of the institute will be represented. The library contains about 16,000 volumes, as that which is profound and technical can seldom be taught orally, but it need hardly be said that the teachers are not bound by any slavish devotion to text-books. The children are taken to Mother Nature to be instructed in science. Geography and history are naturally combined. Artificial rivers and sandhills constructed by the little ones themselves illustrate the growth of the world and locate the scenes of the rise and downfall of nations. The true aim of education is believed to be character building, to which knowledge getting must be duly subordinated. To again quote Col. Parker: "The ideal school is the ideal community. Character constantly realizing itself in citizenship, in community life, in complete living, is the immediate, everlasting and only purpose of the school."

Subjects will be correlated and each study made to enhance the others. The children will be taught here everything that they learn anywhere else, but there may be a vast difference in the manner and the purpose of the teaching. Every recitation will be an examination. Special attention will be given to dull and backward children. Only his own very best will be demanded from any pupil. The individualism of each will be encouraged. In short, the aim will be to reveal to each student what the best in life may mean for him and to train teachers throughout America how best to give their pupils the true American education. Chicago may be congratulated anew on having again added to her claims as the educational center of the United States.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRID'RON.

The Alis Third will open its season next Saturday morning with a game with the Whittier second eleven. Dick Lovell is captain of the Alis Third and Percy Phillips is manager. The latter would like to arrange games with any team averaging 90 pounds.

The football eleven of Leal's School opened its season yesterday afternoon by defeating the team from the North Plainfied High School by a score of 26 to 0. The game was played on Martine Common. Some clever work was done by the Leal boys. Brown made several long runs and Tilney, at quarter, handled the team with judgment. The score at the end of the first half was 11 to 0. The touchdowns were made by Brown (2), Schoonmaker (2), and Griggs (1). Tilney kicked one goal from a touchdown.

There is no stronger drawing card in Plainfield for a baseball or football game than a college team. The local teams have been unable to schedule games with the elevens of any of the colleges as the latter are averse to playing athletic clubs. The Alis management has, however, secured a game with the Rutgers "scrubs," the players who line up against the 'varsity. Several years ago, the Rutgers "scrubs," chiefly composed of 'varsity players, met the Plainfield A. A., and was defeated 24 to 0. The Rutgers boys will line up against the Alis team Saturday afternoon on the Martine Common. The game will begin at 4 o'clock.

Saturday afternoon's game was really the opening one for the Alis A. A., as the game with the Plainfield High School the week before was more in the nature of a practice contest. The showing made Saturday against the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. by the local boys was decidedly good. The Elizabeth team outweighed the Alis boys somewhat, but at team play the Plainfield eleven was superior. The Alis contingent showed they can put up strong work. The backs played together well and Houson made an excellent showing at quarterback. The Alis line was the weakest at right tackle and guard, and through that place the Elizabeth backs found occasional holes. The weakest point which developed on the part of the Alis team was the defensive work of the line. The backs broke up the interference in good shape and tackled hard. George P. Smith at centre was an exception. He played a hard and fast game and made repeated tackles. Long played well also. On the right of the line, however, there was some room for improvement.

GOLF

Owing to the fact that the Park Golf Club will be the guest of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Saturday, the weekly competition for the President's cup on the links of the Park Club will be given up Saturday.

Dance Arranged by Iona Council.

The dance given in Red Men's Hall last evening by Iona Council, D. of P., was a financial as well as social success. It was attended by a large number and a good time was had by all. Professor O'Reilly furnished the music and dancing was kept up until midnight. The proceeds will be used to defraying the expenses of the Great Council October 23d and 24th. Those who had the affair in charge last night were Mrs. William A. Westphal, Mrs. Frederick Westphal, Mrs. Charles Holstein, Mrs. Edward Bowman, Miss Ella Sebring, Miss Lizzie Dunlap and Samuel Montross.

RUN DOWN BY OWN CAR.

Carriage of Head of Traction Company Wrecked Crossing Track.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Oct. 4—Edward H. Radel, secretary and practical head of the Brunswick and Somerset Traction Company, was run down by one of his own cars yesterday in front of the traction company's office.

Mr. Radel was in a carriage and started to cross the track, when the carriage was hit by a car. The carriage was wrecked and Mr. Radel was thrown out and slightly bruised.

Lunatics Cause Uproar in Jail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 4—There are two violent lunatics in cells at the county jail. One is Frank Smith, 25 years old, while the other is Martin O'Donnell, aged 35. Smith was lodged in the jail a few days ago, while O'Donnell was taken there Tuesday. Both showed symptoms of insanity when committed, but today they are perfectly frantic and have thrown the entire jail into an uproar. There are no padded cells in the jail and Warden Dodd and his assistant have had hard work to keep the madmen from butting their heads against the iron doors.

A Forgetful Man.

William Calloway's forgetfulness came near getting him in trouble last night. He took some saws from the store of Fraed Endress for the purpose of getting them sharpened, but did not return. A warrant was sworn out for his arrest and on being brought before Justice Nash Calloway explained he had forgotten where he had placed them. He agreed to find them and the case was dropped.

Brooklyn, Bayonne, Westfield, Plainfield, Paterson, Newark, Passaic, Orange, Roselle and this city.

The house was transformed into a garden of flowers and palms. In the supper room green and white prevailed in the decorations. There were hearty congratulations for the young couple and then all partook of the wedding supper which was served. In one of the upper rooms the presents were displayed. Silverware, cut glass, furniture and a host of other valuable gifts testified as to the popularity of the newly wedded couple.

A check for $100 was the gift of the groom's father while the bride's father presentad them with a bag of gold.

At 11 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. VanEmburgh departed amid a deluge of rice and their coach drove away while an old dinner bell, tied to the axle by Harry Coward, plaintively sounded a farewell. The other members of the bridal party set out in pursuit with the intention of giving them a rousing send-off at the station but the newly wedded couple evaded them and were not seen again. The guests returned to the house disconsolate and shortly after midnight, the merry party broke up.

On their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. VanEmburgh will visit relatives at Omaha, Neb., and also expect to visit Denver and other parts of Colorado. They will be absent several weeks and will then return to Plainfield where they will reside at the home of the groom's parents on East Second street.

The bride is a very popular young woman and has a large circle of friends in Plainfield as well as in this city. She has visited there many times. The groom is now civil engineer of the Westfield and Elizabeth Stret Railway Company and has his offices in Plainfield where he is associated with Andrew J. Gavett, street commissioner of that city. He is known through the length and breadth of Union county and has many friends. His father is one of Plainfield's oldest merchants.

END OF LONG LITIGATION.

Bernard Myer Loses His Case Against P. & R. R. R.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 4.—The case of Bernard Myer against the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company came to an end in the Somerset court yesterday with a verdit in favor of the company. The case has been before the courts for five years, and was an attempt on the part of a number of farmers who own meadow lands near Finderne to compel the company to pay damages because of floods alleged to have been aggravated by a bridge constructed a number of years ago, the abutments of which encroached upon the stream. Counsel for the company informed the Court that the owners of the road, the Delaware and Bound Brook Railroad Company, had never been notified of the suit. Justice Garretson directed the jury to render a verdict for the defendant.

STRUCK WITH ICE PICK.

Porter and Bartender's Quarrel Ends With Bad Results.

John Huff, a colored porter in one of the local hotels, appeared at police headquarters this morning and claimed that he had been assaulted by Edward Little, the bartender at the same hotel, with an ice pick. There was a cut on the top of Huff's head. Huff had evidently been drinking. He was locked up.

Little was subsequently arrested by Chief Kiely and released on bail. The two men will be arranged before City Judge Runyon tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Little claims that there was some words between them and that the colored man hurled a cake of Sapolio at him. Little then went for the porter with a club. He chased him out on the street.

In Justice Mattison's Court.

In Justice Mattison's court this morning the contract cases of Joseph Najok against Lindsay and son, and Lizzie Najok against William Lindsay, Jr., were dismissed with costs against the plaintiffs. Summons were issued in the case of Hand against Ballentine on contract. Returnable October 8th.

STRONG NOMINATED AFTER BITTER FIGHT

New Brunswick Man Selected by Republicans for Senate Over Hicks and Edgar.

OTHER POLITICAL NOTES.

CORNISH IN CHARGE AT DEMOCRATIC STATE HEADQUARTERS.

Campaign Work of Both Parties Now in Active Operation and Much Hustling is Being Done by all Workers.

The most bitter political fight in the history of Middlesex county ended last evening in the nomination at New Brunswick of Theodore Strong as the Republican candidate for Senator. The Assembly candidates, Raymond Groves, of New Brunswick; J. E. Montgomery, of South Amboy, and Adrian Lyons, of Perth Amboy, were renominated without opposition. The nomination of Strong is a complete defeat of Robert Carson, Collector of the Port, who for years has been the political boss. The fight began last February, when Henry Banker claimed the leadership. He was turned down and immediately began war on Carson. Strong was Banker's choice for Senator; Edward W. Hicks was Carson's. At the primaries a week ago Charles A. Edgar, of Metuchen, entered the fight. On the thirty-seventh ballot Edgar withdrew and South Amboy turned for Strong. The vote was Strong 42, Hicks 28, and Strong was declared nominated.

Senator Johnston Cornish, who is acting chairman of the Democratic State Committee this week in the temporary absence of Chairman Gourley, spent several hours in New York Wednesday conferring with Richard Croker, with whom Senator Cornish has long been on friendly terms. Mr. Croker evinced a deep interest in New Jersey politics, and agreed with Senator Cornish that if the rank and file of the Democratic party turn out and vote on election day Bryan will carry New Jersey. It is understood that Croker will do what he can to supply good speakers for New Jersey whenever a good opportunity presents itself.

Democratic State Chairman Gourley has appointed Thomas L. Curry, of Newark, as document clerk at State headquarters. He is to handle the literature. Half a million pieces of literature arrived this morning for distribution among the Democratic clubs outside of Essex and Hudson. In these counties the local committees will distribute their own literature.

Chairman Gourley will be absent from State headquarters for the next two days and Senator Johnston Cornish will be in charge.

Ex-Governor Hill is to speak with Bryan at Camden, October 25th. Rev. Montgomery Hunt Throop, former rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Jersey City, has offered to stump for the Democratic ticket. Collector Davis may utilize him in Hudson county.

The sub-committee on mass meetings of the Republican city campaign committee will hold a meeting this evening at Republican headquarters. The sub-committee on literature will also hold a meeting at the same place.

The Italian voters of Plainfield have arranged to hold a meeting in Patsy Christmas' store on Richmond street tomorrow evening.

The Democratic primaries for the election of delegates to the county convention will be held in North Plainfield this evening. The first district will meet in the basement of the public school, and the second district in the basement of the Saengerbund Hall.

The Fourth ward Republican campaign committee will hold a meeting at Republican headquarters tonight. Twenty-five Republicans in that ward have been invited to meet with the committee to form a ward organization.

Y. M. C. A. to Have New Lockers.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening. Written reports were received from H. M. Maxson, chairman of the star course committee; George M. Ritteenhouse, chairman of the committee on religious work and Nelson Runyon, of the rooms committee. Reports were also made by the general secretary, physical director and treasurer. The procuring of additional lockers in the physical department was authorized.

Yesterday afternoon the home of Editor J. Alfred Potter, 43 Jackson avenue, was brightened by the birth of a little girl.

TO PUMP OUT OLD MINE.

NOE HEIRS PREPARING TO MINE COPPER AT MENLO PARK.

Three Thousand Shares of Stock Sold and Enough Capital on Hand to Start the Work.

The old copper mine formerly on the Ayres estate, near Metuchen, which was recently acquired by a syndicate composed of the heirs of David Noe, who claimed title to the land, but were unable to find cerain leases and other documents necessary to prove their claim, is to be pumped out and operated.

A meeting of the company which now owns the land on which the mine is located was held Saturday last. Three thousand shares of stock have been sold and enough working capital subscribed to warrant the beginning of operations.

A 100-pressure boiler is being installed and a 10-horse power pump. This will be used to pump out the mine, which is now filled with water. The work of pumping out the mine will begin Monday next. It is expected that this will take several days. As soon as the mine is clear of water the work of taking out the copper ore will be begun. For the present, it is expected that the ore will be taken away to be reduced and smelted, but later a smelting plant will be erected at the mine. It is believed that the copper ore is of sufficient richness to make the extraction of it profitable, especially as copper is at present very high, and modern methods of handling ores have very much cheapened the cost of many of the operations.

Recently an old copper mine at Arlington, N. J., was opened again and worked, after having been idle many years. It is now being operated at a profit, and the syndicate controlling the Menlo Park mine insist that the same success will be met with in their venture.

ESCORT FOR BRYAN.

Committee Named to Accompany Him on His Tour of New Jersey—Cornish Optimistic.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Oct. 5—State Chairman Gourley has appointed these Democrats to act as special escort for Mr. Bryan while he passes through New Jersey October 25th and 26th: Senator Johnston Cornish, of Warren; William W. Cutler, of Morris; Howard Carrow, of Camden; Louis Braun, of Paterson, and Eckhard P. Budd, of Burlington. This committee will meet Mr. Bryan as he enters New Jersey at Camden on the morning of October 25th.

It is arranged that a special train shall take the Bryan party on its tour through Burlington, Bordentown, Trenton and New Brunswick, and then to Jersey City on October 25th. Senator Cornish has arranged with President Truesdale, of the Lackawanna Railroad Company, for another special train to take the Bryan party over that railroad through the Fourth Congressional District the following day, and at its close Bryan will speak in Newark.

Senator Cornish spent a busy afternoon at the State headquarters yesterday attending to campaign matters in the absence of Chairman Gourley, but he found time to say this about the situation in New Jersey.

"If the rank and file of the Democratic party of New Jersey turn out on election day New Jersey will surely be carried by Bryan. Frequent defeats in past years have had a tendency to cause dismay in the Democratic ranks, but this year the party is aroused, and I believe it will seize the opportunity and make a victorious showing."

Congressional Candidate James J. Bergen reported at State headquarters that he expects to defeat Congressman B. F. Howell in the Third District by 1,500 majority.

Union County Teachers' Meeting.

The 98th regular meeting of the Union County Teachers' Association will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in the Morrell street school Elizabeth. The programme will include: "Some educational aspects of the Paris Exposition," Miss C. A. Dike, of Cranford; "Vertical Writing," a discussion by Supt. W. O. Robinson, of Rahway. Principal George S. Ellis, of Roselle, Principal Lathrop, of Summit; address, "The child is a factor in our public charities," Mrs. Louise Hogan, editor of Child's page of Sunday Herald.

Ready to Congratulate Him.

It is given out in Plainfield that Hon. James E. Martine is soon to be married. This is wholly a personal and not a political matter, but there is not a citizen of Union county, of any political party whatsoever who will not be gratified with this news and extend to Mr. Martine the very best wishes.—Elizabeth Journal.

ELABORATE PLANS OF HILLSIDE CLUB.

For Entertainment of Members of Park Golf Club at Hillside Links Tomorrow.

TO BE HELD RAIN OR SHINE.

IMPORTANT SOCIAL FEATURES HAVE BEEN ARRANGED.

Various Golf Competitions Will Last All Day—Eight Silver Cups and Two Other Prizes Offered—Free Stages From Trolley Line.

As far as the local golfers are concerned, Saturday will see the most important event of the year. Once every year Plainfield's golf clubs exchange hospitalities. On Independence Day the members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club were well entertained by the Park Golf Club. Tomorrow the Hillside Club will welcome the members of the golf club in the borough and for their entertainment have provided an elaborate programme of golfing and social events. The day will practically end the summer social season in this city with a reception, concert and dance for which six hundred invitations have been issued.

When the Hillside Club played the host a year ago, it was the greatest event of its kind ever held in Plainfield. This year the Hillside folk are determined to do even better than they did before and a wonderful day is therefore in prospect unless the elements should be particularly unkind and bring rain.

Eight handsome silver cups and two other valuable prizes are awaiting to be awarded in the different events. One, for the best net score in the ladies' handicap, is presented by E. T. Barrows. The others are given by the club.

The ladies of both clubs will have the morning devoted to their events. Starting at 9 o'clock there will be a ladies' handicap, eighteen holes, medal play, with cups for the best net and gross scores. The regular club handicaps will prevail. At noon a ladies' driving contest has been planned with cups for first and second prizes.

Beginning at 1 o'clock the men will have their turn. At that hour the men's handicap, eighteen holes, medal play, will start. A very large field is expected. The members of each club will take their regular club handicaps. Silver cups will go to those making the best net and gross scores.

A mixed approaching and putting contest will start at 3:30 o'clock. The fourth hole, in the rear of the clubhouse, will be used for the event. Last year the State record for that event was broken on the Hillside course. Leather caddy-bags will be the prizes. An hour later there will be a driving contest for the men with two silver cups as prizes.

For those who do not care to devote all their time to golf, a pleasing alternative has been provided. The clubhouse will be open all day and a lunch will be served at noon. A formal reception will take place in the afternoon from 4 until 6:30 o'clock for which six hundred invitations have been sent out to the members of both clubs and of Plainfield society circles. A committee of ladies from the Hill-Club will receive the guests. The clubhouse will be handsomely decorated. A Venetian stringed orchestra will render selections during the afternoon and evening until 11 o'clock. Dancing will be in order during the evening.

Arrangements have been made with the Plainfield Street Railway Company to have cars run on the Arlington avenue line every fifteen minutes. Stages will meet the cars at the terminus of the line and convey the guests to the club house without charge. The stages will run all day and during the evening. At the club house there will be special arrangements to care for the wheels of those who prefer to come that way. The accomodations for carriages are already ample.

FLEMING RELEASED FROM JAIL.

No Evidence to Hold Him in Connection With Whycoff Murder.

Dick Fleming, who was arrested August 28th in connection with the murder of aged Simeon Whycoff, whose body was found in the woods near Bernardsville, has been released from the County Jail at Somerville. Fleming, who had been seen with Whycoff the day before the body was discovered, was held as a witness in the case.

The Grand Jury has been investigating the murder, but so far has been unable to secure evidence that would warrant the further holding of Fleming.

LIFE IN THE FAR EAST.

NATIVE OF JERUSALEM LECTURES IN AN INTERESTING WAY.

Delivered by Dr. Rosedale in Trinity Reformed Church Last Evening.

Trinity Reformed church was filled to the doors last evening when, after a short song service, Dr. James Rosedale a native of Mt. Zion, Jerusalem, began the delivery of his lecture entitled, "The Comicalities and Realities of Eastern Life."

Dr. Rosedale is a Karite of the tribe of Levi, and, being a native of the East, is well qualified to tell of the customs and manners of his countrymen. His hearers were not only entertained but were also greatly benefited, as the speaker explained a number of hitherto obscure passages from the Bible. He first began by describing his native city, with its narrow dirty streets, adobe houses and queer inhabitants. The former, he said, were so narrow that a man could stand in the middle of some of them and touch the houses on either side. The people are compelled to walk along them in single file, a habit which always clings to the natives.

But in spite of their narrowness they were always crowded with dozens of stray dogs and his statement that the bones left by these curs were used for refining our own sugar, created considerable amusement. The houses in the city are built mostly of adobe or dried brick, having flat roofs and all being the same height, thus enabling a man to get along faster by walking over the tops than by taking the streets. Some of them have walls six or eight feet thick with barred windows, the latter being for the women, that they might see without being seen. In the east the women are regarded as drudges and the speaker said he was surprised to see the freedom they are allowed in Europe and America.

In his country they are looked upon as a being without a soul. The care of the children with them is an important thing. When first born every precaution is taken to guard them from disease and for seven days, according to an old Bibbical custom, salt is sprinkled upon their heads and other precautions taken to keep them from ill health.

Their education is an important feature and they are taught housekeeping, not only the girls, but boys as well. They do not get too much of it, he said, but enough to enable them to marry which is imperative and which is done when very young.

Dr. Rosedale also described the dress of the country and being accompanied by his wife and daughters, all in costume, the audience gained a good idea of what it looked like.

Before concluding the speaker and his family sang several hymns in English, French, German, Italian and Greek to show that the latter is the sweetest language of them all.

The doctors talk throughout was very clear and was greatly enjoyed by all present. At the close of the lecture a large number of the audience took opportunity to talk to Mr. and Mrs. Rosedale and get a much better sight of the costumes.

New Closed Trolley Cars.

Superintendent John Adelmann, of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, expects the ten new double-truck cars for the Plainfield-Elizabeth line to arrive tomorrow or the first of the week. The cars are to be equipped with electric brakes at the shops of the North Jersey Traction Company at Newark and will then be run over the lines of that company to Elizabeth. When those cars arrive the Plainfield company will be able to equip all of its lines with closed cars and the "pneumonia express" will not have to be a feature of the winter service of the compay.

Springfield's Tax Rate.

Tax Collector Charles H. Leber, of Springfield, has issued the annual township tax bills for 1900. The rate is $2.12, and all taxes not paid before December 19th, will be subjected to an additional cost of fifty cents and twelve per cent. interest. The Commissioners of Appeals will meet in the town hall Tuesday, November 27th, to hear complaints relative to assessment.

BIG DAMAGES GIVEN TO JOSEPH D. SPICER

Jury in Union County Circuit Court Brought in a Verdict For $15,395.

WAS A GENERAL SURPRISE.

FIRM HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DEFECT IN THE STAIRWAY.

Travelers' Insurance Company Understood to Have Defended the Case and Will Pay Part of the Damages.

After hearing the large amount of evidence and the able summing up of the lawyers, together with the instructions of the Judge, the jury in the case of Joseph D. Spicer against Rachael R. Boice et al., were out only thirty minutes and then returned with a verdict for $15,395 in favor of the plaintiff. It is one of the largest verdicts ever given in Union county in such a case, and was a general surprise to those who had watched the case.

As told in yesterday's Press, the plaintiff's side was finished Wednesday afternoon and the evidence taken yesterday was that given by witnesses for the defense. The defense, which was represented by Judge Childs, of Newark, who has had much experience in damage suits, tried to prove that Boice, Runyon & Company, through their agents, had sought to exercise every reasonable care and precaution to make the stairway from which Mr. Spicer fell, safe and sound. In support of this point several witnesses were sworn, including Fred Bechtel, Joseph Johnson, Henry Meyers, Harry Barber and H. O. Newman, all employes of the firm. Mr. Newman testified to the fact that John D. Runyon, who was manager for the firm, and lost his life in the same accident in which Mr. Spicer was so badly hurt, was a man of care and judgment and one not likely to permit any negligence to be shown about the premises.

On cross-examination Craig A. Marsh, counsel for the plaintiff, called Bachtel and asked him if he had not told Building Inspector Doane immediately after the accident that the stairway was not safe and that he had frequently said so. Bachtel said that he had told the contractors who built the bridge that they were not doing the work right, but he had never said anything of the kind to any one of the firm or its agents. Chief Doane was recalled and testified that Bachtel had told him, as Mr. Marsh intimated, that the stairway was not safe and that he (Bachtel) had often said so.

After the completion of the testimony, Judge Childs summed up, taking half an hour to do so. He claimed that the company had used all due care in keeping their buildings in a safe and sound condition, and that if the stairway was faulty it was a defect in the construction that the contractors were responsible for, and which the firm could not be expected to know about.

During the taking of evidence Mr. Marsh attempted to prove that some of the planks in the platform on which one end of the stairway rested, were cracked and had been so for a long time, and that ordinary care and investigation would have shown that they were unsafe for support of the stairway. In his summing up he dwelt particularly on this point and urged that if there had been a defect in construction it was in the location of the foot of the stairway at a point where the boards were split. The responsibility for the location of the stairway, he said, was with the firm and not the contractors, as the latter were working under instructions from the firm.

The case was then given to the jury, after Judge VanSyckel had charged supporting some of the principal points of Mr. Marsh's argument.

It is generally understood the defense in the case was made by the Travelers Insurance Company, in which Boice, Runyon & Company carried a policy for protection from damages for accidents occurring on its property. If, however, the amount Boice, Runyon & Company are insured for does not equal the verdict, and it is said that it does not, then the difference will have to be paid by the firm.

THIERS WON TROPHY.

DEFEATED E. J. SERRELL FOR GREEN COMMITTEE CHALLENGE TROPHY

Contest on Park Club Links Took Place Yesterday on Account of Hillside's Invitation.

As the members of the Park Golf Club will spend Saturday at the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club the weekly match for the green committee challenge trophy was played on the links of the Park Golf Club yesterday instead of Saturday. As a result of the match W. J. R. Thiers once more holds the trophy.

Edgar I. Serrell came into possession of the trophy last Saturday through the absence of Morgan T. Townsend. Townsend had gone south and defaulted the medal to Serrell, who was the next challenger. William A. Townsend was next after Serrell on the list of challengers and Serrell defeated him easily.

Serrell, as holder of the trophy, and W. J. R. Thiers, the next challenger, met yesterday afternoon, and Thiers won one up after a hard match. The first round went in favor of Thiers. He had his opponent three down at the end of the nine holes and had made a 47 to Serrell's 50. Thiers held his game in the second round, but Serrell made a strong brace at the close of it. Thiers was dormie four when they drove off on "Desperation" for the last round. Serrell took that hole, the seventh and the eighth. They halved the ninth, giving Thiers the match by a single hole.

According to the terms of the contest, play for the trophy will continue until the end of the season. The green committee has not yet announced when that will be. Play for the president's cup will end with the first Saturday in November, but competitions are scheduled as late as Thanksgiving Day. If the season lasts until then there will still be a chance for Townsend to catch up. Otherwise Thiers' victory is practically assured.

CHARGED WITH ARSON.

Young Baehr, Accused of Setting Fire to Farm Barracks, Says Flames Started From Cigarette.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 5 — John Baehr, twenty-two years old, was arraigned in police court yesterday charged with arson. He is accused of setting fire Wednesday afternoon to two large hay and straw barracks on the farm of Henry McCandless, in Linden township. Both barracks were completely destroyed, causing a loss of several thousand dollars.

Young Baehr was seen leaving the vicinity by a colored man in the employ of Mr. McCandless, who pursued and overtook the alleged firebug and held him until assistance came. He denies the crime and declares the fire was an accident. He says that he was smoking a cigarette, and a spark from it fell in the hay, and that was the way the blaze started. He tried to subdue it, he says, but it spread so rapidly that it got beyond his control.

Justice Mahon committed Baehr without bail to await the Grand Jury's action. The prisoner served in the Third New Jersey Volunteer Infantry during the Spanish-American War, and since his discharge from the service has not done any work. He resided with his father, John Baehr, on Elizabeth avenue, this city.

The flames threatened at one time to spread to the Stephenson Car Works close by, and the McCandless homestead had a narrow escape from destruction.

NEWARK TO SELL WATER.

One Result of the City Acquiring Its New Plant.

Newark, since it obtained possession of its water plant, has water to sell. Secretary Whelan, of the Elizabethtown Water Company, had a conference yesterday with Engineer Sherrerd and Commissioners Ballard, Baumann and Garrison. Mr. Whelan wants a temporary supply of Paquannock water until Elizabeth's new plant is finished.

Montclair officials, too, are said to be anxious to take their water from Newark. Montclair would sooner have Pequannock water than Passaic.

Good Time for Little People.

Mrs. Samuel H. Annin gave a birthday party to her little niece, Hazel Belle Annin, at the residence of Mrs. John Annin, 63 Summit avenue, last Tuesday afternoon. The little folks played games and had a good time generally. At 5 o'clock an onslaught was made upon the good things which had been provided for their delectation. In the centre of the table was a large birthday cake surrounded by six lighted candles, one for each year. Little Hazel was the recipient of a number of pretty presents.

FOWLER IS IN DEMAND AS CAMPAIGN ORATOR

The Congressman Will Devote a Week to Speaking in the Eighth District.

TO TALK HERE OCTOBER 15.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE REGARD HIM AS ONE OF THE BEST TALKERS.

County Committee Planning to Hold a Big Meeting in This City the Night Before Election.

While Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, is frequently called upon these days for speeches at various political gatherings, his stumping of the Eighth Congressional district will not begin until the third week in October. Every evening that week, except Saturday, he is booked to speak somewhere in the Eighth district, and his work of rousing the Republican vote of that section will be assisted by spell-binders of less note.

The first meeting of that week will be held in this city when Congressman Fowler will address a mass-meeting in Music Hall. The city campaign committe has already begun preparations for the meeting. It will be conducted on the same lines as the first meeting which was so largely attended. The Congressman is expected to prove a particularly drawing card as he is a good speaker, and the fact that he is again a candidate will cause his remarks to be listened to with special interest.

Assemblymen Charles S. Foote, of this city, Chester M. Smith, of Westfield, and Ellis R. Meeker, of Elizabeth, are also expected to be at the meeting and will have something to say, if only a few words. While they have not been renominated for the Assembly by the Republicans of Union county, there is no doubt but that they will be the candidates as it is the usual custom of that party to give each Assembly two years in the State legislature and they have so far served but one year.

Tuesday evening, October 16th, Congressman Fowler will go to Rahway and there address a large gathering of Republicans. The county candidates will likewise accompany him. The following night of that week, Congressman is booked to appear at a mass meeting in Orange. Bayonne will hear him on the following evening at a big demonstration which the Republicans of that city have planned. Friday evening, October 19th, he will speak in Elizabeth at the Lyceum Theatre when a big Republican rally will be held. The county candidates are expected there although they have all spoken at Republican meetings at the county seat already.

The following week the Congressman will go on a tour through the country which has been laid out by the national committee. He is considered a good speaker and his utterances, particularly on the financial question, are deemed important enough at national headquarters to have him assigned as one of the best men on the national committee's list of speakers.

At least one other meeting will be held in this city this month following Congressman Fowler's appearance here. The county committee has also planned to hold two big demonstrations the night before election. One will be at Elizabeth and the other in this city. The county committee is trying to get Congressman Dalziel, of Pennsylvania, as the speaker at the Plainfield meeting.

NEGRO NOT LYNCHED.

New Jersey Sheriff Says Escaped Murderer is Hiding and Offers a Reward.

A reward of $500 has been offered by the authorities of Freehold for the capture of the escaped negro murderer, William Bullock. Three weeks ago Bullock, who had been arrested for the killing of ex-Chief of Police Walsh, of Freehold, dug his way out of the jail, and since then there has been no trace of him.

A report was circulated that the negro had been induced to escape by friends of Walsh, who turned on him when he gained his liberty, took him to the woods and lynched him.

The Sheriff of Freehold, while admitting that no doubt many of the murdered man's friends might like to serve out such a fate to Bullock, said there was no truth in the story. He believes the negro has escaped to another State and hopes to capture him through the reward offered.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

In "Kidnapped in New York," which will be seen at Music Hall next Tuesday night, Howard Hall has done work that he can be justly proud of. The play is interesting and brightly written and full of human interest. Many of the characters are sketched from nature. The author has realized that he can be sensational and at the same time sensible, as he has avoided, it is said, the "rushing on villains" with a "foiled again" expression. Barney Gilmore, who is starring in the above-named play this season, is a clever character actor. He plays the part of an Irish detective, Mr. Dooley, and we are informed from reliable critics that Mr. Gilmore has won for himself a position in the dramatic firmament which shall make him famous.

REPORTS FROM MACARTHUR.

Five Americans Perish In Mountains. Relief For Colonel Anderson.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—General MacArthur reports to the war department that five soldiers died in the mountains of Laguna province after having made their escape from the insurgents by whom they had been captured. The date of their death is unknown, and no details are furnished as to the manner of their death. It is supposed, however, that they perished from starvation and exposure after having lost their way.

General MacArthur also cables as follows:

"First infantry to Marinduque Oct. 6 on Sumner; General Hare to command island, with orders to push operations until insurrection is stamped out absolutely. He will have 12 full companies of infantry for the purpose. Anderson's first operations developed nothing. No reports since Oct. 2."

The above dispatch relates to reenforcements sent to the island of Marinduque, where Captain Shields and 51 men of the Twenty-ninth volunteer infantry were either killed or captured by the insurgents. At that time General MacArthur sent Colonel Anderson and two companies of the Thirty-eighth volunteer infantry with the Yorktown and two gunboats to the relief of Shields and his command if they were still alive.

It is evident that General MacArthur thinks reenforcements are necessary, as Colonel Anderson was able to accomplish nothing with the small force which was first sent out.

AMERICAN COAL ABROAD.

Our Product Rapidly Entering Foreign Markets at Many Points.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—In view of the coal crisis in Europe resulting from the falling off of the English coal product, with the consequently enhanced prices, Chief Emery of the bureau of foreign commerce of the state department recently addressed instructions to United States consuls at some of the more important ports abroad, requesting them to indicate the prospects at their posts of the introduction of American coal. A preliminary report just published by the bureau shows some astonishing results. With 15 important ports heard from, it appears that almost without exception the American product is rapidly entering the markets of the world and in many places has overcome the British coal, long regarded as superior at every point.

These reports come from Turin, in Italy, Marseilles, Nantes, several points in Great Britain, the Netherlands, Austria, Algiers, Canary islands, Gibraltar, Russia, Sierra Leone, Formosa, Prussia and even the Yukon country. One of the most impressive contributions is that made by Consul Halstead at Birmingham, inclosing the results of a competitive test of American and British coal by the South Metropolitan Gas company of London. The chairman of that company reported that American coal yielded 15,000 feet of gas per ton against 10,000 in the English coal, while the coke was plentiful and good. Consequently the American was quoted higher than English coal.

CLOSE CALL FOR HANNA.

A Ten Pound Cake of Ice Just Misses His Head.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Senator Marcus A. Hanna was the target for a ten pound chunk of ice last night at the Thirty-first ward Republican meeting, Sixty-fifth and Halstead streets. The missile was dropped through an aperture in the tent directly over the speakers' stand. It did not miss Hanna's head over two inches, and had it struck him it would have knocked him down and probably fractured his skull.

Senator Hanna retained his composure and quietly seated himself, while Congressman James R. Mann went on with the entertainment.

On the outskirts of the tent was a crowd of boisterous young men and half grown boys. The police found the place where the ice had been placed on the sidewalk, but could get no trace of the person who threw it.

Land Office Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The report of the commissioner of the general land office, just made public, shows a large increase in the current work of the office for the past year, due, the commissioner says, to the general stimulus given to all industries in the country for a year past. The total cash receipts of the land office for the past year amount to $4,379,758, an increase over the previous year of $1,309,621 and over the fiscal year 1898 of $2,101,763. There was a proportionate increase in the amount of land disposed of, the total this year amounting to 18,453,887 acres, an increase of 4,000,000 acres over the previous year. The homestead entries for the year aggregated 8,478,400 acres, an increase of 2,300,822 acres over the previous year. There has been also a large increase for the year in the number of final homestead entries made.

HOW BRITONS VOTED

Overwhelming Support For the Government.

CONSERVATIVE GAINS IN ELECTIONS.

Workingmen by Their Votes Favor the South African Campaign and Its Results—Antiwar Candidates Generally Defeated.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The "khaki" boom has swept the country. Yesterday's pollings are a tale of increased Ministerialist and diminished Liberal majorities. The returns from the rural districts today and tomorrow may do something to rehabilitate the Liberals, but the results thus far have fully justified Mr. Chamberlain and the party organizers who are backing the government in their choice of the moment to dissolve parliament.

Few will doubt that an appeal to the country a month or two earlier would have produced an even more remarkable Unionist outburst. Nevertheless the Ministerialists may already congratulate themselves on being returned with an increased majority. Yesterday the Conservatives gained 12 seats as against three gained by the Liberals.

The workingmen of the country have replied in a very decided voice in favor of the war and of the annexation of the republics. Even Liberal Scotland is at last feeling the full force of the shock, the Glasgow Tories being as much astonished as the Liberals at their unexpected success in winning two seats. Mr. Andrew Dryburgh Provand, who was defeated in the Blackfriars division, had sat for Glasgow in the Liberal interest since 1886, and the Bridgeton division was Sir George Otto Trevelyan's old seat. Both had long been Liberal strongholds.

The results in Liverpool and other industrial districts tell a similar story of increased Unionist majorities.

London itself felt the full tide of the Unionist victory. The Liberal representation from the metropolis will not amount to more than seven or eight out of 62 members. Indeed, the isolated Liberal successes only serve to enhance the sweeping nature of the Unionist triumph. In all directions the antiwar candidates have been defeated. Even Mr. Cremer's success at Haggerstoff is doubtful, as a recount has been demanded.

Londoners were not slow last evening to testify to their delight. Wherever the results were displayed crowds collected to cheer and to demonstrate in favor of their favorites. In various polling districts the candidates appeared at windows or drove about, receiving tremendous ovations. The returns from many points will not be known until toward noon today.

At midnight returns received showed the total number of elected to be 397, with the relative strength of parties as follows: Ministerialists, 280; Liberals, including Laborites, 72; Nationalists, 45.

The Conservatives have gained altogether 21 seats and the Liberals 14. The Daily Mail describes the elections as "the rout of the pro-Boers" and "the debacle of 'Little Englandism.'"

Bryan Addresses Democratic Clubs.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—The hall in which was assembled the National Association of Democratic Clubs was thronged with people yesterday afternoon, probably 5,000 being present, but as the hour approached for the advent of Mr. Bryan at 4 o'clock the aisles were filled and the hall thronged to a degree of almost suffocation. After Adlai E. Stevenson had concluded James R. Sovereign, ex-grand master workman of the Knights of Labor, spoke, dealing with the workingman from a political standpoint. Mr. Bryan did not arrive at the hall until a quarter past 4 o'clock. He was escorted through the streets by a number of marching clubs. As soon as the Democratic national candidate appeared on the platform there was a wild shout of greeting, and this soon developed into a demonstration which continued for about six minutes, until indeed there was a call for a cessation from Mr. Bryan himself. The speech was liberally applauded throughout, and when it was concluded there was a rush to the stage on the part of those in the audience who wished to shake hands with him. He, however, avoided this demonstration and soon found his way back to his hotel.

Hawaiian Politics.

HONOLULU, Sept. 26, via Victoria, B. C., Oct. 5.—Republicans and Democrats each held their conventions on the 24th. Each party named a native Hawaiian for delegate to Washington. The independents are sure to put up Robert W. Wilcox. The Republican nominee is the Hon. Samuel Parker, chairman of the Hawaiian delegation to the Republican national convention at Philadelphia. The Democrats have put up Prince David Kawananakoa, who would have been in line for succession to the Hawaiian throne if the monarchy had lasted. Both Parker and Prince David are widely known and very popular natives, and with Wilcox in the field the campaign promises to be an interesting one. Wilcox is an avowed royalist and an enemy of annexation and has a large following of natives.

Long Breaks Running Record.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Maxwell W. Long of the New York Athletic club yesterday at the Guttenburg race track broke the world's 440 yard running record, going the distance in 47 seconds. The former record of 47⅗ seconds was held by Wendell Baker and was made at Beacon park, Boston.

Passion Play Profitable.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—It is announced that there were 20,000 spectators at the forty-eight productions of the Passion play at Oberammergau. The admission receipts totaled 1,200,000 marks, and it is estimated that the villagers received from the visitors about 4,000,000 marks.

Klondike Gold.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The receipts of Klondike gold at the San Francisco mint and Seattle assay office from July 1 to Sept. 30 aggregated $16,047,555 and of Cape Nome gold $2,311,801. The total of all deposits at both offices during the three months was $33,234,310.

SETTLEMENT PLANS.

Various Propositions With Regard to China.

GERMAN, FRENCH AND RUSSIAN NOTES

The State Department's Reply to Germany's Proposition Relative to the Punishment of Chinese Offenders.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Propositions of a farreaching character concerning China are being presented in rapid succession to this government. The state department had no sooner disposed of one of these propositions, by delivering a response to the German government, than it was confronted by an even more important proposition submitted by the French government and within half an hour formally seconded by the Russian government.

The answer to Germany covered the subject of punishing Chinese offenders and made known that the United States had instructed Minister Conger along the lines suggested by Germany. These instructions look toward securing the names of the persons deserving chastisement, also whether the punishments accord with the gravity of the crimes committed and finally in what manner the United States and the other powers are to be assured that satisfactory punishment is inflicted. Aside from these specific purposes the note is regarded as important chiefly in establishing the most satisfactory relations between the governments at Washington and Berlin. The Franco-Russian proposal takes a much broader scope and submits a programme under which the negotiations for a complete settlement can be carried forward. The French charge, M. Thiebaut, handed the proposition to Secretary Hay shortly after noon yesterday and held a brief conference concerning it. Half an hour later M. de Wallant, the Russian charge, arrived at the state department and handed to Mr. Hay a note expressing Russian approval of the proposition just submitted by France. Mr. Hay gave no formal answer to the two communications, as they will go first to the president at Canton.

The Franco-Russian proposition is under four heads—namely, first, punishment of the guilty parties; second, interdiction of the shipment of arms into China, third, permanent indemnity to the powers, and, fourth, sufficient guarantees for the future.

In addition a suggestion is made for the establishment of a permanent legation guard at Peking, for the razing of the Taku forts and for the maintenance of a line of communication between Peking and the sea.

What the United States government particularly desires to avoid is entering into a programme that leans in any manner toward the maintenance of a foothold on Chinese soil, and if the other propositions relative to the maintenance of a line of free and safe communication between Peking and the sea and to the legation guards can be modified in the direction of temporary expedients they will be more likely to receive the support of our government.

Following is the reply of the United States government to the German note relative to the punishment of Chinese offenders:

"Memorandum in response to the inquiries made of the secretary of state Oct. 2, 1900, by the imperial German charge d'affaires touching the Chinese imperial edict in regard to the punishment of Prince Tuan and other high Chinese officials.

"The Chinese minister communicated to the secretary of state on the 2d inst. a telegram received by him from Director General Sheng, conveying the purport of an imperial edict dated Sept. 25, 1900, by which the degradation and punishment of Prince Tuan and other high Chinese officials is decreed.

"The government of the United States is disposed to regard this measure as a proof of the desire of the imperial Chinese government to satisfy the reasonable demands of the foreign powers for the injury and outrage which their legations and their nationals have suffered at the hands of evil disposed persons in China; although it has been thought well, in view of the vagueness of the edict in regard to the punishment which some of the inculpated persons are to receive, to signify to the Chinese minister the president's view that it would be most regrettable if Prince Tuan, who appears from the concurring testimony of the legations in Peking to have been one of the foremost in the proceedings complained of, should escape such full measure of exemplary punishment as the facts warrant, or if Kang Yi and Chao Shu-Chiao should receive other than their just deserts.

"With a view to forming a judgment on these points the United States minister in Peking has been instructed to report whether the edict completely names the persons deserving chastisement; whether punishments proposed accord with the gravity of the crimes committed, and in what manner the United States and the other powers are to be assured that satisfactory punishment is inflicted.

"It is hoped that Mr. Conger's replies to these interrogatories will confirm the government of the United States in the opinion which it now shares with the imperial German government that the edict in question is an important initial step in the direction of peace and order in China."

GERMAN NOTE FAVORED.

Correspondents Blame Powers For Withdrawing From Peking.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The London morning papers are virtually engrossed by the parliamentary general election. They have little to say about the new German note. The Daily News, which describes it as "clear, straightforward and manly," expresses a hope that all the European powers and also the United States will agree with Emperor William's latest proposal.

British correspondents in China continue to complain of the "weak attitude" displayed by Great Britain and the United States, as well as the other powers, in withdrawing from Peking and in displaying generally a yielding mood.

A dispatch from Tien-tsin, dated Oct. 2, says:

"General Gaselee claims that the British from the gunboat Pygmy were the first to receive the surrender of the Shan hai-kwan forts."

The Morning Post's correspondent at Taku asserts that the persecution of Christians has been revived in the province of Shangtung.

Shanghai dispatches announce the dismissal of two Tartar generals who have been defeated by Russians in Manchuria. The head office of the Chinese commissariat has been removed from Chin-kiang-fu, on the Yang-tse Kiang, to Hankow, and the viceroys have been ordered to establish branch offices between Hankow and the province of Shensi.

By imperial orders Chinese troops, artillery and stores, which would regularly ascend the Grand canal, are now diverted to Shensi province by way of Hankow.

It is reported from Chinese sources that the imperial court has already been removed to Si-ngan-fu.

New Chinese Society.

HONOLULU, Sept. 26, via Victoria B. C., Oct. 5.—Members of the Chinese Reform society here have received from their correspondents in southern China a circular telling of the organization of a new society with similar aims to the Bow Wong Wui of Kang Yu Wei. It is declared to have been formed in Macao a Portuguese settlement south of Canton, and to have already begun warfare upon the present Chinese government. The object of the society is stated to be to organize a progressive government in China, with Kwang Su on the throne.

The American Withdrawal.

PEKING, Sept. 30, via Shanghai, Oct. 5.—The withdrawal of the United States force from Peking will begin next Wednesday, Oct. 3. The marines, Major William P. Biddle commanding, will march to Tien-tsin, and the Fourteenth infantry regiment will follow them closely. The American garrisons at Ho-si-wu and Peto-tsang will also be withdrawn. Most of the allied generals are opposed to the campaign of revenge which it is supposed the Germans have in view. The Germans are planning a movement east of Tung-chau to capture the arsenal.

RICE'S LAWYER ARRESTED.

Charged With Forging Will and Checks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Albert T. Patrick, the attorney, and Charles F. Jones, the secretary of the late millionaire, William Marsh Rice, were arrested last night and taken to police headquarters, charged with forgery. They are accused of having forged signatures to checks and assignments drawn by Mr. Rice.

Mr. Rice died in his apartments at 500 Madison avenue a week ago last Sunday.

On the following day Lawyer Patrick took to the banking house of S. M. Swenson & Sons, 15 Wall street, a check drawn in his favor and signed by Mr. Rice for $25,000, another for $03,000 and two checks on the Fifth Avenue Trust company for $25,000 and $135,000 respectively.

All these checks were submitted separately to Handwriting Experts William A. Kingsley, David Carvalho and Mr. Hagen of Troy, N. Y. They examined the checks separately and agreed in the conclusion that the signatures were forged.

The experts found that an assignment purporting to have been signed by Mr. Rice was a forgery. On the findings of the experts the arrests were made. Jones was arrested in his room in the late millionaire's house. Patrick was arrested at the office of the New York Safe Deposit company, where the vault containing Mr. Rice's securities had just been opened.

It appears that Mr. Rice made two wills. The first was executed in September, 1896, and was sent to Mr. Rice's attorney at Houston, Tex., Captain James A. Baker.

Mr. Patrick produced a copy of a second will drawn by him on June 30, 1900. In this second will, it is alleged, he (Patrick) received about nine-tenths of the millionaire's estate.

The second will contained all the beneficiaries mentioned in the first and gave to them more money than had been bequeathed in the first will.

The strong box belonging to William Marsh Rice was opened last night in the vaults of the Safe Deposit Company of New York at 140 Broadway. There were present Captain James A. Baker of Houston, who was the southern representative of the dead financier; James W. Gerard of the law firm of Bowers & Sands, retained by Captain Baker to represent his interests; N. S. Meldrum of Texas, who was associated with the late Mr. Rice in railroad business; Albert T. Patrick, who was the legal representative of Mr. Rice in this city, and a representative of the Safe Deposit Company of New York.

It was necessary to have the safe opened by experts, as the parties interested in the case declared that they were not possessed of the combination. The safe was found to contain about $1,000,00 in valuable securities.

Roosevelt In Omaha.

OMAHA, Oct. 5.—Governor Roosevelt after a day of strenuous effort, in which no less than ten speeches were made, was met at the train last evening by the reception committee of this city, and after a parade through the streets he was conveyed to a tent, where an enormous audience had assembled. He spoke an hour and a half and was listened to with profound attention. At midnight Governor Roosevelt departed on his Iowa trip.

A Strike In Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 5.—A strike is on at Blockton, a mining town 40 miles southwest of this city, and the mines of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, employing over 1,000 miners, drivers and top men, are idle. This strike is the result of the refusal of the company to accede to the demand of 75 cents a lineal foot for taking down the roof in rooms where the coal runs under a certain thickness.

War Veterans Celebrate.

HARTFORD, Oct. 5.—A notable celebration in connection with the unveiling of the Campfield monument on what was Camp Putnam in the days of the civil war took place here yesterday. The city was the Mecca for the old war veterans, and they evoked much enthusiasm along the route of the parade, which was over streets which the veterans marched on when they left for the front.

Creedon Out In First Round.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 5.—Jack Root of Chicago knocked out Dan Creedon of Australia in one round at Convention hall last night in the presence of 5,000 people. The fight lasted 2 minutes and 34 seconds. Root landed a hard right swing on the jaw, flooring Creedon and ending the fight. Creedon outweighed his opponent 20 pounds, but at no time was he able to land a damaging blow.

BAY STATE REPUBLICANS.

A Full State Ticket Nominated In Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—The Republicans of Massachusetts met in the Boston theater yesterday to hold their state convention, and the following ticket was nominated: Governor, W. Murray Crane of Dalton; lieutenant governor, John L. Bates of Boston; secretary of state, William M. Olin of Boston; treasurer, Edward A. Bradford of Springfield; attorney general, Hosea M. Knowlton of New Bedford; auditor, Henry E. Turner of Malden.

Hon. Roger Wolcott of Boston and Hon. William Whiting of Holyoke were chosen presidential electors at large, and an elector from each of the 13 congressional districts was named.

The only contest of the convention was for the office of auditor, for which there were three candidates. It took three ballots to decide the question of who should be the nominee.

The chief feature of the convention outside of the regular programme was the presence of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who made a speech in which he eulogized Senator Hoar, urging his reelection and declared that the doctrine of Bryan and his followers is that of hatred of one American for another, the outcome of which is to array one section of the country against another.

HART'S LONG MARCH.

Nearly Ten Miles Daily For More Than a Month.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Lord Roberts has wired as follows to the war office:

"Hart returned to Krugersdorp Oct. 1. He has been 33 days from his base marching 310 miles, was in contact with the enemy 29 days, killed an unknown number and captured 96. The British lost 3 killed, 3 prisoners and 24 wounded. Hart brought back 2,720 head of cattle and 3,281 sheep.

"Buller has returned to Lydenburg from Spitzkop with 1,000 sheep.

"There are skirmishes with the Boers daily, but they are small affairs.

Rolling Mill Closed.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—The Danville rolling mill, which resumed work the other day after having been idle for several months, owing to the condition of the iron market, was closed down yesterday because of a strike of the employees against a cut of 25 per cent in their wages. When they resumed work, puddlers were paid at the rate of $4 a ton for their work, which was the amount paid the puddlers at the Reading Iron company before the 25 per cent cut against which they unsuccessfully struck went into effect. When the notice was posted in the mills, the men immediately held a meeting and decided to accept nothing less than $3.50 a ton.

Powder Mill Explosion.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 5.—The chaser house of Beury's powder mill near here was blown up last evening by a spark from the chaser wheel igniting a lot of loose powder. Daniel Hillibush, Richard Dewitt and Andrew Burke, who were in the building at the time, were frightfully burned on the face and body. Burke will die, and there is but slight chance of the recovery of Hillibush.

MINERS STAND FIRM.

Not One Striker Has Accepted the Advance.

ADDITIONAL COLLIERIES SHUT DOWN.

Applications For Relief Being Made by Destitute Workmen—A Big Mass Meeting to Be Held at Scranton.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 5.—Not the slightest notice has been taken by the striking miners of the 10 per cent increase offered to the employees by several of the larger companies. As far as is definitely known not one striking miner has accepted the advance, but on the other hand more men have quit their places, notably in the Schuylkill region, where three additional collieries of the Reading company were shut down. The United Mine Workers' officials are still hard at work trying to close the few mines that continue in operation. All the organizers and the national committeemen were in some part of the field during yesterday, only President Mitchell being on duty at headquarters. Mr. Mitchell did little else than attend to his correspondence and answer telephone calls from different sections of the region. When he was asked what was new in the strike situation, he briefly replied:

"We are waiting on the operators."

He said he had no information as to the movements of the mine owners other than that printed in the newspapers. He also remarked that the call for an anthracite miners' convention is not yet in sight. When the convention is called, however, Scranton will probably be chosen for it because of its availability for convention purposes. But it is too early yet to say that a convention will be held there next Wednesday.

Applications by striking miners for relief are beginning to be received by local unions in several sections of the anthracite field. President Mitchell said that wherever applications have been made for relief necessary supplies were furnished. A report was received from Wilkesbarre that a committee representing 23 locals, embracing about 14,000 miners, would confer with the national president over the telephone about relief, but up to last night this had not taken place.

About 80 men marched from Freeland to Pond Creek for the purpose of inducing 40 men employed by the Pond Creek and Wilkesbarre Coal company to join the strikers. The marchers reached there at noon, just as the men were leaving the mines. The strikers were met by Mr. J. Latrobe, president of the company, and Superintendent McFarland and explained to the strikers that the company was only developing the mine and would send no coal to market if the strikers would not ask the men to quit work. The marchers agreed to this proposition, and Mr. Latrobe took the Freeland men to the village grocery store and treated them to crackers and apples.

The United Mine Workers are making extra efforts to get the men who are still working in the Panther Creek valley to strike and join the union. More organizers have been sent into the valley with the hope of swinging the 1,500 men still working there into line.

President Mitchell says that the strikers of the Lackawanna valley will make an effort to outdo the Wilkesbarre demonstration at Scranton next Wednesday. It is the intention to have a big parade of miners from the entire Lackawanna valley. A mass meeting will follow, at which President Mitchell and other Mine Workers' officials will speak.

MARCHERS DISPERSED.

Miners Set Out to Close an Open Mine, but Turn Back.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 5.—Three thousand strikers, headed by a band and 300 slate picker boys, the latter carrying small American flags, left Mount Carmel at 6 o'clock last evening to march to Trevorton, 16 miles distant, in Northumberland county, to compel the workmen of the North Franklin colliery to remain at home. The North Franklin colliery had not ceased work since the strike started, and strikers all over the region were angered over the failure of the Trevorton men to tie up the colliery, hence as the Mount Carmel marchers swung along the highway they declared they would not be balked in their effort to take the matter up themselves.

Meantime the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company had rushed a special train consisting of five carloads of deputies from Schuylkill county to the scene. General Gobin at Shenandoah had been asked to hold himself ready to dispatch troops to Trevorton in case a fight occurred and the sheriff should call for military aid. President Fahey of the United Mine Workers, Ninth district, telephoned from Pottsville to George Hartline, secretary of the district, to stop the march.

Hartline, accompanied by several local members of the executive board, hurried up the road and at Green Ridge, three miles out from Mount Carmel, came upon the marchers. The committee mounted a platform, and Hartline in a five minute address to the highly excited men persuaded them to go home. Then he hurried to this place, where 5,000 miners were gathered on Shamokin and Commerce streets awaiting the arrival of the marchers. From a hotel balcony Hartline told of his successful mission and pleaded with his auditors to disperse, which they did.

Some time later officials of the North Franklin announced that to prevent trouble the colliery would not be operated until the strike was settled.

A practice that many thoughtless persons indulge in is riding on the running boards of trolley cars when they do not see any empty seats. Such a position on a trolley car is a most dangerous one, and Justice Dixon, in the Passaic County Circuit Court, has decided that anyone doing so does it at their own risk and are not entitled to secure damages against the trolley company in case they are hurt as a result. This decision has been made in the case of a woman who sued a Passaic company for heavy damages for the death of her husband, who received injuries from which he died while riding on the running board of a trolley car. In reference to the case Judge Dixon says: "There does not appear to be any duty that the railway company or its conductor owed to the passenger which was omitted. The man could have found room inside the car by standing up, but he took the responsibility of remaining on the running board."

Hardly anybody is ignorant of the fact that the success of John Wanamaker has been due to his personal supervision of every department of his vast establishments. The business opinions of this great merchant are based on a long practical experience, and no one will question the truth of the statement with which he is credited in a current paragraph: "Any business firm that can succeed in getting into the public view may readily eclipse another firm of even greater proportions that does not take pains to keep to the front in public attention." There is every proof that Mr. Wanamaker regards newspaper advertising as the first and best means of gaining and holding popular interest.

The Michigan Legislature of 1897 passed an act requiring the State Treasurer to pay a bounty of one cent per pound on every pound of beet sugar grown in the State. When the imposed bounty reached the sum of $300,000 the nine companies engaged in the business sued for their money by an application for a mandamus to compel its payment. This the Supreme Court of the State, in a unanimous opinion, has just refused, holding that there is no power in the State to levy a tax for private purposes. The Michigan decision is good sense, as well as good law, and will be likely to call a halt upon the custom of levying State taxes to pay bounties upon the production of agricultural staples.

Here is hard luck for you. A New Brunswick farmer lost his barns by fire; death claimed his wife; his horses ran away injured him so that he was laid up in a hospital; he mortgaged his place and rebuilt his barns; fire again destroyed all his machinery, then a contagious disease visited his cows; he lost the sale of milk; he sent his children to be cared for in Philadelphia, and went to work in a New Brunswick factory. The works shut down and he had no work. Then he jumped into the canal committing suicide.

We do not know which side ought to have won the case of Spicer against Boice, Runyon & C., for we did not hear the evidence, but it is evident Mr. Spicer made no mistake when he decided that he did not need to go outside of Plainfield to get a lawyer. The record of big lawsuits won by Craig A. Marsh is one of which any lawyer might justly be proud.

The Republicans of New Jersey are elated over the fact that neither of the National committees in their forecasts of the result of the coming election put New Jersey in the Bryan column. The Republican Committee claims it for McKinley and the Democratic Committee puts it in the doubtful column.

The Republican Assembly candidates nominated in Essex county are all understood to be favorable to the re-election of United States Senator Sewell. That will mean twelve votes for the General out of Essex alone, as Senator McCarter is also for him.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Complaint is made by Justice Mendell that the last state of the Cranford lockup is worse than the first. The cage was dug out of the mud, where it had reposed for the past two years, and placed beneath the hose company's quarters, in an inclosure barely large enough for the cage, without ventilation or provision for heating. When the hose company washes down its floors the lockup is drenched and as a consequence there is no place to confine a prisoner, which necessitates calling up the Justice at uncanny hours of the night. He declares he will not be disturbed of his rest in the future to make amends for the failure to provide a proper lockup.

RECLAIMING MEADOWS

Prizes for Best Plans Awarded at Newark—Pumping Idea Chosen—$1,000 to Winners.

Since Senator Kean announced the commencement of his work of filling in the meadows on the north of the city there has been no little activity among other owners of similar property. The Jersey Central road has been considering plans for reclaiming the meadow land belonging to it, and so have the individual owners of small tracts.

Newark has again been aroused and the Board of Trade there has taken further action in the matter. In July, 1899, this Board offered a prize list aggregating $1,000 for the best plans submitted for meadow reclamation. A committee was appointed to examine the plans and Tuesday at the board meeting a report was submitted. The Board of Trade and the Board of Works were represented by R. G. Salmon, of Newark, and W. H. Luster, Jr., of Elizabeth.

The plan adopted is the one advocated by the City Improvement Company, of Elizabeth, some months ago. Large pumps take up the mud and water from the bottom and pump it on to the land to be reclaimed. The water runs back to the bay and the mud dries out and makes the formation.

When the Newark and Elizabeth meadow owners get together, as it is now practically certain they will do, in the spring, the work will be rapidly pushed forward to completion.

TROLLEY'S NEW NAME.

Official Designation of the Kean-Hine-Riker Consolidated Lines.

The name under which the consolidated street railways owned by Senator Kean and the Hine-Riker syndicate will be operated has finally been decided on. It is the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company.

The combination includes what has been four separate lines, the Elizabeth City Horse Railroad, known as the John Kean line; the Plainfield Street Railway, the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway and the Rahway line to Sewaren, operated by the Rahway Electric Company.

Cooking School Demonstration.

Woodhull & Martin have made arrangement for a demonstration that will be more interesting than their free cooking school which was so largely patronized last spring. This new demonstration will be of the "Universal Food Chopper" which chops everything. It will be held in their large basement and will be in charge of one of the best demonstrators in the country. Due notice will be given of the date of same.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the docter said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 5—Early yesterday morning Mrs. Ellis Benward, of Prospect avenue, was awakened by hearing a strange noise near her home. She went to the window and raising it looked out, but was unable to see anyone. She was turning away when she heard a pistol shot and a bullet crashed through the glass, some of the pieces flying in her face. Mrs. Benward was frightened, and as her husband is employed at night she went to a neighbor's. Who the miscreant was who fired the shot and for what reason is a mystery.

TOOK HIS PAY IN DRINKS.

Had a Bad Affect on Apgar and His Wife Had to Call in a Policeman.

For six weeks William Apgar has been out of work. He was forced to give up his job on acount of blood poisoning in his hand. Since then the scarcity of coal has prevented him from getting a job in any of the local coal yards, where a place has been promised him. For the last two weeks he has been helping on an ice wagon and took his pay chiefly in drinks. While his wife and little children had scarcely a crumb to eat, he returned home drunk. Last night he was so abusive that his wife called in a policeman and Apgar spent the rest of the night in jail.

Apgar appeared before City Judge Runyon this morning and his wife came as a witness. Apgar promised to return to his home on Elm place and do his best to support his family. Sentence was then suspended.

Porter and Bartender Had to Ante Up in City Court.

Edward Little, a colored porter, hurled a cake of sapolio at the head of John Huff, the bartender in a local hotel, yesterday morning, and then Huff clubbed Little about the head and raced him down North avenue. Little's head was cut. Little went around town looking for a gun with which to puncture holes in Huff's anatomy. He changed his mind and went to police headquarters and made a complaint.

Chief Kiely locked both men up and they were arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning. It was evident that both men were somewhat to blame for the trouble and the Judge fined them each $5.

DUCKS THAT COULDN'T SWIM.

Some That Were Reared by a Hen and Had Never Taken Any Lessons.

If you speak of a thing coming off as naturally as a duck takes to water Dr. William P. Painter of Darby will be inclined to doubt if the event will ever occur. For it is the doctor's experience that other things take to water much more naturally than ducks—his ducks at least, says the Philadelphia North American.

Dr. Painter's ducks are bad sailors and cling to dry land. Like naughty children, they have to be held to be washed. No bantam rooster nor sun-dried tramp detests water more than they. Why, one of Dr. Painter's ducks died from drowning in Cobb's creek on a recent Monday.

Early in life the mother of this flock of ducks died. Deprived of their natural protector, the ducklings were forced to look to a matronly hen in Dr. Painter's barnyard for their care and keep, and under the protecting wing of Mrs. Pullet they grew up, not in the way a duck should grow, but after the manner of the land-lubber chicken. It is even related that some of the ducks learned how to crow.

So the Painter ducks thrived. Being of a spotless white naturally, Dr. Painter observed one Monday how the wear and tear of barnyard life had soiled their downy feathers and decided that they should have a bath.

Cobb's creek flows just back of the doctor's place and thither the flock was driven, willingly enough. But when invited to enter not a duck took to the water. Instead they perched upon a fence rail and communed after the manner of chickens.

"Funny," remarked Dr. Painter. "But I guess they'll be all right after they have a taste of it."

One by one the ducks were hurled into the creek, but as fast as one was thrown in the preceding one waddled out and ran away, cackling with fright. All but one duck—she, poor fowl, half-blinded by the water, and all energy frightened out of her, sank beneath the wavelets and was fished out dead—drowned in her native element.

To bathe the others the doctor was compelled to catch them individually, and while an assistant held them he dashed the water over their backs. When the operation was over, like half-drowned rats the ducks proceeded in doleful procession to the barnyard, where they sought refuge in the hen coop.

Dr. Painter takes his land-logged ducks out bathing every day now, and hopes in time to overcome the bad example set them by the perverted chickens. All communication between the latter and the ducks has been cut off.

Timber Laws of England.

By the general laws of England oak, ash and elm are "timber" if not younger than 20 years or so old that a good post cannot be cut from them. What constitutes "timber" varies slightly according to locality. But when a tree is proved to be "timber" a person who has only a life interest in the land it grows upon cannot cut it down unless it be on an estate cultivated solely for the production of salable timber or unless he has a special agreement giving him power to do so.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Morrow.

Now at last they were man and wife. As they swept down the aisle from the altar, he whispered softly to her.

"You are all the world to me!" he said.

"Oh, I'm the whole cheese to everybody to-day!" she answered. "But tomorrow?"

There was a touch of sadness in all this.—Detroit Journal.

An attorney-at-law residing in Palestine, Texas, says: "For the benefit of those who are sufferers from severe attacks of indigestion, and to show my appreciation of the great good Ripans Tabules have done my mother and myself, I decided to write an unsolicited testimonial. My mother is sixty-nine years of age, has been for several years a great sufferer from indigestion and has expended a great deal of money on different remedies without any lasting benefit, finally getting so she could eat but very little of anything. I saw the advertisement of Ripans Tabules in a daily paper and purchased a 50-cent box. After taking only two or three of them she was entirely relieved from pain, has a good appetite, and eats what she wishes. I experienced the same results, though I was not such a sufferer as my mother had been."
WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

Gossip of New York's Autumn FASHIONS

A Blue Gown Is a Necessary Adjunct to Every Fashionable Wardrobe During Late Fall

Charming Blouses That Are Attracting Attention

NOTHING is attracting more attention among the fashionable folk than the season's blouses. We have had blouses and fancy bodices for many seasons, but the blouse of to-day is not the blouse of old, with a bag-like tendency. It is full to be sure, but the fullness is drawn toward the center at the waist line. In this way not to disguise the curves of the figure. The long lines are to be seen, and vertical trimmings of all sorts.

OF TEA ROSE YELLOW SILK.

The plain sleeve is passe; the paquin sleeve, with its many pretty effects, is now a thing together with the modified bishop sleeve with the aiglon collar.

The materials used for the evening blouses are peau de soie, satin, silks, with veilings of chiffon, lace and appliques of velvet, gold braids passementerie and ruched trimmings.

For afternoon blouses one finds in the way of materials pretty silks, French cashmeres, Alsatian drape, zibelines in all the new shades of terra cotta, mahogany, deep blues, green mauve, Nile and cerise.

One of these blouses, an elaborate silk affair, was in an army blue shade, with a delicate tone of yellow silk forming a chemisette. This is veiled with white chiffon and lace. The lower portion was of the army blue silk embroidered with gold and white silk. The Paquin sleeve and the Aiglon collar finished the blouse.

One in passe chiffon was in an old ivory shade trimmed with insertions of black French lace, and black velvet baby ribbon to hold the lace together in front. The sleeves were trimmed with the black insertion, with a full puffing of white chiffon and wide ruffle to finish.

One of tea rose yellow silk was a lovely affair. It was made up with tucked chiffon having a bolero effect of deep cream guipure, and embroidery of shimmering pearl, and shining silver pailletes. The bolero is fastened with rosettes and twists of pale blue chiffon. The upper part of the sleeves were of black lace with turnback cuffs at the elbow of pearl embroidered guipure, while below came a softness of tucked yellow chiffon with a train of flowers appliqued in black lace. A waist band of black satin.

An Autumn Hint for the Mothers of Our Little Men

AND this is just a hint for the mothers of little men. It does seem a shame that all the long columns of the newspapers should be devoted to what sister or mother will wear, and not a line of what the boys are to have.

This year the boys are to fare unusually well in point of dress. The little fellows of five and six years have so often wished for the day to come when they could have clothes like papa's that the men who design boys' fashionable clothing have at last taken compassion upon them and decreed that their suits should savor more of the masculine nature than they have in the past. Frills and such like have given place to a dainty tailor finish that is sure to please the boy and make the mother's heart proud of her young son.

The craze for stars and anchors and eagles and chevrons on the little suits has at last given way before the press of youthful opinion. That does not mean that these little fancy suits have gone out, but that they have changed, and one that I saw a few days ago on the sailor pattern is of a fine quality of dark navy blue serge, made with a collar, shield, band and facing of heavy black surah silk. It was not a bit less beautiful because of the lack of feminine adornments with which the little men have so long been burdened.

Russian styles, both in suits and overcoats, are attracting considerable attention. These Russian coats are soft, snug of fit and long enough to cover the little doublet and baggy trousers. The really fashionable ones are finished with bands of fur. In these, as in all the clothes for boys, there is an absence of all that in past years has given a feminine finish, and in its place is a decidedly masculine tailor finish that is pleasing to the youthful wearers.

The Reign of the Blue Gown in the Fall Fashions

THE fashionable woman who does not boast a blue gown for late autumn is certainly an oddity. Such a gown is one of the absolute demands of fashion. Reseda, green and dull russet are fashionable and popular colors, but none of them will answer for the blue, which comes first, last and all the time in the late autumn styles. It matters not whether it be a tailor-made, a calling gown, a dressy street gown, a reception gown, or even an evening gown, just so long as it is blue it will answer the purpose of keeping its wearer within the bounds of the fall parade, but blue it must be.

The inevitable blue serge has always been with us, but never did it appear in such solid phalanxes as now. Navy blue, Russian blue, periwinkle blue—any blue goes; but navy and Russian are prime favorites. Probably the desirable effect of the color, in combination with the white and gold or black and gold trimming so universally popular, accounts for the rage for blue, but whatever the cause the result is eminently satisfactory. There is no dark color so universally becoming as blue. It will clear a complexion that is only aggravated by green or brown or black. No color jars with it, and almost any blouse, hat or coat is practicable with it. It stands sun and wind and storm and dirt as bravely as any color in the gamut, and with gold galloon, gold buttons, gold embroidery or any other of the gold trimmings, and a touch of black or white, it is distinctly the most knowing of the season's offerings.

One of these tailor-mades is a severe model in navy blue cloth, has a plain, close-fitting skirt, with stitched seams and deeply stitched hem. The plain, short coat, with its stitched collar, is lined with white satin, and opens in front over a waistcoat of ivory white cloth, fastening with small gold buttons, and hidden from just below the bust to the waist line by a girdle of black satin soufle which crosses from right to left in surplice fashion, making a pointed line at its upper edge. A finely tucked plastron of white satin is almost hidden by a folded stock and tie of soft silk in robin's egg blue, figured with white and black.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 7, "Rich Toward God"—Text, Luke, xii, 13-21.

"Take heed and beware of covetousness."

Because the soul occupies the body for awhile and should be served by the bodily powers instead of being itself held in thrall by fleshly appetites. Eating and drinking are pleasurable, but are not the chief ends of life. Development of soul powers is the true occupation. For this the body exists, with all its cravings and impulses. Things are to be got and used to supply physical needs so that the soul may grow. Other things being equal, the healthy soul does best in a healthy body. But not every strong, healthy body is tenanted by a pure and healthy soul. A surfeit of good things in eating may cause nausea or dyspepsia. Wrong drinking may cause death. Wisdom in use of good things is necessary or sickness is contracted in the midst of abundance. More people die of luxury than of famine, more from drunkenness than of thirst.

Feed, clothe and house the body so it can best house, clothe and feed your soul. Study the soul powers, appetites and cravings and then feed and nurture them and make the physical life their highest good.

Abundant harvests are cause for thankfulness. Business prosperity and advance in wages should be taken gladly, but the man who takes his increased wealth and puts it into more mills, farms, horses, houses, ships, stocks and home luxuries for his own selfish gratification and aggrandizement may be counted in the community as prosperous and may be envied by the crowd, but God knows and all wise men know and he will by and by know and all the world will eventually see that he was a—fool. He fed his pride and starved his soul.

"What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow all my fruits and my goods?"

There is one thing above all others don't do, don't crib them up. Your cribs already hold enough for your feeding. The same fields of exertion will yield future rich harvests. God can send such increase as to burst all your granary doors off their hinges. He never expected you to eat all you can raise. What is the use of being a glutton because there is more than you can eat? Ship these harvests where men are hungry. Use what you need and then fill the need of others. That is business, that is common sense, that is religion. You are here to make the biggest possible harvests, not the largest barns. A hoarded harvest is worse than useless. It feeds rats and vermin instead of men.

Covetousness is the dyspepsia of the soul. It is as foolish as it is unnecessary. It attacks all classes in society. What a man can use measures his capacity. Study how to use your goods, not how to pile them up. Enlarge your springs, but don't dam up the waters too long lest they stagnate. Not swamps, but fertile meadows are needed. Let the waters flow. Use your means, and your soul shall grow.

President of the League.

The president of the league is always a bishop chosen by the board of bishops. At the last general conference in May Bishop Isaac W. Joyce was appointed to the office to succeed Bishop W. X. Ninde, who in turn had succeeded Bishop James N. Fitzgerald, who was the first president of the society.

Bishop Joyce resides in Minneapolis. He is well fitted by temperament and training for this new responsibility. His bearing is genial and approachable. Deep spirituality has marked his work in the pastorate, from which he was elected to the episcopacy. He is scholarly and has also had the benefit of extended travel. He was recently in the orient for two years in charge of our church work in China, Japan and Korea. Increased efficiency may be expected in the league under his leadership.

No simulation of sincerity can take the place of conviction. Genuine earnestness of soul has a ring which no other combination of interests can successfully imitate. Its peal is like deep toned music of sweetest bells. It is the voice of an aroused soul, and it strikes the like tone in similar souls and wakes their vibrations in harmony with itself. It is truth in action. Compound all the falsities of the world, combine them with greatest skill, mold them in all ingenious forms and chime them to any tune you please, they shall never rouse them to heroic deeds. Brass may glitter and resound, but though it burst asunder in the effort it shall never shine like gold nor have its resonance.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 7.—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Rich toward God.—Luke xii, 13-21.

THE PARABLE.

Christ had been speaking to the multitude concerning hypocrisy, the importance of dangers that threatened the soul and God's providential care of His people. In the midst of such a discourse He was interrupted by one who had been thinking of worldly things while Christ had been speaking of spiritual things. The interrupter asked Christ to make his brother divide an inheritance with him, but He refused. This was a legal question and belonged to the courts of justice for settlement, but back of this aspect of the case a moral question was involved. The question was inspired by covetousness, and therefore Christ warned the questioner against this sin and enforced His warning by the parable of the foolish rich man. A rich man's ground brought forth plentifully. He decided to increase his barns to hold his enlarged products. He exulted in his riches and decided to live a selfish and sensual life upon them. But God said: "Thou fool; this night shall thy soul be required of thee. Then whose shall these things be which thou hast provided? So is he that layeth up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God."

THE INTERPRETATION.

The rich fool in this parable represents the man who sees in riches the chief end and aim of life and not a means to the end of serving God and his fellow men. He lives for himself and desires to be rich for purely selfish purposes. He places earthly wealth above heavenly treasure. This man was not a fool because he was rich nor because he enlarged his barns when his crops greatly increased. He was a fool because he looked upon his riches as his and not God's, because he thought he could feed his soul upon material substances and because he took no account of the fact that he had no indefinite base upon life. So is every one who, like this man, lays up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God.

THE APPLICATION.

This parable sets forth what it is not to be rich toward God rather than what it is to be rich toward God. Richness toward God does not consist in material wealth. "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." A man may be wealthy and at the same time rich toward God, but mere worldly riches do not insure spiritual wealth, but are often a barrier to it. Richness toward God is spiritual wealth. To be rich toward God we must be "rich in faith," "rich in good works," rich in the spiritual favors and blessings of our God. This is the true wealth. It is not taken from us at death, but is an eternal possession. Let us seek to be rich toward God, to lay up treasures in heaven, rather than to lay up treasures for ourselves, our own selfish aims and purposes. Earthly treasures may vanish in a night, but heavenly treasures endure forever.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have the parable explained, followed by an open voluntary service.

BIBLE READINGS.

I Chron. xxix, 14, 15; Job xxxi, 24-28; Ps. xx, 7, 8; lii, 1-9; Prov. xxiii, 4, 5; Math. vi, 19-21; Mark x, 23-25; I Tim. vi, 17-19; Jas. ii, 5-9.

Things We Know About Heaven.

Heaven belongs to the unseen. It belongs to the spiritual, and, therefore, cannot be fully known as long as we are in the material. It belongs to the perfectly holy, and, therefore, much of what might be known cannot be perceived or comprehended, for the natural man cannot know things of the Spirit of God, for they are spiritually discerned. No one returns to tell his experience or describe to us what he has seen. Angels' feet are always upon the ladder going from us to God and returning to minister to us, but they minister in silence. We hear no voice as they serve. There are many questions we would like to ask, many questions we do ask, but neither by the written word nor by vision in the night is any answer given. Heaven lies beyond the domain of the present life, and we must wait until we come into the fullness of the Spirit, until we enter the higher sphere of being, before we can know or comprehend its realities and glories and blessings. Such knowledge is as yet too wonderful for us. It is high; we cannot attain it.—United Presbyterian.

Each to His Own Place.

One may hesitate to speculate about the circumstances of the other world, but one can never crush out the conviction that there must be one place for St. John, who was Jesus' friend, and another for Judas Iscariot, who was His betrayer. One has seen sheep and swine feeding in the same field till evening and has followed until the sheep were gathered into their fold and the swine ran greedily to their sty. The last complaint that would have occurred to one's mind was that their owners had separated them, the last suggestion that they should be herded together. What was fitting had happened. It was separation according to type.—John Watson, D. D., in "The Mind of the Master."

President Porter's Advice.

President Porter of Yale college once gave the following laconic advice to the students in the course of an extended address: "Don't drink; don't chew; don't smoke; don't swear; don't deceive; don't read novels; don't marry until you can support a wife; be earnest; be self reliant; be generous; be civil; read the papers; advertise your business; make money and do good with it; love God and your fellow men."—Lutheran Observer.

What the American League Success Has Proven in Baseball

THE season of the American league just concluded is regarded by the magnates of that baseball organization as the most important in the history of minor leagues. Because of the several new financial backers in the American this year and its experiments in the territory of the national league—in Chicago—the progress for several weeks of the season was like that of the battleship Oregon in strange seas off the coast of China—the lead going all the time to sound the depth.

But the chief executive of the league is satisfied that the American has done well, that the public has patronized the game liberally and that fast, clean and spectacular ball has been played.

B. B. JOHNSON, PRESIDENT AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Of course there are many critics who will find fault with the opinion of President Ban Johnson. But the good-natured "Bannie" is set in his opinions, and he brought the recalcitrant managers to his way of thinking about the punishment of offenders in the matter of rowdy ball. I have it from Mr. Johnson that all the magnates of his league on the closing day of the season, assured him that his efforts for clean ball, although they visited punishment on players, at times when the teams needed the services of the men, have the unqualified praise of all concerned.

At first glance the incongruity of Charles A. Comiskey's White Stocking team representing Chicago, winning the pennant, seems to be the most marked of the season. How a team with the ridiculously low batting average of about .260 and which has on it no player who participated in 100 of the season's championship contests with a batting average .300 or better should assume to lead in the fight for the bunting and hold it until the season ended, would puzzle all except those who made the American league ball games a special study. If the critic were a partisan friend of the National league team he would say that "mighty poor ball" was played by the other teams that finished below the White Stockings. If he were but a casual patron of the minor league games he would say that there must have been opportune hitting and plenty of speedy base running. In my humble opinion the sole reason that Capt. "Dick" Padden and his "promiscuous team" won the pennant, was due solely to the extraordinary efforts of the pitching staff, the intense loyalty of several of the hardest-working ball players in any league, the desire of the team to help Comiskey to the front place for the sake of the "crowing" that the magnate could do when his rival of the National league, President

CHARLES COMISKEY, OF CHICAGO.

James A. Hart, essayed to show the relative merits of the Orphans and the White Stockings, and lastly to the great individual efforts of Center Fielder "Dummy" Hoy, Catcher Joseph Sugden and Pitcher Roy Patterson. Harmony in great chunks was always in evidence in the Chicago team. Manager Comiskey would not permit any cliques in his team. He did all the managing and his players had to "stand around" at the sound of his gruff voice.

"Billy" Hoy, the mute, who used to play the outfield for Cincinnati in the big league, and who is one of the best ball players in the business, only hit .265 this season, but he was easily the best centerfielder and led all the players of the league in the matter of runs made. Heading the White Stocking batting list, he was the kind of a man that worried the opposing pitcher into many a present of a base on balls, and by his speed on the bases often scored the deciding run for his team.

Patterson batted less than .300, but he won a large percentage of his games and takes the honor of being the best twirler in the American, National, Western or other minor leagues in the item of percentage of runs made off his delivery. Catcher Sugden, playing all sorts of positions on the team, batted close to .290 and fielded .969, but his hits were of the kind that drove in runs and counted for something. No baseball employe in any league worked harder or more conscientiously, even when trained down too fine to show his best form and when too sick to do himself justice than did "Hard Luck Joe."

Comiskey, in brief, says that his team won the pennant because the men pulled together, and although there were no stars among the men, there was an absence of "big heads." "Harmony proved to be better than big individual batting averages," said Magnate Comiskey. "We had an awful lot of hard luck with men disabled and in having to present crazy line-ups in many games. Teams that win half of their games abroad and three-fourths of the contests at home, have pennant chances. We were in that class and won the bunting. Its was not until June that the team struck its gait and, rising from fifth to first place in the league, the team seemed to be never in any real danger of being headed.

President Johnson likes to tell of the great article of ball put up by the teams of his league. He says that the fans got greatly enthusiastic over the sort of ball that was displayed, and overlooks no opportunity to praise the work of the umpires that he selected for his staff.

"The vicissitudes of baseball," continued Ban Johnson, "are shown by the pennant race. Teams that were awarded the flag before the season was two weeks old, fell woefully, while others with apparent strength were regarded with misgivings. A pennant has been brought to Chicago for the first time in many years. Consistent team work gave to this White Stocking club what few fans would admit was their destined portion. Milwaukee has been liberal in the matter of spending money for good players, and the management has made friends in the Cream city because of the great effort made to land in first place.

"Indianapolis for many weeks played the strongest game of any American league team, but it was chiefly for its great fight for every point in the face of many disappointments that the fans thought so well of the Hoosier team. Although third in the race, Indianapolis is not outclassed by any means. Detroit, under new ownership, has been a unique team. Magnate Burns saw where improvements had to be made, and lost neither time nor opportunities to make changes. Fourth place comes to the tigers by reason of their wonderful spurt in the latter part of the season. Our genial friend, James Manning, the Kansas City magnate, has had a prosperous season, it is true, but his team does not deserve the hard luck that has come to it. Manning lost his great first baseman John Ganzel to the National league and got Sam Duncan as one of a trio of men in exchange. Everitt and Phyle did not relish the trade and did not go to Kansas City. Dungan seems to lead all the batters of the American league.

"Cleveland has had much experimenting, but the enterprise of Magnate Somers, to whom expense has been no object, will leave its mark on baseball. The newcomers in the league may be congratulated for their good fight. They will have a fine team next season if the past enterprise of Cleveland magnates is any criterion. Minneapolis is a disappointment to Magnate Saulspaugh and Manager Wilmot. Playing great ball when the opponents were putting up their best article of play, the Millers seemed fated to get into a slough of despondency. Changes were made in the team at vital times and of course these turned against the managers in results. Buffalo was early picked for a high place, but misfortunes came to Magnate Franklin. The team was just getting a fast gait when several of the players left and despite the rallying of the men, a berth down in the second division was the best they could get.

"I hold that the American league is no longer a minor league. Its teams are the peer of those in any league. We have a great future which will unfold in due time. There may be some stir in due time.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Pingry football team was defeated at Elizabeth Wednesday afternoon by the Westerleigh Collegiate Institute of Brooklyn by a score of 11 to 0. The game was quite fast in spite of the heat. This was the first game in the Interschoolastic contests between preparatory schools of New Jersey, New-York and Long Island. Two touchdowns were made by the visitors, both on fluxes.

ROD AND GUN.

A fishing party composed of G. W. V. Moy, Joseph Sattel and Dr. Gaston journeyed to Ross Dikes yesterday and were rewarded with a fine catch of weakfish, kings and lafayettes.

Pure Water Now.

The Water Supply Company today drew off the water from a portion of the borough in order to get rid of the foul-smelling water that came from a new main recently laid in the vicinity of Watchung and Codington avenues. The water is perfectly pure, the company say, and householders need not fear to use it, as the odor is only the result of some imperfectly-lined mains and they will be shut-off after they are blown-off and the trouble will then be obviated. Another theory is advanced that the large tank on the mountain side may be the cause of the trouble, as the water in it is not renewed every day like the one at Netherwood, and, therefore, the water in it may have become dead. It was emptied today by Manager Amos Andrews, and will remain empty until necessity requires it to be filled.

Suspicious Characters.

The police were notified at an early hour this morning that suspicious characters were loitering about the residence of Mrs. Simmonds on Watchung avenue. Upon going to the scene, however, no one could be found in the vicinity.

WORK WAS STOPPED.

Central Railroad May Have to Get Permission of City to Build Rail in Front of Depot.

Work was begun this morning on the proposed rail in front of the North Avenue station which the Jersey Central Railroad intends to put up to mark the line where the hackmen stand. There was a general and emphatic protest from all the hackmen when they discovered what was to be done.

Street Commissioner Gavett notified the contractor who was building the rail that it would be well to stop work for a while until it could be definitely settled whether the railroad company had any right to erect the rail without first getting permission from the Council. The contractor complied with the request and went to New York to consult with the railroad authorities.

The railroad company included the rail in its plans for the station improvements, which were approved by Building Inspector Doane. The stand then taken was that the roadway in front of the station is the property of the railroad company and that the company consequently has a right to build there with permission from the building inspector. The city's view is that the property in question has become part of North avenue and is in the city's charge, and permission from the Council will be required to erect anything there.

G. O. P. SMOKE AND TALK

THIRD WARD REPUBLICANS MET IN THE CASINO.

Frank Bergen and Assemblyman Foote Discussed the Issues of the Campaign.

Republicans from the Third ward, to the number of several hundred, together with a few of the leaders from the other wards, assembled at the Casino last evening for the smoker of the Third Ward Republican Association. There was plenty to smoke and a good programme with a few political speeches through the evening.

Cigars were passed to the guests as soon as they entered. At 8:30 the programme began. Robert Rushmore, chairman of the entertainment committee, introduced Gregg Paddock, of New York, who appeared in burnt cork and sang some coon songs and told some funny tales.

After Paddock's part was completed, Roger F. Murray, president of the association, introduced the speakers of the evening. Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, was the first speaker. Mr. Bergen then touched briefly on the issues which were before the people and said that free trade and free silver had been voted down by the people so that the Democrats had narrowed down their arguments to the question of imperialism and the trusts.

Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, of this city, made a short address. He said that it was the people and not the politicians which made the issues and decided which was the paramount issue. He was of the opinion that free silver was really the chief plank in the Democratic platform, and that the other so-called "issues" merely served to blind the voter on the real issues of the campaign.

He spoke on trusts and said that they were the local result of commercial development. There was both good and evil to be found in the large combinations of capital and he believed that the Republican policy to regulate them by Congressional enactment was far better than to abolished them altogether as the Democrats wished to do.

Ransom, a clever magician from New York, did some wonderful things. With the aid of "spirit writing" he discovered who was to be the next President. He said that it was McKinley and the audience shouted its approval. Paddock sang another song and the programme was over.

MISS MAIR'S WORK.

African Missionary Tells of Her Experiences While in the Dark Continent.

Miss Rachael G. Mair, who has recently returned from the missionary station station at Liberia, Africa, told something of her life and experiences as a missionary at the mid-week meeting at Warren chapel last evening. She returned to Plainfield only a few weeks ago. She was formerly connected with Warren chapel.

Her talk was a decidedly interesting one and told of a great work. She has been stationed among the natives of Liberia and, throughout her stay, was well treated. The natives were quiet and inoffensive and fairly industrious. Miss Mair devoted much of her time in teaching the natives to care for their bodily welfare and, under her direction, they greatly improved the condition of their village.

While she had no wildly thrilling experinces, Miss Mair told some very interesting happenings which she witnessed during her stay there.

CODDING CLAIMS UNION BY 4,000.

Republican County Chairman Predicts a Big Majority for His Party in This County.

170 NEW CITIZENS MADE.

ELECTION OFFICIALS COMMENCE THEIR WORK NEXT TUESDAY.

Third Ward to Have Another Smoker in the Last Days of the Campaign—Other Political Notes of Interest.

C.N.Codding,chairman of the Union county Republican committee, gave out Thursday afternoon at Elizabeth the first forecast of the election yet announced officially by the committee. "The result in Union county,"he said, "will be a Republican majority of 4,000, at least, and there is every probability that 5,000 will be nearer the figure. We will carry every city, borough and township in the county. The interest shown in this campaign is greater than at any time since I have taken an active part in politics. In every district and community there. are organization for hard party work."

The Italian voters of this city will hold a meeting tonight in the rooms of the Italian Society on Richmond street. Action will be taken regarding the support of the candidates in the National election and also their support in the city election.

The Democrats of Burlington county held their convention Thursday and disposed of the business with neatness and dispatch. The looked-for contest over the Senatorial nomination failed to materialize, as former Prosecutor Eckhard P. Budd, who was backed by quite a large delegation, declined to allow his name to be presented, his reason being that Senator Howard E. Packer, of Burlington, had accepted the nomination three years ago, when it seemed a forlorn hope, and, therefore, the honor should not be withheld from him now, when there was a brighter chance of success.

The entertainment committee of the Third Ward Republican Association is planning to give another smoker at the Casino before the campaign ends. The next one will probably be open to the voters of the city instead of that ward alone.

The local election officers will start Tuesday morning to make the house to house canvass of the voters in their respective districts. The canvass has nothing to do with the political parties but is simply to get a list of voters for the registry. The regular days for registry will then follow and those whose names may have been skipped in the house-to-house visitation will be added. A heavy registration is expected this year.

Union County Court of Common Pleas held a special session Thursday night at the courthouse for naturalization purposes. Judge Vail presided and 170 new citizens took the oath of allegiance to the United States and will vote at the coming election.

A meeting of the Republican city campaign committee will be held in Republican headquarters Tuesday night.

A Socialist Labor Party Club has been organized by a number of young men living in the East End. At a meeting held Wednesday evening the following officers were elected: Albert Banks, president; Joseph Berg, vice-president; William Waters, secretary and treasurer.

There is some talk of the Fourth ward Republican campaign committee giving a smoker in connection with the mass meeting Oct. 15th, at which Congressman Fowler will speak.

All borough Democrats are invited to be present at a meeting to be held in Eggerding's new store on Somerset street Tuesday evening for the purpose of forming a Democratic club. The election of officers will also take place at that time.

Fourteenth Annual Convention.

The fourteenth annual convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union will be held at the First Presbyterian and Bergen Baptist churches, Jersey City, next Wednesday and Thursday. Mayor Hoos will formally open the convention with an address of welcome at the Bergen Baptist church. It is expected that fully five thousand delegates and their friends will be present from every part of the State. The local union has arranged to accommodate the delegates who will be unable to return to their homes at night.

Adjourned for a Week.

The case of the Plainfield Beef Company against Adam Fritz, on contract, has been adjourned for another week in Justice Smalley's court.

IN THE THEATRICAL LINE

ATTRACTIONS THAT ARE COMING TO MUSIC HALL.

Barney Gilmore Will be Here Next Tuesday Evening, to be Followed by Several Good Pieces.

Because of the failure of the company playing "The Slaves of the Orient" to keep their engagement made with Manager Maze Edwards, there has only been one dramatic performance at Music Hall this week—that of Tuesday night last, when "Uncle Sam in China" was presented. It was a startling affair, in which the shooting of guns, the American flag and heroic American sailor dominated to the intense delight of a good sized gallery. The scenic effects and acting of Laurens Hascall were very good.

Barney Gilmore, who was seen here two years ago with his former partner Leonard, will on next Tuesday night, present his new play entitled "Kidnapped in New York." Mr. Gilmore has been starring in this play all last season and is credited with great success all over the country. He is a very clever character comedian, of pleasing address and considerable dramatic ability. The basis of the play is the celebrated abduction case of the little Marion Clark girl, which attracted so much attention in New York about a year and a half ago. It has been utilized by Howard Hall the author in constructing a four act sensational melo-drama. Of course the various incidents afforded abundant material—much more in fact than could possibly be incorporated into a four act drama. His work is described as full of "heart interest" as he could introduce in limited space. Naturally the central figure of this element is a child. Gorgeous scenery is promised for the production, as well as vivid, life like pictures of the celebrated kidnapping.

A large company of competent players will interpret the various characters. Mr. Gilmore appears in the role of Mr. Dooley, the detective. The company will be under the direction of E. J. McCullough.

Billy Hallman, the famous Philadelphia ball player,is with Mr. Gilmore's company.

Two grand performances of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be given Saturday afternoon and night by Stetson's famous company, under direction and management of Leon W. Washburn, and this is guarantee that it will be a splendid show. No manager in the country can vie with Mr. Washburn in the presentation of this ever-popular drama. He was the first manager that ever played the piece as a traveling attraction, and every season he is adding new features until now it would seem the limit has been reached. The coming performances are said to be superior to any yet presented, while the street parade will be of surpassing interest. A colored female brass band, drum corps, allegorical wagons, ponies, bloodhounds and a second brass band of soloists all participate in the parade, which undoubtedly will attract thousands.

"Human Hearts," a beautiful play by Hal Reid, who wrote "Knobs of Tennessee" and other fine plays, will be seen the following week, and this will be followed by Miss Marion Manola in the successful play "L'Ami Fritz"—a romantic comedy, "Coon Hollow," and "Hogan's Alley."

SILVER ANNIVERSARY.

Councilman and Mrs. James Craig Married Twenty-five Years—Entertained Friends.

The home of Councilman and Mrs. James Craig, of West Front street, was the scene of a merry gathering last evening on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. There were about seventy-five people present from this city, Dunellen, Poughkeepsie, New York and other places.

Sociability was the watchword of the evening and the host and hostess saw to it that everyone enjoyed themselves. Music, games and dancing made the time pass all too quickly and the serving of refreshments brought the evening's enjoyment to a close.

The guests departed wishing the celebrants continued happiness and prosperity and many happy returns. Mr. and Mrs. Craig were the recipients of a large number of useful and handsome presents appropriate to the occasion.

Rent Not Paid.

Constable Gjetelson,acting as bailiff for P. M. French, retained the goods of Daniel Snyder & Son., the Somerset street millers, this morning. A horse and wagon belonging to the firm was taken to Roberts' stables until a settlement of matters is made. The attachment was made to secure rent due.

BUILDING ACTIVITY ALL OVER THE CITY.

Last Month Building Inspector Doane Issued Permits for Sixteen New Houses.

TWO WILL COST $7,000 EACH

OPERATIONS NOT CONFINED TO ANY PARTICULAR SECTION.

The Second Ward Shows Up Well—Cost of the Houses in Course of Construction Run From $3,000 to $7,000.

On every side of the city new houses may be seen springing up. The activity in building circles is not extreme, but shows a healthy steadiness which is very encouraging. During the month of September Building Inspector T. O. Doane issued sixteen permits, eight of which were for new residences of more or less elaborateness. They run in cost from $3,000 up to $7,000, and are now being built in all parts of the city.

There is much activity going on in that portion of the West End bordered by Monroe and Grant avenues and Fourth and Eighth streets. Permits were granted to the Plainfield Real Estate Company for two new houses on Hobart avenue, near West Seventh street, which will cost $7,000 each. They are charming frame residences, designed by Oakey & Son. Seaman Williams is doing the mason work and J. C. Manning the carpenter work.

A $3,000 cottage is being erected at 510 West Fourth street for Edward F. Maynard. Fred L. Lancaster was the architect, William Thompson the mason and McNally & Hoffman the carpenters. On West Third street, the house, No. 531, has been moved to the rear of the lot and a 3,500 frame store and dwelling is going up in its place. K. Sacker is the owner. A. C. Rogers drew the plans and Mundy Brothers are building it.

The rest of the new buildings are in the Second ward. Fred I. Smith is building a $3,500 frame cottage on Buckley avenue, near Leland avenue. John Lloyd, who is doing the carpenter work, designed it. Cormick Caufield is the mason.

A pretty dwelling is being erected at 515 Woodland avenue by Cornelius Van Herwerden. It will cost $4,500. F. L. Lancaster was the architect. Cormick Caufield and D. W. Force hold the contracts. A $5,000 frame dwelling, of pretty design, is being built by Mrs. Belle LaRue on Park lane near Belvidere avenue. Architect F. L. Lancaster prepared the plans. W. Mundy and David Arthur, Jr., have the contracts for the building.

Contractor Cormick Caufield is doing the mason work on a $5,000 residence on LaGrande avenue, near Richmond street, of which he is the owner, and has given out the contract for the carpenter work to B. Young. Jacob Wind, Jr., was the architect.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

Washington Hall Will be Used by Jeffersonian Club Once a Week Till Election Day.

Arrangements have been made for the use of Washington Hall on West Second street by the Democratic Jeffersonian Club for four nights between now and Election Day. Able and interesting speakers will be secured to expound Democratic gospel and one meeting will be held each week.

The next meeting will be held in the hall next Thursday night. It is expected that Captain Charles Campbell, chairman of the Marine Industrial League, will be the principal speaker. Captain Campbell is on the staff of the speakers sent out by the National Democratic committee, and is regarded as one of its best talkers. There will probably be other speakers the same evening.

Rev. Mr. Tomlinson's New Book.

Rev. Everett L. Tomlinson, of Elizabeth, has published a new book entitled "In the Hands of the Redcoats." The scene is laid on the Jersey shore and is a tale of the revolution of the people in these days. Critics pronounce it "a truthful picture of actual conditions and of many forgotton or ignored features of the Revolution. Its author holds a firm place among the favorite writers for American youth.

A Testimony Meeting.

Seely Edsall will conduct a testimony meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Sunday at 4:15 p. m. Harry Clifford Lott, of the choir of the Crescent Avenue church, will sing and the new hymn book will be used. The Physical Director will meet all young men interested in his Bible class at the close of the Sunday afternoon meeting.

"KLONDIKE" MEN CUT TO TWO-THIRDS TIME.

Aluminum Plate and Press Company Employes Will Work Only 40 Hours a Week

ORDERS GIVEN OUT TODAY.

SUP'T LEARY SAYS ELECTION UNCERTAINTY CAUSED IT.

No Men Will be Laid Off, But All Will be Put on Short Time Unless Big Orders Are Received at Once.

The one hundred and twenty-five men employed in the Aluminum Plate and Press Company factory in this city were notified by the various gang bosses this noon that until further notice the shop would run on two-thirds time, and the men would be paid two-thirds of the amount of wages that they have been receiving. This order came as a great surprise to the men, as it was understood that the company had a large number of orders an hand and that work would be brisk throughout the winter as a result.

Jerome Leary, superintendent of the factory, was seen by a Press reporter this noon. Mr. Leary said:

"The factory's output will have to be curtailed for the present owing to the uncertainty of the result of election. We have nearly all our present orders for presses filled, and owing to the reluctance of prospective customers to order until the election is settled we have decided to work on two-thirds time. None of the present force of employes will be laid off, but all will work eight hours a day for five days in a week. On Saturdays the factory work will be suspended entirely. We are negotiating for the sale of several presses now, and if the deals should be consummated then it is likely that we would start up on full time most any day."

The arrangements are that the men will go to work at 8 a. m. and work till noon. Then work will be resumed at 12:30 and stopped at 4:30 p. m., giving forty hours work a week. With the exception of the half-holiday season the men at this factory have always worked sixty hours a weeks.

The Aluminum Plate and Press Company has been regarded as one of the most substantial and best industries in Plainfield. Its factory has the reputation of being the fairest to the employes in the city, having earned the sobriquet of the "Klondike" by reason of this policy among the workingmen.

DOG WAS SURELY MAD.

OTHER CANINES THAT WERE BITTEN NOW HAVE RABIES.

Walter Hetfield Kills Two Dogs That Were so Affected—Others Will be Killed.

All doubt has now been set aside as to whether the small dog which ran amuck in the city and borough several weeks ago was afflicted with rabies or merely in a fit.

There has been any number of people who have treated the matter lightly, declaring the dog was not mad.

Those interested have been informed by the Pasteur Institute, to which the carcass of the dog was taken, that the animal was rabid. The report was strengthened by the fact that a dog belonging to Morris Van-Arsdale, of the borough, which was bitten, began to show the first symptoms of rabies yesterday. The dog was promptly shot as was three belonging to Walter L. Hetfield, which were also bitten. There were a large number of other dogs bitten, and the owners of these have been notified to shoot them.

The two children bitten, the daughter of Frank Rowley, and Michael Kennedy's little son have taken the full treatment at the Pasteur Institute and have been placed out of danger. The treatment if taken in time is thorough and lasting, and no fears need be entertained of any future trouble. Should a higher tax be placed on all dogs, as was discussed in the Borough Council last night, the community would no doubt be rid of a number of worthless curs, thus lessening the danger of future trouble of this kind.

Surprised Miss Beeching.

A party of fifteen members of the Primary Teacher's Union went to Watchung yesterday afternoon and surprised their friend, Miss Nettie J. Beeching, who is president of the Union, at her home near that place. They went by trolley to the Gap and then walked over to Miss Beeching's home. Although the visit was a complete surprise, Miss Beeching promptly made her guests at home and a very pleasant afternoon was spent.

BUSY EVENING AT G. O. P. HEADQUARTERS

Plans Made for Mass-Meeting and for the Work in the Various Wards.

TO DISTRIBUTE SPEECHES.

IMPORTANT CITY AND WARD COMMITTEES MET LAST NIGHT.

Second Ward Association Prepared to Secure Funds—Fourth Ward Organization Put on a War Footing—Other Committees Met.

Unusual activity prevailed at the Republican headquarters in the Marsh building last evening. A string of the local workers of the G. O. P. passed in and out most of the evening. The governing bodies of two of the ward organizations met there and meetings were also held of two of the sub-committees of the city campaign committee. It looked like real campaign work.

Details of the mass meeting in Music Hall, Oct. 15th, when Congressman Charles N. Fowler will speak here, were arranged at a session of the sub-committee on mass meetings. Besides the Congressman it was decided to have the three candidates for the Assembly. LaVere's Band has been engaged for that night and will give a concert preceding the opening of the meeting. Plans were laid for some good singing at the meeting. The chairman and honorary vice-presidents will be announced later. The policy of inviting the ladies to attend the Republican gatherings will be followed out and seats will be reserved for them.

Campaign literature is to be found at the headquarters in plenty but very little has yet been put directly in the hands of the voters. The sub-committee of literature held a short meeting during the evening and arranged for the starting of the work of distributing speeches and other campaign documents in the city.

The question of finance was the chief topic of discussion at the meeting of the board of managers of the Second Ward Republican Association, held in the city committee room. The ward was divided into districts which were assigned among the members of the finance committee and an immediate appeal will be made. A lengthy list of names were proposed for membership in the association and they will be acted upon at the meeting next Friday evening.

Twenty-five auxiliary members were invited to meet with the members of the Fourth ward campaign committee to effect a more efficient ward organization. The officers were elected at a meeting of the committee last week. The chairman was instructed to appoint committees on finance, canvass and rules. His appointments will be announced at the next meeting of the Fourth ward committee Monday evening. There was a general discussion of the work to be done in the ward before election.

ACTING POSTMASTER GEN.

W. M. Johnson Has Charge While Mr. Smith is Campaigning—Says New Jersey is Republican.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Oct. 6—"W. M. Johnson, Acting Postmaster-General," is the way New Jersey's well-known citizen is now affixing his name and official title to scores of official documents at the Postoffice Department each day. The new First Assistant Postmaster-General is now and will be for some days acting head of the department, in the absence of Postmaster-General Smith, who is out on a speechmaking tour for the Republican ticket.

In the course of a conversation Mr. Johnson's attention was called to the fact that the Democrats still insist on putting New Jersey in the doubtful column. He was asked as to the situation in that State. He promptly replied:

"New Jersey is as absolutely safe for McKinley and Roosevelt as is Pennsylvania, and I don't believe that anybody who knows anything of the political conditions there will for a minute claim that it is a doubtful State."

MISSION WORK PLANNED

MEETING OF WOMAN'S GUILD OF CHURCH OF THE HOLY CROSS.

Much Good Has Been Accomplished During the Past Year as Shown by the Reports.

The Woman's Guild of the Church of the Holy Cross held its first fall meeting last Tuesday afternoon in the parish house at 3 o'clock. The meeting was largely attended, over twenty-five members responding to their names at roll-call.

The greatest interest possible was shown by all, thus evincing the spirit of activity that will prevail during the winter months. Mrs. Downey, chairman of the missionary committee, read an excellent report, mapping out the work for the coming months, insisting upon the value and importance of missionary effort to the church at large, urging all to take a more personal and deeper interest in the missionary work of the parish.

Mrs. Frank T. Browne, chairman of the altar committee, read an admirable paper upon the work incumbent upon that committee, and after defining the requirements for that particular work, urged all to a more faithful duty, pointing out in a very forcible way that personal self-consecration was the first requisite in that work. Through the efforts of the committee and the generous donation of the guild it has been enabled to import from London thirty new cassocks for the choir which will be used for the first time tomorrow.

Miss Phillips, chairman of the Church Periodical Club, outlined the work of the committee.

Over 1,200 papers and periodicals were sent out by the committee during the past year. The postage alone amounting to $27, which item is enough to attest the great good done by this branch of the Woman's Guild.

Several committees did not report.

The Industrial School, which was so ably conducted by Mrs. J. O. Stevens, as chairman, last year, will be under the same management this season. The work in this department has been very flattering and productive of most excellent results. The school began its career with 30 pupils and when it closed last June there were 150 names on the roll. The children are taught all kinds of plain sewing, embroidery, mending, etc. The school will open Saturday afternoon, Nov. 3d, at 2 o'clock.

A report from Mrs. Townsend, chairman of the social and sales committee, was read, speaking of what had been done by this committee last spring. The proceeds of the last two two entertainments amounted to $119.

The treasurer's report showed the finances of the Guild to be in a healthful condition with a balance of over $68.

BOROUGH PRIMARIES.

Delegates Elected Last Night to the Democratic County Convention to be Held Monday.

The Democrats of the borough held their primaries last evening to choose delegates to the county convention at Somerville Monday and also to select members to the county committee. The meetings were very quiet.

The meeting in the first district was held in the school house on Somereet street. It was called to order at 8:05 o'clock by Dennis Gavin, a member of the county committee. W. J. Conroy was made chairman and William Kiely secretary. Charles Emmons and Levi Kline elected delegates.

The Democrats of the second district met in the basement. Walter Limbarger, of the county committee, called the meeting to order. The chairman was Bert Bodine and Walter Limbarger was secretary. The delegates chosen were Harry Watson and John Emmons. Lewis R. Bird was elected to the county committee.

Christian Endeavor Officers.

The semi-annual business meeting and election of officers of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church was held at the residence of A. C. LaBoyteaux, of Fairview avenue, last evening. The following officers were elected: President, Frank O. Bristol; vice-president, Miss Louise Jenkins; secretary, Miss Marion Woodcock; treasurer, Clarence LaRue. There was a discussion on the advisibility of the society conducting a series of meetings outside of the church but no action was taken. Then there was also routine business.

New Safe for Postoffice.

The old safe was removed from the Plainfield postoffice to the new substation in the borough yesterday by one of William Hand & Son's trucks. The new safe at the postoffice has been in use for some time and so the old one was sent where it could be utilized.

Councilman Clark Demands That the Stipulations be Strict—Proposition for Sewage Disposal Received.

The regular monthly meeting of the Borough Council opened last evening with every member present, including Mayor Smalley and Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed. After the minutes of the previous meeting were approved the usual number of bills were read and referred to the proper committee. The treasurer's report for the past month was given as follows: Amount on hand September 1st, $1,454.91; total receipts, $5,967.53; disbursements, $3,856.17; on hand October 1st, $2,111.36, divided as follows: Borough fund, $1,783.11; Watchung avenue fund, $328.25. The resignation of E. E. Pope as a member of Warren Engine Company was received and accepted. Dr. J. H. Buchanan was appointed a member of the same company.

The appointment of Phillip C. Voorhees by Mayor Smalley as a regular marshal in the place of J. W. Kliner was received. The Mayor declared that since Kliner's resignation he had wished to secure a suitable man in his place and that after careful consideration he thought Voorhees was the right man. The appointment was confirmed.

Chairman Clark, of the street committee, reported disbursements for street work during the past month to be $750.01 and for the past eight months $4,545.68. The cost of street sprinkling up to date, including wagons, has been $1,206.84.

Mr. Lee, chairman of the committee on marshals, reported that there had been seventeen arrests made in the borough during the month of September, ten for being drunk and disorderly, three for disturbing the peace, three for disorderly conduct and one for keeping a disorderly house. The sum of $19 was reported received as fines. The clerk reported that in accordance with the borough ordinance he had compared the duplicate tax books for the years 1897, 1898 and 1899 and found they agreed to and including September 30, 1900. A resolution was offered by Mr. Valiant authorizing the clerk to borrow $2,500 for one month.

A most important resolution was then offered by Mr. Lee. It is one entailing considerable energy in carrying it to a successful issue and if done so will reflect great credit upon the borough as being the pioneer in the movement. The resolution was as follows:

Resolved, that the law permitting deductions, from the taxable values of the real estate of the amount of notes discounted at banks by the owners of such real estate, is pernicious and unjust and tends to encourage the tax shirker and, Resolved, that the Mayor and Council of North Plainfield do hereby petition the Legislature of the State of New Jersey to repeal said law and do invite the assistance to this end of other municipal governing bodies throughout the State and that the borough clerk send a copy of this resolution to the clerk of each town, borough and city in New Jersey.

The resolution was freely discussed by the members of the Council before adoption and it was generally agreed that it was an excellent one.

The ordinance of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, petitioning the Council for permission to lay underground conduits in the borough, was to have come up on its second final reading. Mr. Clark reported that the committee was not yet ready to refer it for adoption, as they wished to make certain changes in it before doing so. He thought that the company should deposit $450 with the borough clerk as a guarantee that they restore the streets to their proper condition, and that in case the work should not be done to the satisfaction of the street commissioner that the latter do it and charge the company for the expense involved; also that the street commissioner should determine the location of poles and that consent must be obtained to erect new poles by a new ordinance. He further declared that before granting the ordinance the company should be compelled to paint all poles now in

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The Klaw & Erlanger Comedy Company, headed by Max and Gus Rogers, presenting John J. McNally's new farce, "The Rogers Brothers in Central Park," at the Victoria Theatre, has made a hit such as has never before been scored in the metropolis by an attraction in this field of entertainment. The Rogers Brothers have a very wide following in New York and their annual appearince at the Victoria has always proved an important theatrical event in that city. This year Klaw & Erlanger have provided a more elaborate and attractive vehicle for the famous comedians than last year, or the year before. The success of the new piece seemed to be in the air days before the opening and the house, for almost the entire first week, was sold on mail orders before the advance sale began. "The Rogers Brothers in Central Park" is a fun show of the prettiest kind, and one seeking excuse for laughter can find it in ample quantity here. The story teems with comic situations and is closely interpolated with eighteen high-class specialty features, which give a large company of twenty principals and a chorus of forty as pretty girls as have ever been seen on a New York stage, opportunity to display themselves at their very best. The entire piece is a whirlwind of action and old critics, who have seen everything produced in years, said on Monday night that they had never seen such a rapid-fire show.

* * * * * *

At Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre New York, week of October 8th, the features will be McIntyre and Heath, the burnt-cork minstrels, who will show to Broadway a new negro farce, "The Man From Montana." It is said to be funnier than anything they have yet produced. Others are: Cheridah Simpson, in a novel musical inning; Wright Huntington and Company in his comedetta, "A Stolen Kiss;" three Power Brothers, bicycle experts; Imogene Comer, baritone; Brothers Bard, acrobats; West and Williams, talking comedians; Davenport Bros., "The Tramp and Waiter;" J. W. Bingham, ventriloquist; the Kalatechnoscope and others.

NOTED SOUTHERNER DEAD.

Captain Kell of the Famous Confederate Ship Alabama.

SUNNYSIDE, Ga., Oct. 6.—Captain John McIntosh Kell, adjutant general of Georgia and one of the most noted men in the south, died at his home near this place last evening at 6:30 o'clock. He had been in bad health for a long time. He was 77 years of age. At the age of 16 Kell was appointed a midshipman in the navy. He served with distinction in the Mexican war and was present at Mount Airy, Cal., when the United States flag was hoisted over the territory. He was later an officer in Commodore Perry's expedition to Japan.

In October, 1856, he married Miss Julia Blanche Monroe of Macon. A brief service at Norfolk and 18 months at Pensacola constituted his only duties on shore while a member of the United States navy. Upon the secession of Georgia he tendered his services to his native state and in May, 1861, reported for duty to Captain Raphael Semmes at New Orleans, where he served with the Sumter. Later he was with Captain Semmes as executive officer of the Alabama, the famous Confederate cruiser.

After the loss of the Alabama he returned to the Confederacy and was given command of the ironclad Richmond. In 1886 he was appointed adjutant general of Georgia, which office he held until his death.

TO SPEND THIRTY MILLIONS.

Pennsylvania Railroad's Plans For the Long Island Road.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—The executive officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad company have about completed plans for the expenditure of $30,000,000 in improvements and extension of the Long Island railroad.

In an interview Captain John P. Green, first vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, said that when the work is finished Long Island will be the finest summer resort in the world, and all points of it will be easily accessible.

The old management of the Long Island railroad, he said, made no effort to secure summer travel, the train schedules being notoriously slow and inconvenient.

The Long Island railroad has had a charter for a tunnel under a part of Brooklyn and the East river to the center of the down town section of New York city for some time, but no work has been done. Captain Green says that this tunnel will be completed as soon as possible and that passengers will then be carried from a point south of the city hall to the suburbs of Brooklyn in a few minutes, and through trains will be run from New York to all parts of Long Island.

Centennial of Johnstown, Pa.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 6.—The first day of Johnstown's centennial celebration found the city overflowing with visitors, and enthusiasm reigned supreme. The weather was bright. Never before in the history of Johnstown have the decorations been so pretty and so elaborate. A fantastic parade opened the celebration yesterday morning. In the afternoon Governor Stone made a brief address and laid the cornerstone of the new municipal building in the presence of 15,000 persons. Ex-Governor Hastings, Mayor Woodruff and others also spoke. Music was furnished by a children's chorus of 1,200 voices. At night there was an illuminated bicycle parade, and a patriotic mass meeting was held in the opera house. The celebration will continue today and tomorrow.

Mule Spinners May Strike.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Oct. 6.—Unless the American Yarn company grants an increase of wages to the mule spinners employed in its mill in this city at once a strike will be ordered and the 8,500 spindles in the mill will become idle. Secretary James Cliffe of the Rhode Island Mule Spinners' association had a conference with the management of the mill and stated that the association would sanction the strike. The spinners claim that they are paid 30 points per 100 skeins below the standard wages, amounting to a difference in their earnings of about $2 per week. They say that this standard is paid in other mills, and they have demanded that their wages be put on this basis.

Duke's Gifts Increased.

RALEIGH, Oct. 6.—Washington Duke of Durham has given another $100,000 to the endowment of Trinity college. Mr. Duke's gifts to Trinity college within this decade now amount to $500,000, and the gifts of the Duke family during this time amount to more than $600,000. This does not include the amount given by Mrs. J. B. Duke of New York for a library building to be erected during the present year. Mr. Washington Duke has made larger gifts to southern education than any other native southerner in the southeastern states.

Steel Mills Resume.

JOLIET, Ills., Oct. 6.—The billet mill and converter of the Illinois Steel company, closed a few days ago, will resume Monday next, employing about 700 men. The rod mills are now the only important departments closed. After being idle three weeks for repairs the Pressed Steel Car company will resume next Monday, putting on double turn about 500 men.

Reform In Dawson.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 6.—Dawson no longer has gambling establishments, dance halls and kindred diversion. A wave of vigorous reformation emanating from the government at Ottawa has swept the city of its vices and left it, according to the passengers who arrived from the north on the Dolphin, in the perfection of morality.

Self Government For Schools.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—An important experiment in education has just been undertaken by a local public school, which has adopted the new plan of pupil self government successfully tried in the John Crerer school of Chicago. Prominent educators are interested in the scheme.

Child Thought to Be With Gypsies.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 6.—A child discovered with a band of gypsies near Hawley, Pa., is believed to be Lucy Conklin, 5 years old, who mysteriously disappeared from her home at Guymard, near here, two years ago. Investigations are being made.

Cattle Afflicted With Tuberculosis.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 6.—A dairy of 14 cows belonging to Gabriel Eaton of Unionville, condemned by the state inspector as suffering from tuberculosis, was killed yesterday. The post mortems showed the cows to be diseased as claimed.

THE END DRAWS NEAR

Symptoms of Early Settlement of Mining Strike.

INDIVIDUAL OPERATORS FALL IN LINE

Offer of Ten Per Cent Advance Likely to Become General, and It Is Thought Miners Will Soon Accept.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 6.—The belief prevalent here that the anthracite coal strike is approaching an end is considerably strengthened by the action of the individual operators in following the lead of the big coal carrying and coal mining railroads by offering a net increase of 10 per cent in the wages of their employees. The first break among the individual operators in this district was made yesterday when A. Pardee & Co., operating the Cranberry and Crystal Ridge collieries, offered its employees a 10 per cent net increase in wages and a reduction in the price of powder to $1.50 per keg. The decrease in the price of powder is to be taken into account in the advancing of the wages. That four more of the individual mine owners will make the same offer is hardly doubted.

It was learned that before the advance was made public by the Pardee company several of the general superintendents of other individual coal companies were invited to the Pardee company's office in this city for the purpose of giving their views on the proposed offer. Those present besides Frank Pardee, manager of the Pardee mines, were: E. S. Bullock, C. M. Dodson & Co., Beaverbrook; T. D. Jones, Brook Mountain Coal company; John Leisenring, Upper Lehigh Coal company, and A. W. Drake, Coxe Bros. & Co, Drifton. These representatives did not say what their companies would do, but it was learned that the consensus of opinion was that if the mine owners wish to keep their collieries in operation they will have to increase the wages of their men. None of the superintendents at the meeting would say anything in regard to the report that the coal carrying roads had made concessions to the individual operators in the matter of freight rates. It was told by a prominent mining official who would positively know if the railroads had conceded anything that as far as he knew the railroads had not reduced the rates to any individual company in this region.

President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers is much interested in the advance made by the individual companies, but would say nothing for publication. There is a strong belief here that Mr. Mitchell is waiting for all the coal companies in the anthracite region to offer the 10 per cent increase before he will call a joint convention to consider the proposition. Mr. Mitchell would say nothing on this particular subject. He has all along advocated unity of action, and it is that which strengthens the opinion that he will call the convention after all the companies have made an offer.

In the meantime the men now on strike, said to number 138,000, are not wavering under the proffered increase in wages.

In the Lackawanna and Wyoming districts not a mine is working. The conditions remain about the same in the Lehigh valley region, while in the Schuylkill district more men have laid down their tools and quit.

A WAITING GAME.

Acceptance of the Operators' Offer Seems Quite Probable.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 6.—The crisis in the coal miners' strike seems to be approaching. As was stated in dispatches from here Thursday, both sides are playing a waiting game, and each imagines that it has the winning card up its sleeve. The statement of President Maxwell of the Central Railroad of New Jersey in New York that the companies have made all the concessions they propose to make bears out the statement made from this city that the companies would offer no additional inducements for the men to return to work. The report from Scranton is also significant. It is said that the individual operators will all fall in line and give their employees the 10 per cent increase granted by the big companies. It was predicted that this would be the case.

A well known operator here said that there was an understanding at the meeting of the representatives of the big companies and the individual operators in this city last Tuesday. According to the understanding the notices of increase were not to be posted all at the same time, but gradually. This part of the programme has now been carried out. The companies and nearly all the operators are now in line for a 10 per cent increase.

It is now up to President Mitchell to decide what he is going to do in the matter. If he delays action with the idea in view that the operators will make a better offer, he is liable to delay a settlement of the strike indefinitely. An analysis of the 10 per cent increase offered shows that the average miner's wages would not be increased full 10 per cent should he return to work, but it is argued that it is better than nothing; that it is a victory after all for the strikers; that it is the entering wedge and that if the United Mine Workers keep their organization intact they can compel the operators to make further concessions in the years to come.

Mass Meeting Planned.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 6.—Arrangements have been completed by the local branches of the United Mine Workers for a big parade and mass meeting here this afternoon. Invitations have been extended to all the strikers in the Shenandoah and Mahanoy valleys to take part in the affair. The principal feature of the demonstration will be an address by National President John Mitchell. Organizer Harris sent representatives to all the neighboring towns and mining "patches" to notify the unions there of the proposed demonstration. Several thousand placards were distributed announcing the event and calling on all mine workers to attend in force. Mr. Harris says he expects about 15,000 men and boys to be in line. General Gobin said that while he did not apprehend any disturbance he would order no more troops home until after the demonstration. Edward J. Coyle, who was shot during the riot here Sept. 21, died early yesterday. He was 50 years old and is survived by a widow and nine children. Coyle was not a participant in the riot. He was hit by a stray bullet.

ROUNDING UP BOXERS

Von Waldersee at Work Between Peking and Tien-tsin.

REFUSED TO RECEIVE EARL LI.

Emperor William's Reply to Kwang Su Caused Rejoicing In Shanghai. Rapid Progress Expected In Settling Matters.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—From its correspondent at Shanghai the Lokal Anzeiger has received a dispatch saying that Count von Waldersee has begun systematically to clear the country between Tien-tsin and Peking of Boxers. Li Hung Chang, according to the same authority, left Tien-tsin under Russian escort, deeply depressed because Count von Waldersee refused to receive him.

The Frankfurter Zeitung's Shanghai correspondent wires that rinderpest has broken out at Kiao-chau.

There was great jubilation among the foreigners in Shanghai when they learned of the nature of Emperor William's reply to Emperor Kwang Su.

A high official of the foreign office asserted that the second German note had met with a warm reception everywhere. "The Chinese question," said he, "will now make more rapid progress toward solution so far as the powers are concerned. All, however, depends upon the attitude of the Chinese government."

Referring to the note of M. Delcasse, the French foreign minister, the official refused to give details, but intimated that it contained some new points calling for friendly discussion among the powers, in which the German foreign office expects that an agreement will be speedily reached. He said furthermore that the French note contained some points "already superseded by very recent diplomatic events."

Official circles here lay great stress upon the entire harmony between M. Delcasse's proposals and Germany's latest suggestions regarding the punishment of the guilty. It is understood that the other points in the French note do not press for decision.

The following dispatch from St. Petersburg has been semiofficially issued here: "The Russian government assents to the proposals in Count von Bulow's note of Oct. 1. M. de Giers, the Russian minister at Peking, has been instructed in that sense."

REBELLION SPREADS.

Southern China Greatly Stirred—Several Missions Destroyed.

HONGKONG, Oct. 6.—Southern China is in a state of great excitement. A rebellion is threatened in Kwaisin, where the Chinese regular troops seem to be unable to maintain order. In the Canton district there has been anti-Christian rioting, and several missions have been destroyed.

The general position of foreigners is unsafe owing to the imminence of a native uprising.

General Tschitshagoff reports a fierce struggle between his forces and the Chinese at Tungginchin, Manchuria, on Sept. 22.

The Russians numbered 600 and were strongly intrenched. Most of the Chinese were cut down. The Russians lost 7 killed and 15 wounded.

Skeletons Unearthed.

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—Workmen employed in digging a trench between two of the timber sheds at the lower end of the Charlestown navy yard unearthed several human skeletons. The remains were found beneath a large tree only a short distance from the old timber dock. The officers of the navy yard are wondering where the skeletons came from. One theory is that the skeletons are those of British soldiers who were killed at the battle of Bunker Hill.

Six Day Cycle Race.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—This year the six day cycle race will be held in Madison Square Garden Dec. 10 to 15. Applications have been received for entry blanks from all quarters of the globe, and the probabilities are that the list will be larger than ever before. There will be a number of long distance men from Europe who will come here bent on capturing laurels and American dollars.

Will Return to the Transvaal.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The foreign office has received the following dispatch from the British high commissioner in South Africa, Sir Alfred Milner: "The refugees will begin to return to the Transvaal Oct. 16 at the rate of about 1,000 weekly. It will take at least three months to repatriate those who are waiting in South Africa."

Mark Twain Coming Home.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), who, with his family, leaves for the United States today, told a representative of The Daily Mail yesterday that it was more than likely that he would revisit England next summer.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Four teamsters, for many years employed at the Elmira reformatory, have been discharged. They were friends of former Superintendent Brockway.

A FAKE BOOK AGENT.

Government Employs No Salesmen For Its Publications.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Acting Secretary Meiklejohn has been advised that a short time ago a young man called at a house in Augusta, Me., and presented a card on which was printed: "Committee on distribution; official records, Washington, D. C. Represented by Arthur J. Chalmers."

The young man, Chalmers, was dressed in a uniform like that of officers of the army, except that it lacked shoulder straps and had as collar and cap ornaments the letters "W. R." He informed the gentleman of the house, who happened to be an officer of the army, that he (Chalmers) represented the war records office, of which General Marcus J. Wright had been for 20 years the head, and he wished to sell the "Records of the Spanish War."

The work proved to be a pictorial account of the late Spanish war, published under a misleading title.

Of course the officer refused to subscribe, as he knew the canvasser was misrepresenting the facts and had no right to wear such a uniform. Fearing the public might be deceived, he reported the matter to the war department. The department, however, already had acted by bringing the subject to the attention of the postmaster general for such action as it was possible to take.

It is also stated that the General Marcus J. Wright referred to is a subordinate employee of the department. He never was at the head of the war records office. That office ceased to exist on the 30th of June, 1899, and neither it nor any other office or bureau of the war department has had anything whatever to do with the work in question. It is purely a private enterprise and is in no sense an official publication of the government. No one has had access to the official records for the purpose of compiling and writing it, notwithstanding the statement on the title page of the book that it was "compiled and written directly from the official records at Washington."

Mr. Meiklejohn says the public should not purchase from canvassers books or other publications purporting to be issued by the government, for it should be known to all that the government never sends agents about the country to solicit subscriptions to public documents. Such books, maps and other publications as are for sale by the government are sold at cost price. They can always be obtained from the proper officials.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Failures Decrease Compared With Second Quarter of the Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Commercial failures during the third quarter of 1900 were 2,519 in number and $27,119,966 in amount of liabilities. Defaults of manufacturing concerns numbered 607 for $12,617,390, of traders 1,779 for $11,745,140 and of other commercial 133 for $2,757,466. Financial failures were 14 in number and $5,544,858 in amount. Compared with the same three months of last year there was an increase of 518 in number of commercial failures and $9,479,024 in amount of liabilities. As the mortality was lighter last year than at any time since 1881, the increase this year is not surprising nor alarming. That there appears a decrease of $14,604,883 compared with the second quarter of this year and $5,902,577 compared with the first three months of 1900 shows to what an extent business has recovered from the prostration which followed inflated prices and overproduction during the exceptional activity of preceding years.

The anthracite settlement has been delayed another week, and the effect upon business in the east is more apparent, though distribution in the west and south seems no less active. Seasonable weather in the east would quickly aid matters. Prices are slightly lower in iron, wool, coal and sugar, but the produce and textile markets are firm, and in all departments of business an effort by distributers to increase transactions would quickly advance prices.

Wheat is steady. For the week Atlantic exports were 3,252,994 bushels, flour included, against 3,562,062 in 1899. After the end of September there was a decline in the price of corn for the current month's delivery, but elevator prices remained firm, and receipts for the week were only 4,840,802 bushels against 7,679,540 last year, while Atlantic exports were 2,144,610 bushels against 2,992,232 a year ago. Lower stocks at Chicago caused a sharp rise in prices of pork products. Cotton prices are maintained near the top. Mills are not active, as the present price of raw material is out of proportion to quotations ruling in the goods market. Refiners reduced sugar to 5¾ cents for standard granulated, but supplies are low.

Failures for the week were 208 in the United States against 134 last year and 23 in Canada against 20 last year.

Robledo's Violent Speech.

MADRID, Oct. 6.—Senor Romero y Robledo, who in 1896 was minister of justice in the cabinet of the late Senor Canovas del Castillo, has caused a stir by a violent speech dealing with the political and economic situation of Spain. He declared that if matters were to continue long as they are now revolution would be inevitable. Although he has always been a stanch supporter of the monarchical principle, he hinted that in certain eventualities he would espouse the Republican cause. He warmly eulogized the "Union National," a widely ramified organization now agitating for drastic administrative reforms and economies in the public service.

Akron Rioters Indicted.

AKRON, O., Oct. 6.—The special grand jury called to investigate the rioting on the night of Aug. 22 has completed its sessions after continuous sittings for five weeks. Sixty-six true bills were found and 45 indictments returned, a number being indicted on two or three counts. The crimes charged are rioting, arson, dynamiting, burglary and shooting with intent to wound and illegal use of firearms. The majority of those against whom indictments were found are mere boys or dissolute characters of the town.

Prizefighter Unconscious.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—At the Industrial Athletic club last night Steve Flanagan of Philadelphia, ex-champion bantam weight of America, fell unconscious in the sixth and last round of a contest with Jimmy Devine, a local boxer, and lies in a critical condition in a hospital. Flanagan's manager, Bob Delaney, and Jimmy Devine and the seconds of both fighters were placed under arrest pending an examination of Flanagan's condition.

The Wisconsin Is Fast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—A record breaking trip was made by the new battleship Wisconsin from Seattle to this city. She ran from Seattle to Point Bonita light, 806 miles, in 59 hours. The steamer Queen, which has the reputation of being the fastest boat on the coast, arrived from Seattle the night before, having made the voyage in 65 hours. The Wisconsin's average speed for the run was 14 knots.

New Drydock For Newport News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The navy department has received prints of the new drydock at Newport News, projected by private parties, with the statement that it will be ready to receive vessels next spring. This is one of the largest drydocks in the world, capable of receiving two battleships at the same time. It is over 1,000 feet long. It is viewed by the department as a valuable adjunct to the service.

Butter Dealers Arrested.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 6.—Alexander Hamilton, secretary of agriculture of Pennsylvania, came to Pittsburg yesterday, and within four hours after his arrival 400 butter dealers in Pittsburg and Allegheny were arrested for selling oleomargarine. FOREIGN ORDNANCE.

Artillery of European Powers Inspected.

IMPORTANT CHANGES PREDICTED.

Rapid Fire Guns to Take the Place of Heavy Fieldpieces—Higher Velocity and Smaller Caliber For Coast Defense.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Captain Beverly W. Dunn of the ordnance bureau has returned from Europe, where he spent several months in the study of ordnance matters in England, Germany, France, Belgium and Switzerland. He was able to secure much valuable information regarding the manufacture of ordnance and found the army officers of the European governments very accommodating in giving their methods and views. Captain Dunn, in the preliminary report he has made to the ordnance bureau, says that all ordnance officers as well as field officers of European armies believe the subject of field artillery is one of the most important being considered. They think that the development of this artillery has reached a very critical stage and that there is about to be great and important changes.

The interest is intense, and the belief is general that field artillery is to be the most important part of modern warfare. Events in the Philippines, the war in South Africa and the campaign in China, it is said, have made this apparent. European officers are working in the direction of rapid fire guns almost exclusively. They desire to secure rapid fire guns and if possible preserve the present degree of mobility, but they are inclined to sacrifice a little in time in bringing the guns into action in order to secure the greatest effectiveness from quick firing.

As to coast defense and fortifications Captain Dunn reports that the tendency is toward longer guns with a higher velocity and smaller calibers. In this the European war officers approve the position of the United States. It is believed that the new type of gun will be more effective than heavy guns of large caliber, but with shorter range.

Captain Dunn reports that the European officers are well aware of the importance of keeping abreast of the times in all kinds of gunnery and ammunition and are watching with interest everything the United States does in this direction.

Mr. Bryan's Indiana Tour.

ANDERSON, Ind., Oct. 6.—The meeting which closed here at 10 o'clock last night was the last of a series of remarkably large political demonstrations made in connection with the appearance in Indiana of Hon. W. J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate. Mr. Bryan left Indianapolis early yesterday morning with the intention of visiting during the day as many places as possible in what is known as the gas belt of the state, and in pursuance of that purpose he almost circled the city of Indianapolis, visiting no fewer than nine counties and making an even dozen speeches. The speeches were made in succession at Noblesville, Arcadia, Tipton, Elwood, Alexandria, Marion, Hartford City, Muncie, Winchester, Richmond, Newcastle and Anderson. A majority of these places are important manufacturing centers, and all the communities traversed are considered Republican in politics. They could not, however, have given the Democratic candidate a more cordial reception than they extended if the sentiment had been pronouncedly for him.

Mackey's Illness Serious.

DANSVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 6.—William F. Mackey, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor of New York, is ill in bed at the Hyland House in this village. He was advertised to address a meeting in the opera house here. He arrived on the noon train and was suffering from a severe attack of acute rheumatic gout. A physician worked with him all afternoon and until just before time for the evening meeting. Although unable to walk without assistance, Mr. Mackey attended the meeting and made his speech, although suffering intensely all the time. After the speech he was taken to the hotel, and his attending physician thinks he can get him out again in a few days.

General Buckner Returns.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—General Simon B. Buckner, who ran for vice president of the United States on the National Democratic (gold standard) ticket in 1896, has arrived here. He has been absent in Europe for six months, visiting, among other things, the Paris exposition. He leaves for his home in Kentucky in a few days. He said that he did not learn of the death of General John M. Palmer, who was the candidate for president on the National Democratic ticket, until he arrived in Boston. He spoke in the highest terms of the simplicity of character and the sterling worth of General Palmer.

A Mud Flood Feared.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 6.—The recent torrential rains, which have been frequent, have led the people of Managua to fear a repetition of the mud flood which descended from the neighboring volcanic mountains 24 years ago and covered the principal streets of the city to a depth of five feet. President Zelaya, the ministers and the members of congress still remain in the city of Grenada, where the executive and legislative branches of the government are conducting business.

Robbed of Money and Jewels.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Journal says that Dr. and Mrs. Yeatman Wardlow of Columbus, O., were robbed of jewels worth $2,000, $246 in cash and a draft for $587 at their hotel in this city last week. Dr. and Mrs. Wardlow were on their honeymoon trip, having been married in Asheville, N. C., Sept. 24. The robbery was committed by a sneak thief, who escaped through a window, being seen by Mrs. Wardlow.

Vardon Wins by Two Strokes.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Before the largest gallery that ever witnessed a golf championship in America Harry Vardon, former champion of Great Britain, won the United States Golf association open championship from Great Britain's premier golfer, J. H. Taylor, by the narrow margin of two strokes on the Chicago Golf club links at Wheaton.

Team Pacing Record Broken.

CANTON, O., Oct. 6.—At Minera fair, 15 miles east of here, Sid Scott and Nicol, owned by C. A. McMahon of Canfield, broke the world's record for a pacing team on a half mile track, doing it in 2:13. The former record was 2:13¾.

The Philadelphia Times, which recently underwent a change of its political heart, coming out strong in favor of the Democratic ticket, now declares "New Jersey is one of the fairly debatable States in the present National contest, with chances much in favor of the Democrats, if they shall be equal to their great opportunity. The State is naturally Democratic, but was swung from her long invincible Democratic moorings by the political confusion of 1896, after nearly a quarter of a century of unbroken Democratic victories. The State gave the Democrats 12,445 majority for President in 1876; 2,010 for President in 1880; 4,412 for President in 1884; 7,149 for President in 1888, and 14,974 for President in 1892. In the political hurricane of 1896 McKinley carried the State by 87,692 plurality; but in the contest of 1898 for Governor, in which the Democrats were yet discordant and only half-hearted, the Republicans were successful by only 5,499 majority."

United States Senators Sewell and Kean, and Franklin Murphy, chairman of the Republican State committee, had luncheon together yesterday in New York. Senator Sewell, in reply to an inquiry, said: "Everything is lovely in New Jersey—for our side, I mean, of course. The State, it seems safe to say now, will give a majority of 30,000 for McKinley and Roosevelt. There are some small disturbances in one or two counties, but they will be straightened out before the election, and the Republicans will come out all right."

The Democratic convention for Union county will be held Thursday, October 18th, this date being fixed at the meeting of the county committee in Elizabeth yesterday afternoon. The primaries for the election of delegates to the convention will be held the evening previous. The convention will nominate three candidates for members of Assembly from this county and one candidate for Coroner.

Planning for Corn Supper.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church met yesterday afternoon and took up the work for the fall and winter. There was a large attendance of members, including several visitors. Four new members were elected and arrangements perfected for the success of the corn supper on the evenings of Oct. 18th and 19th, in the lecture room of the church.

At the Democratic Convention to nominate candidates for Congress from the Sixth New Jersey district, held in Newark last evening, the only name presented was that of William N. Coler, Jr., a brother of Controller Coler, of New York. Frank M. McDermitt, of Newark, who was a candidate for the nomination, withdrew. Mr. Coler was nominated without opposition.

The Republican State Committee's sub-committee on vacancies yesterday afternoon, nominated DeWitt C. Blair, of Belvidere, Warren county, as Republican candidate for Presidential and Vice Presidential elector in place of Luther Kountze, of Morristown, who is in Europe, and therefore failed to qualify and could not return to this city to do so.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

We find in the Plainfield Daily Press an account of a remarkable case recently tried in the Somerset County Court in New Jersey. A farmer sold a horse to a resident of Somerville, who gave in payment a promissory note for $50, payable by its terms 100 years after date. The farmer says he did not notice the time of payment until his attention was called to this provision at the bank at which he offered the paper for discount. He thereupon became greatly excited "and promptly brought suit against the man who gave it." We are not told what was the form of this suit or what relief the plaintiff sought—whether he sued to recover the amount of the orginal debt, or to have the note reformed on the ground of mutual mistake, or to recover damages on the ground of fraud. Only the result is thus stated: "The case came up in court at Somerville. The defendant claimed that he was perfectly able and willing to pay the note when it became due, but protested that there was no law which compelled him to do so before that time. It was black and white on the note and the Judge had nothing left to do but to dismiss the case." It is scarcely credible that an intelligent man should agree to wait 100 years for the price of a horse and we can hardly believe that the decision goes so far as to hold that such was the contract.—New York Sun.

DOG SCARED THEM

Shepherd Dog Ran Down Third Street Snapping at Different Objects.

The residents of East Third, near Washington streets, were treated to a scare yesterday noon by a shepherd dog alleged to be mad. The dog is said to have belonged to Mrs. Curtis, of East Third street, and that it had been loosened on showing signs of madness. The animal ran down Third street snapping at everything but fortunately biting no one. It took refuge in the areaway of the residence of Mrs. Anderson on the same street. It was finally killed by Patrick Melvin and a bystander by a few well directed shots from a revolver.

ROYAL

ABSOLUTELY PURE

BAKING POWDER

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality or wholesomeness.

The highest grade and most highly refined ingredients only are employed in Royal; hence its well known superiority.

It is always the case that the consumer suffers in pocket if not in health by accepting cheap powders as substitutes for Royal Baking Powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is cheaper and better at its price than any similar article in the world.

Care must be taken to avoid baking powders made from alum. Such powders are sold cheap, becausethey cost but a few cents per pound. "Just as good and cheaper" is a fraudulent cry, intended to deceive the unwary. Alum is a corrosive acid, which taken in food means injury to health.

the borough and those to be erected at any future time.

Mayor Smalley, however, was in favor of a speedy adoption of the ordinance as the company was anxious to complete the work before the widening of Somerset street should begin. As Mr. Clark insisted on more time in which to secure the above conditions, the question was finally settled with the understanding that when the Council adjourned, it was to meet again in two weeks, at which time the matter will be settled.

Considerable discussion was caused by a motion made by Mr. Swackhamer to confirm the allowance of rent made by the Collector on a repaid assessment on the property at 29 Watchung avenue previously sold for unpaid taxes. Mr. Vallant objected to the motion on the ground that he had not been previously informed. The motion, however, was confirmed.

The question of placing a higher tax on dogs was then brought up by the Mayor and a general talk on the subject followed. There were arguments for and against a higer tax, some of those present strongly opposing it. Referring to the recent mad dog in the borough the Mayor stated that several persons were bitten, and it was the intention of some of them to claim damages from the borough. There are 332 taxable dogs in the borough, and with a higher tax on each the damages might be easily paid from the amount obtained. The question was opposed by Mr. Reed and others,and in the discussion witticisms were freely exchanged. However, no definite action was taken.

Before adjournment Mayor Smalley stated that Leonard Spangenberg was present and would like to talk to the Council a few moments on the question of sewage. Mr. Spangerberg informed the members that his object in appearing before them was in the anticipation of a sewage system being established in the borough in the near future and that he merely wished to explain to them the Doughty method of filtration which the inventor is experimenting with on the Plainfield sewer beds at the present time. A petition is now before the City Council for an appropriation to establish a plant. A sample of sewage treated by the process was shown the Council after which Mr. Spangenberg explained the system thoroughly and invited the members to be present at a demonstration to be given at the sewer beds next Monday.

To Extend Gas Main.

At the general desire of the residents of that section, the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company is preparing to extend its gas main on West Front street from Waynewood place to Grant avenue. It is the intention of the Company to take up the old main on Front street from Central avenue to the present end of the line before the street is macadamized and lay a larger main which will be continued through to Grant avenue.

Dunellen, Oct. 6—A pleasant sociable was given in the Presbyterian church last evening by the Junior Y. P. S. C. E. A large number of the young folks were present and a good time was had by all. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. The Automobile Coats of Fashionable Lenox

They Are a Distinctive Feature of the Fall Styles at This Resort

NEWPORT'S gayeties have been transferred to Lenox. The fashionable doings at Lenox differ from those of Newport quite as much as fall differs from the heat of summer. Lenox is in the country, a fashionable country to be sure, but it is country just the same, with all the country's conveniences or inconveniences, as one wishes to class them. One's nearest neighbors instead of being in the next yard are a mile or more away, at least one's fashionable neighbors. In past years this has led to the maintenance of smart turnouts by the wealthy "farmers" from the city, but this year the auto has taken the place of the horse, and the auto coat, and the auto gown, and the auto hat are in demand.

A CHARMING COAT OF PUTTY COLORED CLOTH.

The uninitiated might not be able to distinguish the difference between the auto costumes of this year and the carriage customs of previous years, but there is a difference—it is the difference between the fashions of 1900 and the fashions of 1899, or some other year that is past. True the carriage coat of last year would have answered the purpose of an auto coat for the same time, and did to a limited extent, but no one refers to a fashionable driving coat this year as anything but an auto coat, for the auto is the fad of the season at Lenox.

Along the well-kept roads of Massachusetts in the neighborhood of the fashionable fall resort one sees any number of the horseless vehicles containing many crowds of wealthy pleasure seekers, and the women of the party all gowned in the latest that smart fashion demands.

A NOVEL AFFAIR OF FINE GRAY CLOTH.

These auto coats, which are quite as much a fad as the vehicles themselves, are to be commended, for they combine cozy comfort with elegance and fashion, three things which are not always seen together. They are made of handsome cloths, such as tweeds, broadcloths, covert cloths and the new reversible cloths. They are handsomely trimmed with stitchings, silks, embroideries, appliques of velvet or lace, and some are braided and have strapped seams, while buttons figure largely in their elaboration.

A description of a few that may be seen on the road almost any day may give a better idea of what they are like. One, for instance, is of putty-colored broadcloth. In style it is along the lines of the so-called Venetian fashion; knife plaited into a shaped yoke, and of three-quarter length. The sleeves turn back between the elbow and wrist, giving place to fuller sleeves of putty-colored satin. This is put into a band of the cloth, and fastened on the outside with an enamel button. Five enamel buttons fasten the yoke of the coat. Like all of these coats, it is elaborately lined with an extremely fancy and brilliant self-colored brocade.

To go to another that is quite as attractive, though entirely different, I will describe one made of a delicate gray cloth. This one boasts of a very unique double collar, the top one being of the cloth closely stitched, and the one underneath fashioned of exquisite embroidery and open work in the same soft shade of gray. The sleeves are on the very wide, bell-shape order, finished with rows of stitching. It is lined with chine brocade, bringing in a touch of blush pink with the gray.

Another that is far less elaborate, though quite as attractive in many ways, is of the thickest and softest of Scotch tweeds in a tabac brown, the reverse side being cream, with stripes of brown and yellow. The coat is double-breasted, with eight handsome pearl buttons. A turn-over collar and pointed revers showing the stripes of brown and yellow, with cuffs of the same.

One of a more brilliant color was in a dark navy blue tweed, the reversible side of which was a lighter blue with a narrow stripe of white. It was made double-breasted, having pointed revers, and a square collar of velvet, also deep pointed cuffs of the same. It was ornamented down the front with carved white pearl buttons.

DOUBLE BREASTED COAT OF REVERSIBLE CLOTH.

Another that was even more brilliant was a reversible tweed of brilliant red, with very narrow stripes of black and white, the reversible plaid being used for a round turn-over collar, and rounded revers. It had large bell-shaped sleeves, revealing the plaid on the inside. Down the front were carved black bone buttons.

The autumn girl has another fad that runs in an intellectual way. It is a fad that was cultivated at the summer resorts and has now been transported to the autumn pleasure places. She talks of the occult sciences, of the various cults, and above all else, the wars. This latter subject has led her into geography and history more extensively than she has known since her school days, and she talks glibly of places in China, South Africa and the Philippines. A reason for this is to be found in the lecturers who found such a profitable field among the resorts during the summer. When society could think of nothing else with which to amuse itself, it went to a lecture because lectures were fashionable.

Dealers say that women are buying only the thinnest silk and lisle hose and that even when cold weather comes, the heavier hose will go begging. Extravagant foot dressing has become a mania, and no little thing like health or comfort can interfere with it. The stockings are more and more beautiful, and one house is showing an exclusive line of black gauze silk hose, with a web like tracing of gold thread above the slipper, and caught in the gold meshes on the instep a small inserted butterfly of point lace.

WILL INVADE JAVA.

Two Expeditions Expect to Find Missing Link There.

American Party Is in Charge of a Yale Man and Is Backed by a Vanderbilt—Will Hunt for Pithecanthropus.

Search for the pithecanthrophus, the "missing link" in Darwin's theory of the evolution of man, is now under way, with the money of a Vanderbilt behind. David J. Walters, a student of Yale, backed by George Vanderbilt, left New Haven on September 1, and expects to take up his still hunt on the island of Java about October 15. Prof. Haeckele, of the University of Jena, and one of the most noted scientists of Europe, will leave Jena about the 1st of October on the same quest, and the race may be to the swift.

Several of these animals are said to have been seen in the forests of Java, and every effort of the two men will be bent toward securing a specimen.

The pithecanthropus belongs to the ape family. Its name comes from the subdivision pithecia, of the family cebidae. Scientists have credited its existence accordingly as they have accepted the Darwinian idea of the origin of man. Stories of the creatures have come from travelers and from natives of the jungles—stories even to the carrying off of women by this strange creature, which so closely is allied to man.

Credence is given to these stories by the followers of Darwin, for the reason that of all the known members of the ape family none approaches near enough to man in general attributes to be accorded the place of missing link. All of them have marked likenesses to man in many physical features, but none is a convincing proof of the theory in itself.

Briefly, the Darwinian philosophy holds that all animal life began with a few primtive forms of living organisms. Granting that of all these present forms man is at the top, the question is: How did he get there and from what lower order? Darwin held that man was not necessarily a developed ape; only that far back in the history of world-building the man branch of the ape stock diverged from the normal, and that it continued through ages to develop along the lines of its differentiation.

In a great measure the study of the known apes and monkeys had been disappointing to scientists, who would have made man a direct descendant of the ape group. Four of the best representatives of the group now known are the gorilla, chimpanzee, orang-outang and gibbon. But no one of these approaches man more nearly than another, and all fall far short.

The brain of the oran-outang, with the convolutions, is more nearly like that of man than is the brain of any of the others. But, on the other hand, the body of the gorilla is most like the body of the man. It is here that such intense interest lies in the pithecanthropus. If in brain, skeleton and general physical outline it can show a more marked likeness to man—can fill in the gap so palpably open in the present genealogical chain of the human race—it will mean much to the science of anthropology and to the whole theory of evolution.

Tracing the tracks of man back through the ages, the scientist has found many gaps in the fossil history of the creation. Even primitive man burned or buried his dead, and there are ages which never will yield their secrets to the scientist. Yet his research into the customs, rites and manners of savage tribes point to a lower origin for even these rude species. Again, as pointing to this evolution of man, the scientist has found rudimentary organs in man, showing departures from the ways of life of his ancestry. As for example, the well-defined ear muscles in man could not have been of use to him had he been born to his present high estate.

The question of the missing link 25 years ago was more in the public ear than it is now, but to-day it has not been answered. If the pithecanthropus shall give evidence in support of the Darwinian theory, it promises to be quite as welcome as it is now unnecessary.

Indians Who Are Civilized.

Five civilized tribes of Indian territory—the Creeks, the Chickasaws, the Choctaws, the Cherokees and the Seminoles—are no longer a savage race. They have an excellent system of schools, and are eager for education. Their costumes are those of the European, and the white man is their model.

LIKED IN NEW YORK.

John B. Stanchfield, Democratic Nominee for Governor.

He Is a Fine Looking Man, in His Prime, with the Build of an Athlete—Worked Hard for His Advancement.

If a tall, finely-proportioned man, modishly dressed, with broad shoulders, clear-cut features, healthy brown skin, with penetrating steel-gray eyes, wearing glasses, with a square jaw, with determination written across his frank, open face, should walk down Broadway some morning, this man says the New York World, might be John Barry Stanchfield, of Elmira, who was selected by the New York state democracy to be their standard bearer.

Mr. Stanchfield is a man in the very prime of life. He is built along the lines of a college football player or a famous oarsman, and in fact in his younger days he was both. He is a man who stands about five feet eleven inches tall, weighing nearly 200 pounds. From his shoulders down he tapers gradually and his figure does not incline to stoutness. Mr. Stanchfield is frequently held up as the finest physically proportioned man in Elmira, his home town.

It was on March 30, 1855, that the present nominee for governor on the democratic ticket came into this world. Mr. Stanchfield came of a brainy family. His father was Dr. John King Stanchfield, who came to Elmira upward of 50 years ago, and not only established an extensive practice as a physician, but by business enterprise and tact in the management of some real estate of which he became owner, acquired much more than a comfortable competence.

He came to Elmira from Leeds, Me. John B. Stanchfield's mother died only a year ago. As Dr. Stanchfield accumulated means he moved to a more fashionable section of the city, and on Main street, then reasonably distant from the business center, he built a handsome little home, and there the physician lived until shortly before his death. Dr. Stanchfield, in company with his wife, made a trip around the world about 1885, and on his way back died in Colorado.

JOHN BARRY STANCHFIELD.
(Democratic Nominee for Governor of New York.)

It was in this charming Main street home that the democratic candidate passed the years of his life up to the time of his marriage. While residing there he graduated from No. 2 grammar school in Elmira. From this school Mr. Stanchfield entered the Elmira free academy. In his academy course Mr. Stanchfield had distinguished teachers, one of whom was the late Prof. J. Dorman Steele, known to the educators of the country as the author of school text books. Mr. Stanchfield was graduated from the Elmira free academy in 1872, and at once applied for admission to Amherst college, where he graduated in 1876.

During his academic and college days the young man was an accomplished athlete. While at Amherst he made both the crew and nine. He was well adapted to become an oarsman, and with his crew rowed in various parts of the country. From 1873 to 1876 he was actively engaged in sports of all kinds.

A week after his graduation from Amherst college, the democratic candidate returned to Elmira and entered the law office of David B. Hill as a student of law. Mr. Hill had a suite of rooms in East Water street, nearly opposite the leading hotel. Everybody in Elmira knows that the Chemung river in those days was celebrated for its black bass. Some one, one day, poking fun at the dingy character of the offices of Mr. Hill, aroused Mr. Stanchfield's humor, and his reply to the criticism was that the offices might not be very handsome, but he guessed that his boss had selected them because "you can catch fish from each end—black bass from the river and suckers at the front door."

At the time students were required to study three full years in the office of a practicing lawyer, and that routine Mr. Stanchfield went through. He was admitted to the bar in May, 1879, and was at once taken into partnership by Mr. Hill, the firm thereafter being known as Hill & Stanchfield. The firm had the largest legal business as well as the largest political practice of any firm in that section of the state.

In 1880 Mr. Stanchfield was elected district attorney, and in 1883 he was renominated and indorsed by the republicans, his election following without opposition.

In 1886 Mr. Stanchfield was nominated by the democrats for the office of mayor of Elmira. He was elected and served that year and the two years following.

In 1895 he was elected assemblyman, and made his first appearance among the politicians at Albany. There his fame spread rapidly, and in 1896, when he was returned to the assembly, he was chosen leader of the minority.

THE RELIEF ASSOCIATION

TREASURER'S REPORT SHOWS TOTAL EXPENDITURE OF $2,467.29.

Wood Yard a Source of Income—Mrs. J. K. Myers was Chosen President for the Year.

Officers were elected and reports for the year received at the annual meeting of the Plainfield Relief Association, held in the Association's rooms on West Front street yesterday morning. The results shown were very satisfactory.

The treasurer's report showed a total expenditure of $2,467.29 and a balance of $111.01 remaining in the treasury. There is an indebtedness of $200, which is for the recent addition to the building. The main sources of income of the association have been from the employment bureau and the wood yard. The chief expenditure was to the women in the sewing room and the men in the wood yard.

The secretary's report told something of the work which had been done during the year and also told of the improvements made.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. J. K. Myers; vice president, Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Lapsley; secretary, Mrs. C. E. Brooks; board of managers, Mrs. D. J. Yerkes, Mrs. Samuel Huntington, Mrs. J. E. Tracy, Mrs. H. P. Reynolds, Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, Mrs. S. S. Guion, Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Mrs. James R. Joy, Mrs. Lawrence Myers, Mrs. H. D. Rowland, Mrs. I. N. VanSickel, Mrs. W. A. Woodruff, Mrs. Olin L. Jenkins, Mrs. E. T. Barrows and Mrs. W. E. Lowe.

NO MORE CONCESSIONS.

President Maxwell Says the Next Move Must Come From the Men.

J. Rogers Maxwell, president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, said yesterday that the anthracite coal companies would grant no more concessions. "Nearly all the companies," said he, "have offered an increase of 10 per cent. in wages and the others must of course follow. The matter now lies with the men. It is up to them." When informed that a shortage of food existed already among the miners President Maxwell said: "I do not believe it."

THEY NEED A TAVERN.

Two Applications for Licenses in Lincoln Presented to Judge Strong

Lincoln, which has had fame because it has been governed by women, all of whom believe in prohibition, may have two saloons before long. Two applications were made before Judge Woodbridge Strong at New Brunswick yesterday for licenses to run taverns there, and one of them was signed by the founder himself, Silas Dewey Drake.

W. F. Polhemus, chief of police at Lincoln, was the first applicant. Mr. Polhemus recently started to build a hotel and despite the opposition of the women, secured the legal number of signers to his application. The signers, moreover, sent letters to Judge Strong setting forth the extreme necessity of a tavern in Lincoln, and Judge Strong made up his mind to grant the application. John Clark has also presented a petition for a license, but counsel for Polhemus says it did not contain the requisite number of signatures. Judge Strong said that he had decided to grant one license for the town, but that he would lay both applications over until the December term of court, owing to the fact that Mr. Polhemus's building is not finished.

District Deputy Present.

At the regular meeting of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., held last evening, one candidate was initiated and one proposition received. District Deputy Grand Master Workman Fowle, of Irvington, was present and gave the members an interesting address. Addresses were also made by Grand Master Workman Lounsbury and Grand Overseer Nash. Cake, cream and cigars were furnished by the good and welfare committee. A very interesting book entitled "Billy Bixler's Letter" was presented by the increase committee to the members. The book is very instructive to the members and those who were not at the meeting can get one at the store of E. M. Laing.

JERSEY'S GALLANT 400.

New Monument to Mark a Famous Battleground.

The New Jersey Sons and the New Jersey Daughters of the Revolution are reviving the movement for the erection of a fitting monument to the memory of the gallant 400 who defeated the 2,000 Hessians at Red Bank on October 22d, 1777. The historic and surpassingly beautiful spot, now known as National Park, on the Delaware, and which is exactly opposite League Island Navy Yard, is marked by a simple shaft of dark marble. Through years of neglet and the heartless work of vandals it is almost a complete wreck, and two years ago, when the Sons of the Revolution visited the park, they were amazed to discover its condition. Since then the movement for a new monument has assumed definite shape, and it is likely that a regularly-organized plan for securing funds will be started at a meeting to be held on the anniversary of the battle, in which Lieutenant Greene so valiantly contested every inch of the ground and gave up his life for the cause of liberty.

Horrible Result of Boys' Play.

The boys became scared and ran away, leaving young McBride to be half roasted. When he was released he was unconscious and he died before he could be taken to the hospital.

ALMOST A MURDER AT SCOTCH PLAINS

Italian Shot George Shay When the Latter Visited His House at Midnight.

INJURED MAN WANTED BEER

THE ASSAILANT ARRESTED AND HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY.

The Wounds Will Not Prove Fatal, But are Very Painful—Larry Wallace Was With Shay When Shooting Occurred.

The Italian colony on Hunter avenue at Scotch Plains came very near being the scene of a murder Saturday night about 12:30 o'clock. As it is, George Shay lies painfully wounded at his home on Terrell road from a gunshot wound inflicted by an enraged Italian named Renort Bonavalt. The stories as to what led to the shooting do not agree any further than Bonavalt acknowledges that he is the party who fired the shot. But he claims he did it only as a last resort and as a protection to his home. Shay claims the shooting was done without any cause whatever. The injured man was unable to attend the hearing held in the Bucket and Engine rooms yesterday afternoon, but Larry Wallace, who accompanied him upon his visit to the colony, was the principle witness for the State.

Wallace's story is that he and Shay went to Bonovalt's house Saturday night, the same as they had done upon numerous other occasions and that their visit were always made for the purpose of buying beer. He said the prisoner had been running a "speak easy" for a long time and that they had always been accommodated until Saturday evening. He admitted it was rather late when they arrived at the place, but said Bonavalt was still up as there were lights about the house. Several attempts were made to get the proprietor to admit them but he refused. This did not satisfy Shay and Wallace and they started to argue with the man, but the Italian became excited and before they knew what he had intended to do, a shot rang out from the inside of the house and Shay fell with a charge of shot in his face and neck. As soon as the deed was done all the lights in the house were extinguished and the Italian colony became as quiet as any other place in town at that hour of the night.

As soon as Wallace recovered from the shock he hastened to the aid of his companion who lay writhing and moaning nearby. Shay was assisted to his feet and Wallace and he went to the home of Judge Clark. The Judge was awakened and told of the attempt made to kill them. As soon as he could get a light he saw that unless Shay received medical attention at once he was likely to bleed to death. Shay was taken into the house and his wounds washed temporarilly, after which the Judge put him in a carriage and hurried with him to Dr. Wescott, in Fanwood. As soon as his wounds could be dressed he was taken to his home, and yesterday was reported as doing as nicely as could be expected.

Judge Clark yesterday morning issued a warrant for the arrest of the Italian. Constable Allen found the man at his home and he acknowledged he was the one who had fired the almost fatal shot. The prisoner was brought to the lockup and confined in one of the cages until 2 o'clock, when he was given a hearing. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge, but said he believed that he had to protect his home. He denied that the men came there for beer or that he had sold beer to any one. He said he only knew them by reputation and that when they arrived Saturday night he told them to go away, but they refused to do so and started in to make trouble. He says he warned them twice that if they did not go he would shoot. As they still refused to obey he shot through the window, but that he did not intend to hit them. The Judge gave the prisoner a lecture upon the reckless use of firearms, and him in $300 bail. Stephen Parratti, a fellow-countryman, went his bond and he was released to appear before the Grand Jury October 17th.

The shooting will no doubt be the means of forcing some one to take some action against the several "speakeasies" which are known to exist within the borders of Fanwood township.

WORK OF SNEAK THIEVES

$100 GOLD WATCH AND $23 IN CASH WERE STOLEN.

James Manning, of Albert Street, the Victim—Entered Through a Window.

From the manner in which a house in the West End was entered and robbed early yesterday morning, it seems as though an organized band of sneak thieves was at work in the city and borough. The residence this time was entered precisely in the same way as the Jeter house house on Belmont avenue was a few weeks ago and also three houses in the West End early in the summer.

The latest victim is James Manning, a carpenter and builder, living at No. 40 Albert street. Entrance was effected through a rear window which had been left unlocked. The screen was propped up with a small stick. A stand was directly under the window filled with flowers over which the thief climbed without disturbing one as the family would have heard it fall. He then made his way upstairs and took all of Mr. Manning's clothing. In the pockets were a hadsome gold watch worth $100 but valued highly because of its being a gift from his father, $23 in mony and several small articles of value. There were all taken and the clothes were found scattered about the lower rooms. A quantity of silverware had been taken from a side board and laid out on the table but the thief had evidently reconsidered and let them remain.

On investigation, however, it was found that a solid silver spoon holder, containing a set of spoons and several children's silver cups, were missing. A desk in Mr. Manning's office containing considerable money and valuables had been left unlocked but escaped observation. The prowler departed by way of a side door having found the key. Either before or after the Manning robbery an attempt had been made to gain an entrance to the residence of Joseph Noonan directly in the rear on Dunellen avenue. Foot prints were found about the porch but they were unable to get in as every window had been securely locked. The police are now working on the case but noting definite has as yet developed.

TROLLEY SCARED HORSE.

EAST BOUND BROOK PEOPLE HURT IN THE MIX-UP.

Taken to the Hospital and Afterwards Sent Home on a Special Trolley Car.

A rather serious mishap befell Mr. and Mrs. C. Brower and a friend, Mrs. Susan Gamo, of East Bound Brook, as they were driving to this city yesterday afternoon. They were just passing the corner of Grant avenue and Front street when the horse became frightened at the noise made by a trolley car climbing the Front street hill. The animal turned suddenly and was met by another car coming around the Grant avenue curve, which frightened it still more. The carriage, which was an ordinary buggy, was overturned and the occupants thrown out. The horse continued on and jumping a fenee left the wagon on the sidewalk.

Several bystanders rushed to the aid of the party and it was found that the two women were badly hurt. They were taken to a nearby house and Roundsman Flynn, who happened to be on the car, telephoned for the ambulance. On examination at the hospital it was found that Mrs. Gamo was injured the most, having a scalp wound on the forehead about an inch long beside being badly shaken up. Mrs. Brower's injuries consisted mostly of bruises about the head and face. Mr. Brower escaped unhurt.

After having their wounds dressed, through the courtesy of the street railway company, they were taken to Bound Brook in a special trolley car from the corner of Fourth and John streets. The horse was captured in a rear yard and taken to the barn of Augustus Baldwin, on West Front street.

Eleven New Members.

Yesterday morning at the Communion services in Trinity Reformed church eleven persons united, seven by letters from other churches and four young persons from the Sabbath-school. A large congregation was present to welcome the new members.

Death of Young Boy.

Thomas Kuhn, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kuhn, of West Fourth street, died Saturday after a brief illness from marasmus. The funeral services were held this afternoon. Interment was made in the Methodist cemetary.

PARK CLUB GOLFERS GUESTS AT HILLSIDE.

Important Event in Golfing and Society Circles at Hillside Links Saturday.

MANY EVENTS PLAYED.

PLAINFIELD SOCIETY WAS PRESENT IN FORCE AT RECEPTION.

Hillside Players Won Most of the Competitions—Many Took Part—Pretty Decorations at Club House.

Golf and society united forces Saturday in one of the chief events for Plainfield of the season. The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club flung open its doors and entertained its friends of the Park Golf Club on an elaborate and lavish scale. Plainfield society folk were bidden to the clubhouse in honor of the event and an extensive programme of golf competitions was provided. Everything passed off in highly successful fashion, but the weather, which the Hillside Club couldn't control, broke its promise of the morning and developed huge banks of fog and mist when darkness came. Nevertheless the affair was a complete success socially and from the golfer's standpoint.

Invitations had been sent to all the members of the Park Golf Club and so the links of that club were deserted. The morning was chiefly devoted to the ladies. The golf committee arranged a ladies' handicap, eighteen holes, medal play, as the chief event before noon. There were forty entries, the majority being from the Hillside Club but all did not compete. Only two of the fair golfers of the Park Club played and one of them, Miss Daisy Elsberg, was but a single stroke behind the winner. Miss Daisy Shepard won the event with 95 net. Mrs. N. P. Rogers, who played from scratch, was sixth. A silver cup went to Miss Shepard for the best net score and another to Mrs. Rogers for the best gross score. Nineteen cards were turned in. They were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Miss Daisy Shepard, Hillside	120	25	95
Miss Daisy Elsberg, Park	123	27	96
Miss M. Goddard, Hillside	124	27	97
Miss E. Tracy, Hillside	113	10	103
Miss van Herwerden, Hillside	113	10	103
Mrs. N. P. Rogers, Hillside	105	0	105
Miss M. VanBoskerck, Hillside	118	10	108
Miss Andrews, Hillside	124	15	109
Miss Saidee M. Howell, Park	139	29	110
Miss Evans, Hillside	123	16	112
Miss Rowland, Hillside	134	20	114
Miss Reinhart, Hillside	132	17	115
Miss Helen Lee, Hillside	143	27	116
Miss E. Goddard, Hillside	144	27	117
Miss Fleming, Hillside	129	10	119
Miss F. Stewart, Hillside	160	27	133
Miss M. Holly, Hillside	153	22	136
Miss May Tracy, Hillside	160	22	138
Miss E. C. Hebert, Hillside	168	27	141

A dozen contested in the ladies' driving match which was held at the start to the fifth hole, the teeing ground to which is right in the rear of the clubhouse. Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers won the silver cup offered for first. Her three drives averaged 121 yards, 4 inches. Miss E. Tracy was second with an average of 117 yards, 9 inches. Miss Elsberg and Miss Howell were the only members of the Park Club to participate.

The morning was bright and clear without a cloud in the sky, but the temperature was unseasonably high. Luncheon was served at noon to many little parties, and the clubhouse was bright with many beautiful gowns. The interior of the clubhouse was prettily decorated with golden rod and autumnal foliage.

At 1 o'clock, the first pair in the men's handicap competition, eighteen holes, medal play, started on their round of the course. There were 106 entries, of whom considerably over half started. The members of the clubs played with their regular club handicaps. W. L. Glenney was the only one of the scratch men from Hillside to start. He was paired with Morgan T. Townsend. Both were way off their usual form. Edgar I. Serrell was the only other Park Club player to compete from scratch. He did not finish.

The event, and the silver cup for the best net score, went to F. A. Clark, of Hillside, who scored a 77 net, with the aid of 27 handicap. W. L. C. Glenney, with the same handicap, was only a stroke behind. Arthur H. Serrell was the lowest of the visiting club. He made an 83 net, with the aid of 27 handicap.

C. W. Abbott won the silver cup for the best gross score, making an 88, just one better than Glenney. Townsend was the lowest of the visitors.

While there was a fair representation of the Park Club golfers in the handicap, only six turned in their scores. The course was new to them and troubles and bunkers yawned too temptingly. As a result, their scores were high. They found the course in fine condition, considering the long drought of last month and the continual playing to which it has been subjected. Only thirty-seven cards were turned in.

The scores were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
F. A. Clark, Hillside	104	27	77
W. L. C. Glenney, Hillside	105	27	78
F. A. Barnaby, Hillside	108	27	81

At 4 o'clock, the thin ridge of clouds which had been noticeable for several hours on the northern and eastern horizon began to loom up and great clouds of fog swept over the hills and settled down about the clubhouse.

So thick was the fog that it was necessary to start both the mixed approaching and putting contest and the men's driving contest at once in order to complete them before dark. The men's driving match was held from the tee to the fifth hole and the competitors drove out into the fog. The east wind, which had freshened considerably, carried many of the balls out of bounds.

H. de P. succeeded in making three good drives. Morgan T. Townsend carried off second honors for the Park Club. Only four of the competitors drove all three balls within bounds. Their averages for the three were as follows:

H. de P. Wright, Hilside, 171 yards, 1 foot, 1 inch.
Morgan T. Townsead, Park, 164 yards, 1 foot.
F. L. Schoonmaker, Hillside, 136 yards, 1 foot, 4 inches.
H. D. Hibbard, Park, 116 yards, 4 inches.

The others who took part in the contest were F. H. Andrews, Hillside, Morris J. Dumont, Hillside, C. Westley Abbott, Hillside, W. L Glenney, Hillside, Edgar I. Serrell, Park, T. R. VanBoskerck, Hillside, Roger F. Murray, Hillside, Dr. F. C. Ard, Hillside, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, Hillside.

The mixed approaching and putting contest was held on the green of the fourth hole, close to the clubhouse. Each pair made three approaches and victory went to the pair who holed out the three times in the least number of strokes. First honors in this event went to the visiting club, Miss Saidee Mae Howell and William M. McCutchen making three on each trial. The summaries were:

Miss Howell and W. M. McCutchen, Park ... 9
Mr. and Mrs. Evarts Tracy, Hillside ... 10
Miss Grace Kaufman and Whitney Baker, Hillside ... 10
Miss May Lewis Evans and Geo. T. VanBoskerck, Hillside ... 10
Miss Fleming and W. L. Glenney, Hillside ... 11

Among the other pairs who contested were Miss Maud VanBoskerck and Howard Huntington, Miss Hyde and R. M. Shepard, Miss E. Goddard and Harold Brown, Miss Andrews and L. H. VanBuren, Miss Dorothy Fleming and E. O. Pinto, Miss Holly and T. R. VanBoskerck, Mrs. E. R. Ackerman and Robert Rushmore, Miss Fisk and F. L. Schoonmaker, all of Hillside.

Six hundred invitations had been issued for the reception at the club house in the afternoon and Plainfield society turned out in force for the occasion. During the afternoon and evening there were over five hundred people present. The ladies of the house committee, Mrs. E. T. Barrows and Miss Maud VanBoskerck, received the guests, assisted by other ladies of the club. A stringed orchestra, the Venetian Troubadours, gave selections during the afternoon and evening. They also sang some of the songs of the Mediterranean lands.

A number of dinner parties were arranged and over a hundred were served by Steward Ivamy and his assistants. At nightfall many rows of lanterns were lighted and hung about the clubhouse. Moonlight had been hoped for, but the fog was too thick. The concert was continued during the evening and some of the young people enjoyed an informal dance.

The affair was arranged by the golf committee, of which Lewis E. Waring is chairman, and the house committee, of which George P. Mellick is chairman. The latter committee arranged everything at the clubhouse, while the links and the entertainment there went to the other committee. L. E. Waring, R. M. Shepard, T. R. VanBoskerck and G. T. VanBoskerck, of the golf committee, looked after the starting and scoring of the various competitions.

ALIS SCORED ON SENSATIONAL RUN.

Rutgers Scrubs Defeated by Alis A A. After a Hotly Contested Game.

THE SCORE WAS 6 TO 5.

DOUBLE PASS GAVE PLAINFIELDERS A CHANCE TO SCORE.

Rutgers Full-back Kicked Goal From Field in Last Half Minute of Play—Alis Played a Defensive Game.

A clever trick, wrich resulted in a sensational run for sixty yards and a touchdown by Charles Woolston saved the day for the football eleven of the Alis A. A. in its game with the Rutgers "Scrubs" on Martine Common Saturday afternoon. Another sensational feature came in the last thirty seconds of play when Smith, the Rutgers full back, kicked a goal from the field. The final score was 6 to 5, in favor of the Alis boys. The game was one of the hardest fought contests ever seen on a local gridiorn.

Last year the Alis team defeated the "Scrubs" from Rutgers College, New Brunswick, by a score of 22 to 0. Saturday the college boys came over determined to win at any price. They had three of the 'varsity men with them. The Rutgers boys outweighed the local team and had the advantage of being in good training. The ball was in Alis territory most of the game and the Plainfield eleven was put on the defensive much of the time.

Rutgers defended the eastern goal and the wind. Phillips kicked off for Alis. Twice the Rutgers backs tried to round Alis' ends but were downed for losses. After that, the visitors used a tandem play in the line exclusively. H. Smith recovered the ball for Alis on a fumble. On the first play, Cuming rounded right end for twenty-five yards. His ankle was hurt, however, and could not run again. At the end of the half he was compelled to retire in favor of Taylor.

Back to the centre Rutgers carried the ball after getting it on downs. Alis recovered it the same way and then Tom Smith kicked to Rutgers' 20-yard line. Then the visitors' effective tandem play tore through the Alis line at right guard and the ball went steadily down the field until the call of time saved Alis. The ball was then on Alis' five-yard line.

Hard and fast was the play and the Alis line was changed repeatedly in an effort to stop the powerful tandem plays which plowed through it for short but steady gains. In the second half Alis took a brace. Rutgers' full-back kicked off to Wittke who ran back fifteen yards. Then Woolston and Phillips went through the line, McClure opening up big holes for them. Homer Smith circled right end for thirty-five yards. Then Rutgers took the ball on downs and carried it back to Alis' fifty yard line. The ball again changed hands on downs.

Two attempts to gain were unsuccessful and Alis had three downs and six yards to gain. Then came the signal for a double pass. Phillips started for right end, when Woolston took the ball from him and was well under way before the "Scrubs" discovered him. He skirted the edge of the gridiron with both teams in full pursuit. The crowd went wild and ran after the players. Woolston made the run of 60 yards and was downed behind the line by the Rutgers' backs. It was a very hard goal, but Phillips kicked it and the crowd went wild once more.

After that Rutgers worked hard to get the ball behind Alis' goal line. The Plainfield eleven disputed every inch of ground and twice carried the ball back to the centre of the field. The deadly tandem play finally placed the ball on Alis' twenty yard line. There was but half a minute to play. Then Smith tried a goal from the field which was successful. There was another kick-off but time was called after one play.

The teams lined up as follows:

ALIS A. A.		RUTGERS SCRUB.
T. Smith-Beard	right end	Herbert
Radford-Beard-Wittke	right tackle	Hoag
Pike-McClure	right guard	Applegate
G. Smith	centre	Stewart
McClure-Pike-Walton	left guard	Foertner

H. Smith	left end	Field

HAPPY AT DEATH'S DOOR.

CHRISTIAN FORTITUDE SHOWN BY JOHN H. KRYMER.

Sacrament of Lord's Supper Administered to Him Just Before He Passed Away.

With Christian fortitude, John H. Krymer met the sufferings which accompanied his fatal illness, and then, bidding his wife and children rejoice rather than mourn at his happy end, he quietly passed away yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. His death occurred at his residence, 219 East Fifth street.

Mr. Krymer was born in Hunterdon county and there he spent the early days of his life. He subsequently married and came to this city, where he resided for many years on West Second street. Two years ago he left his old home and moved to East Fifth street.

Originally a member of Lebanon Reformed church, of Lebanon, N. J., he transferred his membership by letter to the Trinity Reformed church, of this city, where he was a regular attendent at all the church services until ill health prevented. Last June he was compelled to give up his duties at the Scott Press Works, where he was employed, and then grew slowly worse. A week ago he was compelled to keep his bed and began to suffer great agony. Heart trouble was the cause.

At his request Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., and Elder George L. VanEmburgh, of Trinity Reformed church, came to his home yesterday at the close of the morning service and administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper to Mr. Krymer and the members of his family who gathered at his bedside. He realized that the end was near at hand, but was happy because he was able to take Communion and go to his Heavenly home on the Sabbath day.

He spoke words of love and tenderdess to his family and told them that great happiness awaited him and they should rejoice with him rather than mourn. He was perfectly resigned and had no fear of death. He died at 2 o'clock, conscious to the last.

He leaves a widow and three children, Mrs. William F. Oliver, of East Fifth street, Miss Etta Mae Krymer, who lives at home, and David Krymer, of Liberty street.

The funeral will be held from his late residence, 219 East Fifth street, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Further services will be held in the Lebanon Reformed church in the afternoon and interment will take place in the family plot at Lebanon.

VIOLATING GAME LAWS.

WM. ANDERSON FINED $20 FOR CARRYING A GUN.

Offense Occurred Yesterday—Hadn't Shot Any Game—Former Freeholder to Appeal Case.

Carrying a gun on Sunday in the fields and woods, which is contrary to law, proved expensive sport for Wm. Anderson, son of R. W. Anderson, of Washingtonville. He was arrested by Game Wardens Hawkins, of Roselle, and Lewis Wikoff, of the borough, at Washingtonville yesterday morning. The young man had no game in his possession, but was looking for it when the officers came upon him.

He was taken before Justice Mattison, where he pleaded guilty, with extenuating circumstances. The Justice, however, had no other alternative but to fine him $20 and costs, which were $3.55. Mr. Anderson paid the fine and was released.

Ex-Freeholder Robert Zerkibel, of Mount Bethel, who was arrested by Game Warden Hawkins a few weeks ago and fined $22.55 for the same offense, appeared before Justice Mattison Saturday and filed an appeal bond. The case will be heard in the December term of the Somerset county court. Zerkibel admitted having a gun in his possession but claimed that he was carrying it for the purpose of shooting a hawk which was hovering over his chickens. Anderson who was arrested yesterday, is a New York business man, but resides with his father who also commutes to New York.

SOMERSET DEMOCRATS HOLD CONVENTION.

Much Interest Shown In the Nominations That Will Be Made Today.

HILLPOT FOR THE ASSEMBLY

N. Y. DUNGAN CHOSEN CHAIRMAN OF CONVENTION.

Committee Appointments Made From Among the North Plainfield Democrats—The County Clerkship.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 8.—The Democratic county convention was an hour late in being called to order in Germania Hall today, the gavel of County Chairman Norton not falling till 11 o'clock, whereas the call read for 10 o'clock. There were complete delegations present from the nine towns in the county, and much interest was manifested in the proceedings.

Former Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan, of Bound Brook, was named for chairman, and was unanimously elected to fill the position. In taking the chair Mr. Dungan delivered a rousing Democratic address, and said that the Democrats of the county would go into the campaign united and enthusiastic for the ticket that was to be nominated.

Peter B. Hall, of Neshanic, was elected secretary.

The appointment of committees were then made, the North Plainfield assignments being as follows: Resolutions, Francis Bartel; permanent organization, D. Gilland; credentials, W. M. Demler; rules, Charles Emmons.

After the appointment of the committees the convention adjourned to 1:30 o'clock in order to permit the committees to do their work.

For the nomination of County Clerk the name of Frank Bowman, of Bernards, is being brought forward, with considerable persistence. Assessor Elston French, of North Plainfield, has been urged to take the nomination, but he says that he cannot give the time necessary to the office if he was elected and he therefore refuses to be considered in that connection.

There is but one aspirant for the nomination of Assemblyman. He is J. Ewin Hillpot, of Bound Brook, formerly a hotel man in that place. He will probably be nominated.

The convention reconvened at 1:30 o'clock and Bowman was nominated for County Clerk by acclamation. The same action was taken for the Assembly nomination, Hillpot being selected without opposition.

Dr. P. J. Zeglio, of North Plainfield, and Dr. S. O. B. Naylor, of Millstone, were named for Coroner. Dr. Zeglio received thirty-five votes to Dr. Taylor's twenty-seven and was declared the nominee.

The nominees are now addressing the convention, after which the county committee will be formed.

The St. Mary baseball team has disbanded for the season and the members have formed an athletic association for the winter months. It will be known as the St. Mary A. C., with headquarters at T. A. B. Hall. The latter is to be fitted up with a complete gymnastic apparatus and made into a model clubhouse.

There are already twenty-seven members, and at a meeting held Saturday evening the following officers were elected: Clarence Waldron, president; Joseph Barry, vice-president; Thomas Mack, financial secretary; Thomas Comerford, financial secretary; George Taylor, treasurer. The baseball team will again be formed next season.

Knocked Over Pail of Boiling Water.

Jack Filmore went into Frank Margentino's place on Park avenue Saturday night. It is said that he was drunk. There was a pail of boiling water on the stove. Filmore fell against the pail and tumbled it over and the scalding water was turned on Margentino's little girl who sat close by. She was badly scalded from the knees down. Roundsman Flynn placed Filmore under arrest shortly after to prevent him from doing any more damage. He was fined $5 in city court this morning.

Trial for Non-support.

The trial of Rev. William H. McLean, formerly the colored pastor of the Filmore Baptist church, of this city, for non-support, was held this morning in the city court. Former Judge W. A. Coddington appeared for the complainant and Counsellor W. K. McClure for the defendant. Judge Runyon reserved his decision.

City to Own Beach Front
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, Oct. 8—James A. Bradley said Friday that the city of Asbury Park would own the beach front and sewer system before the summer of 1901. This property, valued at $500,000, is owned by Mr. Bradley. Last year he offered to sell his beach holdings to the city for $150,000. Legislation was secured, but the transfer fell through because Mr. Bradley insisted on certain restrictions being incorporated in the papers. The matter was opened again recently, and the founder's announcement Friday looks as if the long-cherished desire of the hotel-keepers and citizens would soon be consummated.

LORD ROBERTS TO RETURN.

Will Leave South Africa Soon—Retreat of the Boers Reported.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Lord Roberts, The Daily News announces, will leave South Africa during the last week of October.

The authorities have decided to limit the number of colonial troops who are to be the queen's guests in London to 500.

It is estimated, according to the Pietermaritzburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, that from 4,000 to 5,000 Boers have retreated from Pilgrim's Rest northeast of Lydenburg, with four Long Toms and 22 other guns. The correspondent understands that their Long Tom ammunition is almost exhausted.

British Troops Sail For Home.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 8.—The city of London volunteers sailed for England yesterday, their departure being attended by a scene of tremendous enthusiasm. Sir Alfred Milner, in the course of an address thanking them for their services to the empire, told them that a still greater reception awaited them at home.

Boers Make a Stand.

LYDENBURG, Oct. 8.—General Buller's force has been pursuing the Boers through Pilgrim's Rest and Krugerspost. He is now near Ohrigstadt and is still marching northward. The Boers now here have made a stand.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

New Hampshire's population was announced at 411,588, an increase of 9.3 per cent since 1890.

At the Lehigh (Pa.) Preparatory school Leopold Gout, 16 years old, was accidentally shot dead by his roommate.

Cornelius Vanderbilt announced that he would not accept any of the prizes won by his 70 footer Rainbow this season.

Nearly one-half of the flouring mills in Minneapolis have closed indefinitely owing to lack of demand for their products.

Homes For Galveston's Homeless.

GALVESTON, Oct. 8.—By action of the central relief committee $50,000 was appropriated for repairing wrecked homes and $100,000 for building homes for those whose homes were completely destroyed. The recipients of this assistance are to be determined by the building committee. Ten thousand dollars was appropriated for the purchase of tools, sewing machines, etc., for persons who are able to support themselves, but are unable to buy tools. A dispatch from Dallas says Governor Sayers will turn over $30,000 cash to the relief committee for the mainland sufferers by the September gulf hurricane. A movement has been started to petition Governor Sayers to use $150,000 cash of the $2,000,000 surplus in the state treasury to aid Galveston and coast sufferers generally and to petition the legislature to indorse this action of the governor if he takes it.

Floods in Mexico.

TAMPICO, Mexico, Oct. 8.—The Panuco and Tamesi rivers, which empty into the gulf at this place, are on one of the biggest rises in their history, and great damage has been wrought by the floods in the populous and cultivated valleys above here. At one point near Chila station, on the line of the Mexican Central railroad, the Tamesi river is over 50 miles wide and has swept to destruction hundreds of houses occupied by Mexican farmers and laborers. Many cases of drowning are reported. All the tributaries of these rivers in the south and eastern parts of the state of San Luis Potosi are out of their banks and have washed away whole villages and ruined thousands of acres of growing crops.

Two More Treasure Ships.

SEATTLE, Oct. 8.—Two hundred and thirty-three Alaska and British Yukon passengers came on the steamers Humboldt and Alki, which arrived from the north Saturday. As cargo the vessels had $250,000 of treasure. Twenty of the Humboldt's 117 Klondike passengers owned the bulk of that vessel's cargo of gold. Mrs. Barrett, the wife of a successful Circle City operator, had a sack containing fully $10,000 worth of dust. Charles G. Denby and Uly Gateford, Klondike operators and passengers on the Humboldt, had each about $10,000.

President McKinley's Sunday.

CANTON, O., Oct. 8.—Rain and dismal weather kept President and Mrs. McKinley pretty close to the house yesterday. They did have an early morning drive with several friends, but could not get out during the afternoon. The plans for starting for Washington today have been changed. The party will leave in a special car attached to the mail and express section of the east bound train at 12:45, which runs through with fewer and shorter stops than the passenger section which leaves an hour later.

Iron Workers Submit.

DANVILLE, Pa., Oct. 8.—The employees of the Danville rolling mill held a meeting Saturday night and decided to accept the 25 per cent cut in their wages against which they struck last week. The puddlers will now be paid $3 a ton for their work instead of $4, the price formerly paid, and a proportionate cut in wages will be made in the other departments. The reduction affects several hundred men. The fires were started and work resumed today.

Lake Superior Traffic.

DULUTH, Oct. 8.—The traffic of Lake Superior to Oct. 1 has been computed and shows a movement of freight for the five months of almost 20,000,000 tons. This is more than for any complete year prior to 1899. The September movement of freight was 3,411,453 tons and for the season to date 19,978,475 tons. This increase of traffic for the year has been accomplished with a share of the large freight ships of the lakes tied up at docks at all leading ports.

Mayor McGuire's Illness.

SYRACUSE, Oct. 8.—Although Mayor James K. McGuire will return to New York today, his friends here declare that he is in no condition to resume work. He, however, says that his sudden illness Saturday night, which necessitated his retirement from the platform while delivering a speech, amounted to nothing and that he will be all right today. His collapse is believed to have been the result of overwork during the present campaign.

Miss Barton Denies Reports.

GALVESTON, Oct. 8.—Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross society, has issued a statement denying that the relief funds had been misappropriated. She said some perishable goods had been sold because they could not well be used by the relief committee, and the money could be used at any time.

MOVING ON SHANGHAI

Large Chinese Army Advancing Along Grand Canal.

EMPEROR DENOUNCES THE BOXERS.

Nine Ringleaders Singled Out For Punishment—Commissioners Named to Treat With the Powers. Tuan's Successor Named.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post in a dispatch dated yesterday says: "All the foreign troops here are held in readiness against a possible attack by 8,000 Chinese troops now advancing along the Grand canal."

By an imperial decree issued at Taiyuen-fu, capital of the province of Shansi, dated Sept. 25, Emperor Kwang Su denounces the Boxer movement and designates for punishment nine ringleaders. He acknowledges his own fault and rebukes himself, but he places the chief blame upon the princes and nobles who participated in the movement and protected it.

Prince Tuan, Prince Chung, Prince Tsai Lien, Prince Tsai Ying, Duke San Kang, Yung Nien, president of the censorate, and Chao Shu Chiao have been named to negotiate with the powers.

According to the Shanghai correspondent of The Times, wiring Oct. 5, it is announced that Huai Tapu, nephew of the empress dowager, who was dismissed by Emperor Kwang Su in 1898, has succeeded Prince Tuan in the tsung-li-yamen and has also been appointed generalissimo of the Chinese forces, replacing General Yung Lu.

The Morning Post has the following dispatch, dated Oct. 5, from Ma-tow, on the Pei-ho:

"Sir Alfred Gaselee, the British commander, has returned to Peking after issuing orders that all the British troops except the Wei-hai-wei regiment shall prepare for the winter.

"The American marines from Peking have arrived here. Some of the French troops are leaving."

The Standard has the following from Tien-tsin, dated Friday, Oct. 5:

"A German force came into collision with 8,000 Chinese, described as Boxers, a few miles south of Tien-tsin, this morning. The Germans were checked and compelled to retire on Tien-tsin.

"There is reason to believe that the Chinese in this case were not Boxers, but were Li Hung Chang's veterans, who had been ordered to wait near here in view of the possibility that the foreigners would bar his progress to the capital."

AWAITING DEVELOPMENTS.

French Note to Be Considered—Conger's Report Will Decide Course.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Developments of any consequence in the Chinese situation are not looked for until after the return of President McKinley to the capital. He is expected tomorrow morning, and on the afternoon of that day a cabinet meeting probably will be held, when the question presented by the French note will be gone over in an informal way. The French note which has recently been addressed to the powers is not regarded as just now of pressing necessity for action, as several of the nations interested already have instructed their representatives in Peking to ascertain whether the imperial edict completely names the persons deserving of punishment, and other features of the French proposal contain propositions which can remain in abeyance. This government does not consider seriously the propositions which look to the prohibition of the importation of arms into China and the dismantling of the fortifications.

Interest meanwhile centers in the report which Mr. Conger will make regarding the adequacy of the punishments to be meted out by the Chinese government to those persons who were instrumental in the Boxer revolt, and the future course of this government may depend largely on what the investigations now being conducted develop. No advices have come as yet from Mr. Conger on this subject, but this is not surprising, as the work to be undertaken is of considerable magnitude.

The war department officials expect that all the American troops which are to be sent from Peking to Manila will be out of China by the 21st inst.

Li Starts For Peking.

TIEN-TSIN, Oct. 8.—Li Hung Chang, whose visit to Peking had apparently been postponed indefinitely, left yesterday morning for the Chinese capital. The five Belgian engineers and 15 missionaries who had been kept prisoners for many weeks at Pao-ting-fu, but were recently released under orders from Li Hung Chang, who directed that they have safe escort to Peking, refuse to start, fearing treachery on the part of the Chinese escort.

Rebels Attack a Town.

HONGKONG, Oct. 8.—Saturday 1,000 rebels attacked the market town of Saiwan, eight miles northeast of San-chun, but were defeated. The people of Sanchun closed their shops, expecting to be attacked also. The troops here are being held in readiness for any emergency, and the police forces along the Kowloon frontier have been increased.

Lipton Denies Pork Corner.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Sir Thomas Lipton, in the course of an interview that appears in The Daily Express this morning, denies any attempt to corner pork in Chicago. He says: "I have never yet tried to corner food. On the contrary, my object has always been to lower rather than to raise food prices. What happened was simply this: I received a large government order, compelling me to keep my stock in reserve. My buyers in Chicago bought extensively, and consequently I held a rather bigger stock than usual. It is legitimate business to execute my contracts, and their execution will not affect the American public at all. I object to corners on principle."

Bridal Party in Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 8.—Prince Albert of Belgium, and his bride, Duchess Elizabeth of Bavaria, were received at the town hall yesterday afternoon. The royal procession was warmly acclaimed by the populace. The socialist members of the municipal council were absent from the ceremony. When it was over the royal couple appeared on a balcony facing the square, where school children were assembled to the number of 5,000. The latter waved thousands of Belgian and Bavarian flags, while the onlookers generally cheered and waved handkerchiefs.

MINE WORKERS MEET

End of Big Strike Believed to Be Near.

CONVENTION OF MINERS PROBABLE.

Object of the Gathering Will Be to Consider the Offer of Ten Per Cent Advance Made by Operators. Collieries Closely Guarded.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 8.—A conference which is believed to mark the beginning of the end of the anthracite coal miners' strike, which enters upon its fourth week today, was held at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers here yesterday afternoon. Those present besides President Mitchell were Fred Dilcher of Ohio, a member of the executive board, and Presidents T. D. Nicholls of District No. 1, Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys; James Duffy, District No. 7, Lehigh valley, and John Fahey District No. 9, Schuylkill valley. Although no information was given out, it is known that the question of issuing a call for a joint convention was the principal matter discussed. It is announced that the coming convention will be held at Scranton unless something unforeseen should arise between now and the time of issuing the call. Besides taking up the matter of a convention call it is understood that the question of representation was also considered. The three district presidents made full reports as to the condition as they now exist in the respective districts.

President Mitchell after the conference said he would have something to say later in regard to the convention. If the date has been fixed, only Mr. Mitchell and his colleagues know it.

Of course the principal matter to come before the miners will be the acceptance or rejection of the 10 per cent net increase offered by most of the operators President Mitchell said yesterday that not one official of the United Mine Workers will take a hand in any action the convention might take, as the men must themselves settle everything that comes before them. How long the convention will be in session depends on the amount of business that may be presented. The belief is general that the miners will accept the increase. Most of the mine owners who have granted the wage concession do not specify in their notices how long the advance shall remain in force, and it is not unlikely that an attempt will be made by the miners in convention to open negotiations with the operators looking toward an understanding in the matter. President Mitchell and the other labor leaders are strong advocates of an annual wage scale arrangement similar to that in force in the bituminous coal field. The operators in those regions meet their employees each year and fix the wage scale. If this proposition and that relating to the abolition of the sliding scale are brought before the convention and negotiations with the mine owners are opened, it might considerably delay the settlement of the strike.

It is learned here that Sheriff Harvey has reached the limit of his patience in regard to the marching of large bodies of men and that the marchers must obey his request to remain within the pale of the law or take the consequences. It is known that he feels he has been as lenient with the crowds as he could possibly be and that the action of several hundred men in running across the property of Calvin, Pardee & Co. at Lattimer has had much to do with the decision to be more stern hereafter.

Last night a carload of the sheriff's deputies fully armed lay in the Lehigh Valley railroad yards ready to start at a moment's notice.

A locomotive was near by with steam up, and all the telegraph operators on the Lehigh Valley system in this region are on duty for the purpose of sending messages to Sheriff Harvey and to the chief of the Coal and Iron policemen.

It is also learned that owing to rumors of contemplated marches today all the coal companies in this region have extra Coal and Iron policemen on duty. All the Lehigh Valley Coal company's collieries in this city are heavily guarded. This company had squads of its policemen brought here last night from Wilkesbarre, Mahanoy City, Centralia and Lost Creek.

REPORTS OF COAL ROADS.

What It Costs to Run Three Pennsylvania Railroads.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The Reading company has made public in advance its annual report, which will be submitted to the coming annual meeting of stockholders. The report covers not only the affairs of the Reading company, but also those of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway company and the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, of which corporations substantially all the stock is owned by the Reading company.

The report covers the year ended June 30 last and shows that the three companies covered all expenses, interest and other charges, expenditures for betterments and maintenance of equipment and in addition left a surplus of $1,938,000. The gross receipts were $55,946,934, the expenses $44,837,390 and the fixed charges and taxes $9,150,542. The gross receipts compared with the previous year increased $9,062,926, the expenses increased $8,213,544, the charges increased $76,691 and the surplus increased $772,792. The anthracite coal tonnage of the year was 10,672,556, an increase of 1,138,863 tons, and the bituminous tonnage 4,539,719, an increase of 338,097 tons.

The merchandise tonnage was 14,192,019, a gain of 2,806,091 tons. The revenue from coal increased 12.7 per cent, from merchandise 24.6 per cent and from passengers 10.6 per cent. The earnings are the largest for six years.

The company mined 9,219,764 tons of coal during the year, an increase of 1,036,120 tons, and it bought 1,125,467 tons, a decrease of 69,914 tons. The coal cost to mine and buy $1.66.7 per ton, an increase of 7.8 cents per ton over the previous year. The funded debt of the coal and iron company was reduced $1,874,000 during the year, and there remained in the company's surplus fund June 30 $2,258,498, of which the report says:

"When it is considered that the average monthly working expenses of these companies in the last fiscal year were $3,064,378, this sum, which is about two-thirds of one month's expenses, will seem a sufficiently small reserve fund."

The Pay of Miners.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 8.—Now that a convention to consider the 10 per cent offer is assured attention is turned to the question of what the companies mean by 10 per cent in the case of the miner and his helper. The miner works by contract and pays the laborers out of his earnings. As a rule the miner cuts six loads of coal, for which he gets $6.30. Out of this he pays for powder, oil and repair of tools and the wages of his helper. The laborer's pay is fixed at so much per day, and in this region it averages about $1.75. After paying the laborer and the expense of powder, oil, etc., the miner has about $2.30 left for himself. Ten per cent advance gives the miner 63 cents extra per day. The laborer wants his 10 per cent, or 18 cents, and as a consequence the miner must be content with 45 cents extra, or 7 per cent. But in many instances a miner has two laborers. This means that 36 cents must come out of the 63 cents, and the miner finds himself enjoying an advance of only 5 per cent.

Strikers Quiet.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Oct. 8.—Sunday was the quietest day in this locality since the strike began three weeks ago. Outside of hundreds of miners attending services at various churches the men kept close to home, feeling confident that the strike would soon be a matter of the past if President Mitchell calls for a convention, as he announced at Mount Carmel that he would. However, the local strikers say that until they are ordered back they will not report for work, no matter what inducements operators and coal carrying companies offer. An attempt will be made to start up several collieries in this section, but strike leaders say the men will not respond.

Noted Criminal to Be Rearrested.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Maximilian Schoenberg, aged 66 years, whose record covers three or four pages of Inspector Byrnes' book on noted criminals and who is now serving a term of three years in Clinton prison at Dannemora, will be discharged from there next Tuesday morning. When he walks out, the chief of police of Concord, N. H., will be waiting for him with extradition papers signed by Acting Governor Timothy L. Woodruff, as he is wanted in that city for breaking jail there no less than 34 years ago. The crime for which he is now doing time in Dannemora was a burglary committed in Schoharie county, and this is his third term in state prison in New York state, while it is known that he has served terms in other states. He is nearly 6 feet in height and weighs nearly 200 pounds.

Serious Rivalry Among Fishermen.

MADRID, Oct. 8.—The Spanish government is devoting serious consideration to the rivalry among the fishermen along the Galician coast, which culminated yesterday in firing on the Spanish gunboat Vasco Nunez de Balboa as she was leaving the port of Vigo. There is apparently no means of removing the bitter feeling between those who use out of date fishing apparatus and those who employ the latest contrivances. A dispatch from Vigo says that the naval commandant of the port, who was attacked yesterday, as already cabled, took refuge on a German warship, and a strong escort was needed to protect him against the populace on going ashore.

Missionary Conference.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—Next Wednesday the American board of commissioners for foreign missions will begin its ninetieth meeting at Pilgrim Congregational church in this city. The meeting will be in session three days and will be replete with matters of interest and great import. Samuel B. Capen of Boston will preside. Between 200 and 300 corporate members, returned foreign missionaries and workers in home fields and their wives, officers of the various women's mission boards and theological students will be present, in addition to many prominent Congregational ministers and laymen from different parts of the country.

Dynamite Magazine Explodes.

EVELETH, Minn., Oct. 8.—Seven thousand five hundred pounds of dynamite in the powder magazine of the Spruce mine, about half a mile from town, blew up. A hole 100 feet square and 25 feet deep marks the spot where the magazine stood. The force of the explosion was so great that there is not a piece of glass over a foot square within a radius of two miles of the mine. Practically every window and mirror in Eveleth was broken. The loss in the town is estimated at $30,000. The explosion was plainly felt 12 miles away.

Zionist Dowie In London.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Zionist Dowie opened his campaign in England last night at Holborn town hall. He told his hearers that he had come to give London a spanking and intended to wage relentless war against the Church of England. He denounced the archbishop of Canterbury as an incompetent and said his place ought to be filled by somebody who could manage it. Some of the listeners quizzed Dowie, and he lost his temper. He said he would not tolerate interruptions, and one questioner was ejected.

Committed Suicide For Her Children.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Driven frantic by the cries of her children for food after they had had none for 48 hours, Mrs. Mary Saybold, wife of Andrew Saybold, a mechanic of Yonkers, N. Y., hanged herself in her home apparently to let her life insurance go to provide for her children for a short while longer. Mr. Saybold is an invalid and too weak to work, and Mrs. Saybold did what she could to keep the family provided for, but the strain was too much for her.

Parnell's Death Remembered.

DUBLIN, Oct. 8.—The anniversary of the death of Charles Stewart Parnell, the Irish statesman, was celebrated yesterday by a small procession to Glasneven cemetery. The gathering was smaller than it had been on any previous anniversary. Messrs. John E. Redmond and Patrick J. O'Brien were present. Several wreaths were deposited upon the grave, including one from the widow.

Colored Jockey Shot.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 8.—Frank Perkins, the colored jockey, was shot to death at his home here by Tom Christian (white), a former bank clerk and exerciser for E. T. Graves, the turfman. Christian used a rifle. He became enraged at Perkins' refusal to give him a match and was put out of his house. He returned and killed Perkins as he sat on his porch.

Pensions For Employees.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 8.—A pension for old employees similar to the one adopted last January by the Pennsylvania railroad east of Pittsburg will go into effect on the Pennsylvania west of Pittsburg on Jan. 1, 1901.

ARKANSAS HOT SPRINGS.

A Prosperous Season at the Government Reservation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—An interesting report on the Hot Springs reservation in Arkansas has been submitted to the secretary of the interior by the superintendent, Martin A. Eisele. Mr. Eisele says that the Springs during the past season reached the high water mark of popularity. According to the best estimates there were 50,000 visitors during the season. The income to the government from water and ground rents amounted to $18,670, while the fixed charges were only about $14,000, leaving a fair balance, which, in accordance with the liberal policy of the government, was available for additional improvements in the reservation.

The reservation includes 911 acres, and in this tract there are 167 government lots still unsold. The superintendent says the sale of these lots, which have been appraised at $75,000, would go far toward providing the money necessary in perfecting the work of park improvement now going forward, and he earnestly recommends a reappraisement of the ground and the sale of the lots during March, 1901, when the influx of visitors to the Springs is at its height. The sale of these lots, he says, also will be of benefit to the municipality, as many of them stand in the way of street improvement, and their private ownership will subject them to taxation for the benefit of the city, while adding to the value of property by the handsome residences which will be erected on them.

The administration of the Springs by the government, Mr. Eisele says, has been wise and beneficent. The amount of water distributed to each bathhouse is scrupulously controlled and the public protected from monopoly and extortion by the schedule of charges provided by the secretary of the interior. The free bathhouse has grown to be a most important institution and of great benefit to the indigent sufferers who otherwise would not have the benefit of the waters. The record of this establishment for the past year shows 9,508 applications for free baths, of which only 216 were refused for various reasons. The total number of single free baths given was 169,030 at a net cost of 1.57 cents per bath. One of the curious features of free bath patrons noted in the report is that there are bath fiends who have a morbid craving for the treatment much the same as the craving for drugs and whisky among inebriates. This class is a considerable annoyance to the management.

Mr. Bryan Takes a Rest.

SALEM, Ills., Oct. 8.—William J. Bryan Sunday rested in the city of his birth and spent the day with relatives. He arrived here about noon and dined at the residence of Mrs. Mollie Webster, his cousin. Thirty of his relatives gathered at the residence and partook of the dinner. In the afternoon, accompanied by James C. Dahlman, the national committeeman from Nebraska, who has charge of the special car in which Mr. Bryan travels; B. F. Shively, the newspaper correspondents and old friends residing in this city, he went to the farm and looked over the scenes of his boyhood. At night he attended the Cumberland Presbyterian church, accompanied by relatives. Mr. Bryan spoke here early this morning, after which he started on his Illinois tour.

Relief For Texas Sufferers.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The cash contributions by the citizens of this city to the relief fund for the Texas flood sufferers has now exceeded $100,000, and a considerable further increase is looked for within the next few days. Nearly all of this has already been sent to Governor Sayers of Texas and is entirely exclusive of numerous train loads of provisions, clothing, drugs and other articles sent in response to the appeal of the governor. The Red Cross society of this city, which has also sent considerable cash and clothing and drugs, is still actively engaged in the work of gathering supplies, which are being shipped as rapidly as possible, and money is still being placed in glass bowls stationed in the central part of the city.

Strike of Waiters at West Point.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Twenty-two of the waiters in the cadet mess stopped work just before the dinner hour Saturday night and refused to handle a single ration unless a raise of $5 a month in their salary was guaranteed. Major Hall, treasurer of the commissary department, was summoned and acceded to the demand. A strike is also pending in two of the other departments. The grievances are based upon the recent increase in the number of cadets, which naturally makes additional work for the civilian employees. The old scale for the mess hall waiters was $20 a month with rations.

The Windward Fails to Return.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 8.—The failure of the Peary exploring steamer Windward to return from the north leads local observers to believe that the explorer will not attempt to get back this fall. Probably the season just passed was an open one in the far north. Should that have been the case Lieutenant Peary is likely to have taken the Windward into some high latitude, hoping to use her in a further expedition next season. This would mean that he has made no special record during the present year.

Nicaragua-Honduras Boundary.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 8.—The special commissioners appointed by the governments of Nicaragua and Honduras to fix the boundary between the two states, a matter long in dispute, have concluded their work amicably, the result being satisfactory to both governments. President Zelaya, the cabinet and the congress are about to return to Managua from a fortnight's visit to the city of Granada.

A New World's Trotting Record.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8.—At the Glenville track Saturday afternoon Cresceus made a new world's record for trotting stallions by going a mile in 2:04, which beats his own previous record by three-quarters of a second. Cresceus did the mile without a slip, his time by quarters being 0:31¼, 1:01½, 1:33, 2:04.

Schooner Wrecked.

YOUNG RE-ENFORCED.

Cavalry and Infantry Sent to Northern Luzon.

FILIPINOS ADOPT AMERICAN TACTICS.

Founder of So Called Filipino Government Released After Long Confinement—Would Not Swear Allegiance—Revision of Tariff.

MANILA, Oct. 8.—Four troops of cavalry and two companies of infantry have recently re-enforced General Young in northern Luzon, where the insurgents are concentrating in the mountains of North and South Ilocos provinces under the leadership of Aglipay, the excommunicated priest and renegade.

General Tinio and General Villaneuve, who have been quiet for some time, are now showing signs of becoming active as the end of the rainy season approaches.

Of late there has been considerable scouting and skirmishing in the provinces of Abra and North Ilocos, though without decisive results. It is obvious, however, that the maneuvers of the Filipinos are more skillful than formerly and that the field tactics of the Americans are being followed by them.

Senor Mabini, the virtual founder of the so called Filipino government, who was captured by the Americans last December and lodged in jail in Manila, has been liberated. As he had always persistently refused to take the oath of allegiance to the United States government he had maintained his reputation among the Filipinos as a resolute patriot. They now believe that he has reached a private understanding with the American authorities which has secured his release, and consequently he has lost some of his popularity, although he is still considered the leader of the dormant revolutionary element.

This week the commission will begin the work of revising the tariff, making use of the results of the investigation of the army board in this direction. It is the intention of the commission to give American trade a better chance than it has heretofore enjoyed owing to the high duties.

The transports Sumner and Venus have sailed for the island of Marinduque, off the west coast of Luzon, carrying two battalions. The former has already arrived there. The transport Logan will re-enforce the Twenty-ninth United States infantry, now in Marinduque.

Sunday Baseball.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Three games were played in the west yesterday under the auspices of the National league. At St. Louis a seven inning game resulted in a victory for Pittsburg, the score standing 3 to 2. At Chicago the first game was an exciting and sharply played article of ball, Chicago winning out in the ninth on two gifts, a sacrifice and a hit. Cincinnati took the second by pounding Hughes all over the field.

Death Stops Football.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—As a result of the death of Half Back Lawrence Pierson there will be no more football this year at Lake Forest university. A mass meeting of the students of the university was held and a unanimous vote cast for canceling the schedule and disbanding the team. The vote was in harmony with the wishes of the faculty. Pierson was injured in a game Sept. 6 and died a few days later.

Kentucky Lawmakers Can't Agree.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 8.—The senate has passed a substitute for the house bill. The substitute is virtually a return to the law which was in force when the Goebel law was enacted and under which the county judges appoint the election officers. The house will almost certainly reject the substitute, and the chances for the passage of a new election law at the present session are not flattering.

Tornado Kills a Family.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 8.—The tornado which killed two persons Saturday night at Biwabik wiped out a family of six two miles north of that town. The family consisted of the husband and wife and four children. William Marowitz, the husband, was found dead half a mile away. William Hillstrum, one of the injured, has since died, making nine deaths thus far reported.

Burned to Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Caroline Bessler of Lynbrook, N. Y., 81 years old, was burned to death yesterday. How her night clothing took fire is not known. She was infirm and almost helpless. She lived with her daughter. About 2 o'clock in the morning the aged woman is supposed to have gone into the hallway from her room and in some manner set her clothing on fire from the gas jet.

American Collier Floated.

SUEZ, Oct. 8.—The American steam collier Emir, which recently sank in the Suez canal while on her way to Manila with coal for the American fleet, but was successfully floated, has arrived at Suez roads. She is unable, however, to enter the port, as she draws too much water. Her cargo is being discharged, and divers will examine her bottom to ascertain the extent of her injuries.

Collision on the Great Northern.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 8.—A Great Northern local passenger train, bound south, and a local freight train, bound north, collided on the Coast line just south of Edmonds. Sam Work, engineer of the passenger train, was killed, and Engineer Smart of the freight train was fatally injured. Horace G. Hollyburton and Mrs. Marshall, both of Everett, were seriously injured.

Bourke Cockran Gives Out.

TOPEKA, Oct. 8.—W. Bourke Cockran has canceled all his speaking dates and gone to Kansas City to consult a throat specialist. Since his speech here Mr. Cockran has been unable to talk above a whisper. It is probable that he will proceed to New York as soon as he is able to make the trip.

Mine Sold to Englishmen.

BAKER CITY, Or., Oct. 8.—A dispatch from London states that the Red Boy mine, near this city, has been sold to an English syndicate. It is said the purchase price is in excess of $2,000,000.

Another Plague Death.

GLASGOW, Oct. 8.—A man who was brought here from Govan, on the Clyde, just below Glasgow, and received at the city hospital on Sept. 20, died there yesterday of the bubonic plague.

Political Madness.

Edward F. C. Young, of Jersey City, has been frequently mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination in New Jersey next year. If Mr. Young is an aspirfor the honor in earnest he is pursuing a funny course in the present campaign. Two years ago when the present State committee was formed, Mr. Young was elected chairman of the executive committee. He has retained that position ever since, but in the present campaign he is represented as a pronounced anti-Bryan man, and, in fact, makes no denial of the charge. It is a remarkable state of affairs in the political world that a man should be chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic State committee, which is charged with the conduct of the campaign for Bryan and Stevenson in New Jersey, who should be vigorously opposed to the very ideas and candidates which the committee of which he is the head is morally and responsibly charged with aiding in being successful election day. Such a condition of affairs is not likely to be approved of by the loyal Democrats of the State, and if Mr. Young is seriously hopeful of being elected Governor on the Democratic ticket he must regard the members of that party as being possessed of very short memories or else standing ready to elevate to the highest office in the State a man who holds such contradictory relations to the party as he does. In either case he will doubtless find that he is badly mistaken. What Wm. Gourley, chairman of the whole State committee, and the other prominent members of that body, can be thinking of to allow such a condition to exist, is something the average partisan cannot comprehend. Sometimes it is said that "there is method in madness," but just what method there can be in such political craziness is not easily understood.

Vice-Chancellor Pitney once declared that divorces were luxuries, and in accordance with that idea the New Jersey Legal Aid Association, which aims to help those who have no money to hire lawyers, has made it a rule not to give assistance to anyone who desires to secure a divorce, believing that if they should do this they would not be contributing to maintain a high state of morality. Miss Mary Philbrook, the woman lawyer who has charge of the society, says that she has many women call and tell their marital troubles to her in the hope that they will receive legal aid in severing the nuptial bonds which they have become parties to. They are all turned away without help, though, except in the way of advice to adjust their domestic difficulties with their husbands. Miss Philbrook adds the further comment that she finds that the majority of persons who seek to secure divorces, especially the women who apply for aid, are planning to marry again as soon as they are free. To aid such plans would be encouraging the Vice-Chancellor's idea of what constitutes luxuries in law, and the Legal Aid Association cannot see its way clear to do this. It is right.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"Kidnapped in New York," a four act melodrama by Howard Hall, which will be at Music Hall tomorrow night, is announced as an up-to-date play, based on the principal incidents in the celebrated Marion Clark case. A child being the central character "heart interest" that is considered an essential element in a successful play is abundant in Mr. Hall's work. Vivid realism in the scenic dressing and life-like reproductions of some of the characters in the celebrated child-stealing story, are promised. The play it is said will appeal especially and forcibly to fathers and mothers and catch the popular fancy. Barney Gilmore, the comedian and character actor, will be the stellar feature appearing as Mr. Dooley, the detective. The company will be under the management of E. J. McCullough.

• • • • • • •

Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is the title of a really big company, which, under the personal management of Mr. Leon Washburn, whose name is most favorably associated with up to-date amusements, is to appear at Music Hall Saturday afternoon and night. The company comprises fifty people, including a dozen specialty artists, two quartettes, a superb orchestra, and many colored comedians, who add to the big production not a little, by their spontaneous wit and clever singing and dancing. Watch for the big parade.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Did Not Sign the License.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In Saturday's edition of The Daily Press an item appears under the head, "They Need a Tavern at Lincoln." It states that applications for two licenses were made before Judge Woodbridge Strong at New Brunswick, and that one of them was signed by the founder of Lincoln, Silas Dewey Drake. I wish to say positively that I did not sign either application for a license for a tavern at Lincoln, nor was I asked to, nor have I ever signed an application for any hotel license. I trust that you will give this the same publicity as the item referred to as it does me an injustice. Silas Dewey Drake.

Gentlemen:—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

An Immense Lamp Purchase.

We have purchased from one of the largest lamp manufacturers in the United States their entire line of samples, comprising in all over 150 lamps, all of which are this season's productions, and the character of them are way ahead of anything ever shown in the city before. Strictly high grade and very artistic. One of the special features in connection with these lamps is that there is no duplicates; you won't happen into your neighbors and find the self-same lamp. Still another important feature is the prices. We purchased them at one-quarter, one-half and in some instances as much as three-quarters less than their usual prices, and we shall sell them the same way. What we save you also save. This is a rare opportunity to purchase a good lamp for a little money.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 8 –The mass meeting of the Republicans held in the Town Hall Saturday evening was well attended and much enthusiasm was aroused. Several interesting speeches were made, and a general good time was had by all. Owing to a delay in giving the order, the flag for the raising did not arrive. It will be put up some night this week.

It was intended that Rev. C. E. Ketcham, of Westfield, should occupy the Presbyterian pulpit yesterday, but he was unable to be present. His place was taken by Rev. Albert Robinson, associate editor of the Assembly Herald, of New York. Next Wednesday evening the congregation will meet and a call will probably be extended to one of the ministers recently heard.

While sitting in his wagon in front of Dr. Brakeley's store Saturday Henry Ludovici was taken with a sudden fit and fell to the ground. He was assisted to his feet and Dr Brakeley summoned. He soon recovered and was able to drive home.

A stone wall recently built in the rear of the new depot at Plainfield has attracted considarable attention. It was erected under the direction of Peter Trimmer, of the borough, who has been complimented highly for its unique construction.

A grand military concert is to be given in Music Hall, Plainfield, on October 22d, for the benefit of Clarence A. Roberts, who has been ill for some time.

The Dunellen A. C. is desirous of meeting all football teams averaging 120 pounds. All communications should be addressed to A. Coriell, Jr.

Arrangements are being made for another baseball game between the Foresters and Juniors, which will probably be held next Saturday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, October 8.—As was predicted in The Daily Press, there was a surprise sprung at Elizabeth Saturday morning when the license applications of John Anderson and Lynus Walpole came up before Judge Vail in the county court. The Citizens' League, which has been putting up an active fight against the granting of any licenes for hotels in the village and borough, failed to appear to oppose the application—much to the surprise of the hotel men. Anderson's license was granted while Walpole's was laid over until Friday owning to a technical error in the date of the application. The granting of Anderson's license seems to meet with the approval of the majority and will probably end the fight for the present between this famous old hostelry and league. For over 100 years the old stand on the corner has sheltered man and beast and until this year no one has ever questioned the right to license the place. Mr. Anderson, the new proprietor, took possession of his hotel Saturday as soon as application was granted. He says he intends to conduct the hotel so as to meet with the approval of not only the traveling public but with the approval of his neighbors as well.

The Republican voters and friends gathered in the Republican rooms on Saturday evening, to listen to the address of Col. Stegman upon the Republican issues as presented before the people for the coming election. The meeting was the first of several the executive committee have arranged to hold during the campaign and was a very enthusiastic gathering. Col. Stegman, who has been a resident of the village for two years, needed very little introduction to his neighbors and townsmen. The speaker kept his audience interested in the questions of 16 to 1, imperialism, militiarsin, and other Democratic campaign cries for nearly two hours.

A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Stegeman for his kindness in presenting the great question of the day before the voters of Fanwood Township. If it is possible the committee will try to induce the Colonel to make another address before the close of the week.

Rev. Mr. Baker, the newly appointed pastor of the Methodist church, occupied his pulpit Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Baker's pastorate has started with a very encouraging outlook and his work with his new charge will no doubt be a very successful one.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Merrett and children, of Orange, were the guests Saturday and Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gray of East Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Godbrod, of Stout avenue, have been entertaining friends from New York for a short visit.

The corps of teachers of the public school attended the teachers institute meeting held at Elizabeth on Saturday.

Mrs. George L. Dunn led the weekly B. Y. P. U. meeting in the parlors of the Baptist church last evening.

Mrs. Frank Hosinger has been entertaining her neice, Miss Zaengle, of New York, for a few days.

Mrs. Ann Dobbins is spending a week with relatives in Newark.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, Oct. 8.—The large water tank at the flax mill, near Flemington Junction, burst a day or two weeks ago. About 10,000 gallons of water ran away. All westbound trains on the Lehigh Valley took water there. It is reported that the tank will not be repaired, and that the trains will take water at another point.

On Saturday evening occurred the death of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Boase. They have the sympathy of the community in their loss.

M. J. Voorhees, of Brooklyn, spent yesterday at the farm with Mr. Lataurett.

A. S. Manning is doing the carpenter work on John Hogan's new house.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshal, of Rahway, visited T. C. Laing yesterday.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—VanEmburgh is now offering a fine line of that popular wool, the Utopia Brand.

—One secret of Peck's success is that he keeps moving a little in advance of the procession.

—There will be but a few more sales of peaches at Neuman Brothers after tomorrow. Better buy while the fine fruit lasts and prices are still reasonable.

—Next Friday night J. H. Manning, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will conduct a meeting in the lecture room of the First Baptist church. Subject, "The Importance of Bible Study."

—Woodhull & Martin have purchased the entire line of samples from one of the largest lamp manufacturers in the country at phenominally low prices, which they place on sale tomorrow morning.

—Do not fail to hear Mrs. Mabel L. Conklin, of Brooklyn, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on "What to Tell Our Children." Women only are invited to this lecture, in the Trinity Reformed church. In the same place at 8 p. m., to the public, she will speak on "Character Building." Mrs. Conklin is a brilliant speaker.

—Do not get scared if your heart troubles you. Most likely you suffer from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and gives the worn out stomach perfect rest. It is the only preparation known that completely digests all classes of foods; that is why it cures the worst cases of indigestion and stomach trouble after everything else has failed. It may be taken in all conditions and cannot help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

BIBLE STUDY.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich to Arrange for a Class for Systematic Study.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, preached a sermon yesterday morning on Bible study. During the course of the address, Rev. Mr. Goodrich expressed a willingness to meet once a week those members of the congregation who desired to take up a systematic study of the Bible. There was a number who spoke to Mr. Goodrich at the close of the service and expressed a desire to join such a class. A meeting will be held next Sunday at the close of the service to see if there are enough to make such a meeting a success. It will be independent of the Sunday-school and will take up the course prepared by Dr. William R. Harper, of Chicago.

OF INTEREST TO OFFICIALS.

Supreme Court Decision May Affect Many Holders of Public Places.

The Supreme Court has rendered a decision in favor of Edward H. Uffert as Tax-Receiver of Newark, which sustains the City Council in appointing Uffert Receiver of Taxes, in place of Dr. Vogt, whose position was declared vacant.

The decision holds that the Act of 1894, under which Dr. Vogt was appointed tor five years, was unconstitutional. Justice Gummere writes the decision.

It is said that the Uffert case was a test one, and that several other officers in Newark and elsewhere will be affected by it.

AN INDIANA ROMANCE.

Fifty Years Ago Phoebe Meeks Left Her Sweetheart and Has Ever Since Been a Recluse.

If Phoebe Meeks should open her door and look out upon the town of Brookville, Ind., she would not recognize it. Forty-six years have wrought many changes, and it has been that long since Phoebe Meeks retired to her home and closed the doors behind her. Fifty-six years ago she was a fresh and blooming girl; now she is an old woman and dying. Still the mystery of her long seclusion is unsolved.

There have been well to do Meekses ever since the town of Brookville was founded. In 1835 Phoebe Meeks was the belle of the village. Her father owned much rich land, and Phoebe's gardens about her home were the talk of everyone. In it the merriest of garden parties were held, and Phoebe was a most charming hostess.

Hadley Johnson had neither money nor lands, nor family tradition; yet he sought the dainty Phoebe, and declared his love for her. Phoebe wore a sparkling ring on her finger, and after the engagement was announced there was one round of pleasure.

One day there was a Sunday school picnic and all of Brookville went. When the party returned home Hadley Johnson and Phoebe Meeks walked together in advance of the other strollers, and found a seat in a wooded spot to rest. Suddenly Phoebe left the side of her lover and presently a little white figure was seen flitting down the road. This was the last time that Phoebe Meeks was seen by the villagers.

For four years Hadley Johnson stayed in Brookville, and every day sent a pleading message to his sweetheart to see him, but she would not receive him. Then the disappointed young man went away.

The Meeks home that had been the scene of so much gayety began to be regarded by the villagers in the light of a tomb. Travelers journeyed to the place to see where the pretty young girl had shut herself up.

Some years after Phoebe's retirement the family fortunes became so depleted that it was necessary for the Meeks sisters to do something to add to the income. The spacious library was opened as a millinery shop, and many customers went to it with the hope of seeing Phoebe and learning something of the reason for her mysterious action. But there was no sign of the woman except in the dainty touch that was shown in the bonnets of her trimming.

The news of the misfortunes of the Meeks sisters reached Hadley Johnson, and he went back to the old home. Phoebe's sister met him, and welcomed him, but without a glimpse of his old sweetheart he returned to the new home he had made for himself in the west.

This man was one of the presidential electors from the state of Utah at its first national election. Last year he died, never having married, and never having divulged—if he knew—Phoebe Meeks' reason for shunning him and all the balance of the world.

Professors of the Brookville college have boarded in the Meeks home, and they have told of the remarkable intellect of Phoebe Meeks, who read and studied all the deepest books she could borrow from them. The dainty handiwork of the strange recluse has found its way many times to the Woman's exchange, and when a magazine was started in Brookville Phoebe Meeks sent to the editor's office a beautifully-kept record of all the births and deaths that had occurred in the county for more than half a century, which showed that she had kept posted upon the happenings of the outside world.—Cor. St. Louis Republic.

Old-Fashioned Raised Cake.

An old-fashioned recipe for raised cake is the following: Two cupfuls light sponge, one cupful sugar, one-half cupful butter, two well-beaten eggs, one cupful stoned raisins, floured, half a nutmeg, grated, one-half teaspoonful soda dissolved in a little water. Make into a loaf or loaves, and when light bake in rather slow oven, as it scorches easily. If desired, cover it with a milk icing, for which use ten teaspoonfuls sweet milk, 1½ cupfuls sugar. Boil six minutes, take from stove and stir until quite white, flavor, spread quickly with a knife dipped in cold water.

How to Prepare Stuffed Ham.

Scrape and wash a medium-sized ham in cold water. Put in boiler and cover with cold water and let boil 15 minutes for every pound. Make a dressing of one pound of stale bread crumbs, a quarter of a pound of butter, one teaspoonful each of ground cloves, allspice, nutmeg, ginger, mace, celery seed and salt, with half a teaspoonful of brown sugar and a tablespoonful of made mustard.—Chicago Daily News.

THE AMERICAN COW.

Department of Agriculture Desires to Help Farmers to Produce Absolutely Pure Milk, Butter and Cheese.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THE dairy division of the bureau of animal industry is one of the most important and valuable of all the working divisions of the busy deparement of agriculture. Facts about milk, its production, care and the mercantile methods which have developed, and which are being developed, all receive careful and scientific consideration by men who are not only scientists, but versed in the business which has grown into such proportions during recent years, particularly in the prairie states.

There are approximately 75,000,000 people in this republic, and there are

AN IDEAL DAIRY STABLE.
(Arranged for Floor Feeding by the Department of Agriculture.)

19,000,000 cows; a proportion of one cow to every four human beings. The value of the national dairy products is in excess of $500,000,000 annually. These figures represent all that can be ascertained commercially concerning the dairy business without taking into account the thousands and probably hundreds of thousands of dollars in value produced by individuals who keep but one or two cows for their families.

The dairy division, through its special agents, by the reports from experiment stations, from state institutions and state officials, is devoting its energies to a scientific supervision of this great industry, without in any manner interfering with the methods and manners of individuals who carry on their business in a legitimate manner. From time to time the department of agriculture issues bulletins about milk and milk products, which would be of great value to all dairymen and farmers if their dissemination were universal. The bulletins are of such value that it is the desire of the secretary of agriculture that the newspapers, particularly the weekly newspapers, shall benefit themselves by giving to their readers the results shown in the bulletins.

Many farmers and dairymen are successful in this business, and statistics show that very many others are unsuccessful, when their environments and conditions are substantially the same. This statement, however, might be made concerning every business; and the department of agriculture does not undertake to supply farming or mercantile capacity to those who lack talent or ability. The dairy division ascertains the most likely causes of failure and endeavors to advise against those causes.

Milk, sometimes in very large quantities, is refused because of its advanced state of decomposition. This is palpably because of carelessness in handling the milk prior to its delivery, or by the mixing of milk in different stages of decomposition. The best of dairymen find that milk is not properly handled on the farm before it is taken to the creamery. From the time the milk leaves the cow until it is put on the train is the most important period for cleanliness and care, and there is where the most of the blame is laid—at the farmer's door.

The men in charge of the work here say that there are very few dishonest dairymen, but that on the contrary the dairymen have it to their interest to furnish the best of milk and of milk products, and that to the best of their ability they do so. They claim that carelessness exists on the farms, that many farmers do not naturally possess business ability; and because of this lack of business ability they do not take such precautions in all cases as they should take. Moreover, it is developed that there are nowadays very few dishonest farmers. Lack of knowledge is the cause of the delivery of impure milk in a majority of cases.

Because of these conditions the creameries have become educators. They deal only with those whom they know, and their agents have given instruction to thousands of farmers who have gladly received all valuable information. Some of the best farmers who make great efforts to produce pure and clean milk are often handicapped by careless or slovenly helpmen and women on the farm who cannot or will not comprehend the importance of strict observance of certain rules.

Cows are uncleanly animals, as everybody knows. But the farmers who would keep clean cows find it difficult to keep clean attendants. Instead of trying to remove the dust and dirt from the cows before milking, in order that there may be as little dirt as possible in the milk, the untidy attendants turn directly from cleaning horses or from other dirty work and go to milking. They do it in dirty clothes, with dirty hands, caring nothing how much dust and dirt comes from themselves and from the cows into the milk pails. It is important that attendants should be cleanly, having clean hands and clean finger nails. But every farmer knows that it is difficult to find helpers who will ever think of cleaning their finger nails. They will scarcely do that before going to church, much less when going to do their milking.

One of the chief forms of bacterial contamination of milk comes from this carelessness. The udders should be cleaned always before milking begins. The fact is overlooked that after milking the teats are moist and germs plant themselves there, some of them even working their way into the teat cavity. Unless the teats are cleansed before the next milking these germs are first drawn into the milk pail. There they begin their work of contamination even while the milking is going on. They develop rapidly.

Likewise, when utensils are washed, unless great care is taken, the milk will not be completely removed from them, and the lactic bacteria gather and germinate there, so that legions of the bacteria are in the utensils when the next milking begins, just as they are in or upon the udder or teats. Cleaning utensils upon the farms requires constant and careful supervision, because employes are everywhere careless. They use promiscuous rags and wiping cloths, neglect the strainers, neglect the pails, do their washing hastily, and usually with cold or luke-warm water. Very often the milk pails are allowed to become coated with greasy layers which are hotbeds for the development of bacteria. Moreover, water which is impure is frequently used, water from cisterns and shallow wells, and sometimes dishwater which has been used for plates and other table utensils.

As stated above, the department of agriculture believes that there are very few dishonest dairymen. The dairy division says also that many customers are unreasonable in their demands, and that they do not take proper care of good milk after it is delivered to them. Milk can as easily be contaminated by bad handling after it has been delivered as before it leaves the farm. If pure milk is left in a kitchen or ill-ventilated cellar, where dust can settle upon it or where flies may gather upon it, no blame can attach to the milkman or the dairyman. That is the fault of the housekeeper.

Milk is often left in glass bottles in the sun. Or it is placed in a small tin pail which has not been properly washed. It is placed in a refrigerator where it absorbs the odors of meats and vegetables. And yet the housekeepers who are most careless are the most exacting and ready to quarrel with their milkmen; when, as a matter of fact, the milkman is honest and serving pure milk to reckless or ignorant customers.

Careful and intelligent housekeepers sterilize their milk, particularly the milk which is for the use of babies and children. One-third of the children die before they are three years old, and one of the leading causes of this mortality is the use of unwholesome milk. Careless mothers have been known to permit germs to attack them just as they attack cows upon farms, and children draw these germs from their mothers. But, whether it be mother's milk or milk from the cows, unwholesome milk has much to do with infant mortality.

Milk can easily be sterilized in the home by boiling it in glass bottles, and then suddenly cooling it with cold water or ice. Boiling kills the harmful bacteria, and the cooling must be quick, in order to prevent the redevelopment of spores. Every careful housekeeper rearnig a child will gladly resort to this method of sterilization; but careless housekeepers will probably continue in their carelessness, and also continue to blame the milkman for their own faults.

Although milk is one of the best of foods, and is extensively used everywhere, 87 per cent. of it is water. One hundred pounds of milk contains 87 pounds of water, five pounds of milk sugar, 3.3 pounds of albumen and casein, and seven-tenths of a pound of mineral matter. Chemists and scientists say that pure milk is one of the best of all food products, while practical men and women know that it is the best of all foods for children. The small proportion of solid matter, although exceedingly nutritive, is so readily digestible that its health-giving properties are marvelous.

USED TO RUN A HOTEL.

Therefore He Knew How to Sympathize with the Long Suffering Landlord.

"I was up at Niagara Falls the other day," said a Washington man, according to the Washington Post. "The summer rush had just begun. While I was in the office a guest entered to register. The landlord sized the new arrival up as a kicker while he was writing his name in the register, and before anything could be said about rooms, rates or conveniences he observed:

"'Perhaps you have made a mistake in the hotel. This is the Great View house. The Small View house is two blocks down the street.'

"'This is the place I want,' replied the guest.

"'But our rooms are small and the beds are nothing to brag of.'

"'That will be all right. I've been sleeping in a hall bedroom on a shelf for a year past.'

"'There is no roaring to be heard here.'

"'I'm glad of it.'

"'And the meals are very plain.'

"'That suits me. I've got dyspepsia, and the plainer the meals are the better.'

"'You don't object to hand organs by day and squalling babies by night?'

"'Not the slightest. I've roamed all over Europe, and you can't have anything here to compare.'

"The landlord said that he had erred in sizing the man up, but he hated to admit it, and therefore continued:

"'My rates are three dollars a day.'

"'That's cheap enough for a hotel here,' repuied the man.

"'Do you look for rainbows over the falls?'

"'Not a bit of it. If they come along I'll take my share, but any old bow will do for me.'

"'Are you afraid of typhoid fever?'

"'No, sir.'

"'There's only one cataract here.'

"'I don't want any more. Give me the poorest, smallest room in the house, and if you want to put a man in with me, all right, and I'll use anything for a wash basin and furnish my own soap and towel. Your rates are three dollars a day. Here is $100 to start on.'

"'Lord, Lord, but what kind of a man are you?' gasped the landlord, as his head began to swim.

"'I? Oh, I used to run a hotel here myself and I know how to sympathize!' smiled the guest. 'Just let things run along the same as if I wasn't here. If it's handy, give me clean sheets once in two weeks, but don't go to putting yourself out or worrying over me. Here's 33 days in advance, and in case you run short any time just let me know and I'll lend you $500 to get along with!'"

THE WORRYING HABIT.

Some Pertinent Comments by Robert Hickens, Author of "The Green Carnation."

It is absurd to join a "don't worry" club, but it is far from absurd to resolve to train the mind not to worry. The mind, like the body, is to a great extent the servant of repetition. It must be accustomed to do, or to stop doing, a thing before it can accept, or refuse, a feat easily.

The mind is strangely like the body. Exercise it and you will be surprised to find how much it resembles the body. Lots of people honestly believe that, because a certain fault is, as they call it, born in them, they can never get rid of, or even thoroughly curb it. So the woman who worries goes on helplessly, hopelessly worrying, and only worries herself the more by joining a "don't worry" club.

I remember once suffering persistently from insomnia, and I was advised not to think at night, to make my mind a blank, empty of thought. I said I could not possibly do it. I tried to do it, and could not. I tried again and again, and could not. Always some definite thought intruded. But I resolved to reduce my mind to obedience, and I persisted in the attempt to compass what seemed the impossible. One night I banished thought and I slept. Since then I have often succeeded in thus drawing, as it were, the poison from the fangs of that monster the mind, for it can be a monster, indeed. The fatal thing is to be beaten at a first, a second, even a third attempt. It is quite possible for the worrier to worry no more. Read Marcus Aurelius on that subject. If Dr. George Jacoby is right—and no doubt he is—then worry helps to kill the body. It certainly helps to injure the soul. Why does not some Sandow of the mental world start a school for the training of the temperament? This would be far better than a "don't worry" club.—Chicago Democrat.

IN CONES OF STONE.

Cappadocians Lived in Them for Thousands of Years.

An Extraordinary Survival from Almost Prehistoric Times—Some of the Queer Dwellings Have as Many as Nine Stories.

Prof. J. R. S. Sterrett describes in the Century a region of Cappadocia in which, as he believes, the inhabitants have been cave dwellers for nearly 4,000 years. Many of them live in cones of stone that have been left by the washing away of the surrounding earth.

The height of the cones varies greatly, ranging perhaps from 50 to 300 feet. The process of disintegration still continues, and in many cones the exterior wall has been worn away to such an extent that the chambers are laid bare. Such exposed chambers, if they lie fairly to the sun, are used for drying grapes, apricots and other fruit, as they are safe against invasion by animals. Often the cones are almost perfect in shape, and originally all of them were crowned by caps of lava, which were the primal cause of the cone formation. The caps maintain their position because they form one integral conglomerate mass with the cone.

Sometimes the doorway gives entrance direct from the ground, but in many cones the entrance is high above the ground, in which case ingress is attained by means of two parallel rows of holes cut at regular intervals, so that one may climb to the door with hands and feet. Sometimes there are no visible means of reaching the entrance, but this is apparent rather than actual, for the process of disintegration constantly decreases the circumference of the cones, and the original ladder holes have disappeared. If we enter the doorway of any of these cone dwellings, we find ourselves within a spacious chamber, about whose walls niches and shelves for the storage of small household effects have been cut into the stone. The stairways leading to the upper stories are like wells or round chimneys, and once ascended to an upper story by means of ladder holes precisely like those which gave access to the front entrance.

The floors between the stories were usually thick enough to withstand any weight that might be put upon them, but occasionally the excavators miscalculated the thickness of the floor, with the result of making one lofty chamber instead of two. I counted as many as nine stories in one cone, but most have only two, three, or four stories. One can easily count the stories from the outside by means of the windows. Great numbers of the cone-dwellings are used to-day as dovecotes.

A due proportion of the cones were reserved for the worship of some god, whether pagan or Christian. The period to which these belong is revealed by the imitated architecture. A cone with a portico and Doric columns belongs clearly to the period when Greek civilization was dominant. An interior with pseudo-arches belongs to the Greco-Roman period. An interior which imitates the characteristic Byzantine church is clearly of Christian origin, though its date may be a matter of dispute. The interior walls of the Byzantine churches are still covered with frescos, which of course are more or less obliterated. Among them are found not merely portraits of Greek saints, each with the characteristic nimbus, but even pretentious paintings embracing a large number of figures. Some of these paintings are ancient in style, others more modern.

The natives of this region, to all intents and purposes, are still troglodytes. But if we leave out of consideration the fact that their dwellings are at least partially underground, they differ in habits and customs in no whit from the ordinary Turkish villagers with ordinary, humdrum surroundings.

Bell Made from Pipes.

There is a remarkable bell in Tokio, Japan. The bell is made of bronze-like metal, and has a pleasing musical ring. On the outside of the bell is inscribed in four languages—English, French, German and Japanese—the following:

"This bell, cast in the city of Tokyo, Japan, December 10, 1892, by Tsuda Sen, is made from the metal of tobacco pipes of more than a thousand men, once slaves, now free men." A woman missionary in 1892 waged war on tobacco smokers and persuaded more than 1,000 men to give up the habit. They therefore had no further use for their metal pipes, and they were melted down and cast in the form of a bell.

RALLY DAY SERVICE.

Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist Church Heard Several Special Speakers.

The Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church held its rally day service yesterday afternoon. It was to have been held the Sunday before, but was postponed on account of rain. Mrs. Alice S. Runyon, the superintendent, presided. The exercises included five-minute talks. The speakers and subjects were "How May the Church and Sunday-school Be Brought Closer Together?" by Rev. J. W. Richardson; "The Power of Music in the Sunday-school," by Theodore I. Runyon; "How Shall We Increase the Spiritual Power of our School?" by Charles Dayton; "What is the Responsibility of the Individual Scholar?" by David M. Runyon; "How May We Increase the Attendance of Our Sunday-school," by Miss Florence G. Hawkins.

There was a good attendance at the service, a number of the members of the home department being present. The special music included an anthem by the church choir.

COUNCIL REJECTED DOUGHTY'S SYSTEM.

Declined Leonard Spangenberg's Proposition of Sewage Disposal Plant for City.

THE EXPERT'S REPORT.

ENGINEER ADVISED COUNCIL NOT TO ACCEPT OFFER.

Was Consulted by Street Committee Which Presented His Report to the Council—City Fathers Followed the Advice Thus Given.

While the Common Council decided on no remedy for the sewage disposal troubles of the city at the adjourned meeting of that body last evening, the proposal of Leonard Spangenberg regarding the Doughty system was rejected. That action was taken at the advisement of Joseph O. Osgood, a New York consulting engineer, whose opinion was asked by the committee on streets and sewers. Regarding the other propositions for bettering the situation at the city sewer farm, the committe was not ready yet to report.

It was generally expected that the street committee would have a report to make at the regular meeting of the Council Monday evening of last week. There came a proposition from Leonard Spangenberg offering to build a plant for the trial of the Doughty system without cost to the city, the city to purchase it for $15,000 if it proved satisfactory at the end of a six months trial. At the request of Councilman Tolles, chairman of the committee on streets and sewers, the Council adjourned until last night.

Seven were present at last evening's meeting of the Council, the absentees being Councilmen Craig, van Herwerden, Mellick and Corlell. The business was the report of the street committee. Mr. Tolles returned Mr. Spangenberg's proposition and with it was the report of Engineer Osgood, an expert on such matters who had been consulted by the committee. His recomendation was that the proposition be no further considered. Regarding it, he wrote:

"The process, as explained by Mr. Doughty, consists of the introduction of Hypochlorous acid gas into the sewage as it issues from the sewer and Mr. Doughty claims that this will disinfect and purify the sewage, stop further decomposition and yield a valuable sludge. He has, however, made no experiments on a sufficiently large scale to prove anything in regard to the invention.

"Even if experiments in the same general line that Mr. Doughty is at work on had proved economical and efficient, it would be obviously unbusinesslike for the city to contract for the establishment of a plant under Mr. Doughty's payments until he had shown his faith in his invention by developing some actual results of value.

"In fact, however, chemical treatment of sewage, although in use in England for over thirty years and still used to some extent in precipitating the more solid matters in the sewage there and elsewhere, has proved an expensive and unsatisfactory process which for final treatment is not to be compared with later filtration methods. Hypochlorous acid has long been known as a powerful oxidizing and bleaching agent and occurs most commonly perhaps as one of the ingredients of ordinary chloride of lime.

"Disinfecting large bodies of sewage is a costly process at best and even if decomposition should be stopped by Mr. Doughty's treatment, as he claims, it does not necessarily follow that it would not again take place in the sludge or effluent.

"There are plenty of other ways of disposing of sewage which have been well tested and have given much better results than can be expected from Mr. Doughty's process."

After the reading of Mr. Osgood's letter Mr. Tolles moved that Mr. Spangenberg's proposition be not accepted. Mr. Buckle seconded the motion and stated that, as the Councilmen were not fully informed on such questions, they considered it the best course to follow the advice of experts. The motion was unanimously carried, while the report was accepted and filed.

No other reports were made and under the head of new business Mr. Tolles introduced an ordinance, the object of which is to establish the grades of the city streets as they are at present. Before the meeting a map was filed with City Clerk MacMurray by Street Commissioner Gavett, on which were all of the existing grades. The ordinance introduced provided for the official establishment of the

TYPO UNION FORMED.

TWELVE PRINTERS SIGNED CHARTER LIST LAST NIGHT.

Louis E. Eaton Elected President of the Organization — Next Meeting October 17th.

During the past year there has been great progress made among the workingmen of this city towards organization of labor unions. Last night another step in this direction was taken in the formation of a branch of the International Typographical Union. For several years there have been a number of union printers in Plainfield, but all have been attached to out-of-town branches of their organization. Recently efforts have been making to form a union here, and last night it resulted successfully.

The meeting was held in the Elkwood building and was attended by a number of the journeyman typos employed in the various newspaper and job offices. Twelve members signed the charter roll. W. F. Derflinger, an organizer under the direction of the International Union, was present and assisted in getting the organization started.

The following officers were elected: President, Louis E. Eaton; vice-president, E. C. Searing; secretary-treasurer, Frank L. Jones; sergeant at-arms, George Rockafellow.

The final steps in the organization and the installation of officers will take place October 17th. The union will undoubted attach itself to the city trades union, which will give it prestige and influence outside of its own membership.

AFRAID OF BURGLARY.

BONAWALT SAYS THAT WAS THE REASON FOR HIS SHOOTING.

Shay and Wallace Accused of Being Disorderly and Fined $8 Each by Justice Clark.

Another side of the Hunter avenue shooting affray in Scotch Plains Saturday night, when George Shay, of Terrell road, was shot by Renort Bonawatt, was heard in Judge Clark's court last night. Shay and Wallace were arranged to answer to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The complainant in the case was Bonawalt. Bonawalt swore that the defendent in the case came to his home on Saturday night after he and his family had retired. He said from their actions he believed that robbery was intended. The men was first noticed, he said, by the barking of his dogs. This awakened the family and he looked out of the window and saw the two clubbing and beating the animals.

When the house was reached Shay stood near a window while Wallace went up on the stoop and crouched down as though to try a window. Then Bonawalt says he spoke up and told them to leave the place. Instead of doing this they invited him out and between their curses and oaths told him what they would do with him if he would only accept the invitation. He said he began to fear the two men would get into the house and fulfil their threats. He ordered them away several times and finally told them that if they did not he would shoot. After repeated demands for them to leave he shot.

Shay and Wallace told the same story and the severe cross-examination of Law Student Sweeney, who was in court to represent the interests of the complainant, failed to shake their testimony. Both said they had been in Plainfield until nearly 10 o'clock. Then on their way home they came on to Scotch Plains and had several drinks. About 12 o'clock they concluded to go home, and on the way it was decided to stop at Bonawalt's and get some bottled beer to take home with them for Sunday.

Both say the house was lighted and that no secrecy was made in their movements about the place. Wallace says that he knocked several times. While he was attempting to make the proprietor hear him he was surprised to hear a gunshot and the fall of broken glass.

Judge Clark said he wanted to be as lenient as possible in this case, but the mere fact of the prisoners going to the plaintiff's house at that time of night made them disorderly—unless they went on an errand of mercy. He imposed a fine of $5 and costs upon both, making a total of $8. Both prisoners were released upon their own recognisance until tomorrow evening when they promised to appear before the court and settle.

As soon as the case was closed Lawyer Sweeney asked for a warrant for both Wallace and Shay, charging them with attempted burglary. The court refused to issue a warrant on this charge until later, as there had already been two cases from this trouble and he would wait until the Grand Jury had acted upon the case of Bonawalt who is being held for shooting Shay.

STATE COMMITTEE BITTERLY ATTACKED.

Somerset Democrats Question in Serious Manner the Intentions of Campaign Managers.

EXCHANGED LIVELY WORDS

DISPUTE OVER THE ORGANIZATION OF COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Finally Decided to Organize Next Saturday—Peter B. Hall Accused the State Committee of Being Lukewarm.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 9.—After the nominations were made yesterday afternoon and the nominees had made their little speeches of thanks, Geo. P. Norton, chairman of the county executive committee, introduced a resolution that the executive committee entering upon their duties today hold office until the first Saturday of January, 1902, and hereafter the term of of office of the Democratic county committee shall commence the first Saturday in January after their election and expire the first Saturday in January of the following year.

This started a spirited discussion, participated in by a number of delegates, and finally it was stated that it was offered at the suggestion of the State committee. This brought Peter B. Hall to his feet, who stated that if it emanated from the State committee it should be killed. He was asked why by several delegates, and being hard pressed said that the State committee were not doing as they should; that they were lukewarm, and that they ignored all requests from Somerset for speakers.

This brought ex-Senator Keys, a member of the State committee, to his feet, who said that the State committee were doing their best with the limited means at their command, that they had no money for speakers, and that the speakers sent out went at their own expense. He said they had plenty of offers of speakers and he would see that Somerset was supplied whenever she called for speakers. He said that Somerset had refused one speaker whom they sent—Mr. Sprague. He then said that Mr. Hall had asked to be put on the speakers list, and when called upon to go to various places, had ignored the committee's requests.

Mr. Hall said that was four years ago. The resolution was finally adopted.

Mr. Norton introduced another resolution that hereafter all primaries be held by districts, where possible. It was adopted.

J. A. Gaffney then moved that the executive committee meet immediately after the convention adjourned for organization.

This created more spirited discussion. Freeholder Wm. J. Logan said that this was unprecedented and the convention had nothing to do with it. The chairman of the old executive committee always called the committee together. He thought there must be a nigger in the fence.

Mr. Gaffney retorted that there was no nigger anywhere around. He wanted the committee to get to work, as the time was short.

The discussion was continued by several delegates at some length, and finally the roll of committeemen was called to see how many were present. The roll call revealed 16 present and 8 absent.

Mr. Norton, the old chairman, then called the committee to meet on Thursday, at 2 p. m., at the Jacksonian Club rooms. This brought out a storm of protests from the county members, who said they could not come on Thursday.

The convention finally decided that they had nothing to do with the matter and the convention then adjourned.

Mr. Norton then called the committee together after the convention adjourned and he was elected temporary chairman and Horace Codington temporary secretary. The committee then decided to meet on Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Somerset Hotel.

The North Plainfield members of the committee are Lewis Bird and William Demler.

Mr. Martine had been asked to address the convention, but was unable to be present, owing to a cold.

M. J. Scully was permanent chairman and Peter B. Hall permanent secretary of the convention.

The resolutions denounce the Republican administration in no uncertain tones.

The heavy rain on the roof prolonged the meeting, as the speakers were obliged to stop at times until the rain let up.

JERSEY IN BATTLE ARRAY

DEMOCRATS EXPECT MUCH FROM COLONEL BRYAN'S VISIT.

Republicans Still Confident—Settlement of the Fierce Fight in Passaic Gives Them Renewed Courage.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Oct. 9—The political campaign in New Jersey will soon be at its height. There are only four weeks between now and Election Day, and all that time will be devoted to campaign oratory in every section of the State. On the Republican side the brunt of the oratorical work is being borne by Senator Frye, of Maine; Congressman Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, and State talent such as Congressmen Parker, Fowler and Stewart; John S. Gibson, of Newark, and some lesser lights. Street parades and torchlight processions will form features of the campaign on both sides, but they will not be of such magnitude as those of former years.

Colonel Bryan will make a tour of the State the latter part of this month, when he will deliver addresses in Camden, Burlington, Trenton, New Brunswick, Newark, Jersey City, Paterson and at other places. The Democrats are making great preparations that their Presidential candidate may receive a great ovation so as to prove his popularity even in the "enemy's country." A special committee has been named to escort him through the State, among its members being Senator Cornish, Howard Carrow, Eckard P. Budd and Louis F. Braun. No doubt the Colonel will attract great crowds, and many Republicans will be as anxious to see and listen to him as if he were their own candidate for the Presidency. The Democrats are in hopes that the Colonel will make numerous conversions to their cause during his tour, and they feel confident that he will arouse much enthusiasm among the masses and strengthen the Democratic ticket all the way through.

The Republicans look for great results in the banner counties of Essex, Camden, Union and Mercer, and they expect to carry every county in the State with the exceptions of Warren, Hunterdon and Hudson. The dissensions in their ranks in Passaic having vanished they predict a majority there for their National ticket of not less than 2,500 and the election of the entire county ticket.

The Democratic State Committee, under the guidance of Mr. Gourley, is now full of animation, which is an indication that real, earnest work is meant in this campaign. The headquarters in Jersey City are now visited daily by Democrats from all parts of the State, and they report much activity in the ranks of the faithful. Campaign speakers are much sought after and literature is in much demand.

LAMP EXPLODED.

Fire Department Called Out in Midst of Heavy Downpour Last Night.

In the midst of a perfect downpour of rain last evening the fire department was called out by an alarm from box 12 sent in by Patrolman Vanderweg. The fire was in the tailoring shop of Samuel Solomon, on Somerset street, in the two story frame building owned by P. M. French. A lamp had exploded and in a few minutes the entire shop was ablaze. When the firemen arrived dense volumes of smoke were pouring from the doors and windows and they had considerable difficulty in extinguishing it. The blaze was finally put out after it had caused $500 damage, which is covered by insurance.

The headquarters men were somewhat delayed in getting out owing to the failure of the house gong and indicator to work owing to the wet weather.

A short time after the firemen had left the scene, fire again broke out in the upper part of the building. A still alarm was sent in and Acting Chief Jennings responded with a hose wagon. This time the blaze was thoroughly extinguished.

HEAVY FALL OF RAIN SINCE YESTERDAY.

Over Three Inches of Water Has Been Poured Upon the Earth in Twenty-Four Hours.

MORE THAN IN ALL OCTOBER

STORM HAS CAUSED MUCH TROUBLE TO STREET DEPARTMENT.

Many Catch Basins Blocked With Refuse That Water Swept Into Them—Volume in the Brooks Increased.

After weeks of drought, the elements have taken a new turn and Plainfield is damp, extremely so, in fact. After a bright but muggy morning Saturday, great banks of mist and fog swept over this section and there has been rain of more or less severity ever since. Yesterday the flood gates were opened and the rain came down in torrents which flooded the streets and sidewalks. In the twenty-four hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning 3.22 inches of rain fell, a heavier fall than was recorded during the entire month of October, 1899.

Sunday saw a light mist falling which continued practically all that day. There was a sharp shower late Sunday night. The mist appeared again yesterday morning, but as the day advanced the mist changed to rain. At noon there were signs of clearing.

Great black clouds swept in from the south during the afternoon and a heavy shower, accompanied by thunder and lightning, passed over. The electrical display ended soon, but the rain kept right on all the afternoon and evening. The wind shifted to the north during the evening and freshened considerably. The thermometer fell to 50 degrees during the night and the morning was cold and damp. There is prospect of clearing and much colder this afternoon or tonight.

When the heavy rainfall began the street department had its troubles. Many of the catch basins were blocked by refuse and the employes of the department had to clean them out and relieve the flooded condition of the streets.

Park avenue remained in good shape although at times there were some fair sized puddles to be found. The new catch basins under the Watchung avenue bridge did their duty.

Under the Washington street railroad bridge, there was nearly six feet of water. The water was quite deep beneath the railroad bridge over Central avenue. West Fifth and Sixth streets, near New street, were badly flooded but the new catch basins at Fourth and New streets worked all right.

The culverts on Arlington avenue, put in by the street railway company, were not large enough to carry off the water and the street was flooded in consequence.

Cedar brook became a good sized stream for the time being. In places it was filled to the banks and, at the Richmond street bridge, came above the bottom of the bridge beams. Richmond street, itself, was flooded badly near Fifth street and the trolley cars had trouble.

According to the report of Weather Observer Neagle, the rainfall from 8 o'clock yesterday morning to the same hour this morning amounted to 3.22 inches. The rainfall during October last year was 2.90 inches.

Green and Stony brooks were increased considerably in volume but, as far as has yet been reported, did no damage. From the country districts reports of very high water in the brooks and streams have been made but so far no serious floods have been reported. The water is high in the Raritan river and the flats will probably be overflowed but Bound Brook will not suffer unless the heavy rain is resumed this afternoon.

STRUCK BY MAIL WAGON

JAMES MERRITT BADLY HURT IN NEW YORK YESTERDAY.

Waiting for Street Car to Pass on West Street When He was Run Down.

James Merritt, of West Front street, president of the Plainfield Social Club, was struck by a U. S. mail wagon on West street, opposite the Liberty street ferry, in New York, yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and suffered a broken hip.

Mr. Merritt had been in Newark in the morning and at noon left for New York, where he had some business to transact. When he got off the ferry and started to cross to Liberty street he found his path blocked by a street car and a number of wagons. He stopped for a moment to let the car pass by, and while waiting a mail wagon drove up at rapid speed and the shaft of the vehicle struck him on the hip with great force. He was thrown to the pavement, and a moment later carried to the side of the street. A policeman sent in a call for an ambulance from the Hudson Street Hospital.

In the meantime Fred W. Dunn, the North avenue grocer, who was in New York, happened along and noticed the plight of Mr. Merritt. Mr. Merritt wanted to be taken to the ferry and sent home on the train, not knowing at that time that he was so badly injured. When the ambulance arrived at the spot the surgeon made a hurried examination and then insisted on taking him to the hospital. When the injured man arrived at the hospital the seriousness of the injury was disclosed.

The driver of the mail wagon had been arrested, but after his name and address was taken he was permitted to go till Mr. Merritt decides whether or not he will prosecute him.

Word was sent to Mrs. Merritt and she went to New York at once. Dr. Long, of Park avenue, was also telephoned for and he went to New York last evening. While there arrangements were made to bring Mr. Merritt to Plainfield today, and this afternoon he was brought out and taken to his home.

SHOOTING IS A MYSTERY.

JAMES JEROLAMAN THE VICTIM OF A STRANGE AFFAIR.

Was Driving in the Country When He was Shot—Who Fired the Gun is Not Known

The residents of the little village of Liberty Corner, just over the mountains, are busy at present discussing the mysterious shooting of James Jerolaman, a grocery clerk, last Friday afternoon. The young man is a son of William Jerolaman, of Race street, this city, and was formerly employed by Neuman Brothers.

He was driving through a deep woods on his delivery route, when the report of a gun rang out and the next instant a charge of shot tore through the wagon curtains and entered his face and side. The report frightened the horse and the animal gave a sudden leap, throwing Jerolaman out on the hard road. His right knee was hurt by the fall and he was unable to follow the runaway. He lay on the ground suffering intense pain until the arrival of some farmers, who had captured the horse and returned with it to investigate. The injured man told them what had happened but a thorough search failed to reveal any hunters or anyone with a gun. Jerolaman was taken home and medical aid summoned.

Although his condition is not serious he suffers great pain and will be confined to his bed for some time. Who could have done the shooting or for what purpose is what is puzzling the citizens, as no one was seen carrying a gun in the vicinity either before or after the affair. Some think it may have been done by some careless hunter who was afraid to show himself after seeing Jerolaman fall to the ground, while others think it was done intentionally.

Successful Operation.

A successful operation for appendicitis was performed yesterday on a young colored woman named Marguerite Tucker, of Harmony street, by Dr. Roland Tomlinson. He was assisted by Dr. W. H. Murray.

A Dime Sociable.

The second of a series of dime sociables under the auspices of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. of A., will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Allen, of Linden avenue, Thursday night.

—Tomorrow will be one of the last opportunities to purchase peaches at Neuman Brothers.

"The Smart Set" For November.

The present number of The Smart Set certainly sustains the statement of the publishers that it is a "magazine of cleverness." Many of the contributions to the November number are not only clever but brilliant. The list is a long one. Among the contributions which are bound to attract attention is "The Errors of Society," by Rev. Braddin Hamilton, the well-known Newport clergyman, who writes fearlessly of the "errors" as he sees them. The literary world will be interested in a hitherto unpublished poem, "Don Juan," by the late Richard Hovey. This remarkable poem shows the brilliant verse-writer in an entirely new and unexpected light, the verses sparkling with wit and satire.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Dobbins and daughter, of Elmwood place, have returned from Caldwell, where they have been visiting, and Mrs. Dobbins and daughter have gone to Millstone for another visit.

Watch Your Kidneys!

They are Filters For the Blood. Impure Blood Causes Disease.

Few people understand the important part performed by the kidneys in filtering the blood. As the blood in its circulation through the body passes through the kidneys, its impurity is left in the kidneys, which in turn empties the secretions into the bladder in the form of urine.

If the kidneys are clocked and filtration of the blood from poisonous or diseased germs is prevented thereby, the result is one or all of the following: Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Weak Back, Pains in the Back and Loins, Scalding Dark and Cloudy Urine, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bright's Disease and Inflammation of the Bladder.

Unhealthy Kidneys Must Be Treated

A medicine is needed that will properly promote the filtration of the blood and check the over-secretion of urine.

NO TRACE OF CAPTAIN SHIELDS

Expedition Returns and a Stronger Force Goes to Marinduque.

MANILA, Oct. 9. The expedition sent to rescue Captain Devereaux Shields and the 52 men who are supposed to have been captured by Filipinos on Marinduque island in September reached Torrijos on Sept. 27. It marched into the mountains over the route which Shields had expected to take, but without securing any definite information, the natives fleeing at the approach of the rescuing party.

Some Chinamen were encountered on the march. They said that Captain Shields had been wounded in a fight nine miles north of Torrijos. After losing seven killed, Shields' ammunition became exhausted, and his party was overwhelmed and captured. The Chinamen thought that the Filipinos might have taken the prisoners to Mindoro, an unfortified town.

General Hare, with two battalions of the First infantry, sailed from here on Saturday, determined to rescue Shields and his men and punish their captors. General reports indicate that the enemy possesses 250 rifles, including 50 Krag-Jorgensens.

Fight With Enraged Bull.

NYACK, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Alonzo Stevens of Spring Valley is in a serious condition from being tossed 15 feet in the air by a bull on Lawyer E. T. Lovatt's farm. Stevens was crossing a lot when the bull rushed toward him, caught him with his horns and threw him high in the air. When the man came down, he landed on the bull's neck and tried to stay there, but the bull threw him off and then put his front foot on his breast and started in to trample the man to death. A farmhand who had heard Stevens' cries arrived on the scene with a rail and drove the bull off just in time to save the man's life, but he was badly mangled and was carried off the field unconscious.

The Slocum Reaches San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The quartermaster general has been informed that the Slocum arrived at San Francisco Saturday night, having made the trip from New York by way of the straits of Magellan in 86 days. The Slocum is one of the largest and most powerful tugs in the service of the quartermaster's department. The government was unable to buy a vessel of that character on the Pacific coast and as a chartered tug would be very much circumscribed in its operations by the rules of the port against carrying passengers, etc., it was found necessary to send a vessel around from New York.

Roosevelt In Illinois.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Governor Roosevelt yesterday made a tour of Illinois. His special train left the Polk street depot at 7:15 o'clock in the morning and made the first stop at Joliet. The workmen in the steel mills had an opportunity to hear the governor and go to work after the speech instead of at 7 o'clock. The next stop was at Streator, and there the governor was met by excursionists from all directions. His train made stops at Peoria, Lincoln, Springfield, Jacksonville, Litchfield and Alton on the way to East St. Louis, where a night meeting was held.

Hill to Speak In the West.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Former Senator David B. Hill of New York, it is unofficially announced at Democratic national headquarters in this city, will take an active part in the presidential campaign in the west. At the request of the Cook county Democratic committee Senator Hill has consented to make an address at a meeting to be held in Chicago Oct. 13. He will also be the principal speaker at the meeting of Oct. 19. Between those dates Senator Hill will make several addresses at various towns in Indiana.

A Difference Over Steel Rails.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9.—New steel rails for immediate use are needed by the Lake Shore, Nickel Plate, Wheeling and Lake Erie, Toledo, St. Louis and Western, Ohio Central and Cleveland Terminal and Valley railroads to the extent of 50,000 tons. The manufacturers of steel rails reached an agreement in New York two weeks ago to maintain the price at $26 per ton. The railroads named have, on the other hand, agreed not to pay more than $22. The result is being awaited with interest.

Youtsey's Trial Begun.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 9.—Youtsey's trial on a charge of complicity in the Goebel murder began here yesterday. The jury comprises 11 Democrats and one Prohibitionist. The court overruled a motion to discharge the jury because the sheriff had been restricted as to the territory from which to summon jurors. In opening the case the prosecution alleged that Youtsey suggested the exact plan by which Goebel was killed.

Trying to Surround Boers.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 9. The Britons now occupy Wepener, as well as Ladybrand and Ficksburg, in Orange River Colony, and the British are attempting to surround them. CONVENTION CALLED President Mitchell Appoints a Meeting at Scranton.

PROBABLE OUTCOME A SETTLEMENT.

Quietness Prevails In the Anthracite Coal Regions—Miners Pleased at the Prospect of an Early Adjustment of Differences.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—President Mitchell issued his call yesterday for the much talked of miners' convention to consider the operators' offer of a 10 per cent increase in wages.

The convention will be held at Scranton and will open on Friday next. Representation in the convention will be on the basis of one delegate with one vote for each 100 persons on strike.

It is the general expectation that the decision of the convention will be to accept the increase and return to work.

Quietness prevails throughout the anthracite region, the call for the convention being generally accepted as a signal for cessation of hostilities all around. There are many expressions of satisfaction by miners and operators and by merchants and others in the mining section over the prospects of an early settlement of the troubles.

Yesterday completed the third week since the strike officially went into effect.

The miners will have parades and mass meetings at Shamokin today and at Scranton on Wednesday. President Mitchell will be in attendance and is expected to speak at both places.

ADVANCE WILL BE ACCEPTED.

It Is Considered Likely That Miners Will Not Hold Out Longer.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 9.—The issuing of the call by President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America for a joint convention of the anthracite miners to be held at Scranton beginning next Friday for the purpose of deciding whether to accept or to reject the 10 per cent net increase in wages offered by the operators is a long step in the direction of bringing the great coal miners' strike to a close. Genuine satisfaction is expressed by both miners and persons not directly connected with the coal industry that the contest is approaching an end. Business throughout the entire anthracite coal field is practically at a standstill, and it will take some time before normal conditions will again prevail.

It is believed the convention will not be a long one, as it is expected the strikers will almost unanimously accept the advance in wages. There is, however, a possibility that by the introduction of a proposition to abolish the sliding scale and another to have the operators agree to a yearly wage contract the termination of the strike might be somewhat delayed.

Preparing For the Convention.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 9.—Music hall, a theater adjoining the district headquarters and capable of seating 1,000 people, has been secured for Friday's convention of the United Mine Workers. The national headquarters will be at the St. Charles hotel, a block and a half away. President Mitchell and his staff will come here tomorrow morning, and the probability is that the headquarters will be maintained in this city until the strike is over, as this is the metropolis of the anthracite region. The general feeling here is that the 10 per cent offer will be accepted as it stands and that the matter of substituting a fixed scale for a sliding scale in the lower districts will be left to the affected miners themselves to settle when they come to treat with their respective employers under the provisions of the offer guaranteeing adjustment of any grievances the employees may present.

Delaware and Hudson Yields.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 9.—Notices are posted at all the Delaware and Hudson collieries offering an increase of 10 per cent net to the company's men. The notices are the same as those issued by the other companies. This makes the prospect of a speedy settlement of the strike much brighter. The Pennsylvania is now the only coal carrying road whose coal company, the Susquehanna, has not agreed to advance the wages of the men, but such action is expected in a day or two. Few of the individual operators are holding out, the Pennsylvania Coal company, with 8,000 employees, being the largest and the Kingston, with 3,000, and the Parrish, with 2,000, being next in size.

Panther Creek Mines Running.

LANSFORD, Pa., Oct. 9.—All the mines of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company went to work as usual yesterday morning, and the 8,000 miners showed no evidence of weakening. Collieries 8 and 11 at Coaldale are short handed, the loaders being on strike. This is the first break in the ranks. Many labor leaders are in the Panther Creek valley trying to organize the miners.

Stranded Steamer Saved.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Oct. 9.—Captain Tucker, commanding the Merritt & Chapman wrecking outfit, has succeeded in floating the German steamer St. Georg. Captain Hengsbach, from Philadelphia Aug. 5 and Norfolk Aug. 8 for St. Lucia and Daiquiri, which went ashore near Daiquiri on Sept. 3 and was then considered a total wreck. The St. Georg has been brought here for temporary repairs and, it is expected, will leave for New York in a fortnight. She was only slightly damaged.

Fire Chiefs Meet.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 9.—Nearly 500 fire chiefs, with their wives and daughters, are in the city to attend the convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers. Among the parties already arrived was The Fireman's Herald party from New York, which arrived at 8:55 a. m., 102 strong, having made the 780 miles in 20 hours.

Letter Carrier In Trouble.

MILLVILLE, N. J., Oct. 9.—Charles Ireland, a letter carrier in this city, has been arrested on the charge of embezzlement. Several packages of letters were discovered under some bushes in the suburbs of the town, and Ireland has admitted placing them there.

Alabama's Coal Output.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 9.—State Mine Inspector J. B. Hooper of this city estimates that the coal output of Alabama for this year will approximate 9,000,000 tons, an increase over last year's production of 1,250,000 tons.

AMERICANS DECLINE.

Will Not Join Expedition to Pao-ting-fu.

CITY READY TO YIELD TO ALLIES.

Russians Abandon Railroad—Joint Construction and Operation Favored by Chaffee—Triads Defeat Imperial Troops.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—A dispatch from Peking says:

"The American troops will not participate in the expedition to Pao-ting-fu. General Chaffee has the assurance of Li Hung Chang that if the allies desire Pao ting-fu the Chinese will readily surrender that city. Li Hung Chang has given the same assurance to the other generals.

"The Americans believe that revenge and military display are the only objects of the expedition, and they hold that it will retard the restoration of peace.

"The Russians are understood to have practically abandoned the railroad and to have stopped its reconstruction. General Chaffee favors the return of the railroad to its owners and its reconstruction and operation on a joint international basis.

"The first re-enforcements of German troops have arrived here."

The Shanghai correspondent of The Times, wiring Oct. 7, says:

"It is reported that French troops hold Lu-ko-chiao, on the Lu-han railway. The Russians and Germans hold the Pei-tang forts and have also taken Tong-shan and the Kai-ping mines, thus monopolizing the coal supply in north China.

"It was expected that Count von Waldersee would maintain an even balance between the powers, whereas the actual result of the operations places all the strategic positions in the hands of other nations. A strong feeling prevails that the situation is daily becoming more gloomy."

"Five thousand Triads," says a dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Canton, dated Oct. 7, "have defeated the imperial troops and occupied several places between Mirs bay and Deep bay. They are now moving southward. The viceroy today dispatched Admiral Ho and General Tong to oppose them."

The Times publishes a report that Emperor Nicholas recently decided to recall the Russian troops from Manchuria after Mukden had been occupied.

Outlook Not So Bright.

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—The somewhat optimistic view of the Chinese situation which prevailed in Germany last week has been unfavorably affected by the reports that the Chinese court has resolved to settle permanently at Si-ngan-fu, capital of the province of Shensi. This the Berliner Tageblatt regards as "indisputable evidence that the Chinese court is as antiforeign as ever." "The failure of the court to return to Peking," it says, "makes a farce of the proposed peace negotiations, inasmuch as the Chinese government could annul the whole procedure at any moment by revoking the credentials of Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang."

The Occupation of Mukden.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 9.—The Russian general staff has received official dispatches confirming the reported occupation of Mukden. Lieutenant General Subbovitch entered the city on Oct. 1. He advanced from old Newchwang on Sept. 24 with 11 battalions of infantry, two sotrias of Cossack cavalry and 40 guns, and after fighting two engagements routed the Chinese army on Sept. 27. Before withdrawing the Chinese looted and fired the city. The Russians captured numerous guns and immense stores of war materials.

Where the Troops Will Winter.

PEKING, Oct. 9.—General Yamaguchi will retain 10,000 Japanese troops, 2,000 of them at Peking and the others at Taku and along the line of communications. Eight thousand Germans will pass the winter in Peking and 1,500 Russians. The number of British troops who will be retained has not yet been decided. Sir Alfred Gaselee will probably keep a brigade. The allies are storing supplies for six months. Count von Waldersee's headquarters will be the buildings in the imperial pleasure grounds outside the Purple City.

McJoynt to Ride For Vanderbilt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—William K. Vanderbilt has engaged Jockey McJoynt to ride his horses in France. McJoynt's salary has not been made public, but he is a fairly good rider and could hardly be secured for less than $10,000 a year, particularly if he had to go to France. He has been riding here for Wyndham Walden. Next year Mr. Vanderbilt will put a string of racers on the French turf.

RIOTING IN PORTO RICO.

Four Killed and Fifteen Wounded In a Political Row.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 9.—A dispatch to The News from Guayama says there was a serious political riot at that place Sunday night and that the fighting was resumed yesterday. Several hundred shots were fired, and at last accounts four persons had been killed and 15 wounded.

The police, while attempting to quell the trouble, were attacked by a mob armed with sticks, stones, machetes and revolvers. The mob was re-enforced by 100 men from Arroyo. Fifty additional police from other towns arrived at Guayama at noon yesterday.

There have been slight disturbances in Arroyo and Guayama for three days owing to the election excitement and to the interference of the insular police in meetings in the cities. At last accounts the rioters were practically under control.

Salmon Out of Catfish.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—At the meeting at Vidalia of the police jury of Concordia parish a curious fact was developed through the presentation of a petition from certain persons in the parish offering a handsome sum for the privilege of seining in the lakes and bayous of Concordia for a species of river catfish known as the spoonbill cat. It was explained by the fishermen that they had been shipping catfish to leading salmon canning factories in the north for some years and that the catfish is canned and then chemically colored so as to resemble salmon.

WOKE UP AT SEA.

Experience of Peter Wagner, Who Was Missing Since Oct. 2.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The family of Peter Wagner of 121 Leonard street, Jersey City, who disappeared from his home on Oct. 2, received a letter from him yesterday dated Savannah, Ga., in which he said that he had arrived in that city after taking a sea voyage against his will. Wagner is a justice of the peace and is also a collector for Peters' brewery. When he disappeared, it was thought that he had met with foul play because he generally carried a large amount of money.

Wagner wrote that on the day of his disappearance he met an Italian with whom he had entered into negotiations over the buying of a saloon. The Italian asked him to come to New York to meet a brother who was going to furnish some of the money. The two went to a saloon in Spring street, where they had a few drinks. Wagner remembers nothing after that.

The next he knew he found himself on a Clyde line steamship in mid-ocean bound for Savannah. All the money he had was a $5 bill which he had pushed into the corner of one of his pockets. A passenger on the steamship took compassion on him and took him to his house in Savannah when the vessel arrived. He wrote home that he wanted money to pay his way back.

The Wagners notified Chief of Police Murphy of the letter, and he communicated with the police in Savannah and New York.

Newfoundland Politics.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 9.—The forthcoming colonial election promises to be the most hotly contested in the history of Newfoundland. The government organs assail Mr. Morine's admission that he is and has been the counsel for Mr. Reid, the railway contractor, alleging that Mr. Morine's success at the polls will mean that Mr. Reid will have absolute control of the legislature and be able to obtain such legislation as will permit him to transfer his numerous franchises, of immense importance to the colony, to a limited liability company. They also assert that Messrs. Reid and Morine have entered into a combination for this express purpose and that the latter's promise to resign the post of counsel to the former is not an adequate safeguard, considering the great interests involved. It is generally understood that the Reid enterprises will be capitalized at $25,000,000.

Mr. Bryan In "Egypt."

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9.—That particular portion of Illinois known as "Egypt" was pretty thoroughly canvassed by Hon. W. J. Bryan yesterday. The principal cities of 11 of the southern counties of the state and three of the congressional districts were visited and large audiences addressed at the various stopping places. Fourteen addresses were made from 7 o'clock in the morning, when the first speech at Salem was delivered, until the train bearing the nominee and his party pulled out of Alton at nearly midnight. At every meeting the candidate was greeted with hearty demonstrations. At East St. Louis Mr. Bryan and Governor Roosevelt passed each other. Governor Roosevelt addressed a meeting there, while Mr. Bryan went on to Alton.

Railroad Hands For Jamaica.

COLON, Colombia, Oct. 9.—The first batch of 1,000 of the 5,000 Jamaican laborers engaged by J. P. Macdonald, the contractor, to work on the Guayaquil-Quito (Ecuador) railroad have arrived here in transit, accompanied by a representative of the Jamaican government, who will act as their protector. The men are engaged for two years' service. They are to receive 60 cents per day and free lodging, hospital and medical attendance.

Delaware's Population.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The census bureau announces that the population of Delaware in 1900 is 184,735 as against 168,493 in 1890, representing an increase since 1890 of 16,242, or 9.6 per cent. The population of Delaware in 1790 was 59,096, from which it appears that the population in 1900 is a little more than three times the population reported in 1790.

General Wood Grants Funds to Santa Clara Province.

IMPORTATION OF CATTLE PLANNED.

Will Be Brought From Central America and Jamaica at Government Expense—Acting Director of Posts Fosnes Ill.

HAVANA, Oct. 9.—Governor General Wood, who has just returned from a tour of investigation in the province of Santa Clara, reports only a partial recovery from the effects of the war in that section of the island. Although he found no actual want in the district of Sancti Spiritus, for instance, there was great need of assistance to alleviate agricultural stagnation. This was asked for by the municipality of Sancti Spiritus and has been granted by General Wood from the insular fund.

General Wood will leave for the United States during the present week, returning to Havana about Oct. 25.

Cattle for breeding purposes from Central America and Jamaica will be imported into the eastern districts of Puerto Principe province and the western part of the province of Santiago. The importation will be at the expense of the government.

The press of the island unanimously applauds the efforts of the secretary of agriculture, Senor Perfecto Lacoste, to induce immigration. The Planters' association is particularly hearty in its approval.

The Patriotic Concentracion of Santiago has consolidated its political organization with that of the National party. The Republicans assert that the members of the Concentracion are anarchists, who will endeavor to precipitate war if their ideals are not attained. This is indignantly denied by the Nationalists, who declare that cordiality and peace reign in the eastern part of the island, which "awaits with eagerness the material reconstruction and moral repose by which the advent of the republic is to be hastened."

Mr. Martin C. Fosnes, acting director general of posts, was removed yesterday to Las Animas hospital, suffering, it is believed, from yellow fever.

A Double Shooting.

COLUMBIA, Pa., Oct. 9.—William Mott of Norfolk shot and killed Mlle. Alberta, a palmist, with whom he was traveling about the country, and dangerously wounded Mrs. Elizabeth Steinbauer, with whom the couple boarded here. Mlle. Alberta, whose real name was Anna Furlong, was 37 years old. Mott is 29. Her home was in Chicago. Mott says she had a husband, a hotel man, and son named Brennan living at Bayonne, N. J. Mott met her a year ago at Dover, Del. They have been traveling from place to place and for the past couple of months have had palmistry offices in Lancaster and Columbia. Lately Mott had become very jealous of the woman and after drinking all day went to their room and had an altercation with her.

Parliamentary Elections.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Only four results out of the 21 constituencies polled yesterday in the parliamentary general election have been thus far announced These show that the Liberals have gained two seats, one in Carmarthenshire and the other, strangely enough, in the Radcliffe-cum-Farnworth division of southeast Lancashire, which had hitherto gone strongly Conservative. It looks, therefore, as if there might be a slight reaction in the county pollings, but this will be too late to affect the general result seriously. Mr. Herbert Henry Asquith, one of the Liberal leaders, admits that the Salisbury government will return to power with a majority of from 150 to 160.

To Rebuild the Main.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The North German Lloyd steamship Main is to be rebuilt by the Newport News Shipbuilding company and will be towed to that place from the Erie basin. The rebuilding will cost over $600,000. Two of the superstructure decks have been removed, and the vessel floats very high in the water. She will carry with her the shells of 30 or 40 metallic lifeboats that were destroyed in the fire. These will be dumped overboard as soon as the ship gets outside. All the anchors, ventilators, pulleys and other material of value have been taken from the burned ship and sent back to Germany on the Bremen.

Gorman Has Not Resigned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Ex-Senator Arthur P. Gorman of Maryland authorizes an absolute denial of published reports that he had resigned from the Democratic national committee and from the other political committees of which he is a member. Regarding published statements that he had informed ex-Governor Stone of Missouri that Bryan had no chance of election and that he (Gorman) was tired of the whole campaign Mr. Gorman said, "The report is a fiction, as I never made such a statement, nor have I ever entertained such a view."

Stevenson Taken Ill.

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 9.—Adlai E. Stevenson, who spoke here Saturday, became ill Sunday evening with a bad attack of catarrh, and a physician was called. The trouble was brought on by a sudden change in the weather. Mr. Stevenson was to leave early yesterday morning to speak at Orrville, but was unable to go. He said that if he was better by noon he would resume his engagements.

Negro Problem in the South.

The problem of what to do with the Negro on election day is an ever-present one for the white people of the south, and in the November number of The Forum Oscar W. Underwood discusses the subject from the standpoint of the southern man with a frankness that is remarkable. Mr. Underwood points out that those who advocate negro suffrage in the south contend that the negro must retain the use of the ballot in order to protect himself from oppression, but he says that if the advocates of this theory lived in the south, they would at once recognize the fallacy of their argument; for as a rule, the ballot at present is no protection to the negro race.

Taking up this open statement, Mr. Underwood continues as follows:

It is true that the Negroes have not been disfranchised by law, but are allowed to go to the polls and cast their votes; yet, for twenty years, to all intents and purposes, they have been disfranchised as effectually as if by legal enactment. The most enlightened and prosperous Negro has no more voice in the government of the State than the most ignorant member of the race. It is not the desire of the southern white man to injure or degrade the black man, but existing conditions compel him to protect himself. The white man, be he of northern or southern extraction, is and ever will be unwilling to submit to the domination of an inferior race. As I have stated, the white voters are united for the preservation of good government, and they will allow no other question to dominate this one.

Those who do not understand the conditions in the south may ask how is it that the Negro still retains the privilege of voting, and yet has no voice in the government of the State. The answer is not a difficult one. The candidates for office are selected and the questions of state are decided in a white primary, in which the negro is not allowed to participate. The united white vote being in the ascendancy, when a decision is reached it is ratified at the polls. As a rule, the negro's is not solicited in its ratification; and, if it is, it is not solicited by an appeal to his reason.

It must not be understood that this condition was inaugurated without an effort to secure the support of the negro in the cause of good government. An earnest effort in this direction was made immediately after his enfranchisement. Southern men of enlightenment and great ability affiliated with the Republican party of the south in an effort to direct the new made citizen to a use of the power placed in his hands for the good of the state and its people, but only to meet with failure after failure. He followed corrupt and degrading influences in preference to those that appeal to the higer sensibilities of men; and the same conditions exist today as has been demonstrated in those States where in recent years a temporary division of the white people has enabled the negro again to grasp the reins of power. He will not listen even to the appeals of the enlightened men of his race.

An old and observing Trenton political writer says that "the hottest contest in the State will occur in the Third Congressional district, of which Middlesex forms a part. Candidate Bergen, on the Democratic side, is making a most energetic canvass, and so far he has been encouraged to predict that he will be elected by at least a majority of 1,500 over his Republican opponent, Mr. Howell. He has reason to believe that he will carry both Middlesex and Monmouth and quit even in Somerset. Should his confidence be verified, then it is almost certain that Mr. Strong will not be the next Senator from Middlesex."

Every person who is in business of any kind must have something to communicate to the people from whom he expects to derive an income, says the Philadelphia Record. A successful merchant says he regards the advertising columns of the newspaper as his rostrum, from which to tell to the people what he would say to them if he could meet them in his store. The public looks to the newspaper advertisements for such information as the merchant has to give, and in giving it he confers a benefit both upon the public and himself.

With the selection of a candidate in the Sixth district, the Democratic Congressional nominations in New New Jersey are completed. The full list of candidates is as follows: First district, George H. Pfeiffer; Second district, Thomas J. Prickett; Third, James J. Bergen; Fourth, Joshua S. Salmon; Fifth, John Johnson; Sixth, William N. Coler, Jr.; Seventh, Allan L. McDermott, and Eighth, Edward A. S. Man.

John B Parker, of Freehold, Leonard D. Roberts, of Keyport, and Samuel A. Oliver, of Asbury Park, were nominated for the Assembly at the Monmouth County Democratic convention yesterday.

There is only a difference of 186,000 votes between the estimates of the rival politicians who are forecasting the result of the campaign in New York.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Barney Gilmore, the well-known character actor and comedian, is announced at Music Hall tonight as the attraction in Howard Hall's sensational four-act play, "Kidnapped in New York." He impersonates the character of Mr. Dooley, the detective. The title of this play naturally leads to the conclusion that it is constructed on the chief incidents in the Marion Clark case, and this theory is correct. The melo-drama is aptly described as up-to-date. Elaborate and realistic scenic display and life-like pictures of the celebrated case are promised and are of course expected in this drama. As a child in the central figure "heart interest" will be abundant and the salient feature in the play. Billy Hall, the famous Philadelphia ball player, is with Barney Gilmore.

* * * * * * *

The greatest success achieved in the last decade by any "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company is that won by Leon W. Washburn's, which takes place at Music Hall Saturday afternoon and night. Of all the dramatic successes known there is none that equals this great play. It is established in popular favor here as well as everywhere else, and needs no endorsement from other cities. Sufficient to say that it will be presented by an excellent company of fifty people and with new and elaborate scenery gotten up for this season's tour. A grand fine street parade will be given at noon.

HOME MISSIONARY WOMEN.

Newark Conference Society to Meet at Plainfield.

This conference represents 278 churches in Northern New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. Rev. A. W. Leonard, a returned missionary, will speak on "The Dark Side of Porto Rico."

New City Directory.

After having issued a successful directory in Perth and South Amboy, Mr. Wand is at work again preparing to issue another edition of his Plainfield directory which has proved a very valuable book for the past two years. Westfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and Dunellen will be included in the Plainfield book. Mr. Wand and his assistants will start this week to make their canvass here.

Switch Covered With Water.

The heavy rain of yesterday afternoon completly covered the Somerset street switch with water and passengers on the street cars had to be transferred from Manning to Jackson avenues. While transferring in this way Mrs. L. C. Batson, of West Fifth street, slipped on the wet pavement, and besides a drenching, sprained her arm.

Gentlemen:—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My brother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My brother has been well ever since we started to use it.

An Immense Lamp Purchase.

We have purchased from one of the largest lamp manufacturers in the United States their entire line of samples, comprising in all over 150 lamps, all of which are this season's productions, and the character of them are way ahead of anything ever shown in the city before. Strictly high grade and very artistic. One of the special features in connection with these lamps is that there is no duplicates; you won't happen into your neighbors and find the self-same lamp. Still another important feature is the prices. We purchased them at one-quarter, one-half and in some instances as much as three-quarters less than their usual prices, and we shall sell them the same way. What we save you also save. This is a rare opportunity to purchase a good lamp for a little money.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Oct. 9.—A pleasant purprise party was tendered to Miss Sadie Regar at her home on Front street last evening. The enjoyable affair, which was in honor of Miss Regar's birthday, was arranged by several of her friends with the intention of it being a surprise and the effect wanted was realized as Miss Regar had been passing the evening very quietly and had no expectation on such a stormy night of having friends call. About 8 o'clock the friends who had gathered nearby marched to her home and the surprise was complete. The evening was given up to games and social talk for a short time, after which refreshments were served. When the hour came for parting, the many friends all wished the hostess many happy returns of the day. Miss Regar received a number of pretty remembrances of the happy occasion. Friends were present from Plainfield, Rahway, Westfield and the village.

Charles Wade, who made many friends during his clerkship of several years with Thomas M. Paff, Jr., has rented the store in the Baptist church building and will open it as a first-class grocery the latter part of this week. Charles has the best wishes of all in his undertaking.

THINKS ALL NEGROES CITIZENS.

Judge Believes Even Colored Aliens Are Entitled to Vote.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Oct. 9.—An interesting question relative to the naturalization of colored men was raised by Judge Woodbridge Strong, Law Judge of Middlesex county, in New Brunswick, Saturday, when the first colored man to apply to the Middlesex county courts for naturalization papers appeared. He was F. F. Fletcher, of Nova Scotia, a subject of Queen Victoria.

The application was made upon one of the regular printed forms, which sets forth that the applicant is "a free white person." John Taylor, also colored, swore to the good character and intentions of the applicant. Mr. Fletcher took the oath of allegiance. After this had been done Judge Strong would not sign the application, declaring he desired to look into the case, as he had a vague impression that citizenship had been conferred upon all colored men by either the fifteenth amendment to the constitution or by subsequent special enactment of Congress.

Lawyers in New Brunswick say that Judge Strong is in error. They point out that the right of suffrage covered by the fifteenth amendment has nothinn to do with admitting men to citizeship. Any white or black man has the right to naturalization.

School Closed.

At a recent meeting of the school trustees of Bernard's township, it was decided that the Franklin schoolhouse, situated two miles from Basking Ridge, be closed this year, and Miss Laura A. Lewis, teacher of that school, be engaged to teach at Basking Ridge. The primary department of this school has been crowded, and there was too much work for one teacher at Franklin. There has been since the opening in September less than fifteen scholars on the average. The township has engaged a carriage to bring and take these scholars to and from the Basking Ridge School. The Presbyterian chapel has been secured as an addition to the Basking Ridge Public School.

grades as stated on the map.

It has been some years since any changes were officially made in the grades so that the official grades and the real grades in some places differed considerably. It was with the intent of making the present ones official that the new ordinance was prepared. It was adopted on its first and second reading without opposion.

The Council then adjourned without date but a special meeting will probably be called some day next week to consider the report of the Board of Education regarding funds needed for the building of the new High School. The plans will first go to a Board of Estimate. No further action on the question of sewage disposal is expected this month. Mr. Spangenberg has not given up hopes that the city will give the Doughty system a trial and he will present another plan at the next meeting of the Council.

FOURTH WARD PLANS.

There Will be a Meeting of Republicans in That Ward at an Early Date—No Details Announced.

Something in the line of a smoker and entertainment is to be given by the Fourth Ward Republican Association but the exact details of what it is to be have not been made public. A meeting of the campaign committee of the Fourth ward was held at Republican headquarters last evening. One of the important subjects to come before the meeting was this proposed meeting. The committee did not have its report ready but will present it at a later meeting.

The chairman, William Newcorn, announced the appointments of the committees on finance, rules and canvass. Rules and regulations for the organization were proposed and adopted. Twenty members of the ward committee were present.

SECTION MEN OBJECTED TO CUT.

Attempt to Reduce Hours of Labor Results in Failure.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Phillipsburg, Oct. 9.—An attempt was made at this place Saturday to reduce the working time of section hands on the Lehigh Valley road from sixty hours a week to forty-five, making a week's work five days of nine hours each. The men to the number of 120 would not accept the reduction, and stopped work at once. The superintendent called the leaders before him, but they would not give in, and after a consultation it was decided to set them at work again at the old scale.

JERSEY WOMEN'S CLUBS

Federation Will Meet October 15th—No Rivalry in the Organization.

In regard to the convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in Newark on October 25th, Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, president of the Federation, said recently that there is no rivalry in the organization. Miss Vermilyea, of Englewood, who has been spoken of as a candidate for president, declined the honor.

Mired in the Mud.

A delivery horse belonging to Fred Endress became mired in the soft mud on West Front street yesterday afternoon at the corner of Washington avenue, where the street car tracks have just been relaid. In its struggles to free itself the animal turned over, and a part of the harness became entangled about its throat. It would have choked to death, but for the driver discovering the trouble in time and cutting the strap. It was afterward gotten out with only slight damages to the harness.

FALL FASHIONS.

Pretty Fancies That Are Noticed in the Costumes of the Season.

Pretty liberty satins are among the new goods for evening wear. They come in delicate shades and have raised polka dots. Nothing falls in prettier folds than liberty satins. Brocaded silks come in polka dot patterns, inside narrow stripes. A pretty pattern of wavy lines has a pretty crisp effect given by lines which are woven into the silk. Crystalline silks they call these, says Harper's Bazar.

The hair is worn lower, and only those women who do not object to being out of fashion cling to the monumental pompadour. The part is the thing, on the right side, left side, in the middle, anywhere so long as it is becoming and is not too pronounced. The straight-haired girl is more than ever to be pitied, for soft fluffness is an absolute requisite in the up-to-date coiffure, and the delicious fluffy curls around the nape of the neck that are now in vogue are not to be attained through curling tongs; or, at least, if attained, the achievement is a fugitive one, and the last state of that young woman is lamentable.

The white cloth and light flannel waists with a colored dot or stripe will be in marked favor during the entire fall season. Those described some weeks ago have been copied, and very soon new garments of soft wool, in regular shirt waist style, will be procurable at any of the best dry goods houses. The autumn models fit perfectly. They are at once neat, becoming and serviceable, while, being simply made, they are easily cleaned.

There are new graceful autumn models in both five and seven-gored skirts, the backs cut to conform to the latest style, of a certain amount of fullness at the back, in slight draperies, in box plaits, a number of partly stitched plaits, or French shirrings, very closely massed.

Black velvet ribbon run through beading makes a pretty finish for a tucked lawn or chiffon yoke and collar. The velvet is only run through the beading around the neck, but serves to hold the collar in place, and is becoming and dainty.

Autumn neckwear shows but little that is new. Invention seems to have been squeezed dry for summer purposes, and the stocks and cravats worn with summer frocks will be adapted to winter use. Stocks of tucked silk, chiffon or velvet, lace barbs, scarfs of all kinds, are correct, but the clever girl will not trust a piece of ribbon around her throat and consider her neck dressed. The cravat must be made and finished daintily and must show it. Certain little taffeta and satin stocks have appeared, whose ends are brought back to the front and are just long enough to tie in a tiny bow without loops, the ends being drawn up and finished with a small gold tassel or ball. Velvet cravats, gold embroidered, are also shown in the shops.

NEEDED A LITTLE WATER.

The Destructive Firemen Had Everything But That for Extinguishing the Fire.

Old Moses Rosenheimer, who for many years has been a character in the ghetto district, caused much laughter recently among a crowd that had gathered to watch the work of firemen who had been called to extinguish a small blaze which broke out in his home.

The house occupied by Rosenheimer is a small frame cottage, and even before the arrival of the firemen the blaze had spread to the dry framework of the rear windows and was making headway toward the roof. Moses had the appearance of an insane man when the first firefighters appeared, and as they rushed to the rear of the premises he frantically tore his hair and urged them on in their work. The firemen responded to the old man's pleas, but apparently their system of working was not according to his fancy. The first fireman to get to work was one armed with an ax. He hacked away vigorously at the rear of the little building and clapboards flew in all directions. Soon he was joined by another member of the department, who had a long pike pole and busied himself poking glass out of the windows. Then came two men with ladders and after some work they mounted the roof and began calling orders which could not be heard above the din of the engines. Rosenheimer watched all this patiently, and also saw the blaze steadily spreading toward the front of the premises. Finally the old man sought one fireman apparently a captain and in an excited voice exclaimed: "The men are there with ladders, poles and axes, but, for heaven's sake, hasn't anyone got a drop of water?" Then everybody laughed, even the captain, and it was not long before two streams were directed on the blaze and the old man's home was saved from total destruction.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause;

Backache pains come from sick kidneys,

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure it.

Plainfield people endorse this.

Mrs. I. L Holmes, of 442 West Second street, says: "I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and derived more benefit from them than from anything else. Before I tried this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up or was lying down and attempted to rise quickly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp, acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such troubles and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment."

WOMEN OF FRANCE.

GRADUAL EMANCIPATION FROM THE CODE OF NAPOLEON.

Eliza Archard Conner Tells Why Frenchwomen Run to Dress—Personal Adornment the Outlet For Artistic Taste.

Among women of many lands whom I have met the French one appears to me to be the best dressed, the American the handsomest, while cultivated English and Irish ladies have the sweetest voices I ever heard.

Various factors contribute to place the Frenchwoman at the head in regard to clothes. She is naturally gifted. Law and Latin race custom limit her sphere within narrow bounds. She may not be widely educated in science and letters, like her American sister, for there are no colleges open to her. Mrs. Grundy sets down her old iron heel flat upon Frenchwomen who attempt to break away from ancient traditions either socially, educationally, professionally or politically. The tyrannous code Napoleon squelches her rights over her children and her property. She is not yet free enough from middle age traditions to slap Grundy in the face and go her own way, though she is rapidly becoming so.

Consequently the Frenchwoman of leisure is thrown back upon dress, home and society for occupation, and it is always the woman of leisure who sets the pace for the rest of her sex. Dress is an outlet for her fine artistic gifts. She improves the occasion to the utmost. The Frenchwoman spends more time and thought over her toilet than any other of the sex. The result is those elaborate costumes which are the wonder and despair of ladies of other nations. The French costumes are too elaborate, painfully so. If the Frenchwoman had larger scope for her artistic ideas, she would still dress quite as beautifully as she does now—more so, in fact—but her costumes would be simpler and more convenient. What a Frenchwoman whose heart is not set on clothes and who has not husband and children to take up her time can do is shown in the case of Rosa Bonheur, the greatest animal painter of the nineteenth century.

The Frenchwoman has more time to devote to dress than others of her sex have because of fewer children. In the parks of Paris children are notably scarcer than in London. There are no more loving or devoted parents than those of France, but they refrain from fathering and mothering more young ones than they can take care of. In spite of the frantic howls of the government to the people to produce more soldiers for it, the population of France remains nearly stationary, and the women of France are meanwhile the most elaborately toilleted of any in the world.

The economy which the French common people are forced to practice is something undreamed of in America or even in England. The French are accused of being cold and calculating. They are not so naturally. They present the curious result of an economy forced for generations upon a people whose artistic temperament prompts them always to lavish expenditure. They save money in one direction because they wish to spend it in another. The Frenchwoman of small means economizes on food and lodging in order that she may spend on dress, which satisfies her race sense of the beautiful.

Another reason why the Frenchwoman expends so many hours studying to invent ravishing toilets is her desire to please men. I hope not to be assassinated for saying it, but I really am sure Frenchwomen are more anxious to win the favor of men than those of other nations are. To the average Frenchwoman no club meeting or social function which men do not take part in is worth dressing up for. This disposition stands seriously in the way of the success of women's clubs in France. There is a reason for everything. Frenchwomen are so tied down by law and custom that their happiness and well being depend to an exceptional degree on man, the master of their fate. Women so intellectually gifted as they are going to get even somehow. Consequently they obtain their own way by pleasing man's eye and appetite and flattering him.

Most Frenchwomen still believe today that they are perfectly justified in using their sex fascinations to secure influence over men, an influence the most deadly and dangerous ever devised by satan. Women of more northern races would appeal to man's reason and sense of justice to redress their wrongs, but the subtle, passionate Latin blood works to the same end through emotion and sensation.

The ladies of Paris are the most graceful of women. The French gesticulate more than we do in conversation. I have seen a slender little milliner in a bonnet shop use her head, arms, hands and her whole body in gestures that were simply one classic pose after another, perfect delight to behold. The mere turn of her wrist, the sweep of her hands and fingers, would have secured an engagement to any young theatrical aspirant in America. Yet with the little milliner this grace of movement was unstudied and unconscious. It is today almost universal among the women of Paris, rich and poor. The reason is that they are reared in constant sight and contemplation of reproductions of the most exquisite sculptured and painted representations of the human body in varied poses that this world affords. The parks are crowded with perfect statues, noble human monuments adorn the public squares, the Louvre overflows with priceless treasures of divine art, the very pictured saints in the churches, ghastly and horrible though many of them are, are yet true to the classic and artistic human pose. The women of France, who study to make the most of their natural advantages—and quite right they are too—are enveloped from childhood in this atmosphere of an art that represents the beautiful human body, clad and unclad. The subtle suggestions of this perfect art enter into the lithe, nervous body of the French girl, and she answers to them half unconsciously.

Tradition in regard to the Frenchwoman is quite right. She is graceful, is fascinating, thoroughly so. She is not so beautiful as to skin and feature, however. In the process of making faces at each other in which the English and French indulge, Max O'Rell taunts English women with their long teeth. I wonder the English woman does not retort on the Frenchwoman, "Look at your frightful mustache!" The Frenchwoman is fond of saying that her English sister is mannish, yet herself frequently sports a mustache that would simply drive an English or American woman crazy. When the American girl or woman of any age finds an unfortunate growth of hair on her upper lip, she never rests till she takes it off and keeps it off, even if she goes without caramals and chewing gum. Not so Frenchwomen apparently. They are frequently seen with a growth of hair and whisker that many an aspiring youth of 21 would give one of his best girl's love letters to possess, yet if these ladies or their men folk consider the beard blemish enough to be at the trouble to remove, it does not appear.

Frenchmen are not chivalrous to women, but they are polite, which is very different. Unless something brushes his artistic temperament the wrong way and puts him out of temper the French husband is in general more courteous to his wife in the presence of others than either the English or American husband.

Moreover, with law and tradition both against her, the Frenchwoman is nevertheless free in some way. It is certain that for her men folk do not at all object, for instance, to her wearing bloomers or knickerbockers on the bicycle. French girls and women in full trousers spin swiftly and gracefully through the crowded Paris streets and through the parks, exciting no remark. Indeed I have often seen them thus attired walking along the street, and so far as I could observe, no head but mine was turned to look after them. Apparently it was all right. Many cyclers in Paris do wear skirts, it is true, but a majority of them still cling to the safe and convenient knickerbockers and also ride a diamond frame wheel.

Again, perhaps nowhere else has a mother so much authority and influence in her own family as in France. Legally she may not possess her own children, but morally she has an influence over them unlimited. "La mere" is the most important personage in the family. She is treated with a respect and devotion which the husbands and sons and daughters of other lands would do well to imitate. As her years increase this respect and devotion seem redoubled. La mere herself takes as much pains with her toilet as she did at 30, more than that, if possible, that she may appear always agreeable to her family. Oh, there are no old ladies anywhere like those of France, with their "cute" little bonnets, their pretty, always fashionable, gowns, their chic, graceful carriage, their bright, attractive ways. They are the youngest old women in this universe.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER.

Items of Information Pertaining to Various Departments of Her Work.

To make a delicious and pretty salad cut a thin slice from the stem of a large, round tomato. Take out the pulp. Season it with a few drops of onion juice and finely chopped sweet, green pepper olives and celery. Fill each tomato with the mixture; put a teaspoonful of stiff mayonnaise on each. Decorate the mayonnaise with two or three thin strips of olives, placed skin side up. Set each tomato on a crisp lettuce leaf.

Rice passed through the coffee-mill to remove the flavor of coffee before spices are ground is said to be better than bread crumbs for the same purpose. The rice may serve, too, after the spices, to restore the mill to primary service, and this latter handful of rice, impregnated as it is with spices, will be found an excellent addition to soup. Many good cooks often throw in with rice, barley or vermicilli added to soup a clove or two and a couple of pepper corns, says the Boston Budget.

Pickled nasturtiums are liked by many people for sauces to be eaten with roast lamb or other meats. Some consider them superior to capers because of their spicy flavor. They should be gathered while green and soaked all night in salt and water. In the morning they should be drained thoroughly on a napkin and covered with strong vinegar. Glass jars which can be securely corked are best for them.

To remove spots from tan shoes or saddles rub lightly with a rag dipped in alcohol, then wash with soap and water, and finish with ordinary russet leather polish.

For a luncheon, an excellent substitute for a sandwich is made by splitting a French roll lengthwise, removing the inside and filling the space with chicken or lobster salad. The salad should be garnished daintily, and the canoe-like receptacle served on a bed of grape leaves.

To make a pie of cold beef, cook the meat in the same way as for a stew. When it is so tender as to fall apart, place it in a baking dish, cover with a rich biscuit paste and bake until the crust is done. This, too should have plenty of sauce to serve with the crust.

The girl should give care to the stockings she wears with low shoes and a short skirt. When she has black or tan shoes and a gray skirt and wears a pair of dark blue stockings she makes a line of demarkation which is noticeable, calls attention to her skirts, and seems to give it an inch or two of extra shortness that is not in good taste.

HIS JUDGMENT WAS WRONG.

Tribulations of a Hound That Tried to Whip All the Dogs in the Neighborhood.

Sooner was a waif, or, more correctly speaking, a soldier of fortune. No one knew his antecedents. He had dragged himself into Hogarth's yard one day, worn out and exhausted after a long run on the trail of a buck. There was no telling how far he had come, as a fast hound will cover many miles in a day, and keep it up for two or three days. But he had driven the buck into the lake, and the Hogarth boys had killed it; therefore they treated the dog well, and as he liked the place he remained, and became one of the household, relates the Chicago Chronicle.

The time Sooner discovered he had fighting blood in his veins marked an epoch in his life. He overestimated his ability, it is true, and suffered in consequence. A new settler moved into that part of the country and established himself about six or seven miles from Hogarth's. Regarding the size of his family, he was far behind Hogarth, but when it came to dogs it was simply a walkaway. Several breeds were represented in his collection, but the "yaller dog" predominated.

Sooner undertook to clean out the entire crowd alone and unaided. It was something of an undertaking, and he spent six out of seven days in the hospital while the war was on.

"He doesn't seem to be much of a fighter," I remarked to Hogarth one day when the subject was under discussion.

"Oh, he kin fight all right," Hogarth replied; "it's his jedgment what's wrong. Sooner's a fust-rate fighter, but he's a dern poor jedge of dorgs."

He was game, though, and stuck at it until he had conquered each one of the new dogs in turn, with the exception of a huge brindle bulldog. With this dog he employed strategy. He bowed down before him and addressed him with smooth words and made friends with him, and then one day he enticed him over to his own home, and all the dogs there pitched on the brindle bull and half killed him. Sooner became more blase than ever after this achievement. It so plainly showed his superiority to all the rest of the dog creation.

This fighting trait was unusual in a hound, for as a rule they are peaceably inclined. It served to accentuate the fact that Sooner was not like other dogs.

GAVE HELPFUL ADVICE.

When with Unreasonable People the Practice of Silence Is to Be Highly Commended.

"It would be positive impertinence for me to give advice to women old enough to be my mother, just because they happen to be poor," a young district visitor maintained, when reminded that she ought to exercise a moral and spiritual influence rather than be an almoner alone; "I shall not attempt it." Strong in a sense of commendable humanity, she knocked at a door which never failed to open and reveal an anxious, melancholy face. "Oh! come in, miss, come in," said the mistress, even more woebegone than usual; "I want your advice about the best way to manage my husband." Her visitor forgot her recent resolution and entered. "He is coming home to-day from the asylum," pursued her hostess, "and you could always manage him when he was here before, and I never could." "I never contradicted him, you know," "Do you think that was it?" inquired the poor woman. "Then, if you were me, you would not contradict him, even if he spoke that unreasonable that you could not bear it." "I am afraid that a person in an unreasonable mood would never listen to reason," said the younger and more educated woman. "Now, that is what I call sensible," remarked the perplexed wife. Thus encouraged, her youthful monitor amplified her text, and spoke of the Perfect Example who kept silent when unreasonable and wicked men would have provoked Him to speak inadvisedly. Her mind was so full of this incident that when she reached her home she mentioned the appeal for her advice. "So the poor woman wanted to know the best way to manage her husband!" said her mother. "What did you tell her out of your vast experience?" "I told her not to contradict him," answered the girl, humbly. "Most admirable advice," said her father. "You will be a useful person in the district as long as you preach it. Don't wait until you are married, my dear, to practice silence when you are with unreasonable persons. It is the best way of talking to them, as Paddy would say."—Quiver.

NESSELRODE PUDDING.

It Is One of the Most Delicious of Deserts and Should Be Prepared with Great Care.

We understand the making of ice creams, but we do not yet understand the preparation of iced puddings. These puddings differ from an ice cream as much as a simple thickened porridge does from an elaborate boiled pudding of many ingredients. They contain many materials, while an ice cream is made of sweetened flavored cream with the simple addition of eggs or some other thickening.

One of the most delicious of all iced puddings is the Nesselrode pudding, which takes its name from Count Nesselorde, a famous gourmet of the beginning of the century. This pudding owes its excellence to its use of chestnuts. Forty chestnuts, boiled, skinned and blanched are used. The large Spanish or Italian chestnut is the one to be used. One of these is equal to four of the largest American chestnuts. Rub the chestnut through a sieve. Equal parts of walnuts and blanched almonds chopped and pounded to a paste may be substituted for the same amount of chestnut puree, which is about a pint. Beat the yolks of four eggs with two cups of sugar, and pour in a pint of boiling milk. Beat well. Add a quart of cream which has been boiled and cooled. Add the nuts and a teaspoonful of salt. Add about a quarter of a pound of candied cherries and about two tablespoonfuls each of stoned raisins and of currants which have been soaked in the pint of milk while it was heating to the boiling point. Freeze the pudding and serve it by itself or with a sauce of whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with orange extract, vanalla or any flavoring preferred. Sometimes it is served with a thick cold custard. If you prefer the raisins and currants can be omitted. Let the pudding rest in its packing of ice for at least two hours.—N. Y. Tribune.

Making Toast for Invalids.

Invalids the world over are given their bread in the form of toast, and there are many persons ignorant of why this is done. It is because toasting bread until it becomes brown largely converts the starch into dextrine. It will be found that the thinner the slices of bread and the more thoroughly they are toasted—not burned, but still changed to a deep brown color—it will be found to be still more easily digested than the ordinary toast.

INSTINCT OF THE "HOMER."

Mystery of the Carrier Pigeon's Faculty of "Location" Without Sight or Compass.

"The mysterious faculty that enables cats and pigeons to find their way back from remote points is one of the greatest puzzles in nature," said a New Orleans educator who has made a specialty of zoology for many years. "We speak of it as 'sense of direction,' 'homing instinct' and 'brain compass,'" he continued; "but as far as explaining it is concerned, nobody has ever been able to offer a theory that was even plausible. It used to be thought that the memory of landmarks had something to do with the phenomena, but that is exploded by the fact that the animals always take the shortest cut home, regardless of the circuitous route by which they may have been carried away. That such powers should be highly developed in creatures as different in other respects as cats and pigeons is in itself one of the most baffling and extraordinary features of the whole problem; but I am convinced that the faculty, whatever it may be, exists in a rudimentary state in nearly all animals, including man himself, and may be easily sharpened by circumstances and surroundings," relates the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"For nine or ten years I used to spend part of every summer in Minnesota and Wisconsin, living in the woods and studying animal life. I became well acquainted with many native hunters and trappers, and have known several who showed clear evidence that they possessed the 'brain compass.' No matter where they went, how they twisted and turned, or what happened to distract their attention, they always knew the direction of their cabins and could return unhesitatingly in a bee line. They were all ignorant men and absolutely unable to explain their power. The only thing they could say was that they 'felt it.' Other trappers were remarkably expert in finding their way through the forest, but they were simply adepts at woodcraft and went by a thousand signs and tokens to which they had unconsciously turned their eyes. The two faculties were entirely distinct, and, while the skilled trainer was invariably alert and feverishly observant, the brain-compass fellow was usually dull and sleepy and paid no attention to his surroundings. The men themselves recognized the existence of the homing instinct and contented themselves by saying that it 'came natural' to Pete or Pierre, or whatever his name might be. It is certainly a fascinating problem, and I have long believed that its solution would uncover some tremendously important secret in regard to the relations of man and inanimate life."

Gulf Stream on Greenland's Coast.

Although the eastern coast of Greenland is much nearer to Europe than the western, it is really much more inaccessible to explorers and far less is known about it. The eastern side is colder than the other. A small branch of the gulf stream flows up the western coast and mitigates the severity of the temperature. That route to the pole, therefore, has proved the most popular with explorers. Brainerd and Lockwood were thus enabled to carry the American flag to above the eighty-third parallel of latitude. Peary chose this path as the most promising. And the Norwegian Sverdrup, who followed him up to the arctic regions two summers ago, did likewise.—N. Y. Post.

CHINESE GOOD MECHANICS.

Their Immovable Objections to the Use of Machinery Are Well Founded.

The Chinese are possessed of a great deal of mechanical ability, but for this they have not always been given credit by western peoples. A number of the most useful "inventions" of civilization were known by the Chinese thousands of years ago. Indeed, in the matter of mechanical ability and skill the Chinaman stands very high. In the shops and factories that are owned by foreigners the native artisan compares favorably with the workman of any other nation, especially in the use of western tools, methods and machinery. In a broader sense, in the erection of bridges, construction of temples, roads, canals—in the wide sense of the engineer—the Chinaman compares well with his fellows in more civilized lands. Many of his bridges are marvelous not only for their beauty and accuracy of construction, but in the difficulties overcome and in the solidity of their foundations. Here the Chinaman's characteristic of thoroughness expresses itself. "The Chinaman builds for all time; the rest of the world builds for to-day."

But the Chinese are opposed to the employment of machinery. This opposition exists not only among the presumably ignorant who labor for their daily support, but among the rich and highly educated as well. The reason for this opposition is founded upon social and economic conditions unlike those in any other part of the world.

The statement is as follows:

1. Every man in China is a worker, and only by untiring industry is he capable of feeding and clothing himself and family.

2. All branches of industry are full. There is never lack of labor nor of work to do, and so nicely adjusted have become the economic conditions through centuries of struggle that practical content reigns among the workers, and any upsetting of the equilibrium of supply and demand produces widespread distress.

The proposition: Introduce a machine which shall by the supervision of one man be able to do the work of ten men.

The result is that nine men are thrown out of that particular task. There is no outlet for their industry for the reason given in paragraph 2 of the statement. Therefore these nine men must starve, steal or emigrate. This is pretty nearly the correct status of the working world in China, and is the underlying reason for the opposition to labor-saving machinery. In this great empire a labor-saving tool or machine is an economic curse, and will remain so until the conditions are greatly modified throughout China.

COLLECTING SNAKE VENOM.

How East Indians Handle Deadly Cobra de Capellos While Extracting Their Poison.

A cobra when thoroughly roused to anger is by no means a gentle creature. This one was a most formidable beast to approach, striking out desperately at every movable thing within and even out of his reach. But even in this condition Kullan had no difficulty in seizing the largest of cobras. He would hold up and shake a rag in his left hand. On this the infuriated reptile would rivet its gaze, with his right hand from behind the man would then suddenly seize it round the neck about three inches below the head and an assistant would fasten firmly on to its tail to prevent it winding round Kullan's arm. His right hand would then slide forward till he had fastened his fingers round the neck, just behind the jaw. He would then insert the rim of a watch glass between the jaws, the grip on the neck would be slightly relaxed and the serpent would instantly close its jaws on the watch glass, and in doing so squirt the whole of its venom through the tiny holes of its fangs into the concavity of the glass.

In this manner snake after snake was made to part with its venom into a watch glass, says a writer in the Cornhill Magazine. Often between 60 and 100 snakes were so dealt with in the course of a morning.

The watch glasses were then placed on a small glass stand in a plate swimming with melted beeswax. Large glass bell jars were heated so as to drive out most of the air in them, and these were inverted over the plate on to the wax. The entire plate was then placed on a shelf and the venom allowed to dry in vacuo for seven days. At the end of that time the dried venom (a flaky yellow powder) was scraped off the glass with a sterilized knife, the powder was hermetically sealed up in small glass tubes, the tubes labeled, showing the species or snake and date on which the venom was extracted, and the whole supply forwarded weekly to Prof. Calmette. In this condition the desiccated venom maintains its virulence for months.

HAWK CAUSED OFFENSE.

W. de la R. Anderson Explains How He Came to Violate the Game Law.

W. de la R. Anderson, who was arrested by Game Warden Hawkins for hunting on the Sabbath and who was fined $23 55 for the offense by Justice Mattison yesterday, is a member of the Seventh Regiment, N. G. N. Y. He and his brothers were out on the lawn to the Anderson summer home in Washington valley Sunday morning going through the manual of arms for practice when a hawk went sailing by. The young men forgot the day and Anderson started after the hawk with his rifle. The hawk settled in a grove some distance from the house and it was when Anderson was tramping in that direction that he met the Game Warden and his arrest followed.

Ants, Cockroaches, Bed Bugs.

Mix, say, a 25c. box of "Rough on Rats" carefully with a pound or so of mashed boiled potatoes, or with a loaf of finely crumbled dampened bread, or two tin cups of fine powdered sugar, and place about their haunts, out of reach of children or pet animals. Even the hardier Black Cockroaches, Beetles, Wood or Water Bugs, in one or two applications will be completely annihilated. "Rough on Rats" is the only thing that will effectually and permanently annihilate Bed Bugs, and it stands unrivalled the world over for the prompt and effective extermination of Rats and Mice. 15 and 25 boxes at druggists.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Items That Concern Democrats and Republicans in Different Parts of the State.

Congressman Fowler will begin October 15th a stumping tour of the Eighth congressional district. His first meeting will be in Plainfield Tuesday evening, October 16th. Congressman Fowler will go to Rahway and there address a large gathering of Republicans. The following night of that week the Congressman is booked to appear at a mass meeting in Orange. Bayonne will hear him on the following evening at a big demonstration which the Republicans of that city have planned. Friday evening, October 19th, he will speak in Elizabeth at the Lyceum Theatre, when a big Republican rally will be held. The following week the Congressman will go through the country on a tour which has been laid out by the National committee.

The Democrats had it all their own way in rock-ribbed Hunterdon Saturday. At Clinton a handsome banner was swung to the breeze, after a large hickory pole had been raised. Addresses were made by Samuel J. Randall, of Philadelphia, and James E. Martine, of Plainfield. At Anthony, another large hickory pole was raised, and addresses were made by Senator John R. Foster and William C. Gebhardt. The Mount Pleasant Democrats raised another big hickory and had as their principal speaker Congressman Joshua S. Salmon. Sergeantsville also raised a hickory and had the principles of Democracy thoroughly ventilated by A. C. Young, Henry Gilbert and Assemblyman Oliver L. Blackwell. Saturday evening Senator Foster addressed a big mass meeting.

The monthly meeting of the Republican county executive committee will be held at Republican headquarters in the Dix building, tomorrow evening. Arrangements will be made at the meeting for the careful canvass of the county. One preliminary canvass has been made but the county leaders want a careful one before the election.

Now that election is less than a month away, the city campaign committee of the Republican party will hold frequent meetings. A meeting will be held tonight when the committee will hear reports from the ward associations on the question of finances which is a very important one. The Republicans will not spend as much in conducting the campaign this year as they did four years ago as the day of parades and marching organizations seems to be largely over. Mass meetings and the distribution of literature cost money, however, and the Republicans will find use for a good sized sum before election day.

R. B. Titsworth Business Manager.

The Targum, the weekly publication of the students at Rutgers College, has again appeared. The weekly is a bright little sheet and does credit to the young men at the head of it. Ralph B. Titsworth, of Dunellen, now a Senior at Rutgers, is business manager this year and seems to be doing very well, judging from the large number of live ads in the columns of the Targum.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrame and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. All druggists sell it at 50 cents or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

OVER THE GREAT DIVIDE.

Funeral Services of Late J. H. Krymer Held This Morning.

The funeral services of John H. Krymer, who died Sunday, were held from his late residence on East Fifth street, at 10 o'clock this morning. They were conducted by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D. the deceased's late pastor. A beautiful solo, "Good Night" was sung in a touching manner by Elmer E. Runyon.

CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY.

Gay Time at the Home of William W. Warnock Last Evening.

Yesterday was an important day to W. W. Warnock, of North avenue. It was his thirty-sixth birthday and in honor of the event about thirty friends gathered at his home last evening. Professor O'Reilly's full orchestra was on hand and furnished music for dancing which was kept up until a late hour, stopping at midnight to allow the merry-makers to partake of a splendid collation. The time passed all too quickly and it was with many regrets that the guests departed for home wishing their host many happy returns of the day. Mr. Warnock was the recipient of a number of handsome gifts which will serve to remind him of the pleasant affair. Guests were present from this city, New York and Englewood.

ACQUIRE GOOD VOCABULARY.

Read Good Books and Listen Very Attentively While Well-Educated People Talk.

"A good vocabulary is acquired by reading good books, as well as by hearing the talk of those who express themselves in the speech of educated people," writes Margaret E. Sangster, in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Thought lies back of speech, and the more subjects interest us the more command of language we shall have in which to describe them. They who read scientific books will have a grasp of scientific terms. They who discriminate nicely and use the very best word to say what they have in their minds will consult a dictionary and see what are the similarities or the contrasts of certain words; will choose, as among gems, the flawless ruby or crystal; will not be satisfied except with the exact word which can express precisely the meaning they wish to convey. The reading of good authors lifts our vocabulary from meanness and meagerness to nobility and splendor, enriches our speech with words which are like a beautiful embroidery on the garment of daily life, and furnishes us with allusions, quotations and phrases which are picturesque, apposite or convenient for illustration."

$296,000 IN BENEFITS.

THAT IS THE AMOUNT PAID OUT BY C. B. L. IN NEW JERSEY.

Discussion of Question of Assessments at Convention of State Council Being Held Here.

Delegates from all over the state assembled in Plainfield this morning for the eighteenth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Council of the Catholic Benevolent Legion, which is now in progress in St. Mary's School hall, Liberty street. After an executive session this morning, the delegates adjourned for dinner and then again resumed their deliberations.

Previous to the meeting of the Council the delegates attended mass at the St. Mary's R. C. church. Rev. Father McGeary, curate of the church, was the celebrant and he was assisted by Rev. P. E. Smyth, pastor of the church, and Rev. Father Paul T. Carew, of Netcong. Rev. Father Smyth then made a short address of welcome in which he said that the organization was doing the greatest work of charity, that of providing for the widows and fatherless, and he wished it the best of success.

The delegates met in St. Mary's School Hall at 10 o'clock when State President John H. Henegan, of Newark, called the meeting to order. He appointed committees on credentials, mileage, new business and reports. There was the roll call of the councils which showed delegates present from all over the State.

After the opening business the council went into executive session and remained so until noon, discussing matters of interest to the association. There was a lively discussion over the question of the number of assessments per month. The reports showed that $296,000 had been paid in this State during the last year for death benefits. There were also $60,000 of age of expectancy claims.

At noon the Council adjourned for dinner which was served in the hall. This afternoon there will be election of officers and other important business. It is quite probable that Anton Steines, of Newark, the present vice-president, will be elected to succeed President Henegan.

ELECTION OFFICERS START.

House-to-House Canvass Commenced to Get Names of Voters.

According to law, today is the time set for the election officers in this State to begin the work of securing the names of the voters for registration for the coming National election. The local election officers started a house-to-house canvass this morning which will be completed in a few days. They will go to every house in the city and secure the names of those eligible to vote. Citizens can aid them materially in their work by seeing that a list of the voters of each household, giving the full names of each man, be prepared for their convenience. This canvass has nothing to do with the canvass of the political parties.

Mousse of Chicken.

Take about a quarter of a pound of the raw white meat of a chicken, with the skin and any nerves or small cords removed, and beat it to a fine pulp with a seasoning of cayenne pepper, salt and a bit of grated nutmeg and the white of one raw egg. Pass this through a sieve and mix the pulp with a dozen tablespoonfuls of cream, a part of which has been whipped. Butter some molds and give them a coating of fine hashed peanuts, and then fill the molds with the pulp. Cook in a moderate oven, setting the mold in boiling water in a baking pan, and serve with a rich brown sauce garnished with parsley.—Utica Observer.

ELIZABETH BANK ROBBED OF $100,000

Shortage of Book-keeper Schreiber, Who Fled From Elizabethport Three Month Ago.

MADE GOOD BY DIRECTORS

SENATOR KEAN AND ASSOCIATES WILL SAVE DEPOSITORS.

No Trace so Far Discovered of the Whereabouts of the Missing Man—He Lived High and Fast.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 10.—It was announced yesterday by former Judge P. H. Gilhooley that William Schreiber, the missing book-keeper of the Citizens' Banking Company at Elizabethport, is a defaulter. The amount of the defalcation is said to be about $100 000. Schreiber disappeared nearly three months ago. He went on a vacation in July, but never returned, and this caused an investigation of his accounts to be made. The bank officials at that time declared that so far as they knew his accounts were all straight, but it now turns out different.

Judge Gilhooley, attorney for the bank, yesterday afternoon took out an attachment in the Union County Court on behalf of the bank for $10,000 against the absconding book-keeper's property in this city.

The bank directors, of which Senator John Kean is one, held a secret meeting yesterday at the bank and subscribed enough to cover the defalcation, so that the stockholders in the institution or the depositors will not suffer anything. The bank has now detectives hunting for Schreiber, and expect to eventually run him down.

Schrieber was only twenty-five years old and single. He spent most of the money, it is alleged, in riotous living in New York city and in the company of fast women. It is asserted that he was a partner of Joe Vendig, the well known book-maker. He dressed flashily, but while in Elizabeth acted in a decorous manner and was regarded as a model young man. The State banking examiner made an examination last February of the institution, but the defalcation was not discovered.

Schreiber had charge of the individual deposits at the bank, and if, on a given date, the deposits amounted to $350,000, in making up his proof for the teller to balance from, he would reduce this sum by the amount of his shortage. For example, if his shortage was $60,000, he would make a return of $390,000 to the cashier as the total footings of the individual ledger.

Because of the large manufacturing interests at Elizabeth, it was necessary for the bank to carry a considerable surplus on hand to accommodate these interests in the paying off of their employes. Schreiber, knowing this, would from time to time abstract packages of bills amounting to $2,000 or $3,000 from the bank vault, to which he had access, and cover this stealing by falsifying his returns.

Schreiber has for some years been systematically robbing the institution. The reason his crime was not made public sooner is, it is understood, because the bank officials hoped to capture him.

The president of the institution is Frederick L. Heidritter; vice-president, Thomas H. Benton, and cashier, Walter S. Smith. There are eleven directors, of which Senator Kean, Mayor Mack, Former Judge Gilhooley, Former Sheriff Hicks, and William Howe, who runs a large coal business in Newark, are the principal ones. The name and wealth of Senator Kean alone was sufficient to restore full confidence in the ability of the bank to meet its obligations. While organized as a State bank, the Elizabethport Banking Company has been really looked upon in that section of Elizabeth as an annex of the State Bank, of which Senator Kean is president. The capital of the Port bank is placed at $50,000, surplus $50,000. It was chartered in 1889.

Class Pins.

A meeting of the class of 1903 of the Plainfield High School, was held yesterday at recess and it was decided to have class pins. A committee, composed of Henry K. Doane, Fred VanAuken, G. A. Brakeley, Florence Martin and May Murray, were appointed to secure designs.

MUST LIVE TOGETHER

CITY JUNGE RUNYON GIVES DECISION IN M'LEAN CASE.

If the Minister Provides a Home His Wife Must Live There or Else She Has No Redress.

City Judge Runyon yesterday afternoon announced his decision in the case of Rev. W. H. McLean, pastor of the Filmore Baptist church, who was accused of non-support by his wife. When the trial of the case took place Counselor McClure, appearing for the defendant, stated that the minister was willing and able to care for his wife if she would live with him—either boarding or keeping house. Mr. McClure urged that a proper bond would be given by the minister to do this, but that if the wife refused to live with him she could not claim support.

The decision of the Judge agrees with this view of the case. He orders that Rev. Mr. McLean furnish a bond to perform this agreement, but that in the event of his failing to provide for his wife to live with him then he is to pay her $2 per week, in which case he must also furnish a bond.

If, however, the wife refuses to take advantage of her husband's offer to live with him she is denied further redress from the court.

In speaking of the case Counselor McClure said that Judge Runyon in his decision has shown a right appreciation of the law and rendered his judgment in accordance with the evidence heard at the trial.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS HEARD AT CONVENTION FROM DELEGATES.

Anton Steines, of Newark, Elected President of the Legion for Ensuing Year.

The afternoon session of the eighteenth annual convention of the Catholic Benevolent Legion, which was held in St. Mary's school hall yesterday, was mostly taken up with the hearing of reports from the various delegates and the election of officers. There were over a hundred of the former, all of which showed the Legion to be in a most prosperous condition and standing on a secure financial basis.

The report of Supreme Vice-president Alfred V. Harding showed the society to have a reserve fund of $169,027 06 up to October 1. Since the foundation of the Legion, $11,344,516.60 has been paid out in death claims and $64 000 in disability claims. The society has a total membership of 43,500, over 8,000 of which are in New Jersey.

The election of officers occupied considerable time and resulted as follows: President, Anton Steines, of Newark; vice-president, David E. Barry, of Jersey City; secretary, John J. Ghegan, of Newark; treasurer, John Hogan, of Camden; chaplain, Rev. P. T. Carew, of Netcong. The newly-elected officers were then installed by Supreme Vice-president Alfred V. Harding, of New Brunswick.

Several other matters of importance were discussed after which the members adjourned sine die. The next convention will be held at Bloomfield, the second Tuesday in October of next year

DENNIS SLASHED TO KILL.

Westfield Youth Charged With Atrocious Assault.

Edward Dennis, of Westfield, 19 years old, was taken to Elizabeth last Friday evening and lodged in jail to await the action of the Grand Jury. Dennis is charged with having on Thursday evening last committee an atrocious assault on John T. Thompson, of Westfield, with some sharp instrument, presumably a knife.

Thompson received a severe gash on the left side of his face, which laid his cheek open to the bone, and a cut on the left wrist nearly severing an artery.

A murderous blow made at Thompson's left breast fell short, the weapon, however, piercing Thompson's vest, ripping it its entire length. His cap and left coat sleeve were cut in a like manner.

While Thompson's injuries are serious, they are not considered particularly dangerous.

Rain Stopped Work.

The heavy rain of the past few days flooded the excavations made by the street railway employes where they are relaying the tracks on West Front street near Liberty and they were forced to stop work. There was no way letting the water out as they could not dig trenches and it did not settle until today. The men have now resumed work and are pushing the relaying to completion.

MORE DEMOCRATIC GOSPEL TOMORROW.

Meeting to be Held in Washington Hall Under Auspices of Jeffersonian Club.

CAPT. CAMPBELL TO SPEAK.

REPUBLICANS TO MAKE THOROUGH CANVASS OF THE STATE.

Hudson County Republicans Will Nominate Today—Other Political Notes of Interest Throughout the State.

The second meeting to be held under the auspices of the Democratic Jeffersonian Club will take place in Washington hall on West Second street tomorrow night. The officers of the club will make an effort to have a large crowd present. The principal speaker will be Capt. Charles Campbell, chairman of the Marine Industrial League of New York. Captain Campbell is on the staff of the National Democratic Committee's campaign orators. He is said to be an excellent speaker. The meeting will be called to order shortly after 8 o'clock. There will be probably be other speakers present, too.

A meeting of the Board of Managers of the Second Ward Republican Association will be held Friday evening at Republican headquarters.

The Republican Campaign Committee of the First Ward is considering the advisability of holding a rally or smoker in the near future. There is a feeling that such a meeting would be advantageous in getting the Republicans of the ward better acquainted.

Primaries were held all over Hudson County Monday night for the election of delegates to the Congressional and county conventions to be held today. Assistant Prosecutor Marshall W. Van Winkle will be nominated for Congress against Allen L. McDermott. Either ex-Freeholder Mark Fagan, of Jersey City, or William E. Gerdts, of North Hudson, will be named for State Senator against Robert S. Hudspeth. The primaries were quite harmonious.

The State League of Republican Clubs has decided to take steps immediately to make a personal canvass of the voters of the State. The decision was a result of a conference yesterday between Frederick F. Neyer, president of the league; Franklin Murphy, chairman of the Republican State committee; William Riker, treasurer of the State committee, and Charles N. Codding, chairman of the Union county Republican committee. Nearly 500 separate political organizations are affiliated with the league, representing every section of the State. In the canvass the State organization will co-operate with the county committees.

Owing to the heavy rain, the executive committee of the Third Ward Republican Association did not meet Monday evening. A meeting will be held tomorrow evening instead when arrangements will be made for the next smoker.

HOPE CHAPELITES ENTERTAINED.

Sociable Given Last Night, in Which Sleight of Hand Figured.

For nearly two hours last evening a large audience in Hope chapel was entertained and mystified by the impersonations and sleight of hand work of Roland Reeder, of New York. Mr. Reeder is an excellent entertainer and the audience was more than pleased with his efforts. At the conclusion of his part of the programme phonograph selections were given under the direction of Wm. Mague, while cake and ice cream were passed. The affair was given under the auspices of the Y. M. A., with the following committee: D B. Martin, chairman; Thomas Chamberlain, George Slorah, Percy Hand and Charles Smith.

Trying to Get Kline's Trade.

Edward Kline, of Plainfield avenue, who has peddled clams and oysters in this city for the past twenty years, is now ill in New York, and his wife claims that some of his competitors are trying to get his custom on false pretenses. She says that they have been representing to his old customers that they are in his employ when, in reality, they are working in their own interests.

Farewell Reception

Randolph Giles, of the United States Marine Corps, who rejoined his ship today, was given a farewell reception last evening at the home of Allen Squier, of Astor place. About fifteen of his friends were present and a very pleasant time was had by all in dancing and listening to vocal and instrumental music.

TELLS U. S. GRANT CLUB HE CAN'T VOTE FOR BRYAN.

Senator Reed Also Talked on the Issues and Urged Support for Republicans.

There wasn't room for another man in Spencer's Hall at the meeting of the U. S. Grant Republican Club, of the borough, last evening. The place was crowded to the doors and those who did attend were full of enthusiasm. It was expected that Lieut. Hart, of the New York Naval Reserves, would be present and entertain the meeting with some of his humorous sketches, but he was unavoidably detained elsewhere.

Mayor N. B. Smalley presided at the meeting and made a short speech. Senator Charles A. Reed also had something to say on the issues of the campaign and why every good citizen of Somerset county should vote for McKinley and Roosevelt. Another rousing speech was made by Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., and Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., had something to say. Noah Pike told the members that he could not stand the doctrines of Bryan and would this year vote for McKinley and Roosevelt.

It was arranged for a delegation of the club to attend the Republican mass meeting at Bound Brook this evening. It is the intention to charter a trolley car. Members desiring to attend should be at the club room by or before 7:15, as the car will start promptly at 7:30.

From the mite boxes there had been collected $632 65, according to the report of Mrs. A. D. Vreeland, of Paterson, secretary of mite boxes This was a gain. Mrs. E. C. Dutcher, of Jersey City, read an interesting report as secretary of young people's work. There was also a report on the work of the reading circle by Mrs. W. E. Drake, of East Orange, as secretary of the circle.

After the reports were read, the convention adjourned at 1 o'clock for luncheon which was served in Vincent chapel by the members of the Plainfield society. There will be an afternoon session and in the evening a public meeting at which Rev. Dr. A W. Leonard will give an address on "The Dark Side of Things in Puerto Rico."

Approaching Marriage.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Ella Beekman, only daughter of John V Beekman, of West Eighth street, to Lafayette A. Bowers, of Lynchburg, Va., on Monday afternoon, October 22 at 5 o'clock in the Congregational Church. A reception at the home of the bride's father will follow.

REPUBLICANS PLAN FOR A BIG MEETING.

All the Details Fixed for the Address of Congressman Fowler Next Week.

SOCIAL SIDE TO CAMPAIGN.

HEADQUARTERS TO BE FIXED UP FOR ENTERTAINMENTS.

City Judge Runyon Made Chairman of Committee to Make the Rooms Attractive for Those Who Visit Them.

Republican headquarters in the Marsh building, Park avenue, are to be made more attractive and entertainment is to be provided for the voters who gather there evenings. A special committee, to take charge of the rooms and look after the entertainment, was appointed at the meeting of the Republican city campaign committee last evening. It was the regular meeting of that committee and considerable business was transacted. Twenty two out of the twenty-eight members were present.

All details for the big Republican rally at Music Hall next Monday evening were reported as completed by the sub-committee on mass meetings. The speaker of the evening is to be Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth. The three Assemblymen of Union county will also be present. The committee reported that the Elizabeth Glee Club would render several selections during the meeting. Special invitations have been sent to the U. S. Grant Club, of North Plainfield, and the Scotch Plains Republican Club.

Concerning the canvass, the subcommittee on that subject reported that a careful canvass of the voters of the city was being made under the direction of the ward associations. The sub-committee on literature had to say that new literature had been secured and that there was a considerable amount on hand to be mailed as soon as lists of names were furnished by the ward committees.

It was the unanimous opinion that the headquarters needed attention to make it attractive. A committee of eight was appointed to be known as the committee on rooms and entertainment. The committee will take charge of headquarters, see to its furnishing and provide informal entertainments there.

This committee subsequently organized as follows: Chairman, William N. Runyon; secretary, Charles S. Sminck; Horace G. Adams, Charles C. Davis, Roger F. Murray, John Cose, James Stewart and Joseph Neuman. It was decided that on Tuesday and Saturday evenings, some informal programme should be arranged. A piano will be placed in the rooms and there will be music, singing and an occasional short speech. More furniture will be provided and some of the committee will be on hand to look after visitors.

A communication from the officers of Fowler Battery, of Rahway, was received by the campaign committee in which that organization volunteered its services for any demonstration which might be held in Plainfield.

BIG TIME FOR GAGHANITES.

Plans Made Last Night for Reception to Alex. Muir.

At the meeting of the Martin Gaghan Association last evening reports were heard from the various committees appointed last week and several new members were admitted. Owing to the non arrival of Bert Littell with the goat initiations were deferred for one week. Plans were made for a grand mushroom supper to be given next week in honor of Alex. Muir, a fellow member, who has just returned from the west. A committee, composed of John Mehl, David Adelman, John Conroy and John Cose, were appointed to gather a supply of the mushrooms, and the president kindly donated his famous barouche for the purpose of scouring the country in search of them. Professor Winzenreid has donated his orchestra for the occasion with himself on the accordeon, Frank Hart on flute and Michael Nevins on the bagpipes. Altogether it promises to be the event of West End social life this winter.

When the new railroad station is completed arrangements have been made by the Union News Company to transfer Theodore Roeder from his present stand to a new one on the south side. The one vacated by him will be placed in charge of another agent and the stand in the ladies waiting room will be abandoned.

THE TROPHY COMES BACK

PARK CLUB WHIST PLAYERS WON IT FROM ELIZABETH.

Last Evening's Match Was the First of the Season—The Score Was 19 to 10.

The state whist trophy has returned to Plainfield once more. The team from the Park Club captured it last evening from the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club at Elizabeth after a close match. Play for that trophy was resumed a month ago and since that time it has been in the hands of the New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, and the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club. Last evening's match was the first one this season in which the Park Club players have participated.

A change has been made in the Park Club team. Peter B. Matthews will be unable to play this season and the team is now composed of Arthur A. Freeman, Fred H. Freeman, Albert O. Woltman and Ralph Willis. In the first round, the score stood 4 to 3 in favor of the Parks. The home team braced up for the second round and were ahead at the close, 4 to 3. The teams were even up when the last round began but the Parks played well and the finish of the round showed the score 12 to 3 in their favor. The total score was 19 to 10, in favor of the Parks.

Last evening's victory was the twelfth for the Park Club. The New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, and the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club, have scored thirteen wins each. The trophy goes to the team which first secures fifteen wins. The end is close at hand. If the Parks can manage to hold the trophy successfully for three more games, the coveted cup will come here to reside permanently with the other trophies which the veteran whist team of the Park Club won in past years.

A Delightful Honeymoon.

George L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, received a letter yesterday from his son, Harry C VanEmburgh, who is now on his honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. VanEmburgh left Chicago last Saturday night and are now in Omaha. They have had a delightful trip, and had pleasant weather up to the time of their departure from Chicago. They expect to visit Denver before they return.

Memorial Service.

Ten missionaries of the Congregational denomination were killed by the Boxers in the recent troubles in China. The mid-week service at the Congregational church this evening will be in memorial of these martyrs. Sketches of their lives, quotations from their letters and the story of their death will be given.

Gay Times.

Polo matches, golf tournaments, the coming horse show at Morristown, in which many Bernardsville residents are interested, make Mine Mount and Bernardsville quite gay. Added to this is the exchange of numerous luncheons and dinners. Most of the country homes are still open and filled with guests.

EAST ORANGE CLUB CLOSE TO HILLSIDE

Race for Championship of East Jersey Golf Association is Becoming Spirited.

GOOD GAME NEXT WEEK.

THEN THE PLAINFIELDERS WILL MEET GLEN RIDGE TEAM.

Match Between Elizabeth and Orange Will be Watched With Great Interest as on it May Depend Hillside's Chances.

Another victory for the East Orange Golf Club last Saturday afternoon places that club close behind the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club in the race for the championship of the East Jersey Golf Association. In fact, the East Orange team is entirely too close behind the Plainfielders for comfort. East Orange played Glen Ridge Saturday on the East Orange links and the home club won 13 to 6. A game was scheduled to take place on the Hillside links between the Hillside Club team and Forest Hill. As the Hillside Club had planned to entertain its neighbors of the Park Golf Club and a series of golf competitions had been arranged for the day, the league match was postponed a week. It was therefore played Saturday.

Forest Hill is now next to last place in line and there is hardly a chance that the golfers of that club will be able to defeat the Hillside players, particularly when the latter happen to be playing on their own grounds. A victory for Hillside is practically certain therefore. There is the possibility of defeat, however, which would result in a tie between East Orange and Hillside.

Besides the Hillside-Forest Hill match the Madison Club will send its team to the Newark A. C. course and will, in all probability, be badly defeated. There isn't any chance for either of those clubs, however, as the winning of the league now rests between Hillside, East Orange and the Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth.

In the eyes of the Hillside team, the all important game will be played a week from Saturday when Hillside's crack team has to meet Glen Ridge on the latter's links. That will be a hard contest and Hillside, if victorious, is sure of first place in the league.

East Orange has but one more match to play and that is against Elizabeth at the latter's course. Elizabeth has a tie with Forest Hill to play off. That match between Elizabeth and East Orange, on October 27th, will be watched from here with great interest for on it may depend Hillside's chances of coming out on top.

The standing of the clubs at present is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Hillside Tennis and Golf Club	7	3
East Orange Golf Club	8	4
Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth	6	4
Glen Ridge Golf Club	5	6
Newark Athletic Club	4	6
Forest Hill Golf Club	3	5

Banker Routs a Robber.

J. R. Garrison, Cashier of the bank of Thornville, Ohio, had been robbed of health by a serious lung trouble until he tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Rode Through a Cornfield.

Arthur Morris, of Waverly, had an exciting ride through a Cranford cornfield recently. His horse was frightened by a trolley car as he was driving along South avenue, and started on a run through a cornfield beside the road. The wagon run over a corn shock and threw out a young woman who was with him. Then the horse got tangled up in another shock and threw himself. No damage was done, aside from breaking several straps of the harness. An old bakery wagon that had been left standing beside the road for the past week was partly responsible for the runaway.

Drought Ends in North Jersey

The heavy rains since Sunday night have put an end to the drought which has prevailed in Northern New Jersey for several weeks. Ponds and streams which had become almost entirely dry from the long drought are again filled to overflowing, and there is now plenty of water in the wells and cisterns. Many of those were dry, and water had to be carried a long distance.

GIANT WANTS TO KILL.

Dooley Took a Fancy to Anna Gleason, but She Won't Have Him.

James Dooley, a giant blacksmith, who stands six feet three inches in his socks, is lodged in the Union county jail at Elizabeth for threatening to kill Miss Anna Gleason, a relative of his, because she intends shortly to get married.

Dooley, it is said, was for a time in a lunatic asylum in Ireland. He was married, but his wife ran away from him, and he came to this country in search of her. At Elizabethport he met Miss Gleason, a relative, to whom he took quite a fancy. He obtained a job at his trade at the Singer Sewing Machine Works, and was a frequent caller at Miss Gleason's home, No. 159 Fifth street, Elizabethport. When he learned she was engaged to be wedded shortly it is said he became furious and swore he would take her life if she did not break her engagement. Then the young woman, believing herself in danger, appealed to the police for protection, and she swore out a complaint against her admirer, who, it is feared, may be having a return of his former malady. He was unable to furnish $500 bonds to keep from annoying Miss Gleason, and Judge Mahon consigned him to prison.

JERSEY'S NEXT LEGISLATURE.

Eight Senators Must be Elected This Fall—Thirteen Holdovers.

There are 21 counties in New Jersey, and each county is represented in the State Senate by one Senator, who serves for three years.

The intention of the men who framed the constitution was that one-third of the Senators should go out of office every year, and thus a majority of experienced Senators was to be retained.

The dates on which the counties were organized made a slight change in this arrangement and an even third of the number is not elected every year. One year there are eight, another seven and the third six Senators, but the resignation of the Senators from Hudson and Bergen will cause the election of eight Senators next month.

There are 13 hold-over Senators, of whom 12 are Republican and one is a Democrat. Eleven is a majority. The last Senate had 14 Republicans and 7 Democratic members.

The House of Assembly consists of 60 members, who are elected annually. Last year there were 43 Republicans and 16 Democrats. A vacancy caused by the death of a Republican member was not filled.

COFFEY CASE DECIDED.

Important Ruling on Political Question.

ALBANY, Oct. 10. The court of appeals in a decision today decides two questions of great political import:

First.—That a member of a general political county committee cannot be removed from office by the vote of a majority of the committee.

Second.—That the will of a majority of persons voting at a primary election for a member of a county committee may not be overridden by the committee itself.

The decision is given in the case of Senator Michael J. Coffey of Kings, who was removed by the Kings county Democratic committee on March 23, 1900, on the charge made by several electors that he had been in open hostility to the party in the election of November, 1899. Judge Parker, presiding judge, wrote the opinion, and it is concurred in by Judges Haight, Vann and Landon. Judge Cullen writes the dissenting opinion and is concurred with by Judges O'Brien and Bartlett. Judge Parker states this specific opinion:

"The primary law was not intended by the legislature to protect the majority of a committee from enforced association with a disagreeable or hostile member, but to protect the right of the voters to have their wishes in party matters presented by their chosen representatives."

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The president and Mrs. McKinley have arrived in Washington.

The total number of schools under American control in Porto Rico this year will be 796.

Returns from the British elections show a Liberal gain of two and a Ministerialist gain of one seat.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk railroad in London was a very stormy one.

Summaries of the Protestant missionaries known or supposed to have been killed by Boxers show a total of 178. Of the death of 43 of these no doubt is possible.

Town Flooded by Breaking Levee.

PORTAGE, Wis., Oct. 10.—The government levee here gave way yesterday afternoon. A tremendous rush of water from the Wisconsin river spread over the lower part of the city. Streets and basements were flooded in a few minutes, and the inhabitants hurried to higher ground with household goods and other valuables. The damage will amount to thousands of dollars. Three hundred men worked hard all morning in an effort to brace up the levee, which was discovered to be extremely weak and threatening to give way under the high stage of the river. Their efforts were unavailing, however. It is feared the flood will spread over at least one-fifth of the city. It is not thought any lives were lost, as the flood had been expected since early in the day.

Valet Captures Burglar.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A valet saved Mr. William Bayard Cutting, the private secretary of the United States embassador, Mr. Joseph H. Choate, from being victimized by a burglar, who broke into Mr. Cutting's room by a window. The burglar was captured, thanks to the valet, with various pieces of jewelry valued at $1,500 in his possession. The prisoner was remanded at a police court.

American Bicycle Company's Profits.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the American Bicycle company the treasurer, A. L. Garford, reported a net profit of $905,579.71 for the year ended July 31, the first of the company's existence. The net quick assets are given as $11,068,495 and the plant investment, allowing $1,168,015.28 for depreciation, as $30,000,000.

Striking Employees.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 10.—The strike of the employees of the Terre Haute Electric company went on yesterday. There have been no street cars, and there was no electric service and no electric power. The company secured the services of several firemen at noon, and as the engineers at the plant had not gone on strike the power was sent over the wires.

Hichborn Gets Paris Medal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Chief Constructor Philip Hichborn, U. S. N., has been awarded a diploma and gold medal for the Franklin life buoy. His model turret and models of war vessels exhibited at the Paris exposition of 1900. The chief constructor has now an interesting collection of medals and diplomas from national and international expositions.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

Prof. Frank J. Born, of Yale university, has been elected physical director of Allegheny college.

A stone tablet is about to be placed in Battell chapel, at Yale university, in memory of Gen. John Patterson, a member of the class of 1762, who was prominent in the revolution.

The hat worn by President Van Buren during his inauguration ceremonies has just been presented to the museum of Illinois college. It is a great beaver of the style since associated with President Harrison.

The parish clerk of Sulgrave, England, has again successfully sued the church wardens for the payment of his salary of three pounds sterling a year. He said that he had on several occasions provided the communion wine out of his paltry salary.

Rev. Dr. Dean Richmond Babbitt, in a sermon the other evening on "Social Christianity" in the church of the Epiphany, New York, said that one of the most Christian acts a man can do "is to attend the primaries carrying a Christian conscience with you that will clean the stream of politics at its source."

A new idea in ecclesiastic architecture is to be carried out in New York. In putting up the new edifice of the Church of the Archangel in St. Nicholas avenue, Harlem, the plan is to include the church and rectory under the same roof. It is said that this is the first time such a thing has been attempted in that city and perhaps anywhere. The entire building will cost $50,000. The front of the structure will be the rectory, with the church at the back. The entrance to the church will be through and under the rectory.

CHINESE HOLD PASS.

Pursuit of the Court by Allies Feared.

ALLEGED IMPERIAL EDICTS DOUBTED

Count von Waldersee Ordered From Berlin to Resume Operations. The French Start For Pao-ting-fu.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Standard's Tien-tsin correspondent, wiring Sunday, says: "I hear that the Chinese are concentrating at Hwang lu pass, leading into the province of Shansi, with the intention of opposing any attempt of the allies to pursue the imperial court."

The Berlin correspondent of The Standard understands that the Chinese imperial edicts are regarded there with skepticism and that Count von Waldersee has been instructed to resume operations.

The Times has the following from Tien-tsin, dated Oct. 7:

"Three French battalions started yesterday for Pao-ting-fu. The British are waiting for the Germans, but may start without them."

Dr. Morrison, the Peking correspondent of The Times, wiring on Oct. 5, says:

"Russia, in pursuance of her policy of being China's only friend, has restored the tsung-li-yamen to the Chinese. Count von Waldersee's decision to divide the railway administration between Russia and Germany shows the humble position Great Britain is contented to occupy in north China."

The Shanghai correspondent of The Times, wiring Monday, says it is reported there that the allies have arrived at Pao-ting-fu without opposition.

THE PAO-TING-FU EXPEDITION.

Germans Not Ready—Punishment For Boxer Leaders.

PEKING, Oct. 4, via Tien-tsin, Oct. 8, via Shanghai, Oct. 10.—The Pao-ting-fu expedition is waiting for the Germans, who are not ready to start. It is reported that there are 12,000 Chinese imperial troops at Pao-ting-fu. General Chaffee has returned here.

A response to the German demands has been transmitted to Li Hung Chang. This says that Ying Nien, president of the censorate; Kang Yi, assistant grand secretary, and president of the civil board, and Chao Shu Chiao, president of the board of punishment, will be decapitated; that Prince Chwang, Duke Tsai Lan and Prince Yih will be sentenced to life imprisonment and that Prince Tuan will be banished to the imperial military post roads on the Siberian frontier as a further punishment for aiding the Boxers.

Court's Return to Peking Demanded.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 10.—The Chinese assert that the governor of Shangtung and the Yang-tse viceroys have sent a joint memorial to the empress declaring it to be impossible to guarantee the dispatch of money and provisions to Sin-gan-fu and threatening to resign unless the court returns to Peking. It is believed that Emperor Kwang Su is anxious to return and that the empress dowager wavered until she heard of the expedition to Pao-ting-fu. Li Hung Chang's secretary reports that foreign troops, supposed to be British, have already arrived at Pao-ting-fu. It is said that Li Hung Chang has advised the emperor to return to Peking on the ground that the powers can stop supplies from reaching the province of Shensi.

Dowager Empress Ill.

PEKING, Oct. 7, via Tien-tsin, Oct. 8, via Shanghai, Oct. 10.—Trustworthy Chinese reports say that the dowager empress is seriously ill at Tai-yuan-fu, province of Shansi, and the free hand of the emperor in affairs of state of late is regarded as confirmatory of these reports.

Six Buried In One Grave.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 10.—The bodies of the wife, three daughters, granddaughter and niece of Captain James Corrigan were lowered together into one large grave in Lakeview cemetery yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Sprecher of the Euclid Avenue Presbyterian church conducted the service. On July 7 the schooner yacht Idler, owned by Captain Corrigan, capsized in a squall off this port, and Mrs. James Corrigan and Ida Corrigan, Jane Corrigan and Mrs. Reily and her daughter, baby Reily, were drowned. The last of the bodies was recovered only a few days ago. Miss Mabelle Hall, a niece of Captain Corrigan and a beloved inmate of his home, died within the last week, and she was buried with the victims of the wreck.

Assaulted the Wrong Man.

JOHNSTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 10.—John Eagan, a tanner, aged 40 years, while intoxicated yesterday had trouble with Truman Gorman, and the men parted with a very ill feeling between them. According to admissions made by Eagan last night he was waiting in a dark place for Gorman. Ward Getman, aged 16, came along, and, mistaking him for Gorman, Eagan attacked him with a knife. Getman received a terrible cut on the head extending from the corner of his eye across the temple and around the skull to the base of the brain, a portion of the right ear being cut off, and he is in a critical condition. Eagan is under arrest.

Aged Policeman Dead.

ALBANY, Oct. 10.—Police Captain Robert G. Davidson of this city, aged 66, probably the oldest police captain in point of service in the United States, dropped dead at 6 p. m. last night while on duty. The night relief had lined up before the desk for roll call, and the captain had just given the usual order, "Attention to roll call," when he was taken with a hemorrhage and expired before medical aid could reach him. Captain Davidson had served as a guardian of the peace in Albany for 41 years, being a member of the old Capital City police force.

John Morley Re-elected.

WILD SCENE IN COURT

Youtsey, on Trial For Goebel's Murder, Goes Insane.

SENSATIONAL ACT ADJOURNS COURT.

Governor Goebel Declared to Be Still Alive, and His Brother on the Witness Stand Denounced as a Liar.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 10.—One of the most remarkable scenes ever enacted in a Kentucky court occurred last night in the trial of Henry E. Youtsey, charged with being a principal in the shooting of Governor Goebel, the defendant himself being the chief participant. The courtroom was crowded at the time, and the excitement was intense. Dee Armstrong, the Louisville detective, had just told of his talks with Youtsey before and after his arrest. Then Arthur Goebel was put on the stand, and Judge Ben Williams, who for the first time appeared for the prosecution, did the questioning.

Arthur Goebel said:

"I talked with Youtsey the day he was arrested late in the afternoon in the jail in Frankfort in reference to the murder of my brother."

Just at this point Youtsey arose behind his attorney and in a loud voice said: "It is untrue; it is a lie. I never spoke a word to that man in my life, nor he to me."

Colonel Crawford told him to be quiet and sit down, and others took hold of him.

"I will not sit down. I never said a word to that man; it is untrue."

He was shouting by this time, and every one was becoming excited. Youtsey's wife sprang to his side and while endeavoring to make him sit down could be heard saying, "Now you have killed my husband, I suppose you are satisfied."

Then Youtsey hysterically shouted again: "I am innocent. There is no blood on my hands. These men are swearing my life away."

Two or three deputy sheriffs went over and grabbed him. He struggled wildly and said: "Let me alone. I will not sit down." Arthur Goebel meanwhile sat sphinxlike in the witness chair and never turned his head. Finally, after Youtsey was forced into a seat, he shouted again: "Goebel is not dead. All the demons in hell could not kill him."

"Mr. Sheriff, if the defendant does not behave himself put handcuffs on him," said Judge Cantrill.

Meanwhile the audience could not be forced to keep their seats until the judge threatened to fine those who stood up. Youtsey settled back in his chair, closed his eyes and seemed in a state of collapse. He waved his handkerchief above his head in an aimless sort of way and groaned and cried hysterically. Finally quiet was restored and Judge Williams asked Arthur Goebel another question, when Colonel Crawford asked a postponement of the trial until today on account of the defendant's condition. Judge Cantrill said he could see no cause or reason for the defendant's outbreak, but in justice to his attorneys he would postpone the case. Mr. Franklin said the commonwealth had not the slightest objection to adjourning until today, and court so adjourned.

Youtsey still occupied his chair with his eyes closed, apparently in a half fainting condition. After the crowd passed out Jailer Reed and deputies carried Youtsey to the jail, as he was unable to walk. Various reasons are assigned for his outbreak, the first being that his long confinement and strain of the trial caused him to become hysterical and lose control of himself. Another is that he really is demented, as shown by his remark that Goebel was not dead. He is being attended by physicians and relatives at the jail, and his condition is deemed critical.

Spanish Affairs.

MADRID, Oct. 10.—The Spanish parliament will reassemble between the 6th and 10th of November. The question of the marriage of the Princess of the Asturias will not be discussed before December. Marquis Aguilar Campo, minister of foreign affairs, will be prepared to introduce various treaties bearing upon the general relations of Spain with the United States and the cession of the Cagayan and other islands and relative to literary copyright with the Hispano-American republics. At the offices of the minister of finance an emphatic denial was given to the report that the government intends to float a loan, either large or small.

News of Andree Again.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 10.—Harry S. Knappen, a newspaper man, has returned from a perilous trip to the Hudson bay country, in which, with nine white men and eight Indians, he sailed 600 miles up the east shore of that great inland sea. Mr. Knappen was assured by Eskimos whom he met that a "sky boat" had come into the region on the extreme northeast shore of the bay two years before, that it came to ground and that the savages who inhabit that country had killed the white men in it. This he believes was Andree's polar expedition.

A FIGHT WITH DE WET.

Three Days' Struggle to Dislodge the Boers From Mountains.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Times publishes the following dispatch from Vredefort, Orange River Colony:

"The British column had a three days' fight, from Oct. 5 to 7 inclusive, with General De Wet's commando of 1,000 men and five guns. It took place in a veritable sea of mountains near here. The Boers were dislodged and dispersed, and they fled demoralized. The British casualties were slight.

According to the Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, Mr. Rhodes, in his speech to the congress of the South African league, will declare in favor of early federation and of placing South Africa on the same footing as Canada and Australia.

"He will deny," says the correspondent, "that he is eagerly seeking the friendship of the Afrikander party, but will announce his willingness to work with them when they have learned wisdom. He will refer to the debt of gratitude which South Africa owes the colonies and will urge the adoption of federal union."

Invading the Metropolis.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The fall excursions from northern New York to the metropolis were run yesterday, and up to 3 o'clock in the afternoon six special trains passed through this city. All the trains are run over the Central from this point. Among the excursionists are hundreds of country merchants who will spend the next ten days in New York making their fall purchases.

BIG OPPORTUNITIES IN CUBA.

Land Cheap. Returns Quick—Testimonial From General Wood.

HAVANA, Oct. 10.—Governor General Wood says that Cuba now offers great opportunities to Americans who will come here and settle. Land is cheap or can be rented on a small royalty of production. Returns would be quick. He recommends the cultivation by immigrants of tobacco and fruit and the raising of cattle.

At the palace yesterday representatives of every mercantile guild in Havana joined in presenting to Governor Wood an address expressing gratitude for what he has done in the way of reforming the mercantile registries. The address was accompanied by a pen mounted with diamonds and rubies. The board of trade and the richest commercial houses of the city were represented at the function.

By order of the military government and through Senor Gener, secretary of justice, trial by jury was inaugurated in Cuba yesterday and the writ of habeas corpus established. Commissioners representing the church and the state have been appointed to determine the property rights of the former.

Last evening the Dady sewerage and paving contract was discussed by the ayuntamiento. General Wood said to Major Rodriguez earlier in the day that he thought immediate action advisable adding that the ayuntamiento had a free hand as to the plans, but ought to take action in time to begin work during December. He also told the mayor that the sewering and paving must be done.

This statement was interpreted by the ayuntamiento to mean that further delay would not be tolerated and that unless the work was begun in December the military government would carry through the undertaking in its own way and charge the expense to Havana.

Mr. Dady's friends claim to be certain of 17 out of the 24 votes in the council. His opponents are trying to postpone action.

A FILIPINO'S REVENGE.

Returning Members of the Forty-seventh Volunteers Tell a Tale.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Sergeants Barton and Zimmerman of the Forty-seventh volunteer infantry, who have recently returned from the Philippines to their homes in Whitestone, N. Y., report that while in an engagement with the Filipinos at Albay Sergeant Fowler, also of Whitestone, shot and killed a handsome young Filipino lieutenant named Marcus and captured his sword. Lieutenant Marcus was a son of Marcellus Marcus, a wealthy Filipino, who is known all over the island and who had hitherto been friendly to the Americans, though his son was not.

The death of the son aroused the father to a pitch of the greatest fury, and he swore he would spend every dollar he owned to avenge his death, despite the fact that young Marcus was killed in a fair fight. Barton and Zimmerman say that since then Marcus has raised a troop of 3,000 and has offered a reward of $100 for every left ear of every member of the Forty-seventh regiment. This offer is said to have brought fruit, for every American killed was found to have his left ear missing, and many Chinese and light colored Filipinos were found to have theirs missing also, which shows that the Filipinos are not above making money out of the old man's thirst for revenge. It is stated that Marcus is treasuring a string of more than 100 ears, not more than five of which could have been cut from members of the Forty-seventh regiment.

Sad Shooting Accident.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 10.—A special to The Times-Union and Citizen from Lake Butler, Fla., says Harry Anthony, one of the most prominent young business men of that section, brother of Dr. Mark Anthony, a leading physician, was accidentally killed yesterday morning at 1 o'clock by his younger brother, Marvin Anthony. The brothers had been in a fox chase until midnight and stopped at the country home of Dr. Anthony three miles out for rest during the remainder of the night. Harry Anthony handed his gun to Marvin to hold while he unlocked the door. The gun was accidentally discharged, killing Harry instantly, the entire load entering his neck and head. Marvin Anthony immediately became frantic with grief and attempted to kill himself. He was prevented from doing so by their colored servant. He is now carefully guarded, and his friends are yet afraid he will take his life. The family is one of the wealthiest in the state.

Coal Operators Declare Other Concessions Impossible.

WHAT TEN PER CENT INCREASE MEANS

High Price of Coal and Prospect of Its Continuing So Insure Miners Working on a Sliding Scale of Stable Price For Their Labor.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 10.—Interviews with prominent operators here elicited a uniform declaration that no further concessions or modifications of the present offer will be made and that the miners must take it or leave it just as it stands.

They say it is plain and complete and contains all they can or will concede. The 10 per cent increase means that every man in the anthracite mines is to have $1.10 for the work for which he formerly received $1, the operators say. The powder item is simply a matter of bookkeeping. Instead of giving the miners 10 per cent increase that he will have his credit side increased, say, 3 per cent, and from his debit side will be subtracted 7 per cent or whatever percentage of expense it is found the difference in the cost of his powder amounts to. The purpose is simply to put an end to the howling about powder being sold at exorbitant prices.

Powder is the basis of the wage scale, it is explained, and to decrease its cost is to increase the wages. In this region a decrease of $1.25 in a keg of powder means a 7 per cent decrease in the miners' expenses. Therefore when he has his expenses reduced 7 per cent he has his wages increased a like amount. The other 3 per cent will be made up by increasing the allowance per car for cutting and loading. Where a miner gets $1 a car he will under the new scale get $1.03 1-3 a car. His net earnings will be the same whether he gets the increase flat or by figuring on the decrease on powder.

The fact that coal is high and that the demands of individual operators for better allowances will keep it high is suggested as a reason why those working under the sliding scale should not worry about being juggled out of their increase. The further fact that the operators do not want strikes and that they realize the United Mine Workers' organization is here to stay will, it is pointed out, have a tendency to dissuade any double dealing on the part of the operators even if they were inclined to do a thing of this kind.

All arrangements for today's big parade and mass meeting are now complete. Fully 20,000 men will be in the parade, and it is estimated that 50,000 persons will assemble to hear President Mitchell and the others speak. The national officers have arrived and will remain here till after the convention and possibly till the strike is settled.

Outlook Less Hopeful.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 10.—The leaders of the United Mine Workers of this part of the anthracite coal field do not speak as hopefully of a settlement of the strike by the Scranton convention as they did yesterday. Some of those interviewed are afraid that the offer of 10 per cent increase in wages made by the companies may not last long and that after the men are back at work for awhile and the market is pretty well supplied the operators may reduce wages to the old figures. It is only fair to say, however, that not all the United Mine Workers are of this opinion. There is a strong sentiment prevailing that the companies are sincere and that the increase in wages will be permanent. It would help matters along considerably in the convention if there was some one there authorized to speak for the companies on this point. But of course the companies will not have a representative on the ground, and if the convention appoints a committee, which it is likely to do, to find out from the operators how long a period the increase will hold good there is bound to be a long delay before the committee will be able to report.

Roosevelt In St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—St. Louis' exposition coliseum was crowded last night in honor of Governor Roosevelt, who spoke a little more than an hour. The governor was tired, having ridden in a parade given in the afternoon. Later he was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the St. Louis club. He was escorted from the Planters' hotel in the evening by Mayor Ziegenheim, National Committeeman Kerens and other prominent Republicans of Missouri, a mounted regiment of Rough Riders and several thousand citizens in carriages or on foot. The route of the night parade was illuminated with flambeaux and colored fire. At the coliseum the governor was introduced by the mayor and was cheered enthusiastically throughout his speech, at the conclusion of which he was escorted to the Union station, where he took his special train for Chicago, whence today he will start on his Indiana tour.

Assistant Surgeon General Dead.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Colonel Joseph Payson Wright, assistant surgeon general of the United States army, has died suddenly at his home here in the sixty-fourth year of his age. Interment will be made in the National cemetery at Arlington. Colonel Wright was a native of Pennsylvania. He served throughout the civil war as an assistant surgeon and received three brevet commissions for faithful and meritorious services. After the war he entered the regular army with the rank of captain and assistant surgeon and rose steadily to the rank of colonel.

Extradition Asked For Oil Magnates.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 10.—Requisition papers issued by Governor Sayers of Texas were served on Governor Roosevelt here yesterday for the extradition of John D. Rockefeller, Henry M. Falgler and other Standard Oil men for alleged violation of the antitrust law of Texas. Governor Roosevelt said he could not act on the requisition as long as he is out of the state of New York, as he is technically not governor. He said he would look into the cases when he returns to New York.

Charged With Child Murder.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 10.—Miss Bertha Dobbs, 25 years of age, has been arrested in this city and held without bail on the charge of having murdered her male child a few hours after its birth on last Sunday morning. The body of the infant was found by a detective in the place where it had been placed, supposedly by its mother.

Commercialism.

The Newark Call, one of the most independent newspapers in New Jersey, deprecates the idea of commercialism which is being used to influence voters in the present campaign, and it hopes that in the near future it will cease to rule the nation. The Call says that "it is a curse, the father of anarchism and the sponsor of crime." A mere reading of these words might lead one to think that the Call was advocating the election of the Democratic ticket, since Mr. Bryan is using much the same line of argument in many instances But it happens that the Call is one of the most bitter opponents of the Nebraskan's candidacy in New Jersey, and is laboring with all of its ability to bring about the election of McKinley and Roosevelt.

What the Call says about commercialism in politics, however, is said not as a political opinion, but as a deep seated aversion to a policy which it thinks is inimical to the interests of the country and its people irrespective of partisan considerations. Deplor- the condition which permits commercialism to animate and lead the people in what should be high and lofty walks of life, the Call says:

Art is measured by dollars, and eminence is now the possession of greater means than one's neighbors. The man who dies is praised for the money he made for his children, and his virtues and vices are alike forgotten in the accounting of his estate. In social life wealth is more and more the test of acceptance, and God's ministry vaunts the number of the congregation and the annual contributions rather than spiritual growth. The newspapers boast circulation and advertisements instead of influence and useful advocacy of the public welfare, and our very colleges are not seldom scenes of social rivalry based upon riches. The sports are tainted with professionalism and money making, and the National question in war and peace seems to be, what can we make out of it?

This means the debasement of human nature, scorn of the poor, hatred alike of those who fail and of those whose success is greater than ours; it means all that Christ condemned. And its punishment is as certain as death, for with the decrease in the spirit, comes the growth of the material, and power is used to satisfy the grosser appetites, to the destruction of all aspiration and higher thought. When society and Government become only means to enable the few to enjoy power at the expense of the many, the Nation perishes, as he died whose touch turned bread to gold.

The Government cannot lead in the matters, for the reaction must come through the people. The hope that the better and higher view may be taken is founded upon the history of our country, which has been filled with illustrations of the recuperative powers of the people. If they now find it necessary to seemingly exalt the material, to adopt the policies and help the cause of men who make the dollar their god, they will also, we believe, soon see the wisdom of checking the worship of wealth and of elevating the spiritual in Government, in society, in art and in business; for the good of the many, yet, without injustice to the few.

Plainfield and New Brunswick.

New Brunswick rests easy now. The census bureau yesterday announces the population of the old Dutch city as being 20,015. This is a gain of a little over seven per cent. in ten years. In the previous ten years New Brunswick gained eight per cent. in population. This is not a good showing, however. For a city with the advantages that New Brunswick naturally possesses it should have grown more than seven per cent. in ten years, which is less than one per cent. a year. The people of the Middlesex capital are a sleepy lot, though, and seem content to run along in the same old municipal groove. Probably they are happy, and if they are no one begrudges them the pleasures that such a condition brings.

Situated as Plainfield is, in close proximity and touch with New Brunswick, we feel that we are rivals of the Dutch town, and being such we take sort of a serene satisfaction in knowing that she is not outstripping us in growth. But since the figures of Plainfield's population have not yet been made public perhaps it will be discreet for us not to make to much ado about our progress until we know just exactly where we are at in the matter of census returns. Still we feel confident that Plainfield will make an excellent showing in increase of population and easily outdistance our municipal neighbor along the Raritan.

We predict that Plainfield—city and borough, which are all one with the exception of an imaginary governmental line—will show a population several thousand in excess of New Brunswick's figures.

Captain Charles Campbell, chairman of the Marine Industrial League in New York, who is on the staff of speakers sent out by the National Democratic Committee, and who is to address a Democratic meeting in this city tomorrow evening, is said to be a dignified and able speaker on the issues involved in the present campaign.

Great country this. In the United States there are now three cities with populations exceeding one million. If Brooklyn had not been made a part of New York city there would be four. No other nation has three cities of a million population, and no nation ever before had as many.

The election prophets are agreed in conceding that Pennsylvania is safe for McKinley and Texas for Bryan.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND,

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The need of a railroad of some kind, steam or electric, between this city and Summit, has long been manifest enough, but it is becoming more so every day. The stranding of ten or a dozen citizens of Elizabeth for nearly half a day at the Newark station of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road last week is a case in point. Had they been able to go to Summit by any other route they could have made their intended trip without discomfiture. For some time past the hopes of the public have been placed on the New Orange road, in expectation that it would extend its tracks to Springfield and Summit. But this hope seems deferred a good while, and the trolley line up Morris avenue seems no more promising. A trolley spur, connected with the consolidated system, would undoubtedly pay; if not at first, then certainly in a short time.—Elizabeth Journal.

City Union Thankful.

It is with great pleasure that the King's Daughters of Plainfield in reviewing the work of the past year see the interest which has been taken by our citizens in both City Nurse and the Children's Camp and it seems a fitting time as the work closes for the summer to thank all those who have taken a special interest in the work. Among those whom we are especially indebted to are Mrs. Edwards for milk, Mr. Marshall for laundry work, Mr. Heideloff, Mr. Griffen and Mr. Gayle for hardware and Mr. C. S. Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN-O preparation was left at my office. I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best coffee I ever drank.

An Immense Lamp Purchase.

We have purchased from one of the largest lamp manufacturers in the United States their entire line of samples, comprising in all over 150 lamps, all of which are this season's productions, and the character of them are way ahead of anything ever shown in the city before. Strictly high grade and very artistic. One of the special features in connection with these lamps is that there is no duplicates; you won't happen into your neighbors and find the self-same lamp. Still another important feature is the prices. We purchased them at one-quarter, one-half and in some instances as much as three-quarters less than their usual prices, and we shall sell them the same way. What we save you also save. This is a rare opportunity to purchase a good lamp for a little money.

Dunellen, Oct. 10.—Mrs. John Hunt, of the borough, received word yesterday of the terrible death of her brother, John Scully, of Belle Mead. He was struck by an engine on the P. and R. The funeral services will probably be held tomorrow.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Newark, Oct. 10—A new handle was placed on an umbrella belonging to George Logan yesterday without his consent or without cost to himself. The umbrella was purloined from in front of Friendship Hall by a wandering umbrella mender. He had no sooner taken it, however, than George discovered his loss, and securing the assistance of Charles Day the thief was traced to the residence of Mr. Bieler. On being charged with the theft he denied having taken it, but George's alert eye had discovered the missing umbrella among a lot of other ones, but with a new handle. The man had sought in this way to change its appearance, but the attempt failed and the real owner was in a new handle.

INDICTED SALOON-KEEPERS.

Work of the New Brunswick Anti-Saloon League Bears Fruit.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Oct. 10.—The work of the Anti Saloon League in New Brunswick bore tangible fruit yesterday morning, when eleven saloon-keepers were arraigned before Judge Strong, upon indictments charging them with Sunday selling. The indictments were returned by the recent Grand Jury as the outcome of the crusade against excise violations in New Brunswick.

The Anti-Saloon League employed detectives to collect evidence, and it is understood that about twenty saloon-keepers in all were indicted. All of the men pleaded guilty with the exception of John Brennan, George Bates and Charles Brayton, who pleaded not guilty. All of the men were released on bail until next week when further action will be taken.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The great vogue of the automobile has been one of the surprising things of the detade. It was but a couple of years ago when one appeared on the streets it was watched by everybody within sight, and when it stopped a curious crowd gathered around at once to look at the strange machine. Now the crowds gather when one is stopped but what a different motive. The machine is no longer a curiosity, and the people are anxious to see if there is anything new about that particular machine. The Automobile Club of America, which has done much to popularize the sport in this country, will give everybody an opportunity to see all, that is new and best in the automobile at the first real exhibition of the horseless carriage held in this country. It will be in the Madison Square Garden during the week of November 3d to 10th.

Newark has a Svengali. His Trilby is Miss Bessie Burney, of Jersey City. Like the original Svengali, he is teaching her music through hypnotic suggestion. The only difference is that she is learning to play the violin, not to sing. The hypnotist is Arthur Ballard. Miss Burney has been taking lessons on the violin since last February. Under the ordinary instructor she has not been an apt pupil, having been unable to acquire that tremulous motion of the fingers so essential to the best results in violin playing. When she was almost ready to give up in despair the task on which she had set her heart her friends thought of Mr. Ballard, who was well acquainted with her family and his services were sought forthwith. Experiment showed she yielded readily to the hypnotic influence. While the lessons have not gone far enough to determine fully their result, she has developed remarkable skill in the handling of the bow and strings, and has been able to retain her mastery of them when her instructor is absent. At the last lesson Mr. Ballard put his finger to her forehead and then drew it back slowly. She followed it without moving her feet and fell in his arms. He laid her on the floor and commanded her to sleep. She did so.

Washburn's "Stetson's Uncle Tom's Cabin Company" and is composed of fifty men, women and children, all capable actors, actresses, singers and dancers. As a scenic production it is said to be better than any other. Among others worthy of special mention are those of the Ohio river by moonlight, the beautiful vision scene and the gorgeous transformation scene at the close. A number of prize Shetland ponies, trick mules, and Col. Sawyer's splendid pack of genuine Siberian bloodhounds are special features. The spectacular street pageant has a great many beautiful Shetland ponies, chariots and beautifully carved tableau wagons besides other novelties. The parade is led by Washburn's Great Military Band, and is worth going a long ways to see.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dante, the famous colored necromancers and a host of other fine talent are to appear in a musical farce comedy entitled "A Lucky Coon," at Music Hall on Tuesday night next.

• • • • • •

Manager Maze Edwards has booked the beautiful play, "Human Hearts," for Thursday of next week at Music Hall. Its coming will be hailed with delight by lovers of pure, wholesome melodrama. "Human Hearts" comes with the same old story of love and fidelity in the hills of Arkansas, but with a stronger cast of characters which increase the popularity of this beautiful drama and endear it to all who have been fortunate enough to see it. Seats on sale Monday morning.

Dr. Rosedale at State Convention.

Dr. James Rosedale, who lectured so acceptably last Thursday evening in Trinity Reformed church, under the auspices of the Missionary Department of the local union of Christian Endeavor, will give two lectures during the State Convention at Jersey City—both next Friday afternoon, in the Bergen Baptist and First Presbyterian churches respectively. Dr. Rosedale's wife and three daughters will assist him—all in the Palestine costume.

WINTER WRAPS.

Outside Garments For the Approaching Cold Weather.

The long sack is well represented among advance winter models, and one of the newest ideas is to have it cut decidedly shorter at the back than in front. The lower edge sometimes forms large, deep scallops, sometimes is plain. Stitched straps, lines of stitching and applications form the decoration as hitherto, but the sleeves show a decided change. In one case they flare toward the wrist and have wide revers, like those on the sleeves of the habit of certain religious orders. Again, the sleeve of cloth terminates a little below the elbow, with a slight flare, and there is either a full undersleeve emerging from it and passing into a close band at the wrist or the sleeve of the gown bodice is allowed to serve as undersleeve.

LONG COAT.

Long jackets, fitted at the back and straight in front, are again to be worn. Pelerines and superimposed capes are used with this class of jacket as well as with the straight sack.

The illustration given today shows a long, loose coat of satin cloth. It is laid in stitched plaits, which are left free near the foot, and the edge has many rows of stitching. An empire belt of velvet comes from under the arms, following the line of the yoke, and fastens with a rosette and steel buckle in front. The wide collar and the revers are faced with velvet, and there are lines of stitching and velvet applications at the wrists of the plain sleeves. The lining is of satin throughout.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION NOTES.

Long Scarfs Much Employed—New Neck Chains.

Long scarfs of lace or of mousseline de soie or crepe de chine incrusted with lace are among the prettiest of fashionable accessories. They are draped upon the bodice in all sorts of fashions or form a wrinkled corselet with long ends hanging upon the skirt.

Neck chains of excessive length are still worn. The newest are rather heavy, and the jewels, which are placed at intervals, are set in little square medallions. Two shades of gold or gold and platinum are often combined.

Silk crocheted or knitted bags embroidered with steel, jet or gold beads and finished with a fringe of the same kind are again carried, for the fashionable skirt does not really admit a pocket—in fact, it is hardly possible to so place a pocket now that it will be invisible, which is, of course, essential. These bags are often worn at the belt, suspended by a chain.

TEA GOWN.

Today's illustration shows a tea gown of broche silk. It is of the princess form, a little loose in front and fastened at the side under coquilles of lace. Around the foot are three bands of embroidered insertion. The yoke is of silk covered with guipure applications and bordered with a double bertha of mousseline de soie. The short sleeves of broche silk are cut away to show undersleeves of plaited mousseline de soie finished with a double ruffle of the same goods.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Rather Strong.

An old colonel while engaged on a slice of mutton at a restaurant had his appetite disturbed by an extremely pungent and disagreeable odor.

"Waiter," he exclaimed, "where does that smell come from?"

"Perhaps monsieur refers to the shrimps? They have only just arrived from Cherbourg."

"Sapristi! Then they must have walked!"—Chronique du Temps.

In the Ornamental Class.

"That old brass lamp you brought home won't burn a little bit, Amelia."

"Burn, Edgar? Who expects it to burn? That isn't a working class lamp; it's a curio."—Indianapolis Journal.

My age is forty-two, and I am a housekeeper for a family. Ripans Tabules were first taken by me for dyspepsia, headache and bad heartburn. They were given by a friend, and they helped me so that I bought a box, and I would not now do without them. They are the best thing I ever tried. I tried different things, but none which did me as much good as Ripans Tabules have. I still take them in the morning. I would eat my breakfast, then would throw it up, and would be so sick and have the headache so that I would have to go to bed; my heartburn would come on and I would be in misery all the rest of the day until I took a Ripans Tabule. Now I feel like another woman, and don't throw my meals up. I am in earnest and thankful that there is such a good medicine to help any one.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the box, and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

GIRLS' BOUDOIRS.

EFFECT OF ROOMS UPON GIRLS AND GIRLS UPON ROOMS.

Keynotes of Character—How to Work Wonders In Decoration Without Material Expense—Marks of Individuality.

"A girl's room is the keynote to her character," so they say. If this is true, it must have been the boudoir of an angel that I visited the other day. It was entirely white, even to the cushions of the cozy corner. The walls were covered with empire paper in broad, silky stripes faintly edged with gold, white fur partially covered the polished floor, in the doorway were white brocade portieres, and, crowning touch, two great jars of white chrysanthemums filled the air with their pungent fragrance.

BOHEMIAN DEN.

The owner of this fairyland is anything but an angel. She is a belle of several seasons, and her room is simply an indication of great wealth.

An instance of both wealth and individuality is the "den" of another girl who boasts she does not possess one piece of modern furniture. As you enter you breathe the atmosphere of the past. Old fashioned paper bedecks the walls, old fashioned prints and portraits stare at you, cabinets filled with china and objects of historic value invite your attention, quaint oak settles warn you not to seek comfort in their arms, massive carved chests contain the lingerie of this maid, and a huge four poster inspires her with dreams of olden times. Of course it took large sums to furnish this room, but it also required taste and a considerable knowledge of antiques. It is characteristic of the girl, too, for if she has one mania it is pride of ancestry.

Still not so much among the wealthy as among the girls earning their own living is the room an indication of character. The rich can hire the taste of others; the girl in moderate circumstances must depend entirely upon her own. It is sometimes pitiful to see the love of home and home furnishing struggling to express itself in a little hall bedroom. Ah, if these hall bedrooms could speak, what stories they would tell! Of how some girl went without the needed pair of gloves that she might make the bare wall more cheerful with a bright picture; how another denied herself for weeks to drape her one little window in snowy muslin.

"Yes, I remember my hall bedroom," said a young musician to me the other day. (She has graduated into a smart studio with a pianoforte of her own.) "Positively it was the smallest thing you ever saw. Sitting on the bed I could reach to all parts of the room. By the way, the bed was a bookcase when not in use. It boasted of an infinite mirror and the only shelf in the room. On this I placed my bust of Paderewski and my metronome. The only trouble was that whenever I turned over in the night the metronome would begin to go 'tick-tack, tick-tack' and would keep me awake by the half hour. I trained myself to turn over as little as possible, and to this day I sometimes sleep an entire night on one side."

Her case was nothing to the girl who lived in a pantry. Yes, I mean it! All over New York there are apartments run by women who let the rooms only to girl students. Naturally these places are very desirable and as the prices are fair every inch of room is occupied. No cooking was done in this place and a bright young stenographer in search of a home saw the possibilities of the unused pantry and hired it on the spot. First, however, she demanded a reduction of $2 a week because it was a pantry. This was cheerfully granted by the delighted owner of the flat. Then she moved in, which was very simple. The place was nothing more than a triangle with a tiny window at one of the angles of the base. It owed its shape to a huge china closet sunk into one corner and reaching from floor to ceiling. The girl saw possibilities in this as a wardrobe and general catch all. As I said, her moving was very simple. She merely placed across the front of the china closet (the base of the triangle) a cot bed covered with a figured cloth; upon this she heaped some gay pillows, and she had a divan fit for a queen. By taking out the door and replacing it by a portiere she found it left her a little triangle of floor big enough to turn around in twice—that was enough. I forgot to say that she covered the walls with Japanese pictures and that the pillows and divan covers were of the weave of that country. There was one decoration on the wall which was not Japanese, however. In a clear, firm hand she had written some verses beginning "Love Is Life." When I saw them, I understood why she was satisfied with so little.

For, after all, no true woman is a Bohemian. She may play at it, but some time or other she will betray her true self. There is a story of a young authoress who was doing very well, so well indeed that it went to her head, and she fitted up her room in Turkish fashion, with somber hangings and glistening cushions, darkened windows and even one or two hanging lamps. She used to lie on the divan and smoke cigarettes to make herself feel wicked and evolve stories from her inner consciousness which made her friends gasp and wonder where on earth she had obtained her experience. The stories kept getting wilder and more risque until one day a couple of them were returned to her with a note from the editor. Now every one knows what a sickening sensation a returned manuscript gives one. In this case she became so desperate that she took the first train out of town and spent the day with a friend she had not seen for some time. The friend was just a good little thing with no particular talent but that of homemaking. The blase one, standing in the neat room with its immaculate bed, snowy toilet table covered with silver articles and the sunlight streaming through the crisp muslin curtains, felt strangely out of place, like an owl suddenly forced out into the open day. She surveyed her friend critically, her calm, contented friend, then she went home in deep thought. A week afterward her friends were startled nearly out of their wits. All traces of the oriental had disappeared from her room. The windows were draped in point d'esprit, a real brass bedstead stood in one corner, a real toilet table in another. She herself sat at a white enameled empire desk. There was not the slightest suspicion of tobacco in the air. Her next story was entitled "For His Mother's Sake" and did not contain one single Gallicism. If this story is true, so much for the influence of a room upon a girl.

But don't we know it ourselves, how a disorderly room gives pangs of loneliness, how bleak colorless walls make us homesick, and cheap, loud jarring colors hurt more than blows?

If that is the influence of the room upon the girl, what about the influence of the girl upon the room? It can be most marvelous. It is so easy to make a room pretty at a small expense and to give a positively homelike look even to the ordinary boarding house affair. Most girls I know prefer a little den to the ordinary bedroom, so they can receive their friends there. They have a cot with a comfortable hair mattress which in the daytime is covered with a gayly figured cloth and made to do duty as a divan. It is not necessary to buy expensive goods, for at any oriental shop one may purchase the most effective stripes for 50 cents a yard, very good cotton imitations of high priced wool goods. Three yards and a half will cover the couch, and, if one wishes a very attractive corner, 3½ more tacked to the wall will form a background for pillows and give a truly gorgeous effect. Then for pillows fine patterns in mercerized cotton can be had for 12½ cents a yard and really handsome flowered effects for 25. It is not necessary to have all the pillows stuffed with down. In fact, it is better to have two or three hard ones as a background for the heap. These can be filled with excelsior, which can be bought at any furniture store for 5 cents a pound, but in stuffing the pillow one must be very careful to pack it as hard as possible; otherwise it will sink in places.

A pretty decoration in the shape of a frieze running along the top of the cloth background of the divan was the idea of a friend of mine. She went into a wall paper store and asked to see a bunch of samples of paper. They were about six inches square and marked only on one side. She bought one of these booklets for the enormous sum of 5 cents. There were at least 20 shades, some of them really exquisite. On her arrival home she glued them on a long strip of cardboard and tacked them, as I have said, over the divan, where they give the effect of a row of artistic tiling. Another girl followed her example, only she used every known shade of blue and decorated each little square with a silhouette done in Chinese white.

STORY OF A PIGEON.

Every Day the Bird Races with a Train That Runs Between Two Towns in Belgium.

There is a pigeon in Belgium which regularly flies with the morning train that goes from Liege to Waremme. It began to accompany the train toward the end of January, and it has done so every day since then, except on three occasions. The Meuse, one of the leading newspapers in Belgium, vouches for this fact, and gives other curious detail about the remarkable bird. The train starts at 9:57 a.m., and a crowd gathers daily to see the pigeon go with it. The bird wheels around the station while the passengers are taking their seats, and as soon as the whistle is blown and the journey begins it takes up a position a little behind the engine, and there it flies surrounded by the moist, though warm, steam, which it evidently enjoys. It retains this position even while the train is passing through tunnels, and apparently is not inconvenienced in the least by the warm vapor. When the train reaches its destination the bird flies swiftly along the railroad track back to Liege, where it arrives about 11:30 o'clock.

This pigeon was born at the railroad station in Liege, and consequently is familiar with trains, smoke and steam. Until a few months ago it occupied with 11 others, a comfortable cote, and when this was removed from the station by order of the authorities it refused to abandon its old home, though its 11 companions at once sought for shelter elsewhere. This fidelity was suitably rewarded. The railroad officials gave the bird carte blanche to search for food wherever it pleased, and the public liberally supplied it with corn and other dainties. A singular fact is that on the three days when it failed to accompany the train a Belgian engine was used instead of an English one, and the assumption is that the fuel consumed by the latter gives forth a steam which the bird prefers to that from a Belgian engine.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

His Name Free from Stain.

Justice in this country is administered with so much leniency that the very large proportion of criminals escape their just deserts and the knowledge that an innocent person has been convicted and punished is both astonishing and depressing. Nearly 50 years ago a stonemason living in Lancaster, Pa., was accused of stealing a crowbar, convicted and sentenced to jail for a year. He served his sentence, but to the day of his death protested his innocence. A few days ago the crowbar was found near an old wall, under such circumstances that made it plain it had fallen there, and been covered by accident. The poor old fellow was dead and nothing could be done to him in the way of reparation, but his friends are pleased to know that his memory is now free from stain.

An Island of Sulphur.

In the Bay of Plenty, New Zealand, is situated White island, which consists mostly of sulphur mixed with gypsum and a few other minerals. Over the island, which is about three miles in circumference, and which rises between 800 and 900 feet above the sea, floats continually an immense cloud of vapor attaining an elevation of 10,000 feet. In the center is a boiling lake of acid charged water, covering 50 acres, and surrounded with blow-holes from which steam and sulphurous fumes are emitted with great force and noise. With care a boat can be navigated on the lake. The sulphur from White island is very pure, but little effort has yet been made to procure it systematically.

Will Not Try It Again.

"I wonder," said little Harry, "if men will ever live to be 500 or 600 years old!" "No, I guess not," replied his five-year-old sister, who was studying her Sunday school lesson. "The Lord tried the experiment once and they got so bad that He just had to drown them."—Good Housekeeping.

THE SMOKING HABIT.

It Affects the Nervous System and That Is Why Boys Should Shun It as They Would Vice.

Perhaps there is no habit that our young boys fall into that does them so much harm as the habit of smoking, and especially cigarette smoking.

They fall into this habit easily because it is a common one and because they think it a manly thing to do, as they see the elder boys and men doing.

Physicians tell us that nothing weakens the intellect and injures the nervous system so quickly and surely as cigarettes.

A short time ago I read of a cannon exploding and terribly injuring and disfiguring a dozen men and boys. It was said that a young cavalryman passing the cannon and seeing powder trickling down from the broken bag at the mouth of the cannon threw his cigarette in the powder, remarking to his companion: "Now we'll see some fun."

Only a mind weakened by cigarette smoking could have done such a cowardly, wicked thing. A young man of my acquaintance learned to smoke during the recent war. He is a large, manly, capable fellow and yet is so nervous he cannot keep still a moment, and is never satisfied without a cigarette in his mouth. The pity of it! A strong young manhood, capable of reaching success in any field where he gave his attention—an abject slave to tobacco.

There are corporations and business men who refuse to employ boys and men who smoke cigarettes or who even smoke at all.

Such corporations and such men are doing a grand work in helping men and boys to give up the useless and health-destroying habit. A business man knows that an employe who is addicted to the habit of cigarette smoking is not to be trusted, that the habit deadens them to all moral responsibility, and they will have none of them.

What is true in business life is true everywhere, and the boy who smokes cigarettes will find sooner or later that his evil habit has shut out from all that is good and true in life.

The manly, clean, trustworthy boy is the one between whose lips is never seen the cigarette or cigar.—National Rural.

TWO BEACH CHUMS.

Starfish and Sea Urchin Do Not Look Alike, Yet They Are Very Near Relations.

When we go down to the beach on a summer day we often see the gray star-fishes lying on the sand. If we visit a rocky beach perhaps we shall find some sea urchins, too. May be they will be covered with sharp spines, but generally when the little animal that lives inside the shell is dead, the spines drop off and the urchin has only a lot of small round knobs left on his shell.

The star and the urchin don't look at all alike, but they are very near relations. They both love to creep on the wet rocks at low tide. Mr. Star has five long arms with an eye at the end of each one. When he feels hungry he searches about in the water till he finds an oyster or scallop, then clasps it tight with his five arms and sucks the poor oyster out from his shell.

Mr. Urchin has five sharp-pointed teeth to chew up the seaweed that he loves. He makes a round hole that just fits his shell, where he can hide away and take a nap if he is tired.

Some of the star-fishes that live in the warm waters of the south are a beautiful pink color. They are called the rosy feather stars.

Very, very many years ago, before there were any people living on the earth, great numbers of lovely star fishes with long stems lived in the sea. We find them now by digging deep down in the earth, but they have all turned to stone. The man who first found them thought they looked so much like flowers that he called them stone lilies.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Lightning Fires Off a Gun.

Lightning passed down the chimney of the tollgate house near Williamsport, Md., and played around the trigger of a loaded gun that stood in a corner. In an instant a deafening noise aroused the occupants of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Palmer, who had been asleep. The gun had exploded, and was shattered into pieces.

The Free Lunch Attracts Municipal Attention in Chicago

The health department of the Chicago municipal government has concluded to investigate the free lunch. The expert bacteriologist, to whom the city pays a near salary, believes that he finds in it a good subject for his microscope, and under its searching lens will pry into the secrets of red hots, bologna, pickled beets, macaroni, etc. In the interest of his own digestion and well being he will not chance a personal attack on the viands displayed for the feeding of the hungry, but will content himself with a scientific analysis of their contents, and believes that he will find that which will justify the squelching of this time-honored institution in the interest of the public health.

A Good Subject for His Microscope.

Worthy Dr. Gehrmann, the head of the health department of the city, insists that it was not personal experience that turned his attention to the free lunch, and that he has never experienced the delights of feeding without price. He does not know that the free lunch conditions are so bad as to warrant municipal interference, but if they are not, an investigation can do no harm, and if they are, then certainly an investigation is needed, and then the health department of the city government must earn its salaries. It must not be open to the charge of useless expenditure of the public money when there is nothing for it to do.

Just what Dr. Gehrmann expects to find if all is not right with the free lunch, he refuses to state, nor will he say what his recommendations will be if his scientific analysis results disastrously to the red hots, etc. It is possible that the whole affair will result much as the department's crusade against noise has—with a continuation of the noise.

Some Elaborate Free Lunches.

If Dr. Gehrmann cares to go into the free lunch question deeply he will find it an interesting study, and one of which Chicago offers all phases. He can find anything from a plate of moldy cheese and soured brown bread to a table de hote dinner, all served for the same price—nothing.

The Free Lunch of To-Day.

But Chicago offers a study in the development of the free lunch that is not found in every town. It has been but a few years since the really swell saloons, as saloons go, offered no other attractions to the drinking public than a small dish of cloves with which to disguise the breath, and a small dish of cheese with which to temper the appetite.

To-day the dish of cloves is still there, for it is quite as necessary to disguise the breath now as it was in days gone by, but the dish of cheese has given place to a lunch of elaborate proportions, and oftentimes served in an elaborate manner.

It was all a matter of competition; the saloons have not as yet been consolidated into a gigantic liquor-selling trust, and each is still bidding for individual trade. First one saloon proprietor, more progressive than his competitors, discarded the dish of cheese, and in its place put a small sandwich, then his next-door neighbor added another feature, and in that way the free lunch has grown until to-day it represents a full meal, with all the variety of a first-class restaurant. It is served by colored waiters on attractive little tables, and comes in on clean plates directly off the fire. Some saloons have even gone so far as to serve a course luncheon at the noon hour, ranging all the way from soup to dessert, but that is the exception rather than the rule.

The Ruin of Young Men.

The squelching of the free lunch might prove a boon to the people of Chicago in more ways than one. There is no doubt but that the opportunity to secure a noonday luncheon for the price of a glass of beer attracts to the saloons many young men employed in clerical positions whose salaries compel them to practice economy, and to whom the free lunch system as it is known in Chicago at the present time offers many attractions.

Might Not Drink It, But He Does.

At the same time there is no doubt but that many of these young men start on a downward course from their noonday visits to these resorts. This is especially true of young men coming from the smaller towns to Chicago to seek employment. They have been reared to abhor the saloon and its institutions, but the free lunch appeals to them as a measure of needed economy on their part, and with the free lunch goes the paid-for beer. Of course he might pay for the beer and then not drink it in order to get the lunch, but the average young man, no matter how he has been raised, is not long proof against the smiles of derision on the part of more worldly companions that greet such actions in a place of this kind.

In all probability the saloon keepers themselves would appreciate the squelching of the free lunch system. It is a system that has been built up by competition to a point far in advance of what was desired, and is proving an expensive luxury. True, there are but few places where a staff of cooks are kept for the purpose of preparing this luncheon; it is usually purchased from a company that makes a business of providing them, and they are merely kept warm in the place where they are served, but even this is more expensive than the receipts will always warrant. There are saloons in Chicago where the expense of the free lunch will run as high as $300 weekly, and these places would be glad to stop the system if they could.

By all means, Dr. Gehrmann, continue your investigation.

A Fall Moving Day.

Chicago has moved again. The operation was performed on October 1, the day on which the fires were lighted in the steam-heated apartment houses.

Back to the Steam Radiator.

It was the steam-heated apartment houses that made two moving days a year a necessity. When the fires are put out under the furnaces the 1st of May the landlord of the apartment building begins to build air castles of the profits he will realize on his investment, profits that through the winter season are eaten up in the purchase of fuel. But his dreams are short-lived, for the tenants have a way of figuring out things for themselves, and when fire is no longer a necessity—when there are no more snows to be shoveled from the sidewalks—the beauties of life in a suburban cottage strike them forcibly, and they move.

And what a joy life is, to be sure, through the hot summer months far out on the Chicago prairies. The suburban landlord feels unusually generous after having his house stand empty all through the winter months, and offers great inducements to a good tenant—one who intends to stay. And they all intend to stay, though the tenants have learned from experience that it is better to make a lease for not over six months, and the six months just takes them along to the days when fire is again necessary, and back they go to the comforts of the apartment house and the steam radiator, while the suburban landlord weeps and wails at the unfaithfulness of humanity in general and his late tenant in particular.

Private Theaters.

Right in the center of the Chicago wholesale district three new theaters are being fitted up. They will have all the accessories that go to make the successful playhouse with the exception of the box office and the press agent. These are not needed, for there will be no tickets sold, and the public will never be advised of what is coming through the columns of the public press.

For the Benefit of a Customer.

These three theaters are being fitted up as a business venture of a peculiar kind, and one that is absolutely new. They are for the amusement of the customers of the wholesale merchants who are building them.

Practically every wholesale merchant in Chicago, and for that matter every large city, has for years had to employ men to entertain their customers; to take them to the theaters, to the parks, for rides about the city in carriages and automobiles, dine them and wine them, all in an effort to secure their business.

Some time ago one of the wholesalers had a half dozen automobiles built for the use of his customers, and found them a profitable investment. Now others are taking another step in the same line, and providing their own theaters.

All of them are of the vaudeville variety, and will be run only during the times the city is well filled with buyers. The merchants figure that it will be cheaper to employ their own talent and entertain from 20 to 30 or more customers at one time than to send each of them to a regular theater.

Such a scheme is made possible by the number of vaudeville artists in the country who are seeking engagements at any price, and it is safe to say that the country customer who is entertained in this way will not see the best of the stage novelties.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Rugby football team at the Pond Tool Works is practicing hard for their game at Garwood next Saturday. The association team will play at Scotch Plains the same day.

Harry Cuming, the crack half back of the Alis A. A., has a very sore ankle which may prevent him from playing for a week or two. He hurt his ankle in the very first run and his injury did much to demoralize the Alis boys.

Nathan R. Lewis, of West Eighth street, is again playing centre on the Stevens Institute eleven. Lewis was formerly tackle on the old Plainfield A. A., and played a good, snappy game. He has played on the Stevens team for two years. Last week he had to buck up against Princeton, and will play against all the leading colleges.

The Plainfield High School eleven did not play the Lincoln High School, of Westfield, Saturday. After setting the date the Westfield manager wrote to Manager J. H. Titus, of the local team, that he had another game on for that day. The Westfield management has done that same thing before, and, as a result, it is quite likely that the two teams will not come together at all. The Plainfield boys are not particularly anxious to schedule games with teams which break their dates so often.

Two of the Plainfield A. A. were out last Saturday afternoon and lined up with the Alis A. A. Thomas U. Smith played end and, on the offensive, played a great game. He has gotten back into his old habit of tackling high, however, and so his defensible work was not up to the standard. William L. McClure played guard. He didn't know the signals but managed to open up some big games in Rutgers' line when he was told to. He also proved a hard subject when the Rutgers' backs tried their favorite tandem play through his side of the line.

Despite the fact that the Alis A. A. eleven defeated the Rutgers "scrubs" on Martine Common Saturday afternoon, there is no doubt but the team which came from the college on the Raritan was really stronger than the Plainfield combination. It was a clever trick, combined with a lucky chance, which gave Charlie Woolston the opportunity for a touchdown. The Rutgers boys had not expected any trick at that time when the Alis team was having trouble in holding its opponents at straight football. Half a dozen Rutgers men promptly tackled Phillips when he came around the end without the ball. They did not notice the quick exchange when he gave it to Woolston. They were simply caught napping and Alis won the game in consequence. The Rutgers line out weighed and out played the Alis line and, but for the stubborn grit of the Plainfield boys, would have simply carried the home team right before them. It was a good game, free from unpleasant features. While the play was hard and fast there was no slugging in it.

GOLF

Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, who defeated Miss Ruth Underhill in the Southampton affair will be among the contestants next week at Baltusrol when a women's open tournament will be played over the links of the Golf Club.

WHIST

The Park Club, of Plainfield, is the next challenger in the whist contest for the State trophy. The Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club defeated the Jersey City team by a score of 6 to 8 at their last play.

READY FOR THE ENDEAVORERS.

All Preparations Complete for the State Convention at Jersey City.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Jersey City, Oct. 10—The Bergen section is assuming an orange and black hue. The colors are those of the fourteenth annual convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union. The convention will not formally open until tomorrow morning at the Bergen Baptist church, but this evening a series of preliminary meetings will be held at several churches, and at each one there will be an interesting programme.

The committee having in charge the arrangements for the convention need only about $100 to meet all obligations, and this, it is expected, will be contributed by friends. The choir, which will consist of over 300 voicee, has been registered, as have the ushers. Accommodations have been procured for out-of-town delegates, and the reception committee has arranged to have two members at the railroad depots at all times Thursday and Friday to guide the visitors. Arrangements have also been made to have local members meet visitors at the trolley lines nearest the convention churches.

KILLED WHILE FLAGGING TRAIN.

Aged Crossing Guardian's Body Cut to Pieces at Belle Mead.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 10—John Scully, an aged flagman, who had been in the service of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad at Belle Mead ever since the road opened twenty-five years ago, was struck by a special passenger train while at his post at 8 o'clock Monday night and killed.

Scully had flagged a regular passenger train which passed his crossing at 8 o'clock. The special train which followed it came upon him unawares, and it is believed that in a frantic effort to flag it he lost his presence of mind and stood upon the track. His body was horribly mangled, and portions were strewn along the track for 200 yards.

The dead man was a brother of Michael Scully, a prominent Democratic politician of Somerset county, and secretary of the New Jersey Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Barn Burned.

A barn adjoining the partially burned Union County Hotel, a Garwood, took fire Monday night about midnight and also communicated to the remnant of the hotel, setting it on fire again. The barn and contents were quickly consumed and another portion of the hotel before the flames were subdued.

CHARACTER BUILDING.

Interesting Lecture Delivered by Mrs. Conklin Last Night.

A large and appreciative audience listened to Mrs. Mabel L. Conklin, of Brooklyn, general secretary of the White Cross branch of the W. C. T. U., give an interesting talk on "Character Building" in Trinity Reformed Church last evening. The talk was an excellent one in every respect and was greatly enjoyed by all who heard it. In the afternoon she addressed the ladies on "What to tell our children." Besides Mrs. Conklin's talk last evening the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held which was led by Mrs. G. H. Honeyman. A well rendered solo was sung by Miss Lillian Glen and at the close of the meeting five new members were added to the union. This evening Mrs. Conklin will speak at the Seventh Day Baptist Church and all those who were not fortunate enough to hear her last evening should not fail to be present.

Mrs. Conklin will deliver a lecture in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Church tomorrow afternoon to women only, and in the evening in the same place she will talk to the public on the subject: "Is Your Boy Absolom Safe?"

JUNIOR O. U. A. M. MAY SPLIT.

Small Minority Said to be in Control of the Majority.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Oct. 10.—The annual meeting of the New Jersey State Council, Junior O. U. A. M., to be held in this city on October 23d, 24th and 25th, promises to be the most important meeting of the order ever held in this State. It now seems more than probable that the council will break away from the National Council and call on the State councils of Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia and District of Columbia to join with it in the forming of a new National body.

There are in the order about 186 000 members. Of these 76,000 are in Pennsylvania and 30,000 in New Jersey. In New York, Virginia and District of Columbia there are about 30,000 more, so that the rest of the country has about 56,000. In the National Council the representatives of the 56,000 are able to outvote the 180,000 in the Big Five. How this comes about is shown by the fact that a western state with 100 members in its councils has three votes, while New Jersey, with 30,000 members, has but six.

STOLE SIX SHIRTS.

Oscar Vaughn Again Gets Into Meshes of Law.

The prospect of again being placed in durance vile confronts Oscar Vaughn, of the borough, only lately released from an enforced visit to Trenton. In the course of his wanderings Saturday evening, Oscar came across six new shirts in the wagon of W. H. Rogers, of Watchung, which had been left standing under Blimm's sheds. It is said that Oscar appropriated the shirts, but he was detected by the hostler who gave chase and captured him on Craig place. He managed to break away but Mr. Rogers swore out a warrant before Justice Nash and he was arrested by Patrolman Totten yesterday afternoon. When arraigned before Justice Nash this morning he pleaded not guilty and the trial was adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

New County Clerk Sworn In.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, October 10.—Alexander B. Allen has been sworn in as County Clerk by Judge Herr. Allen is a Republican and will serve until the election next month. Andrew R. Dilts, who was defeated by the late Clerk Closson for the nomination two years ago, is the only candidate thus far announced by the Democrats. Mr. Allen will probably be the Republican choice for the nomination. The Democrats will hold their primaries Saturday. Former County Clerk George L. Bell was appointed deputy by Allen.

Drink Lands Woman in Jail.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 10.—Mary Keller, forty-five years old, whose home is in Rahway, raised quite a distubance while drunk here Sunday night before she was locked up. The woman is a widow and formerly lived in Plainfield, where she was married. Her father-in-law, now dead, was once a prosperous hotel proprietor in that city. Justice Mahon committed her to jail for thirty days.

New Brunswick, Oct. 10.—The Sloan entrance prizes at Rutgers College were won by Martin Schenck, of New Brunswick, and Edward W. Coriell, of New Market. The prizes are given by Samuel Sloan a trustee. The first prize includes tuition and $100 in cash, and the second tuition and $50.

Mysterious Disappearance.

Edward Wrage, of Somerset street, has disappeared, leaving no clue to his whereabouts. It is thought by his friends that he has gone to Texas. He has been employed as a driver for the past year by Hillier & Company.

A Trenton Man Missing.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 9—The police are searching for John Cheatham, aged 61, of this city, who, with Daniel Riley, his son-in-law, and his grandson Ralph, went fishing in the Delaware river Saturday afternoon. Riley and his son returned with the boat, but Cheatham was not with them. Riley says that Cheatham tired of fishing and landed, saying he would take a stroll. When he was ready to start for home Cheatham could not be found.

HER SYMPATHY WAS WASTED

One Can't Always Judge of a Man's Salary by His Office Clothes.

"Well, it just makes me feel terribly bad to go up there and see poor, old John," said the young woman. She had just been up to the editorial floor of one of the big daily papers with her husband to see one of their old friends, who had been steadily scribbling away on the paper for about eight years, says the Chicago Chronicle.

"Why, what's the matter with John? What do you call him poor, old John for?" asked the husband, in astonishment.

"Well, there was poor, old John sitting there at work with the same old, shiny, threadbare coat on that he wore when I first saw him at work there seven years ago. I just know they don't pay him over $15 a week and that he doesn't get half enough to eat. What are you snickering at, anyhow? I suppose you wouldn't care if he'd starve."

"Say, you are wasting an awful lot of sympathy," said the husband, as soon as he could stop laughing. "John is drawing a salary of $75 a week, and he wouldn't take $500 for that old, shiny working coat. He told me the other day he didn't believe he could write a line if he had on anything else."

A New Pacificator.

The artesian wells of eastern Algeria have reconciled tribes whom military terrorism failed to pacify. The first appearance of the rock drill machinery merely provoked their banter, but when unfailing fountains of cold water burst forth and filled tanks and refrigeration canals their jibes turned to silence and finally to grunts of approval. Now they are besieging the tents of the government engineers, begging them to try their luck here and there, and promising their political support in case of an aquatic treasure trove should restore the productiveness of their parched-out fields. —N. RAPID ACTION OF JUSTICE MOSHER

Made a Levy on Merchant's Goods Ten Minutes After Judgment Was Given.

MAY MAKE HIM TROUBLE.

LAWYER BRADY CARRIES THE CASE TO COUNTY COURT.

The Action Was Against D. J. Galbraith and When He Asked for Adjournment it Was Refused and Judgment Entered.

There seems to be no limit to which Justice of the Peace Mosher will not go. Following close on his action in the Vitromil case, which was fully exposed at the time in this paper and in which he demanded exorbitant bail for a minor offense, comes another instance of uncalled-for severe action.

Early this month William H. Addis, a plumber, brought suit in Mosher's court against D. J. Galbraith, of North avenue, to recover the sum of $4.50, alleged to be due for labor. Mr. Galbraith disputed the demand.

The case was set down for 2 o'clock yesterday and Mr. Galbraith appeared in person without counsel to ask an adjournment, as he was unprepared to proceed with the trial at that time. His request Mosher peremptorily refused and judgement was entered for amount claimed with costs.

Mr. Galbraith then sent for his counsel, Irving L. Brady, to arrange for an appeal of the case to the County Court where the case might be tried again on its merits. Mr. Brady stated he was prepared to carry the case up and Mosher was asked what time would be allowed in which to file necessary papers. Although several days are usually allowed for this purpose, the justice replied that they must be filed that afternoon to prevent the issuing of execution and levy.

Mr. Galbraith and his counsel realized the situation, however, and made preparations to file appeal papers immediately, going to Mr. Brady's office for the purpose of drawing and executing an appeal bond. The bond was signed and ready to file within fifteen minutes after leaving Mosher's office, but before they had opportunity to return, this dispenser of justice, disregarding the rights of litigants, signed an execution which was given to Constable Peter V. Weaver and he was instructed to levy, which was done within ten minutes after the judgment was rendered, the constable stating that his instructions prevented even the slightest delay, although Mr. Galbraith is perfectly solvent and a man of considerable property.

Mr. Brady was at once instructed by his client to appear before Judge Vail and obtain a stay of the proceedings, which will take the entire matter out of Mosher's jurisdiction and prevent Constable Weaver from acting further, even under pressing instructions. Mr. Brady went today to lay the case before Judge Vail and have it transferred to the Court of Common Pleas at Elizabeth. Proceedings may also be instituted against Mosher to have him removed for misconduct in office, based on his action in this and other cases.

In the meantime Mr. Galbraith pays no part of the judgment or costs and all parties rest until next February, the earliest date the case can be retried.

IN MEMORY OF BOXER VICTIMS.

Memorial Service Held in Congregational Church Last Night.

A service in memory of the Congregational missionaries recently killed in China by the Boxers was held at the Congregational church last evening. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the church, led the meeting. Papers were read by Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, Miss F. F. Clark and Miss Anna E. Manktelow telling something of the lives and works of these missionaries and the circumstances of their deaths. Mrs. Goodrich had met one of them, Rev. Mr. Pidkid, before his departure for China and heard him speak at a meeting. She could therefore give a description of the man. The meeting was a very interesting one and was well attended.

Trinity Church Election.

At the close of the regular mid-week prayer and praise service at Trinity Reformed church last evening, the annual meeting of the church for the election of officers was held. There was a large attendance. O. W. Dunham was made chairman of the meeting and Fred E. Smith secretary. The election resulted as follows: Elders for two years, Robert Clark, Jr.; H. E. Gayle and George L. VanEmburgh; deacons for two years, T. R. VanZandt, W. F. Oliver and A. K. Willett.

FATAL END TO A SPREE.

MULDOON MUST ANSWER FOR THE DEATH OF HENNING.

Two Men Engaged in a Fight in July and Henning Received Injuries From Which He Died.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, October 11.—The case of John Muldoon, indicted for manslaughter, was taken up this morning. The defendant is represented by Hon. James J. Bergen and E. P. Johnson. Prosecutor James L. Griggs represented the State.

Muldoon is a tall, raw-boned Irishman, with dark brown hair and heavy sandy moustache. He takes a keen interest in all the proceedings, leaning forward in his chair and clasping and unclasping his hands in a nervous manner.

The following jurors were drawn: John D. Case, John Slattery, William H. Conover, Daniel Suydam, Charles Demyke, John H. Drake, Lewis D. Reynolds, Thos. Rodgers, Chas. Wood, G. VanPelt, Edgarton Berrian, Jacob P. Hall.

The Prosecutor in opening stated that John Muldoon and Jacob Henning were employed on the shanty boat on the Delaware and Raritan canal as repairmen. On July 10th they were paid off and went to New Brunswick with John McElroy, another man employed on the same boat, and got drunk. They boarded a trolley car about midnight at the Albany street bridge and came to Bound Brook, which they reached about 1 a. m. July 11. They alighted near O'Connor's Hotel. Each man had a bottle of whiskey and insisted on treating each other. Henning refused Muldoon's whiskey, when the latter slapped the former. Henning then ran down an alley alongside O'Connor's Hotel, pursued by Muldoon. Henning stumbled and fell and Muldoon fell on top of him, Muldoon got up and kicked Henning. The latter then got up and ran off, again pursued by Muldoon. This was the last known of their actions until the next morning.

Subsequently Henning's injuries proved so serious that he went to Muhlenberg Hospital in Plainfield. Then Muldoon disappeared, but was captured later.

Henning was treated by Dr. Long and died July 21st at the Hospital. A post mortem was made by Drs. Long and Hedges, who found that death was caused by rupture of a vital part. The Prosecutor stated that the State would prove the facts stated in his evidence.

John McElroy, who was with Muldoon and Henning the night in question, was the first witness for the State. McElroy is also an employe on the shanty boat and his home is in New Brunswick. His testimony corroborated the statements made by the Prosecutor.

Mr. Bergen is giving him a severe cross-examination at this writing.

VETERANS' REUNION.

Survivors of the Eleventh N. J. Volunteers Gathered at Dover for a Good Time.

The survivors of the Eleventh N. J. Vols. held their annual reunion at Dover yesterday, when the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Col. John Schoonover, of Trenton; first vice-president, Major Lloyd, of Philadelphia; second vice-president, Captain William Hand, of Plainfield; chaplain, Rev. L. Clark Cline, of Phillipsburg; treasurer, Captain Charles A. Oliver, of New Brunswick; secretary, Corporal B. W. Maines, of Newark.

The members were given a cordial reception by the people of Dover and the schools were closed for the day. There were addresses by the pastors of the different churches, and a full band of music discoursed music throughout the day. The school children presented each veteran with a bouquet. The fire department, G. A. R. and cadet corps acted as an escort to the regiment. The Eleventh Regiment participated in every battle with the Army of the Potomac from Fredericksburg to the final surrender. A very interesting history of the regiment has been prepared by the members, and a copy has been presented to the Public Library and to each of the schools.

Ran Into a Stage.

While scorching down Park avenue last night, Mrs. Case, of Park place, rode directly into a stage which was just crossing on Second street. She was thrown violently to the ground and a rear wheel narrowly escaped passing over her head. She was picked up and taken to Hepburn's drug store. Although badly bruised and frightened she was not seriously hurt and was able to ride home after a short time. Her wheel was saved from destruction by Dennis Kane, who pulled it out of the way.

DEMOCRATS EXPECT A BIG GATHERING.

Arrangements all Made for the Democratic Mass Meeting in Washington Hall.

A DINNER TO CONG. FOWLER.

TWENTY-FIVE LOCAL LEADERS TO SET DOWN WITH HIM.

Former Senator Keys Says That If Voters Do as They Say Bergen Will be Elected Congressman.

Arrangements have been completed for the second of the Democratic meetings to be held in Washington Hall on West Second street this evening. The principal speaker will be Captain Charles Campbell, of New York, who is said to be quite an able talker. His address will be a discussion of the Democratic claims of imperialism. Another speaker will be Samuel Reese, of Westfield, who will devote his talk to a discussion of the financial question. The meeting will be called to order shortly after 8 o'clock.

The following Democrats have been invited to act as vice-presidents of the meeting and to occupy seats on the platform: Thomas Hughes, W. T. Banks, Dr. Luckey, Walter Hetfield, John Kenney and Charles McGinley, of the First ward; James Guttridge, S. B. Wheeler, Alfred Cocks, H. W. Marshall, Dr. Roland Tomlinson and W. K. McClure, of the Second ward; J. R. Knowlton, F. M. Bacon, J. H. Hillman, G. E. Firstbrook, Dr. N. W. Currie and Col. John Deitrich, of the Third ward; Dr. Lufburrow, Alburtus Swalm, Carlos Gallup, Ira G. Hulbert, George Kirch and M. Leichtentritt, of the Fourth ward.

Some of the friends of Congressman Charles N. Fowler in this city have planned to give him an informal dinner the night that he speaks at the big Republican rally at Music Hall. The Congressman is booked to speak here next Monday evening. He will arrive shortly before 6 o'clock and will be escorted to the Hotel McVey where the dinner will be held. Covers will be laid for twenty five. No speech making will follow the dinner as Mr. Fowler and his guests will leave for Music Hall in time to reach there for the opening of the meeting at 8 o'clock.

Ex-Sentator William J. Keys, of Somerset, who was in charge of Democratic State headquarters yesterday afternoon, gave out this statement regarding the situation in his own county:

"In Somerset the Democrats will surely elect their ticket if the Republicans who say they are with us vote as they talk. We find that many Republicans, while they would be willing to have four years more of McKinley, are afraid of Roosevelt. They say he is too hysterical and not the kind of a man who ought to be intrusted with grave responsibilities."

"What will be ex-United States Senator Rufus Blodgett's attitude this fall?" was asked.

"I know this," replied Mr. Keys, "that Monmouth county, where ex-Senator Blodgett resides, is relied on to give a Democratic majority this fall of from 1,500 to 2,000. Monmouth, Middlesex and Somerset counties constitute the Third Congressional district. We certainly look for the election of James J. Bergen over Congressman Benjamin F. Howell."

The Democrats of Westfield are arranging for a big rally next week, when marching clubs from Rahway, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Summit, Cranford, Roselle, Newark and New York will parade and addresses by prominent speakers will take place in the Westfield Club hall.

R. M. Stickle, associate editor of the Union County Standard, of Westfield, has returned from Indianapolis, where he went to attend the convention of the National Association of Democratic Clubs as a delegate from the Bryan and Stevenson Club, of Westfield. Mr. Stickle was honored by being made a member of the committee on permanent organization. Upon the recommendation of Mr. Stickle, Jas. F. Minturn, of Hoboken, was elected vice-president from New Jersey.

Assemblyman Charles S. Foote, of this city, is expected to speak at a meeting in Elizabeth Saturday evening.

James E. Martine will address a meeting of Democrats at Frank Linke's hotel at South Stirling this evening. Tuesday evening he spoke to a big meeting at Milltown, Middlesex county.

The Democratic City Executive Committee will hold a meeting tomorrow night for the purpose of call-

RAIDED A GANG OF TRAMPS AT THE TANKS.

Four of the Hoboes Now Members of Chain Gang and One in Muhlenberg Hospital.

LATTER SHOT IN THE ARM

CONSTABLES LOOKING FOR TRAMPS WHO LOOTED CIDER MILL.

Officers Advanced on the Rendezvous of Hoboes With Drawn Revolvers—Twenty five Tramps at the Tanks.

Four men are working in the chain gang at New Brunswick and another lies in Muhlenberg Hospital disabled by a bullet, the result of a raid made on the Greenbrook "tanks" last evening by Constable Polhemus and his deputy, John H. Weber, both of Lincoln. The sand house at the "tanks" is a notorious gathering place of the hoboes from along the line of the Jersey Central and Lehigh Valley Railroad. Using the "tanks" as head quarters, parties of tramps have invaded the surrounding country and robbed and plundered to their heart's content. To capture those who took part in a plundering expedition of the night before this raid was planned.

Tuesday night Abe Smalley's new house near his cider mill, south of Lincoln, was broken into and $100 worth of carpenter's tools stolen from there. The windows were wantonly broken. At Smalley's request Constable Polhemus, of Lincoln, went to the "tanks" last evening to capture the offenders if possible. He was accompanied by John F. Weber, of Lincoln, as a deputy. Both men were armed.

They reached the "tanks" at 9:30 o'clock and entered the sandhouse with drawn revolvers. Twenty men were gathered there. A shout went up at the sight of the officers and the men fled in all directions. Five were captured. Polhemus ordered the others to halt, but they refused and he finally fired three shots after them. One of the shots struck James Kelley in the arm, fracturing the elbow joint.

One of the five men captured had papers in his possession which testified to his good character. He was released. The other four were taken to Dunellen on the trolley and lodged in the jail there over night. Deputy Weber remained in charge. The four were arraigned this morning before Justice A. W. Warden, of Dunellen, and sentenced to thirty days each with the chain gang at New Brunswick. They all appeared to be hobpes.

Kelly, who was shot, ran across the fields and took a trolley car to Bound Brook. Chief Sebring, of the police of Bound Brook, sent him to Plainfield and he returned by trolley in the same car with the returning constable, who didn't happen to know him. Kelly came to police headquarters and was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital by by Sergeant Frederickson. His elbow joint was fractured.

To Chief Kiely this morning he said that his home was in Pittsburg and that he was at present on his way home Elizabethport, where he had worked at Nixon's ship yard, to see his friend, William F. Grannen, Buckley street, Easton, Pa. He had walked here from Elizabethport yesterday afternoon and reached the "tanks" ten minutes before the arrival of the officers. Kelly looked like a laboring man rather than a tramp. He had a little money.

Trenches for Conduits.

Contractor C. M. Meeker began work this morning digging trenches for conduits for the wires of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company. They will supplement the system of conduits which have already been laid. They are now being laid on East Second street, between Park and Watchung avenues, on Watchung avenue, between East Front street and North avenue, and North avenue, between Watchung and Park avenues. They will carry the electric light and power wires while the Second street conduit will also carry the big power cables for the trolley system.

A Very Quiet Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Etta Krymer and Theodore Mantz, of East Fifth street, took place last evening at the home of the bride, and was witnessed by the immediate members of the family. Owing to the very recent death of the bride's father the affair was just as quiet as possible. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church, where the bride and groom are attendants. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Mantz left the city for a short honeymoon. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping in this city.

THE WORK OF HOME MISSIONS REVIEWED.

E. church, to be held this year at Chicago, Mrs. W. E. Drake, of Jersey City, was chosen as her alternate. Mrs. C. S. Woodruff, of Dover, was elected as the other delegate to the National convention, with Miss Carlton, of Elizabeth, as her alternate.

Mrs. H. P. Doane, superintendent of the Newark Deaconess' Home, was in charge of the "Deaconess' Hour." Miss Clemson, of Jersey City, spoke of the missionary work which is being done at the Deaconness' Home in Jersey City and described particularly the tree and exercises there last Christmas. Miss Cole, also of Jersey City, told of the amusing incidents which sometimes occur at the home. Miss Leonber, of Newark, spoke briefly of the work among the colored women, the Old Ladies' Home and the Christian Refuge for Girls.

Reports were received from the committees. On the recommendation of the committee on resolutions, a resolution of thanks was given to the women of the First M. E. church of Plainfield for so kindly entertaining them. There was $800 pledged during the afternoon to the different phases of the work of the society. After a collection the meeting adjourned and the delegates went to Vincent chapel where supper was served by the members of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the church.

In the evening most of the delegates attended the public meeting in the church at which Rev. Dr. A. W. Leonard spoke.

WED AT ST. STEPHEN'S.

GUESTS AT HOTEL NETHERWOOD PLIGHT THEIR TROTH.

After the Ceremony a Reception was Given at the Hotel—Both Are From New York.

St. Stephens' P. E. church was the scene yesterday afternoon of one of the prettiest weddings that has ever taken place within its walls. The contracting parties were Miss Lora Standish Holbrook, of New York, and George Germain Brown, also of New York. Both young people are very popular among a large circle of friends, most of whom were present, completely filling the litttle church. The edifice was decorated in a very tasteful manner with palms and plants, the chancel being a perfect bank of the former.

There was no bridesmaid or best man. The ushers were Standish Holbrook, of New York, and Alexander Brown, of Elizabeth, a brother of the groom. The bride looked handsome in a dress of white point d'esprit over white silk and trimmed with satin ribbons. She also wore a tulle veil and bridal roses.

Unaccompanied by anyone she walked to the chancel where she was given away by her mother. The words which united the young couple for life were pronounced by Rev. S. P. Simpson, rector of the church.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the parlors of the Hotel Netherwood, where a reception was held followed by a collation. The decorations at the hotel were also very pretty consisting mostly of palms, plants and autmn leaves tastefully arranged. Considerable time was devoted by the guests to an inspection of the presents of which there was a magnificent array.

It was the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Brown to get away from the station unnoticed, but they were discovered and a merry troupe followed their coach in a delivery wagon. They took the 5:35 express for a southern trip at the conclusion of which they will take up their residence in New York. The groom is connected with the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company. The bride has been a guest at The Netherwood for the past two seasons.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs Brown, of Elizabeth; Mrs. Lutkins, Miss Janie Lutkins, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Babson, of South Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Standish Holbrock, Mr. and Mrs. Mending, Miss Mending, Augustus Holbrook and Mrs. Joseph D. Snell, of Boston; Miss Aukam and Miss Humphrey, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Tillotson, Mr. and Mrs. Berry, Miss Lita Berry, Miss Gladys Berry and Miss Jones, of New York; Major and Mrs. Coleman, Miss May Coleman, Miss Adams, Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Miss Florence Beal, Raymond Carroll, Mrs. Beard and Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard, of this city.

POPULAR COUPLE WEDDED.

Miss Mary Christina Glennon Made the Wife of Michael John McNamara Yesterday.

Two of Plainfield's most popular young people, Michael John McNamara and Miss Mary Christina Glennon, were married in St. Mary's church yesterday afternoon in the presence of several hundred friends and relatives. Miss Agnes Mulvaney, of Newark, was bridemaid and David McNamara, a brother of the groom, was best man. Preceded by the ushers, Daniel J. and Michael J. McNamara, Michael O'Keefe and John Hines, the bridal party proceeded up the aisle of the church while Lohengrin's beautiful wedding march was played by Miss Smith. They were met at the altar by Rev. Father Smyth who performed the ceremony. Miss Glennon was very prettily dressed in pearl gray cloth with white trimmings and hat to match. She carried bridal roses.

The bridemaids dress was flowered silk with white trimmings and she carried pink carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of bride's parents on Elizabeth street at the conclusion of which the young couple left for a two weeks trip to Philadelphia. On their return they will make their home temporarily with the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. McNamara received a large number of handsome presents consisting of silverware, cut glass and china.

DARK SIDE OF THINGS AMONG PORTO RICANS

A View of the Island as Given by a Missionary Who Has Been There Recently.

FIELD FOR MISSION WORK.

ATTACK ON SPIRITUALISM AND ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Leonard Declares That They are Foes to Progress of Protestant Work—The Army Canteen Severely Denounced.

After personally inspecting the state of affairs in the United States' new possession in the West Indies, Rev. Dr. A. W. Leonard has returned to this country with some pronounced ideas on Porto Rico and its inhabitants. At the public session of the annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society, Newark Conference of M. E. churches, held in the First M. E. church last evening, he delivered an address on the subject, "The Dark Side of Things in Porto Rico" was the topic for his talk.

Rev. Dr. Leonard was sent to the island by the board of Home Missions of the M. E. church to take charge of the English services in the mission which had, at that time, just been established at San Juan. He told something of that city and described very vividly the equalor in which many of the poorer class lived. The lack of the proper sanitary measures and the crowded condition of the buildings made them even worse than the New York tenements. Some of these people, he said, had never heard of Jesus Christ in their lives until he and his Spanish assistants conducted a meeting in their midst.

From San Juan Dr. Leonard and his party traveled through the island visiting the principal cities and looking into the condition of the natives in the country districts. Ponce he described as the most American-like city of any place on the island.

At Ponce he visited the American military hospital and talked with some of the soldiers. Some of them told him, he said, that they would never have been there if it had not been for the army canteen.

"All that is said," he explained, "about the canteen being an aid to temperance is wrong. I say it is a great political lie." He then went at further length to denounce the adoption of the army canteen at military posts.

He next discussed the general conditions of the Porto Ricans, and the causes which led up to many of the present results. The two greatest foes to Protestant work were, he believed, Spiritualism and the Roman Catholic church. To the clergy's control of education he attributed the terrible illiteracy of the people. He gave many illustrations of the great immorality of the priests. The fact that they charged so much for performing the marriage service, which, under the old regime, could be performed by no one else, was responsible for the great laxity in observing the marriage laws.

There were great opportunities, he declared, to do great and good missionary work in our new possession, and he thought it the duty of all to assist in the noble work.

Stream Lower Than It Has Been For Sixty Years.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Lambertville, October 11.—The water in the Delaware river at this point is lower than it has been for sixty years. Below the falls one can almost cross by stepping from rock to rock. At Moore's Station, four miles below here, teams drive across on the bed of the river, the water coming only up to the wagon axles. It would be almost impossible for a row boat to navigate north of here.

In order to ferry coal boats across from the Pennsylvania side temporary dams have been built and then only four and a half feet of water can be be secured.

MISSIONARY GATHERING.

American Board Holding Its Ninety-first Annual Meeting.

ST LOUIS, Oct. 11. Several hundred officers, missionaries and workers of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, together with many prominent ministers and lay workers in Congregational churches of the country, met in Pilgrim Congregational church yesterday for a three days' session. The event that occasioned the gathering was the ninety-first annual meeting of the board, which is holding its most important session since 1810, the date of organization. The crisis in China and the famine in India, two of its largest fields, bring before the board conditions never before met by that body. Judging from the reports made on China the crisis is being met bravely and with the determination of continuing the work notwithstanding the massacre of missionaries and destruction of missionary property.

The presence of so many missionaries from foreign fields and the reports given by them at the afternoon session gave added interest to the proceedings. Reports of officers and missionaries were the order of the day.

A general summary of the work of the American board for 1899 and 1900 shows 20 missions under its supervision throughout the foreign field, with 103 stations, 1,268 substations and 1,641 places for stated preaching. In the missions are 4,011 laborers, of whom 3,472 are natives, the remainder being Americans. A total of 495 churches, with 51,690 members, held services under the American board auspices in foreign fields. In the educational department of the board there are: Theological seminaries and station classes, 14; students for the ministry, 196; boarding and high schools, 111; number of pupils in these schools, 3,800 males and 4,039 females; number of common schools, 1,153; number of pupils in common schools, 40,598; whole number under instruction, 59,871.

Busy Day For Roosevelt.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 11.—Governor Roosevelt closed a busy day's work by making three speeches in this city last night, addressing the greatest number of persons in the aggregate that ever gathered in Fort Wayne to listen to a political candidate. He was honored also with three large parades. The last stop prior to the arrival here was at Huntington, where a large illuminated parade was given. Reaching Fort Wayne, the governor was driven immediately to the rink, where he was greeted with prolonged applause. Having delivered his address, he was escorted to a large tent especially erected for the occasion, where he made a second speech, and thence he went to Library hall, where he spoke for the third time.

Michigan Legislature In Session.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 11.—The Michigan legislature was called to order in the state capitol at noon yesterday in special session in pursuance to Governor Pingree's call, issued last Friday. The governor's message dealt entirely with the issues mentioned in the call, the consideration of a joint resolution permitting submission to the people at the general election in November of a constitutional amendment authorizing the taxation of railroads and other corporations on the cash value of their property instead of on their earnings, as at present, and the repealing of the special charters of the Michigan Central, Lake Shore and Grand Trunk railroads.

From Lake Erie to Europe.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11.—The Carnagie Steel company has taken the first step toward the building up of all water transportation of export steel from Lake Erie ports to Europe in chartering four vessels to load with steel at Conneaut, O., and steam through via the Welland canal and the St. Lawrence to Liverpool. Their capacity is about 2,500 tons each on 18 feet of water. It is the intention to load each vessel with 1,000 tons of steel at Conneaut and fill out at Montreal with 1,500 tons of wood pulp. Going through the Welland canal the vessels will draw only 12 feet, though 14 feet draft is possible.

Rolling Mills Get Heavy Contract.

LEBANON, Pa., Oct. 11.—News has just been received at the West End rolling mills and chain works of this city that General Wood, governor of Cuba, has awarded the establishment a big contract for heavy chain work. It will require three to four months' work to fill the contract. The works will be operated day and night, and an addition to the works will be built to permit the starting of a number of additional fires. The mills have other big orders on hand. The chains are to be used at Cuban and Porto Rican ports and harbors.

Milk Famine Feared.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 11.—This section is threatened with a milk famine owing to the recent drought. The Schenectady Milk Dealers' association has sent representatives to Ballston, Herkimer and Utica to arrange for supplies of the commodity for this winter, it having become evident that the local milkmen cannot meet the demand. Albany and Troy dealers have already raised the price to 8 cents a quart.

Bold Jewel Robbery.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11.—While one of two thieves held the attention of a clerk in the jewelry store of Burt, Ramsey & Co., in the Colonial arcade, the other reached into a showcase, drew out a tray containing diamond rings valued at $2,000 and escaped with it.

BOXER RISING NEAR.

Southern China Threatened With Serious Rebellion.

TEN THOUSAND TROOPS FROM INDIA.

Rebels Said to Be Assembled Near the British Border, and Trouble Similar to That In the North Is Now Feared.

HONGKONG, Oct. 11.—It is said that the authorities here have received information that a general rising in the southern provinces has been planned for the month of November.

Ten thousand more troops from India have been requisitioned for Hongkong. The Sixteenth Bengal lancers and the Hongkong regiment have been recalled from the north to Hongkong. The present indications are that there will be a Boxer rising similar to that which has occurred in north China.

The whereabouts of the rebels in the Hinterland is not known, but is believed to be ten miles north of the British borders.

A detachment of 1,000 Chinese troops took up a position at San-chung, and 1,000 more have arrived there.

TRIADS VICTORIOUS.

Reported Defeats For the Imperial Troops—Russia's Aggression.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A special dispatch from Shanghai, dated Oct. 9, says:

"The Triads have met and repeatedly defeated the imperial troops near Kowloon. They are daily gaining fresh adherents.

"Heavy Russian reenforcements are moving northward from Port Arthur with the object of relieving pressure upon Mukden. Every place of importance in Manchuria from Kiatka to the Primorsk boundary and from the Amur to the great wall is now in Russian hands."

The Morning Post publishes the following dispatch, dated Oct. 2, from Ho-siwu, on the Pei-ho:

"General Chaffee refused to convey any baggage, although three baggage wagons had been obtained. The American soldiers are glad to go to Manila. The accommodating and polite attitude of the British and Japanese toward General Chaffee is very noticeable.

"An American today expressed to me a new view of the American withdrawal. 'I favor the withdrawal of our troops,' he said. 'They fought well to reach Peking, but since that time they have done as little as possible, even for Americans. Their presence, being aggressive, only hampers other countries. A thousand men under General Wilson can do more than 5,000 under General Chaffee.'"

"The Russians," says the Moscow correspondent of The Standard, "are pushing the railway from Kharbin eastward with all possible speed. Troops are daily arriving from Amur to re-enforce the army that is endeavoring to force its way southeast to join hands with the expeditionary force from Port Arthur, which has failed to execute the task appointed, as it met with great opposition. Large Chinese forces are massed in the neighborhood of Mukden.

"The Russian generals are arranging winter quarters for the large armies in Manchuria. Ten thousand troops will be quartered at Irkutsk ready to move up with the first opening of the river to navigation in the spring."

The Berlin correspondent of The Standard confirms the announcement that Lord Salisbury has accepted the proposals of the second German note.

STATIONS ALLOTTED.

German and Russian Troops to Occupy the Railroad.

TIEN-TSIN, Oct. 11.—A military order has been issued to the German troops to occupy the railroad from Yang-tsun to Peking. The rest of the road will be occupied by the Russians, and the harbor of Ching-wan-tao has been allotted to the British.

A detachment of 800 French troops, with six guns, started yesterday to relieve the Catholic priests who are held prisoners at Ching-hsien, 60 miles south.

A detachment of 300 French troops started in the direction of Pao-ting-fu Saturday to co-operate with 400 troops reported to have left Peking.

The expedition to Pao-ting-fu has been fixed for Friday next. The column will consist of 7,000 British, German, French and Italian troops.

FRENCH NOTE ANSWERED.

Reply Not Made Public, but Believed to Be Favorable.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The reply of the United States government to the latest note from France offering suggestions as to the settlement of the troubles in China was completed late yesterday and delivered to M. Thiebaut, charge d'affaires of the French embassy. By him it was forwarded immediately to his government.

No official statement of the contents of the answer was obtainable. Following its inflexible rule, the state department declined to make public the text of the communication or to make any statement of the nature of its contents until opportunity had been afforded for its reception by the French foreign office.

It is believed, however, to take a favorable view of the suggestions submitted by the French government in a general way, although it does not commit this government to all of them.

England Accepts German Note.

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—Great Britain's answer to Germany's second note has been received. It is an unreserved and unconditional acceptance of the German position.

The Clevelands Are at Home.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 11.—Ex-President and Mrs. Grover Cleveland and their four children, who spent the summer at Buzzards Bay, arrived in Princeton last night from New York on the Princeton special train. Mr. Cleveland's groom met the party at the station and drove them to the ex-president's residence on Bayard avenue. Mr. Cleveland was looking well and appeared in excellent health.

A New Counterfeit.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The treasury department gives notice of the discovery of a new $10 silver certificate, series of 1891, with portrait of Hendricks. The counterfeit is described as a photographic print, without the silk fiber and of inferior workmanship.

STRIKERS TRY FORCE

One Man Killed and Many Injured Near Hazleton, Pa.

NONUNION MEN FIERCELY ATTACKED

Women Stone Mine Superintendent, Policemen Powerless Before Mob Which Fought to Prevent Work at Oneida Colliery.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 11.—A special policeman was instantly killed, another was wounded in the head, a striker was probably fatally shot and ten nonunion men were more or less seriously wounded at the Oneida colliery of Coxe Bros. in a clash between the officers and 500 strikers yesterday.

The Oneida colliery having been in operation since the inauguration of the strike, the union men at Oneida and Sheppton, where many of the employees of the Oneida and Derringer collieries of Coxe Bros. live, decided yesterday morning to close down the mine. They gathered in groups on the streets as early as 3 o'clock. As the nonunion men went to work they were asked by the strikers to remain at home. Some turned back, others did not. Those who went to the colliery were stoned. Van Blargin, one of the nonunion employees, attempted to pull a revolver, but the weapon was taken from him, and in the beating he received he had several ribs broken. This occurred just before starting time at the mine.

The strikers remained at the colliery all morning. As the small mine locomotive used in hauling coal from the No. 2 and No. 3 collieries to the Oneida breaker pulled up on the road near the latter colliery a crowd of women blocked the track. The women were told by General Superintendent Kudlick to go home. He assured them that their husbands would get an increase in wages and that their other grievances would be properly adjusted. The women refused to listen and stoned the superintendent, who was wounded in the head. Then the striking men and the women rushed toward the No. 2 colliery. A force of about 50 special policemen who had been brought down from Beaver Meadow to prevent trouble attempted to intercept the mob, but they were powerless to do anything and retired to the engine room. Just as the officers got close to shelter a shot was fired. This was followed by another, and in a few seconds many shots rang through the air. Policeman Mills was the first to fall. Then Joseph Lesko, a striker, staggered to the ground. No one knows who shot first, but it is believed that both the strikers and the officers used their weapons. A gunshot killed Mills, and smaller shot struck Policeman Kelnor. Lesko, the striker, was struck by a ball from a revolver, with which all the officers were armed.

Notices have been posted by Coxe Bros. & Co. at their Oneida, Derringer, Gowen and Beaver Meadow collieries that there would be a suspension of work until the strike is settled. Not one colliery is now in full operation in the Hazleton district.

DISTURBANCE FEARED.

Strikers Coming to Want and Growing Disorderly.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 11.—A number of deputy sheriffs left here last night to join Sheriff Harvey's force in the lower end of the county. The sheriff telephoned to this city that the disturbance at Oneida was wholly unexpected. It was quite generally understood among the strikers that they would do no more marching until after the Scranton convention met and passed upon the offer of the operators. The presence of so many men on the way to work enraged the strikers. It is now becoming apparent to the most cool headed that unless the strike is called off by the Scranton convention there is going to be more or less disturbance in the anthracite region.

Hunger is beginning to manifest itself in the families of many of the strikers, and another week of idleness is going to bring distress to the homes of many. Farmers who live close to the mining villages claim that they are being robbed of their property every night. Barns and cellars are broken into and potatoes, meat and corn carried away. On Monday night a cow was slaughtered in a field near Buttonwood. The carcass was cut up and carried away in pieces. Last week another farmer near by lost a cow and two sheep in the same way. Some of the farmers are now protecting their property with shotguns.

BIG LABOR DEMONSTRATION.

Thousands of Striking Miners Parade at Scranton.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 11.—Thousands of striking mine workers marched in review throughout the crowded streets of this city yesterday and showed their loyalty to the cause for which they have been battling for several weeks. Not only did the strikers manifest loyalty to their principles, but showed what confidence they had in their leader, John Mitchell, who came here to participate in the parade and to address the men in mass meeting. The president's welcome was an exceedingly flattering one. It was the greatest labor demonstration that has ever taken place in the Lackawanna valley. Thousands of miners and their families came to the city from all the towns within a radius of 20 miles. The city was generously bedecked with the national colors, and most of the business houses were closed in honor of the occasion.

The demonstration began with the arrival of President Mitchell from Shamokin, shortly before 2 o'clock. He was met at the station by a local reception committee and a crowd of several thousand persons. Owing to Mr. Mitchell's late arrival the parade was not started until 2:30 o'clock. The strike leader, with James Moir, the mayor of Scranton, rode in a carriage at the head of the line. Then came a solid column of working men so long that it took an hour and 15 minutes to pass a given point.

It was estimated that more than 10,000 persons were gathered around the speakers' stand when Fred Dilcher of Ohio, member of the executive board of the United Mine Workers, who acted as presiding officer, introduced the national president of the United Mine Workers' union.

When Mr. Mitchell in his speech told the miners that the proposition of the operators to advance wages 10 per cent was not enough the spontaneity of the cheering was surprising and almost startling. He followed this up by declaring that the mine owners ought to abolish the company stores and the sliding scale and that they should pay the men their wages semimonthly, as the Pennsylvania law directs. With the mention of each grievance there would come an outburst of applause from the men.

Mr. Mitchell refuted the charges that the strike was inaugurated in the interests of politicians and also denied that bituminous interests had anything to do with the present contest. He declared that if any soft coal was shipped into the anthracite market as a substitute it was coming from the nonunion bituminous fields of West Virginia. He gave the nonunion men now on strike in the anthracite field great credit for suspending work along with the union mine workers. He said there were only 8,000 union men in the anthracite region on the day when the strike began, but 112,000 men have obeyed the order to strike.

The other speakers besides Mr. Mitchell were Mayor Moir, who welcomed Mr. Mitchell to the "metropolis of the anthracite coal region;" George Purcell of Indiana and W. B. Fairley of Alabama, members of the national executive board; Presidents T. D. Nicholls of District No. 1 and John Fahy of District No. 9, District Secretary John Dempsey of Scranton and Paul Pulaski of Mount Carmel.

Plot to Release Prisoners Foiled.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 11.—A plot for the release of the notorious forger J. C. Boyd from the Western penitentiary was apparently nipped in the bud yesterday. The story as related by Warden Wright is on the sensational order. During the day he says what was supposed to be a male visitor made an urgent plea for a conference with Boyd. This was granted in the customary presence of one of the keepers. The talk lasted about ten minutes, and just as the visitor was about to depart Boyd tried to pass him a note. Keeper Sullivan detected the act, grabbed the paper and reported the occurrence. The warden investigated the matter and was surprised to find that the visitor instead of being a man was a woman in a most deceptive disguise. The contents of the captured note the warden refuses to divulge, but admits that the information it contained revealed one of the most daring and ingenious plots to escape he has ever heard of.

Rats Eat Inoculated Guinea Pigs.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Mayor Harrison, Chicago aldermen, city employees and prisoners in the basement of the city hall are said to be in danger of an epidemic of whooping cough through the rat ridden condition of the building. On Tuesday night rats invaded the cages in which guinea pigs held for experimental purposes were confined and killed three of the pigs. The feet and legs of the guinea pigs were eaten by the rats. The dead guinea pigs had been inoculated with the germs of whooping cough. Employees of the health department say the rats may spread the germs of the disease to the mayor's office, to the council chamber and to all other corners of the city hall, in which they have long been a pest.

Both Candidates Confident.

ALBANY, Oct. 11.—Both the candidates for lieutenant governor—William F. Mackey, Democrat, and Timothy L. Woodruff, Republican—were in this city yesterday, and their widely divergent views as to the political situation will be of interest. Senator Mackey is quoted as saying: "So far as I can see the situation is splendid. We are making very decided gains in the country districts and holding our own in the cities." Lieutenant Governor Woodruff said: "The full Republican vote in the country districts will be cast for the ticket, and we will make great gains in the big cities. I do not believe there is any doubt about our carrying the state."

Land Seekers In a Rush.

TACOMA, Oct. 11.—One of the greatest rushes of land seekers ever known in the west took place yesterday, when 4,000 home seekers entered the north half of Colville Indian reservation, which was opened for settlement at noon. After choosing their lands the locaters commenced an exciting race to the United States land office at Waterville and Spokane to register. Riders arranged relays, changing horses every 15 or 20 miles. In this way the distances of 125 and 180 miles to the Waterville and Spokane land offices are being covered in the shortest possible time.

Roosevelt's Carriage Stoned.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 11.—Hoodlums of Fort Wayne last night endeavored to rival those who made an attack upon Governor Roosevelt in Victor, Colo., and in a measure succeeded. On Calhoun street shortly before the head of the procession reached the rink, where the governor was to speak, a party of roughs on the sidewalk threw a shower of stones at Colonel Roosevelt's carriage. One struck Governor Roosevelt on the shoulder, and another, aimed at the governor, missed him and struck Colonel Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston in the face.

The Danish West Indies Again.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Referring to the mooted purchase of the Danish West Indies by the United States the Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "The renewed negotiations will result, I believe, in the purchase. The opposition party in the Danish parliament favors the transaction, but urges the government to obtain a larger price than the United States previously offered. It is understood that America wishes to use St. Croix as a naval coaling station."

Boer Leader Surrenders.

PRETORIA, Oct. 11.—Lord Roberts visited Daspoort, northeast of here, where are encamped the 140 Australian bushmen and 160 Rhodesians who successfully defended the Elands River station against Delarey's attacks in August. He addressed the men, thanking them for their bravery, devotion and fine defense. Commandant Dirksen has decided to surrender with his small force, and a train has been sent out for their conveyance hither.

To Raise Chickens.

MIDDLETOWN, Oct. 11.—Professor H. P. Wing of the university is visiting henneries in this county, obtaining information on some of the problems that interfere with successful poultry raising. Cornell university has received an appropriation from the state for experimental purposes in poultry raising.

Admiral Sampson's Health Failing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Admiral Sampson was in the city yesterday, and his feeble appearance caused some concern to his friends. His health has been failing for more than a year and while not appreciably worse the last month or so shows no signs of improvement.

DR. KENNEDY'S CASE.

Life of Condemned Man Hangs on a Slender Thread.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A special messenger yesterday took to Albany to lay before the judges of the court of appeals the leaden bludgeon with which, it is alleged, Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy killed Dolly Reynolds and which the detectives claim was found in his house, and with it a little piece of lead pipe three inches in length and three-quarters of an inch in diameter, on which the fate of Dr. Kennedy, who has been convicted of the murder, hangs. These two leaden objects have been sent for by the judges, and it is said that this is the first time in its history that the court of appeals has sent for exhibits in a criminal case.

The action of the judges is due to the affidavit of Daniel S. Melville, a plumber of Staten Island, presented to the court by Kennedy's lawyers. Melville's affidavit says Detective Carey, with Policeman Smith of Staten Island, took the lead pipe which Carey produced on the trial from his shop. Melville swears that the policeman got him to show them the different results to be obtained from cutting lead pipe by a knife and by a saw. He did so, and immediately after the officers had left he missed one of these pieces of lead pipe, said piece being from two to three inches in length and about three-quarters of an inch in diameter; that the said piece had considerable solder upon it. He has not seen the same since, although he has been informed that a piece resembling the missing piece was used upon the trial.

The officers deny carrying away the piece of pipe, though they admit the experiments. Dr. Kennedy's lawyers allege that Detective Carey manufactured the lead pipe evidence to make the case.

Should the little piece of pipe not fit perfectly or be the slightest difference in size, Dr. Kennedy may have a new trial for his life.

SPANIARDS FLOCK TO CUBA.

Immigration Reaches Large Proportions—Havana Sewer Question.

HAVANA, Oct. 11.—Three thousand Spanish immigrants have arrived since Oct. 1, and the bureau of immigration estimates the number will reach 12,000 before the end of the month. It is believed that the yellow fever situation is principally due to the nonimmune immigration.

Governor General Wood is impressing upon the ayuntamiento its responsibility in connection with the sewer contracts, although he declines to advise the adoption of any particular line of action, maintaining that the matter is strictly one for the ayuntamiento to deal with. In all probability the contracts will go at public letting, with 30 days' notice in the newspapers here and in the United States.

Yesterday, being the thirty-second anniversary of the beginning of the Ten Years' war, was observed as a national holiday, and the Cuban flag floated over the palace by order of General Wood.

Naval Construction.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Admiral Hichborn, chief of the bureau of construction and repair, makes public a statement showing the progress of the work on vessels now under construction for the navy. Of the big battleships the Maine and the Ohio stand respectively at 36 and 30 per cent of completion. The Missouri, at Newport News, stands 15 per cent, and the Illinois, also building at Newport News, is set down at 85 per cent. Work is progressing satisfactorily on the six new sheathed protected cruisers, although they are all in the first stages of construction. The monitors Arkansas, Florida, Wyoming and No. 8 (the latter as yet unnamed) are each about half finished. The 16 torpedo boat destroyers as well as the 16 torpedo boats are for the greater part in the last stages of their construction.

Damaged Coal Ship's Condition.

SUEZ, Oct. 11.—An examination into the injuries sustained by the American steam collier Emir, which recently sank in the Suez canal while on her way to Manila with coal for the American fleet, but which was successfully floated and brought to Suez roads Sunday, shows that her starboard plates were stove in, a hole a foot wide being made. She has been surveyed and recommended to discharge her cargo in order to reach the points of injury in drydock.

Hurt In Elevator Fall.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Five men who were riding up in a freight elevator in the Consumers' brewery, on Fifty-fourth street and Avenue A, were seriously hurt by the breaking of the hoisting apparatus. The brake and safety appliances failed to work, and the cage fell to the cement floor at the bottom of the shaft. All who were in the car received broken legs.

ILL USED AMERICANS

Eight United States Citizens Driven From the Transvaal.

HARSH TREATMENT BY THE BRITISH.

Though Neutral, They Were Hurried Out of the Country as Prisoners of War, Leaving Their Families—Indemnity Claimed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Herald this morning publishes the following:

"Driven from the Transvaal by force of British arms, eight American citizens who recently arrived penniless in this city have petitioned the United States government to present claims for indemnity against Great Britain. They declare that although neutral in the recent conflict, they were kidnaped from their homes, leaving wives and children behind. As prisoners of war, the men say, they were driven out of Johannesburg on July 13, railroaded to the seacoast in cattle trucks and then sent in the steerage of a transport to Holland. American consuls in the ports where they stopped were powerless to rescue them, and they have made a final appeal through attorneys in this city to the secretary of state at Washington.

"These men arrived here in the steerage of the Spaarndam of the Holland-American line on Thursday, Sept. 27. They are Charles Fowles, a mining contractor of Whitefield, Me.; James J. Maloney, a miner of Chicago; Frank Sharpe, an engine driver of Detroit; Frank Crees, a mining expert of New York, and the following naturalized citizens: Francisco Budjamaskan, manufacturer; William Phillips, a gold miner; John Anderson, a carpenter, and Henry Mormonstein, an interpreter.

"Charles Fowles' case is typical. He was arrested by two Afrikander detectives when returning to his home from the mine where he was employed as a foreman. Without a trial he was hurried out of the country as a prisoner of war. His wife and two young children, who were dependent upon him, were left behind."

Bryan Speaks Sixteen Times.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 11.—The weather for the first day of Mr. Bryan's tour of the state of Michigan was all that could be asked. He made 16 addresses from first to last, and all but one of the meetings were held in the open air. The tour was under the management of State Chairman Campau and was admirably conducted. The train was at no time more than ten minutes behind time, and all of the speaking platforms were erected so near the railroad depots that in only one instance was it necessary for Mr. Bryan to enter a carriage in order to reach them. The country traversed was varied in character, including the famous Michigan celery belt, the scarcely less famous peach country and much furniture manufacturing territory. The towns in which speeches were made were as follows: Michigan City, New Buffalo, Benton Harbor, Niles, Dowagia, Lawton, Kalamazoo, Plannwell, Otsego, Allegan, Hamilton, Holland, Grand Haven, Muskegon and Grand Rapids. Two meetings were held at the last named place.

Strike of Tiffany's Engravers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—It has just become known that 60 of the highest paid workmen in the world have been on strike for ten days in Tiffany & Co.'s factory at Forest Hill, N. J., and the entire wedding invitation business of the big jewelry firm is tied up. The strikers are copper plate engravers. The managers of the Tiffany factory declare that half of them regularly earned from $90 to $100 a week, others $75 a week, and none of them less than $50 a week. These highly paid workmen lately became members of the International Brotherhood of Copper Plate Engravers and are on strike for the recognition of their union, demanding that Tiffany & Co. adopt the union's regulations as to apprenticeship. A representative of Tiffany & Co. said that several of the strikers had been employed by the firm for 30 years and nearly all had learned their trade with the firm. He said that rather than yield to the demands of the strikers Tiffany & Co. would entirely abandon that branch of their business.

Henry Youtsey Unconscious.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 11.—Henry Youtsey remains in a comatose condition. Whether this is due to the opiates administered to quiet him Tuesday night cannot be ascertained. He has answered no questions addressed to him by his nearest relatives and physicians, but once or twice he held up his hands and exclaimed, "There is no blood on my hands; there is no man's blood on my hands." He has kept his eyes closed, and they are still slightly crossed as if drawn and set by the convulsion he had. The only nourishment he has taken was a glass of milk, which was almost forced down his throat by the physicians. Dr. Carrick says he is in an extremely critical condition, which may take a sudden change for the better or worse at any moment, and if for the worse Youtsey will be permanently insane. He has not been taken to the jury room in the courthouse yet, as directed by Judge Cantrill.

Large Schooner Launched.

BATH, Me., Oct. 11.—The six masted schooner Eleanor A. Percy, the largest vessel of her class ever built, was launched from the yard of Percy & Small here yesterday afternoon. In spite of unfavorable weather conditions a large crowd of spectators was present at the launching, the event having attracted wide attention on account of the size of the craft. The dimensions of the vessel are: Length, 323.5 feet; width, 50 feet; depth, 24.8 feet; gross tonnage, 3,401.96.

Senator Wellington Gives Up.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 11.—Senator Wellington, who canceled the remaining dates of his western campaigning tour and left Chicago, arrived at his home yesterday. He denies reports of dissatisfaction with the Democratic national committee and says he came home to rest. He has a severe affection of the throat, which, he says, caused him considerable annoyance.

For Consumptives.

Dr. Frank V. Cantwell, of Trenton, advocates the establishment by the State of New Jersey of a sanitarium for consumptives in which the victims of this disease, and especially those who are too poor to afford to go to private institutions or to Colorado or New Mexico, may be treated.

Dr. Cantwell declares that by segregation in such an institution, and their treatment by modern methods, a considerable percentage of those having tuberculosis may be cured, and all so improved as to prolong their lives many years. He says the State has expended millions of dollars in providing asylums for the insane and farms for epileptics, whereas only a few of these unfortunates are cured and returned to useful citizenship.

A State sanitarium for consumptives is still more urgently needed, he says, because of the great number of people suffering from this disease, and would be far more beneficial in its results because of the large number of cured and improved cases. Dr. Cantwell urges Dr. Mitchell, the head and chief executive officer of the State Board of Health, to bring the matter before the Legislature next winter. There are many spots in this State, he says, favorable as locations for such a sanitarium. We have choice between the breezy hills and bracing air of Hunterdon and Warren and the mild and salubrious pine forests of Ocean.

It is always an unfortunate thing for any political party to nominate a candidate who declines several days after the honor has been given by the convention, for such a condition weakens the party's position and usually results in putting up someone simply to fill out of the ticket and of whose success at the polls but little hope is entertained. Such a plight do the Democrats of the Sixth Congressional district find themselves in. Last Friday night William N. Coler, jr., a brother of Comptroller Coler, was nominated to contest the candidacy of Congressman Parker for reelection. After keeping the Democrats in suspense about the question of accepting the nomination, Mr Coler yesterday decided to decline the honor. There was nothing to do but accept the declination and so the committee on vacancies named Judge George H. Lambert, of Newark, to make the run. There has been some in the district who thought it possible to carry it for a Democrat, but with the present candidate going into the field under such disadvantages it seems reasonably certain that Congressman Parker will go back to Washington.

When the New Jersey political writer of the New York Herald says that "the attack of certain Somerset Democrats on the State committee at the county convention Monday, charging it with being lukewarm, was probably inspired by the failure of the State headquarters to meet the financial requirements of the local leadership," he accuses men who are not animated by such a motive as he intimates prompted them in making the attack on the State committee. Perhaps their attack was ill-timed and not according to the code of practical politics, but the criticism that they made upon the Democratic State managers was not animated because they are piqued on account of campaign funds not forthcoming from the committee. It was prompted by a deep-seated feeling that the State committee is not doing as well, even with all their disadvantages, as they might do. The Trenton correspondent says that the State committee has no money wherewith to meet the local demands. It has not enough to pay even the necessary inevitable expenses. It has received not over $6,000 all told, and this will hardly pay the headquarters' rent, clerk hire and postage.

Municipal ownership is proposed on a large scale in Wisconsin. An enactment of the Legislature last winter gives any municipality the right to issue negotiable bonds, on the petition of a majority of the freeholders, for the establishment and maintenance of a telephone system. Private interests were behind this legislative move, and these interests are now disclosed in the organization of the Farmers' Telephone Construction Company, with a capital of $500,000. This concern stands ready to establish a plant in any town, on a guarantee of 100 subscribers at $12 per year, taking its pay in the township bonds. These bonds are to draw 5 per cent. interest, and are to be paid in twenty years, 5 per cent. being set aside annually for a sinking fund. It is assumed that the income from the lines will provide for the operating expenses and maintenance, as also for the annual interest on the bonds and sinking fund. With the maturity of the bonds, the plant is to become the unencumbered property of the township

The Philadelphia Record notes that the extension of the free delivery of mails to populous rural districts in which the service promised to be distinctly advantageous and feasible has been the most notable achievement of the Postoffice Department. Over 2,000 routes have been established, and nearly 1,500,000 families are served with a daily mail at their doors. The success of the experiment has been so immediate and popular, and so unexpectedly inexpensive, that Congress will no doubt appropriate whatever amount of money may be asked for to extend its operation. Free delivery makes practicable the abolition of many small postoffices, with resultant saving, and at the same time leads to a larger use of the mails for the quick dispatch of parcels as well as of letters and newspapers.

Members of the Palisade Commission, appointed under acts passed by the Legislatures of New York and New Jersey for the purpose of devising ways and means of preserving the Palisades, are making a series of inspection tours to Fort Lee and points farther up the Hudson river. After a survey of all the territory embraced by the Palisades has been completed, the Commission will ascertain what land can be bought for preservation.

It is with a good deal of truth that the Elizabeth Journal says that "now that the Riker-Hine syndicate has consolidated all its trolley interests in this part of the State, and has given it a new name—the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central—it would be advantageous for the managers to adopt a more popular scale of fares, and one that could be more easily comprehended."

The Republicans of the Seventh Congress district of New Jersey, which is composed of all of Hudson county except Bayonne, met in Jersey City yesterday afternoon and nominated Marshall VanWinkle, now Assistant Prosecutor of the county, for Congress. Mr. VanWinkle is a lawyer, 31 years old. He expects to be defeated.

We use a package of Grain-O every week. I am ten years old.

An Immense Lamp Purchase.

We have purchased from one of the largest lamp manufacturers in the United States their entire line of samples, comprising in all over 150 lamps, all of which are this season's productions, and the character of them are way ahead of anything ever shown in the city before. Strictly high grade and very artistic. One of the special features in connection with these lamps is that there is no duplicates; you won't happen into your neighbors and find the self-same lamp. Still another important feature is the prices. We purchased them at one-quarter, one-half and in some instances as much as three-quarters less than their usual prices, and we shall sell them the same way. What we save you also save. This is a rare opportunity to purchase a good lamp for a little money.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 11—In some mysterious manner fire broke out about 10:30 yesterday morning in a barn on the premises occupied by Peter Mohan, of Dunellen. Within a few minutes the structure was a mass of flames, and but little of its contents were saved. The building is about 1,500 feet from the nearest hydrant and the firemen were unable to lay hose that distance. The barn, together with a wagon house and corn crib, were totally destroyed, as were the contents, consisting of hay and supplies. It will cost $500 to rebuild the barn, which was owned by the Land Improvement Company. It is covered by insurance. The other buildings were owned by Mr. Mohan, and were not insured. He places his loss at $75.

The manner in which the fire department answered the alarm yesterday has been freely criticised by a number of citizens. Out of a company of nearly forty men but three were on hand to get the truck to the scene of the conflagration and they would have failed but for the arrival of a team of horses. Of course, a large number of members are out of town during the day, but it is asserted that when several citizens who are employed in the borough applied for membership some time ago, they were rejected for personal reasons only. These men were near yesterday but still smarting over their rejection, they refused to help the regular members.

Beginning with last Monday the section gang in charge of John Hunt was placed on 9 hours work a day, being one less than usual. It is expected that Owen Mohan's gang will go on the same time next week. There are about twenty men employed in the two sections.

New Market, Oct. 11.—Fairview Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanNuis, was the scene of a merry gathering last evening. The event was a dime sociable given under the auspices of Lakeside Council, D. of L. There were a large number present and everyone had a delightful time. The feature of the evening was a guessing contest for a cake which contained a curious object inside. The one guessing what the object was secured the cake. Music for the occasion was furnished by Miss Irene Day and Miss Stella Sofield. As a result of the affair the council's treasury will be greatly benefitted.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be given at Music Hall Saturday afternoon and night upon a very elaborate scale, under management of Leon Washburn. Misses Kitty Morgan and Bertha Crosbie are the Topsies, and Messrs. Nick Ginn and George Harris play the character of Marks, the lawyer. There will be fifty capable people in the cast and players of more than ordinary ability. The scenery of this production is said to be magnificent. The transformation scene and wonderful vision being marvelous in design and in effect. A grand street parade will be given at noon Saturday in which will be seen Col. Sawyer's challenge pack of genuine Siberian bloodhounds, prize Shetland ponies, a number of beautiful chariot tableau wagons and two bands of music, drum corps, etc. Watch for the parade.

A play which gives a wholesome lesson, while arousing the sympathies of the spectators and moving them now to tears, now to laughter, is "Human Hearts," a forceful melodrama which will be seen at Music Hall on Thureday evening next. It is a play for the family, young and old. It is a relaxation from care and worry, a force in character building through exciting such feelings and sentiments as tend to develop and strengthen a man. It is universal in its power to interest, to move and to amuse, for it deals with experience common to mankind, though specialized by a chosen environment, life among the hills in Arkansas.

LADIES AUXILIARY DANCED.

Fifth Anniversary Celebrated in Washington Hall Last Night.

The Ladies Auxiliary, Division No. 1, of the A. O. H., celebrated their fifth anniversary last evening by giving a dance in Washington Hall. The affair was opened by an address to the auxiliary by Rev. Father Smyth, after which a sketch entitled "Martha Jackson's Wedding Day," was given by five couples. They were Miss Katie Carty and Wm. Daley as the bride and groom, assisted by Mary Lee and Walter Hamilton, Margaret Daley and Jerry Callahan, Annie O'Neill and Wm. McCullough, Margaret Hughes and James Daley. The parts were taken very well and the sketch was greatly enjoyed.

Dancing followed and was kept up until a late hour to the strains of Prof. Wallender's orchestra. The committee which had the affair in charge was Miss Lillian Tyrrell, chairman; and the Misses Mary Meehan, Mamie Kenney, Mary Smith and Margaret Reville.

NEW MATERIALS.

What Is Shown For Costumes For Early Winter.

Among the new materials are many having a fiber or design which runs crosswise. These are to be avoided by short or stout women, but for the too slender type are exactly what is needed. Plain cloths are as much used as ever. There are also wools with a dull finish, having satin cords which imitate the narrow, stitched straps which are so generally employed as a decoration.

Cashmeres, poplins, corkscrews and similar goods are well represented, while among the more costly and extravagant materials are heavy satins with damask designs or embroidered with silk flowers. Evening gown lengths are shown in which the different parts intended for the bodice and skirt are embroidered in the form they are to follow, the design of flowers in the natural colors being combined with and embroidered into applications of real lace.

The picture illustrates a gown of heliotrope silk. The pointed tunic is embroidered with applications of gold on white silk and falls over a deep, plaited flounce. At the back the tunic disappears beneath a watteau plait. The bodice is fitted at the back, while in front it is draped and crossed and ornamented by a scarf of mousseline de soie. The yoke and the top of the sleeves are plaited and trimmed with a band of gold and white embroidery, and the sleeves have embroidery at the wrists. The heliotrope hat is decorated with yellow poppies. JUDIC CHOLLET.
